graph (c) of this section) previously used for the shipment of any explosive or other dangerous article, as defined in this part, if authorized for reuse must have all openings including removable heads, filling and vent holes, tightly closed before being offered for transportation. Small quantities of the material with which containers were loaded may remain in "empty" containers and when the vapors remaining therein are unstable, it is permissible to add sufficient inert gas to render the vapors stable.

* * * * *

(d) Empty bottles other than carboys previously used for the shipment of acids or other corrosive liquids must be securely stoppered.

* * * * *

2. Amend § 73.31 Note 1 and Note 2 to paragraph (g) and entire paragraph (h) (16 F. R. 9373, Sept. 15, 1951) (16 F. R. 11775, Nov. 21, 1951) (15 F. R. 8278, 8279, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.31, 1950 Rev., 1951 Supp.) to read as follows:

§ 73.31 Qualification, maintenance and use of tank cars. * * *

(g) * * *

NOTE 1: Periodic retests of metal tanks, safety valves, and heater systems of tank cars, except those in chlorine service, now required to be made as prescribed in paragraph (g) of this section, may be waived because of the present emergency and until December 31, 1953, or until further order of the Commission.

NOTE 2: Periodic retests of metal tanks, safety valves, and heater systems of ICC–103A, 103A–W, 103C, 103C–W, and 103C–AL tank cars (§§ 78.296, 78.281, 78.268, or 78.283 of this chapter), now required to be made as prescribed in paragraph (g) of this section, may be made at 5-year intervals up to 10 years of service, thereafter at 3-year intervals up to 22 years of service, and annually after 22 years of service until December 31, 1953, or until further order of the Commission.

(h) Tank cars and appurtenances may be used for the transportation of any commodity for which they are authorized, as indicated on the certificate of construction. When a car is to be used for the transportation of a commodity other than those approved on the certificate of construction, it must be approved for such loading by the A. A. R. Tank Car Committee. Changes in fittings or commodity stenciling required to transfer a car from one service to another as authorized on the certificates of construction may be made only by the owner or owner's authorized agent; except, that where no change in fittings or other appurtenances is necessary, ICC–103, 103W, 103A, 103A–W, 103B, 103B–W, 103C, and 103C–W (§§ 78.265, 78.280, 78.266, 78.281, 78.267, 78.282, 78.268, and 78.283 of this chapter) tank cars may be transferred from one commodity service to another when authorized for the transportation of such commodity by this part.

These end forgings shall be seamless; and the thickness of the cylindrical portion into which the head is driven and the thickness of the flat flanged-in ends shall be at least equal to the head thickness, whereas the cylindrical portion next to the circumferential welds joining the end forgings to the shell shall be thinned down to the shell plate thickness. All openings must be located in the heads. Tanks must be securely attached to car structure in such a manner that they can be removed for filling by the consignor and emptying by the consignee. They must be bolted to fittings or seatings on the manhole cover. Connections to valves must be closed with blind flanges bolted tightly over valve outlets, chained or otherwise fastened to prevent misplacement. Discharging (siphon) pipe must be securely anchored.

ICC–12. Venting, loading and unloading, gauging, and air inlet devices. (a) When installed, these devices must be of metal and have all surfaces in contact with the lading covered with rubber as prescribed in paragraphs ICC–3 (a) and ICC–4 (b) except that lining must be at least ⅛ inch thick. These devices when made of metal not affected by the lading need not have such surfaces rubber covered.

ICC–13. Bottom discharge outlets. (a) Bottom discharge outlet prohibited. Bottom sump of cast, pressed, or forged metal is permissible. If used and welded to tank, it must be of cast, pressed, or forged metal and be of good weldable quality in conjunction with metal of tank.

ICC–13. (b) This paragraph does not apply.

ICC–13. (c) This paragraph does not apply.

AAR–13. (e) This paragraph does not apply.

AAR–13. (f) This paragraph does not apply.

AAR–13. (g) This paragraph does not apply.

ICC–14. Safety valves. (a) The tank must be equipped with one or more safety valves of approved type, made of metal not subject to rapid deterioration by lading and mounted on manhole cover. The total valve discharge capacity must be sufficient to prevent building up of pressure in tank in excess of 75 pounds per square inch.

ICC–14. (b) This paragraph does not apply.

ICC–14. (c) The safety valves must be set to open at a pressure of not exceeding 75 pounds per square inch. (For tolerance see par. ICC–18.)

ICC–14. (d) Tanks used for the transportation of corrosive liquids need not be equipped with safety valves, but may be equipped with one safety vent, lined with rubber of at least ⅛ inch thick, having an inside diameter of at least 1¾ inches after lining, closed with a frangible disc of material not affected by the lading and of a suitable thickness that will rupture at a pressure of 75 pounds per square inch plus or minus 5 percent. Means for holding disc in place must be such as to prevent distortion or damage to disc when applied. Safety vent closure must be chained or otherwise fastened to prevent misplacement.

AAR–14. (a) Safety valve must be of approved design. See Appendix "A" for formula for calculating discharge capacity of valve and method of testing sample valve of a particular design to determine its actual discharge capacity, which must at least equal the capacity calculated as necessary to prevent building up pressure in the tank in excess of 75 pounds per square inch.

AAR–14. (b) Safety vent flanges, if welded to cover plate, must be of cast, forged, or pressed metal and be of good weldable quality in conjunction with metal of cover plate.

ICC–15. Fixtures, reinforcements, and attachments not otherwise specified. (a) Attachments, other than the anchorage, sump, and those mounted on manhole nozzle and cover, are prohibited.

ICC–15. (b) This paragraph does not apply.

ICC–16. Plugs for openings. (a) Plugs prohibited. Closures must be effected with blind flanges bolted over openings. Flanges must have all surfaces exposed to the lading covered with rubber or be made of metal not affected by lading.

ICC–17. Tests of tanks. (a) Each tank must be tested, before rubber lining is applied, by completely filling tank and dome with water, or other liquid having similar viscosity, of a temperature which must not exceed 100° F. during the test, and applying a pressure of 100 pounds per square inch. Tank must hold the prescribed pressure for at least 10 minutes without leakage or evidence of distress. All rivets and closures, except safety valves or vents, must be in place while test is made. After tank is rubber-lined, no further tests are required.

ICC–17. (c) This paragraph does not apply.

AAR–17. Hammer test. (a) The tank shall be subjected to a hydrostatic pressure of 100 pounds per square inch and while subject to this pressure shall be given a thorough hammer or impact test. This impact test shall consist of striking the plate at 6-inch intervals on both sides of the welded joint and for the full length of all welded joints. The weight of the hammer in pounds shall approximately equal thickness of the shell in tenths of an inch, but not to exceed 10 pounds. The plates shall be struck with a sharp swinging blow. The edges of the hammer shall be rounded so as to prevent defacing the plate. Following the impact test this pressure must be held for at least 10 minutes.

AAR–17. (b) This paragraph does not apply.

AAR–17. (c) See paragraph ICC–17 (a).

ICC–18. Tests of safety valves. (a) Each valve must be tested by air or gas before being put into service. The valve must open at a pressure not exceeding 75 pounds per square inch and be vapor tight at 65 pounds per square inch, which limiting pressures must not be affected by any auxiliary closure or other combination.

AAR–18. (a) This paragraph does not apply.

ICC–19. Retests of tanks and safety valves. (a) Periodic retests of tanks are not required. Tanks must be retested before rubber lining is renewed. Tanks must also be retested before being returned to service after any repairs requiring welding, riveting, or calking of rivets. Reports must be rendered as prescribed in paragraph ICC–21.

ICC–19. (b) Safety valves must be retested, as prescribed for original tests in paragraph ICC–18, at intervals of 5 years or less. Reports must be rendered as prescribed in paragraph ICC–21.

AAR–19. (a) This paragraph does not apply.

ICC–20. (b) ICC–103B100–W in letters and figures at least ⅜ inch high stamped plainly and permanently into the metal near the center of both outside heads of the tank by the tank builder. This mark must also be stenciled on the tank or jacket, if lagged, in letters and figures at least 2 inches high by the party assembling the completed car.

ICC–20. (e) "Rubber-lined tank—pressure test not required," stenciled on tank, or jacket if lagged, instead of record of test of tank.

ICC–20. (g) This paragraph does not apply.

ICC–20. (h) This paragraph does not apply.

§ 933.594 Grapefruit Regulation 169—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 33, as amended (7 CFR Part 933), regulating the handling of oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines grown in the State of Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendations of the committees established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of grapefruit, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions of this section effective not later than November 3, 1952. Shipments of grapefruit, grown in the State of Florida, are presently subject to regulation by grades and sizes, pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and order, and will so continue until November 3, 1952, the recommendation and supporting information for continued regulation subsequent to November 2, was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Growers Administrative Committee on October 28; such meeting was held to consider recommendations for regulation, after giving due notice of such meeting, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including the effective time of this section are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such grapefruit; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter set forth so as to provide for the continued regulation of the handling of grapefruit; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time of this section.

(b) Order. (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., November 3, 1952, and ending at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., November 17, 1952, no handler shall ship:

(i) Any grapefruit of any variety, grown in the State of Florida, which do not grade at least U. S. No. 2;

(ii) Any seeded grapefruit, other than pink grapefruit, grown in the State of Florida, which are of a size smaller than a size that will pack 70 grapefruit, packed in accordance with the requirements of a standard pack, in a standard nailed box;

(iv) Any seedless grapefruit, grown in the State of Florida, which are of a size smaller than a size that will pack 96 grapefruit, packed in accordance with the requirements of a standard pack, in a standard nailed box.

(2) As used in this section, "handler," "variety," and "ship" shall have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and order; and "U. S. No. 2," "standard pack," and "standard nailed box" shall have the same meaning as when used in the revised United States Standards for Florida Grapefruit (§ 51.193; 17 F. R. 7408).

(ii) Any oranges, except Temple oranges, grown in the State of Florida, which are of a size smaller than $2^{10}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, measured midway at a right angle to a straight line running from the stem to the blossom end of the fruit, except that a tolerance of 10 percent, by count, of oranges smaller than such minimum size shall be permitted, which tolerance shall be applied in accordance with the provisions for the application of tolerances, specified in the revised United States Standards for Florida Oranges (§ 51.302; 17 F. R. 7879): Provided, That in determining the percentage of oranges in any lot which are smaller than $2^{10}/_{16}$ inches in diameter, such percentage shall be based only on those oranges in such lot which are of a size 3 inches in diameter and smaller.

(2) As used in this section, the terms "handler," "ship," and "Growers Administrative Committee" shall each have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and order, and the term "U. S. No. 1 Russet" shall have the same meaning as when used in the revised United States Standards for Florida Oranges (§ 51.302; 17 F. R. 7879).

C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions of this section effective as hereinafter set forth. PART 975—MILK IN CLEVELAND, OHIO, MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED, REGULATING HANDLING

§ 975.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order, as amended, and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Cleveland, Ohio, during June 25–27, 1952, upon a proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk produced for sale in the said marketing area as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making effective not later than November 1, 1952, this order amending the said order, as amended. This action is necessary in the public interest in order to reflect current marketing conditions and to insure the production of an adequate supply of milk. Accordingly, any further delay in the effective date of this order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will seriously impair orderly marketing of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area. The provisions of the said amendatory order are well known to handlers, the public hearing having been held June 25–27, 1952, and the decision having been executed by the Secretary on October 22, 1952. Reasonable time under the circumstances has been afforded persons affected to prepare for its effective date. Therefore, it would be impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this amendatory order 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (see section 4 (c) Administrative Procedure Act, Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong., 60 Stat. 237).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping milk covered by this order, amending the order, which is marketed within the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who participated in a referendum and who, during the determined representative period (August 1952), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area, shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. In § 975.51 (c) (1) delete the phrase "and skim milk or buttermilk disposed of for livestock feed;" and substituto therefor the following: "or accounted for as dumped milk or skim milk or as homogenized milk, flavored milk and milk drinks, skim milk, or buttermilk disposed of for livestock feed;"

2. Delete from each of paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of § 975.53 the phrase "and as Class II milk if transferred as cream."

3. Delete from paragraphs (a) and (e) of § 975.56 the phrase "(other than butterfat in butter)".

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

[Ceiling Price Regulation 7, Amdt. 5 to Supplementary Regulation 4]

CPR 7—RETAIL CEILING PRICES FOR CERTAIN CONSUMER GOODS

SR 4—UNIFORM CEILING PRICES FOR BRANDED ARTICLES

MANUFACTURERS WHO HAVE CHANGED THEIR CHANNELS OF DISTRIBUTION

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 5 to Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 7 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment permits manufacturers who have changed their method of distribution since 1950 to apply for and receive uniform ceiling prices for sales of their products at retail provided they otherwise satisfy the requirements of SR 4 to CPR 7.

Prior to this amendment, Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 7 authorized the establishment of uniform ceiling prices for sales at retail of branded articles only if these ceiling prices reflected to resellers of that article the same percentage markups as they had in the base year 1950. This requirement made it impossible for a manufacturer who was no longer selling his articles through the same channels of distribution as he used in the base year to apply for uniform ceiling prices for sales at retail. Where a manufacturer in the base year sold directly to retailers exclusively and now sells through wholesalers, or where he sold exclusively through wholesalers and now sells through retailers, a proposed change in retailers' markups was not permitted under the regulation. However, such a proposed change in retailers' markups appears to be justified under certain circumstances.

To meet this situation this amendment permits such manufacturers who have changed their methods of distribution to qualify for an SR 4 authorization upon a showing that the ceiling prices proposed will reflect to the retailer markups which are in line with those of retailers purchasing from the manufacturer most competitive to the applicant like articles for which uniform retail ceiling prices under this regulation have already been established.

In the formulation of this amendment there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 7 is amended as follows:

1. Section 3 (b) is amended to read:

(b) Markups. (1) except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, an applicant's proposed ceiling price for each style or model of article must result in a percentage markup to a class of resellers which is the same as that which the same class of resellers had during the base period on the same style or model; or where the same style or model was not sold during the base period, for another style or model of the same article sold in the base period which then had a cost to a class of resellers closest to the current cost of the style or model to the same class of resellers for which a ceiling price is being proposed. If the current cost is halfway between two base period costs, you must use the markup for the higher cost.

(2) The proposed retail ceiling price for a branded article applied for by a manufacturer who during the base period sold his entire production of all his styles or models of that article:

(i) Directly to retailers, and who now sells or proposes to sell it exclusively through wholesalers; or

(ii) Through wholesalers, and who now sells or proposes to sell it exclusively directly to retailers, must result in a percentage markup to retailers selling that article which is in line with that of retailers who purchase from the same class of supplier articles of the same type and price ranges manufactured by the applicant's most closely competitive seller and for which uniform ceiling prices have already been established under this regulation.

2. Section 4 (h) is amended to read:

(h) Except as provided in paragraph (j), markup schedules showing that your proposed ceiling prices result in markups for resellers which are in line with markups for resellers for your uniformly-priced branded articles during the base period. These schedules, that is a proposed uniform ceiling price schedule and a base-period markup schedule, are described in section 5.[4]

3. Section 4 is amended by adding the following paragraph:

(j) (1) With respect to articles to which the provisions of section 3 (b) (2) apply, you must prepare your base period markup schedule in accordance with section 5 (a) and, in lieu of the listing set forth in section 5 (b), your proposed uniform ceiling price schedule must list for each category:

(i) The brand name of each article as to which you are applying for a uniform retail ceiling price, and its style, model or lot number;

(ii) A description of each article;

(iii) Indicate any model not sold in the base period;

(iv) The OPS regulation under which you established your ceiling price for each article listed in (i);

(v) The price and the proposed terms of sale at which you are proposing to sell each article listed in (i) to the first of the following groups to which you sell:

GROUP 1. Your largest class of wholesalers.

GROUP 2. Your largest class of retailers.

(vi) The proposed markup or markup spread to retailers for whom you are proposing uniform ceiling prices;

(vii) The computed price which you arrive at for retailers, where you sell exclusively directly to retailers, by applying the proposed markup (Item vi) to your selling price to these retailers (Item v);

(viii) The computed price which you arrive at for retailers, where you sell through wholesalers, by applying the proposed markup spread to retailers (Item vi) to your selling price to wholesalers (Item v);

(ix) The uniform retail ceiling price you are proposing to the extent you have rounded the computed price under section 3 (c).

(2) In addition, with respect to articles to which the provisions of section 3 (b) (2) apply, you must state in your application:

(i) The manner in which you have changed your method of distribution from the method employed by you in the base period, and the extent of the changes in your own distributive function and that of your resellers.

(ii) The changes in selling or other costs resulting from the above changes in function and any other factors which justify any proposed change in the retailers' percentage markup from the retailers' percentage markup in the base period.

(iii) The name and address of your most closely competitive seller of articles of the same type and price ranges purchased by retailers from the same class of supplier, and for which uniform ceiling prices have already been established under this regulation, and your reason for selecting such seller.

4. Section 6 (a) is amended to read:

SEC. 6. OPS approval and orders—(a) Approval of ceiling prices. (1) Except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the ceiling prices which you propose for wholesalers or retailers if computed in accordance with this regulation shall be deemed authorized thirty days after written OPS acknowledgment of receipt of your application if the Office of Price Stabilization has not notified you to the contrary.

(2) With respect to articles to which the provisions of section 3 (b) (2) apply, your proposed ceiling prices are not authorized until you receive a letter order to this effect issued by the Director of Price Stabilization.

(3) The resellers' ceiling prices authorized are and remain your resellers' ceiling prices for so long as your own prices to resellers are the same as those authorized for articles to which those resellers' ceiling prices apply; except that those ceiling prices do not apply to sales at retail of articles received by retailers not marked or tagged in accordance with the provisions of section 9.

[4] Examples of proposed uniform ceiling price schedule and base-period markup schedule are contained in Appendix I. OPS does not supply these forms.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective November 1, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 15, Amdt. 19]

CPR 15—CEILING PRICES OF CERTAIN FOODS SOLD AT RETAIL IN GROUP 3 AND GROUP 4 STORES

RECLASSIFICATION OF CERTAIN RETAIL STORES; ADDITION TO NET COST FOR WATER TRANSPORTATION; NEW SPECIALTY STORES; CLARIFICATION OF REPORTING PROCEDURE

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 19 to Ceiling Price Regulation 15 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to CPR 15 permits certain Group 3 stores to reclassify as Group 1 or Group 2 stores on the basis of their individual 1950 gross sales. Furthermore, this amendment permits the actual cost of water transportation to be included in the retailers' "net cost" when a combination of land and water transportation is required to deliver food products to retail stores from the company warehouse. Also, this amendment changes the present adjustment provision for "specialty" stores by permitting both old and new retailers who desire to operate as "specialty" stores to apply for permission to price under the General Ceiling Price Regulation. Finally, this amendment clarifies the reporting provision of section 2, paragraph (e).

Following are the considerations supporting the changes made by this amendment.

1. This amendment permits some Group 3 stores to apply for reclassification as Group 1 or 2 stores if they meet certain criteria.

Prior to the issuance of this amendment, any store whose 1950 sales were less than $375,000 and which was one of 4 or more stores under one ownership, all of whose combined annual sales in 1950 were $750,000 or more, was classified as a Group 3 store in spite of the fact that its individual sales volume would have put it in Group 1 or 2. It was assumed that any chain which had more than 4 stores but a total volume of less than $750,000 should have its stores classified as though they were independents because that chain must be a mere grouping of a few small service type stores and not a typical chain store operation. The OPS has now found that there are several chains of small service stores which had a total volume in 1950 of more than $750,000 because, instead of 5 or 6 stores, they consisted of 40 or 50 stores with an average sales volume per store of less than $75,000. Thus, most of the stores in these chains are as small or smaller than many Group 1 stores. Therefore, these chains should also have their stores classified on an individual basis.

Thus, this amendment provides that a chain which had 60 percent or more of its stores with 1950 gross sales per store of $75,000 or less, may apply to have its Group 3 stores reclassified as Group 1 or 2 stores.

2. It has come to the attention of the OPS that there are a small number of retail stores located on islands or otherwise accessible only by water and serviced by warehouses under the same ownership or control as the stores. The cost of water transportation for delivery to stores of this kind is considerable and was not considered in establishing the standard markups in CPR's 15 and 16.

Therefore, this amendment provides that where a combination of land and water transportation is required to deliver food products to a retail store from a warehouse under the same ownership or control, the actual cost of the water transportation, including any charges for loading and unloading the water carrier, may be used in figuring the retailer's "net cost".

3. Amendment 2 to CPR 15 provided an adjustment, upon specified conditions, to exempt certain stores or food departments selling mostly specialty foods from using the markups provided in this regulation. These conditions included a showing that the stores rendered certain services and that they received a markup on "net cost" of 40 percent or more in 1950 on all their food sales. Stores meeting these conditions have been permitted to fix their ceiling prices under the GCPR rather than under this regulation. Amendment 6 to CPR 15 set September 30, 1951, as the final date for filing an application to be classified as a "specialty" store.

On further consideration, it is the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization that it is unfair and not required by the stabilization program that new retailers or those who did not apply in time or who wish to change their operation be prevented from being classified as "specialty" stores. Therefore, this amendment adds a new paragraph to section 26a, providing new criteria for previously unqualified retailers who now wish to be so classified. Any stores which estimate that 60 percent of their total dollar volume of sales will be of specialty food items may apply for this adjustment if they also furnish the same services as stores previously classified as "specialty" stores, i. e., clerks, delivery, telephone orders, and credit. They must also give a list of 25 or more of their "specialty" items as a sample to show what they have included in the 60 percent figure. Retailers applying for this adjustment will be able to price under the GCPR as soon as they have filed. After a four month's "trial period," an applicant must determine if he is still, on the basis of his four month's experience, eligible to continue operating as a specialty store. If he is, he may continue to price under the GCPR, but he must within 15 days make a statement to the Office of Price Stabilization, in writing, to the effect that all of the criteria have been met. He must also furnish a list of 25 or more of his best-selling "specialty" items, thus showing the "specialty" aspect of his store. Any retailer who fails to meet the criteria during this trial period must return to determining his ceiling prices under this regulation.

4. This amendment also clarifies the provisions of CPR 15 in connection with the reporting of group classification. It makes clear that sellers of food products not under this regulation are exempt from this reporting requirement.

In formulating this amendment, the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and has given full consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment, the provisions of this regulation are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of that act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

CPR 15 is amended in the following respects:

1. A new section, 26c, is added after section 26b to read as follows:

SEC. 26c. How some Group 3 stores may, under certain conditions, be reclassified as Group 1 or 2 stores. (a) If, for the calendar year 1950, 60 percent or more of your stores had annual gross sales per store of $75,000 or less, you may apply to have your Group 3 stores reclassified as Group 1 or Group 2 stores on the basis of their individual 1950 sales volume.

(b) Your application for reclassification shall be filed with the Distribution Branch, Food and Restaurant Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. This application must list all the stores in your chain, giving the name or number and gross sales for the calendar year 1950 for each store. You may consider your Group 3 stores reclassified as Group 1 or 2 stores as soon as you have submitted your application in accordance with this section. This reclassification may be disapproved if it is determined that you do not qualify under this section.

2. Section 4 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Net cost. To figure your ceiling price, first find the "net cost" of the item, based on its most recent delivery to you before May 14, 1951. Your "net cost" will be the amount you paid your supplier less all discounts except (1) discounts on items in Category #5, "Cookies, toast and crumbs" and Category #5A, "Crackers," (section 37 (b) (5) and (5A)), (2) the discount for prompt payment, and

(3) swell and label allowances, plus all transportation charges you paid except local trucking and local unloading. This exception shall not apply to any shipments by water. In such cases, there may be added also as part of the cost of transportation the cost of moving the shipment from the place at which it was processed to the dock, the cost of unloading at that dock, wharfage, handling, tollage and usage charges, the cost of marine insurance, the cost of loading the goods on a car, truck or other conveyance at the port of discharge and the cost of transporting that shipment from the port of discharge to receiving point. However, cost of loading the shipment at the place at which it was processed, segregation charges, and cost of unloading at receiving point may not be added. If you are located on an island or otherwise accessible only by water, for any items delivered from a warehouse under the same ownership or control, where a combination of land and water transportation is required, you may include in your "net cost" the actual cost of the water transportation between the warehouse and your store, including any charges for loading and unloading the water carrier. Treat as a separate item each kind, brand, grade, variety, container-size and container-type of "dry groceries."

3. Section 26a is amended by adding paragraphs (d) and (e) to read as follows:

(d) If you desire to operate as a "specialty" food store or food department, you may apply under this section to be excluded from using the markups of this regulation for the purpose of establishing your ceiling prices, provided your operation is planned to meet the following criteria:

(1) At least 51 percent of your dollar volume of sales will be made by sales clerks who assist customers in selecting, collecting, and wrapping or packaging merchandise.

(2) Your store or food department generally will offer to all of its customers the services of accepting and filling telephone orders, carrying charge accounts, and providing delivery.

(3) That the estimated dollar volume of sales of "specialty" food items of your store or food department (excluding restaurants) will constitute at least 60 percent of your total dollar volume of all sales.

You must file a statement signed by you or your authorized representative and forwarded by Registered Mail, return receipt requested, to the OPS District Office for your area, stating your trade name and address, and that you meet the above criteria, and including a list of 25 or more of the "specialty" food items which were considered in the 60 percent estimate of your total dollar volume of "specialty" food item sales.

You may, for a "trial period" of four months, consider your new operation a "specialty" food store or food department as soon as you have submitted the above statement, and may for that period figure your ceiling prices under the GCPR.

(e) At the end of your trial period, you must re-examine the operation of your store or food department to determine from actual records of four months' operation during that period that you have met the criteria listed in paragraph (d) of this section.

If you find that your trial period experience meets these criteria and you wish to continue to operate as a specialty store and price under the GCPR, you must, within 15 days after the end of the trial period, file with the OPS District Office for your area a statement containing your trade name and address and signed by you or your authorized representative to this effect. You must include as a part of your statement a list of 25 or more of the best-selling items you have included when re-examining your operation for compliance with paragraph (d) (3) of this section. You may then continue to operate as a "specialty store" unless you receive notice from the OPS District Office for your area that permission to operate as a "specialty store" under this section has been revoked because upon examination of the facts it has been determined that you have not met the criteria.

If you do not furnish this data within 15 days after the expiration of your trial period, or if you determine that your store or food department has not met the criteria as estimated in your application, you must, beginning the third Monday after the trial period, establish your ceiling prices under the provisions of CPR 15. You then may not re-apply under the provisions of paragraph (d) above for at least six months from the end of the trial period.

4. Section 2 paragraph (e) is amended by adding the following: "Even though you sell food products, if none of these products are subject to this regulation, you need not furnish this notification. In the event that this regulation is amended to cover one or more of the food products you sell, you must furnish the notification within 30 days of the effective date of the amendment."

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective November 5, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 16, Amdt. 19]

ADDITION TO NET COST FOR WATER TRANSPORTATION; NEW SPECIALTY STORE; CLARIFICATION OF REPORTING PROCEDURE

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 19 to Ceiling Price Regulation 16 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to CPR 16 permits the actual cost of water transportation to be included in the retailer's "net cost" when a combination of land and water transportation is required to deliver food products to retail stores from the company warehouse. Also this amendment changes the present adjustment provision for "specialty" stores by permitting both old and new retailers who desire to operate as "specialty" stores to apply for permission to price under the General Ceiling Price Regulation. Finally this amendment clarifies the reporting provision of section 2 paragraph (e).

Following are the considerations supporting the changes made by this amendment.

1. It has come to the attention of the OPS that there are a small number of retail stores located on islands or otherwise accessible only by water and serviced by warehouses under the same ownership or control as the stores. The cost of water transportation for delivery to stores of this kind is considerable and was not considered in establishing the standard markups in CPR's 15 and 16.

Therefore, this amendment provides that where a combination of land and water transportation is required to deliver food products to a retail store from a warehouse under the same ownership or control, the actual cost of the water transportation including any charges for loading and unloading the water carrier may be used in figuring the retailer's "net cost".

2. Amendment 2 to CPR 16 provided an adjustment upon specified conditions to exempt certain stores or food departments selling mostly specialty foods from using the markups provided in this regulation. These conditions included a showing that the stores rendered certain services and that they received a markup on "net cost" of 40 percent or more in 1950 on all their food sales. Stores meeting these conditions have been permitted to fix their ceiling prices under the GCPR rather than under this regulation. Amendment 6 to CPR 16 set September 30, 1951, as the final date for filing an application to be classified as a "specialty" store.

On further consideration, it is the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization that it is unfair and not required by the stabilization program that new retailers or those who did not apply in time or who wish to change their operation be prevented from being classified as "specialty" stores. Therefore, this amendment adds a new paragraph to section 24a, providing new criteria for previously unqualified retailers who now wish to be so classified. Any stores which estimate that 60 percent of their total dollar volume of sales will be of specialty food items may apply for this adjustment if they also furnish the same services as stores previously classified as "specialty" stores, i. e., clerks, delivery, telephone orders, and credit. They must also give a list of 25 or more of their "specialty" items as a sample to show what they have included in the 60 percent figure. Retailers applying for this adjustment will be able to price under the GCPR as soon as they have filed. After a four month's "trial period" an applicant must determine if he is still, on the basis of his four month's experience, eligible to continue operating as a specialty store. If he is, he may continue to price under the GCPR, but he must within 15 days make a statement in writing to the Office of Price Stabilization to the effect that all of the criteria have been met. He must also furnish a list of 25 or more of his best-selling "specialty" items, thus showing the "specialty" aspect of his store. Any retailer who fails to meet the criteria during this trial period must return to determining his ceiling prices under this regulation.

3. This amendment also clarifies the provisions of CPR 16 in connection with the reporting of group classification. It makes clear that sellers of food products not under this regulation are exempt from this reporting requirement.

In formulating this amendment, the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and has given full consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment, the provisions of this regulation are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of that act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

CPR 16 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 4 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Net cost. To figure your ceiling price, first find the "net cost" of the item, based on its most recent delivery to you before May 14, 1951. Your "net cost" will be the amount you paid your supplier less all discounts except (1) discounts on items in Category No. 5, "Cookies, toast and crumbs" and Category No. 5A, "Crackers," (section 32 (b) (5) and (5A)), (2) the discount for prompt payment, and (3) swell and label allowances, plus all transportation charges you paid except local trucking and local unloading. This exception shall not apply to any shipments by water. In such cases, there may be added also as part of the cost of transportation the cost of moving the shipment from the place at which it was processed to the dock, the cost of unloading at that dock, wharfage, handling, tollage and usage charges, the cost of marine insurance, the cost of loading the goods on a car, truck or other conveyance at the port of discharge and the cost of transporting that shipment from the port of discharge to receiving point. However, cost of loading the shipment at the place at which it was processed, segregation charges, and cost of unloading at receiving point may not be added. If you are located on an island or otherwise accessible only by water, for any items delivered from a warehouse under the same ownership or control, where a combination of land and water transportation is required, you may include in your "net cost" the actual cost of the water transportation between the warehouse and your store, including any charges for loading and unloading the water carrier. Treat as a separate item each kind, brand, grade, variety, container-size and container-type of "dry groceries."

2. Section 24a is amended by adding paragraphs (d) and (e) to read as follows:

(d) If you desire to operate as a "specialty" food store or food department, you may apply under this section to be excluded from using the markups of this regulation for the purpose of establishing your ceiling prices, provided your operation is planned to meet the following criteria:

(1) At least 51 percent of your dollar volume of sales will be made by sales clerks who assist customers in selecting, collecting, and wrapping or packaging merchandise.

(2) Your store or food department generally will offer to all of its customers the services of accepting and filling telephone orders, carrying charge accounts, and providing delivery.

(3) That the estimated dollar volume of sales of "specialty" food items of your store or food department (excluding restaurants) will constitute at least 60 percent of your total dollar volume of all sales.

You must file a statement signed by you or your authorized representative and forwarded by Registered Mail, return receipt requested, to the OPS District Office for your area, stating your trade name and address, and that you meet the above criteria, and including a list of 25 or more of the "specialty" food items which were considered in the 60 percent estimate of your total dollar volume of "specialty" food item sales.

You may, for a "trial period" of four months, consider your new operation a "specialty" food store or food department as soon as you have submitted the above statement, and may for that period figure your ceiling prices under the GCPR.

(e) At the end of your trial period, you must re-examine the operation of your store or food department to determine from actual records of four months' operation that you have met the criteria listed in paragraph (d) of this section.

If you find that your trial period experience meets these criteria and you wish to continue to operate as a specialty store and price under the GCPR, you must, within 15 days after the end of the trial period, file with the OPS District Office for your area a statement containing your trade name and address and signed by you or your authorized representative to this effect. You must include as a part of your statement a list of 25 or more of the best-selling items you have included when re-examining your operation for compliance with paragraph (d) (3) of this section. You may then continue to operate as a "specialty store" unless you receive notice from the OPS District Office for your area that permission to operate as a "specialty store" under this section has been revoked because upon examination of the facts it has been determined that you have not met the criteria.

If you do not furnish this data within 15 days after the expiration of your trial period, or if you determine that your store or food department has not met the criteria as estimated in your application, you must, beginning the third Monday after the trial period, establish your ceiling prices under the provisions of CPR 16. You then may not re-apply under the provisions of paragraph (d) of this section for at least six months from the end of the trial period.

3. Section 2, paragraph (e) is amended by adding the following: "Even though you sell food products, if none of these products are subject to this regulation, you need not furnish this notification. In the event that this regulation is amended to cover one or more of the food products you sell, you must furnish the notification within 30 days of the effective date of the amendment."

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective November 5, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

CPR 30—MACHINERY AND RELATED MANUFACTURED GOODS

INCLUSION OF CERTAIN HAND TOOLS, PARTS AND SUBASSEMBLIES IN APPENDIX A

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 39 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment adds certain hand tools to Appendix A to Ceiling Price Regulation 30. These tools fall into general categories such as machinists' tools, carpenters' tools, miners' tools, cement workers' tools, logging tools, blacksmiths' tools and automotive tools. These items are presently covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 22, but due to the general industrial nature of these items and the manner in which they are frequently distributed, that is, through industrial supply houses, automotive jobbers, etc., it has been determined that they should be covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 30 rather than Ceiling Price Regulation 22.

In addition to the change with respect to hand tools, this amendment adds a new provision to Appendix A to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 which is intended to clarify certain confusion which presently exists about various parts and subassemblies of completed products covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 22 and Ceiling Price Regulation 30. Most parts and subassemblies for completed commodities under Ceiling Price Regulation 30, as well as many parts and subassemblies of a general nature, are presently included in Appendix A to Ceiling Price Regulation 30. Other parts are covered by other specific ceiling price regulations, such as Ceiling Price Regulation 119 which covers screw machine products, springs and stampings. However, there are some parts and subassemblies for completed commodities covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 22 about which there is confusion. The parts are those which are manufactured by milling, grinding, or like processes by a manufacturer who is not the manufacturer of the completed commodity covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 22, and the subassemblies are those which are manufactured by a manufacturer other than the manufacturer of the completed commodity covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 22. The principal reason for including these parts and subassemblies in Ceiling Price Regulation 30 is that many manufacturers of these commodities produce the same part or subassembly for a completed item covered by either Ceiling Price Regulation 22 or Ceiling Price Regulation 30. Also many of these parts or subassemblies are custom fabricated for the purchaser and Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is not well adapted to the determination of ceiling prices for custom built commodities which are priced by a "formula" method, whereas Ceiling Price Regulation 30 contains special provisions for the determination of ceiling prices of such commodities.

The transfer of these hand tools, parts and subassemblies to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 will not change the price level of manufacturers affected and will not require manufacturers who have already filed the necessary forms in accordance with Ceiling Price Regulation 22 to refile under Ceiling Price Regulation 30. However, new manufacturers of these items, or manufacturers making these items for the first time, will be required to comply with Ceiling Price Regulation 30 rather than Ceiling Price Regulation 22.

In conjunction with this amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 30, Ceiling Price Regulation 22 (Manufacturers' General Ceiling Price Regulation) and Ceiling Price Regulation 67 (Resellers of Machinery and Related Manufactured Goods) are being amended to conform with this action.

In the formulation of this amendment there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 30 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 44 (b) is amended by adding a new subparagraph (3), to read as follows:

(3) If you are a manufacturer of any commodity or commodities which have been added to Appendix A to this regulation subsequent to the issuance of this regulation (May 4, 1951), and for which you have properly determined your ceiling prices and filed the necessary form, report or reports in accordance with Ceiling Price Regulation 22 prior to the date on which such commodity or commodities were added to Appendix A, such a determination and filing will be considered a proper determination and filing pursuant to this regulation.

2. Appendix A to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 is amended by adding the following items: Tools, hand, including, but not limited, to the following:

Adzes.
Angle drivers.
Angles, cement workers'.
Auger bits.
Awls.
Axes.
Bars; crow, wrecking, pinch, claw, etc.
Bevels, dividers and squares.
Braces and bits.
Bung bores.
Caulking tools.
Chisels, hand.
Drills, hand.

Ice tools (breakers, saws, tongs and picks).
Ladles, melting.

3. Appendix A to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 is further amended by adding the following items:

Parts, subassemblies, and components, metallic, of any commodity covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 22, where such part, subassembly or component is sold by a manufacturer other than the manufacturer of the commodity covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 22 of which it is a part, subassembly or component except the following which remain under CPR 22: watch cases and metal watch bands.

CPR 34—SERVICES

BASE PERIOD CONTRACTS FOR DELIVERY AT INCREASED PRICES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 5 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment changes the cut-off date for allowing recognition of contracts for increased prices under section 12 (a) of CPR 34. This section has provided, in part, that if in the base period a seller announced in writing an increase in his prices for a service to his classes of customers generally but did not deliver the service at the increased price to any of the purchasers supplied in the base period because he was bound under contracts made before the announcement in writing of the increase, then the seller could institute the increase at the expiration of each old contract if new contracts for future delivery of the service at the increased prices were entered into prior to December 19, 1950. This critical December 19, 1950 date is now changed to January 26, 1951.

The purpose of including this provision in section 12 (a) was to permit sellers to use increased prices at which they did not actually deliver during the base period but at which they would have delivered had they not been bound by contractual commitment. It is an exception to the pricing rules of section 5 of the regulation which require a seller to establish his ceiling prices for a service on the basis, generally, of the highest price at which he supplied the service during the December 19, 1950 through January 25, 1951 base period. At the time section 12 (a) was formulated the Director determined, in the light of the rapid raise of prices during the months of December, 1950 and January, 1951, that the section 12 (a) exception to the provisions of section 5 should be restricted by the requirement of the seller having made the contracts before December 19, 1950. This was to prevent the possibility of letting in under this exception any price increases which were announced by the seller in order to gain a price advantage in anticipation of the issuance of ceiling price regulations.

Experience under CPR 34 indicates, however, that the purpose of the section can be attained without rigidly excluding those sellers who entered into their future delivery contracts between December 19, 1950, and January 25, 1951, inclusive. There are many sellers who in good faith announced price increases during the base period, were not able to deliver at the higher price immediately because of prior contractual obligations, but did contract during the base period for future delivery at the increased prices. The Director has concluded that the provisions of section 12 (a) should be amended to permit the sellers who entered into such future delivery contracts prior to January 26, 1951, to use the increased prices for the services if they are able to meet the other conditions of the amended portion of section 12 (a).

In view of the nature of this amendment, consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, has been impracticable.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

The last unnumbered paragraph of section 12 (a) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34 is amended to read as follows:

If, however, in the base period you announced in writing an increase in your prices for a service to your classes of purchasers generally, but you did not deliver the service at the increased price to any of the purchasers whom you supplied in the base period because you were bound under contracts made before the announcement in writing of that price increase, and you did enter into new contracts for future delivery of the service at the increased price prior to January 26, 1951, and all such new contracts provided for delivery at the increased price, then at the expiration of each old contract you may institute the announced price increase, adjusted to reflect the customary differential in prices among your classes of purchasers.

Effective date. This amendment is effective November 5, 1952.

CPR 167—COTTONSEED FEED PRODUCTS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 167 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment makes several changes in Ceiling Price Regulation (CPR) 167, in regard to ceiling prices for cottonseed feed products.

Under section 7 of CPR 167 a processor who purchases slab cake and converts it into meal, sized cake, pellets or cubes may reflect the cost of transporting the slab cake from his supplier's place of business in the ceiling prices for the resultant products. This amendment similarly permits the processor who produces slab cake and transports it for grinding to another production plant of his business to reflect the cost of transporting the cake in the ceiling prices for the meal and other products. This amendment adds a provision to section 3 to allow a processor who makes pellets or cubes from meal which he has either purchased or transferred from another production plant of his business to reflect the cost of transporting the meal in his ceiling prices.

This amendment provides new ceiling prices for slab cake, meal, sized cake, pellets and cubes produced in eastern Tennessee, which are two dollars higher than those originally established in CPR 167. Additional data and discussions with members of the industry indicate that the new ceiling prices for eastern Tennessee more closely reflect a proper differential in relation to those provided for adjacent areas.

CPR 167 defined sized cake as cracked cottonseed or whole pressed cottonseed cake which will not pass through a 1/16 inch screen. It did not require its separation into uniform sizes in order to qualify for the differential provided for sized cake. This amendment redefines sized cake to include nut-size cake, sheep-size cake, pea-size cake and pebble-size cake. Accordingly, sized cake must be separated into one of the various classes in order to qualify for the sized cake differential. The standards used in defining the various classes of sized cake, were, prior to this amendment, in common use in the industry.

In the formulation of this amendment there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all applicable standards of that act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

(iii) The applicable markup provided in section 6.

(2) If you produce in your production plant cubes or pellets from cottonseed or whole-pressed cottonseed meal produced at and transported from another production plant operated by you as a separate place of business, you determine your ceiling price for such cubes or pellets by adding to your f. o. b. mill ceiling price for the meal at point of production, in bulk, in carload lots the allowances provided in (i), (ii), and (iii) of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph (e).

CPR 174—PREPARED CONCRETE REINFORCING BARS AND REINFORCEMENT MATERIALS

CORRECTIONS

Due to typographical errors, CPR 174, Prepared Concrete Reinforcing Bars and Reinforcing Materials, issued October 13, 1952, contains misprints in sections 3 (b) (1), 3 (e) (3)—Table C (Light Bending), 3 (e) (9), and 13. Accordingly, these above mentioned sections are hereby corrected.

1. In section 3 (b) (1) Monthly base cost—(1) First month, The word "as" appearing in the seventh line of this paragraph is changed to "of", making the paragraph read as follows:

(1) First month. Your base cost for sales of prepared concrete reinforcing bars from the 15th day of the month in which this regulation becomes effective through the 14th day of the following month, is the average cost, per 100 pounds, of your inventory of hot rolled concrete reinforcing bars (as shown by inventory records or physical count) on the first day of the month in which this regulation becomes effective. You determine this average cost as follows:

2. In section 3 (e) (3) Table C "Light bending" the word "place" appearing in the fifth line of the definition is changed to "plane", making the definition read as follows:

This includes bending all No. 2 and No. 3 bars; No. 4 bars or larger bent as stirrups and column ties; bars of any size bent at more than 6 points; bars bent in more than one plane; bars bent to more than one radius or a combination of radius and pin bending.

3. Section 3 (e) (9) Less than carload extras the word "of" appearing in the sixth line of this paragraph is changed to "or" making the paragraph read as follows:

(9) Less than carload extras. If the quantity of prepared concrete reinforcing bars specified in a sale or contract made by you is less than a rail carload, you may include, in determining your ceiling price for such sale or contract, an amount equal to the difference between the lowest established less than carload and lowest established carload rail rate of freight in effect on the date you made shipment, for transporting concrete reinforcing bars from your nearest regular source of supply to your plant. "Regular source of supply", means the producing mill from which you received at your plant, during the calendar quarter preceding the date on which you make shipment, invoices covering the largest quantity of hot rolled concrete reinforcing bars invoiced to the plant during the quarter.

4. In section 13 Transfers of business the word "proposed" appearing in the fifth line of the paragraph is changed to read "prepared" and the word "an" appearing in the thirteenth line is changed to "and", making the paragraph read as follows:

SEC. 13. Transfers of business. If the business or assets of a preparer are sold after the issuance date of this regulation, and the transferee carries on the sale of prepared concrete reinforcing bars in the plant or plants, included in such transfer, the ceiling price of the transferee for prepared concrete reinforcing bars produced in such plant or plants, shall be the same as those to which his transferor would have been subject if no transfer had taken place and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferor shall either preserve and make available, or turn over to the transferee all records of the transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the provisions of this regulation.

(b) Experimental stations, for the development of techniques or equipment to be employed by services or classes of stations set forth in columns 8 and 9 of the table of frequency allocations in § 2.104 (a), may be authorized to use frequencies allocated to those services or classes of stations: Provided, That no harmful interference will be caused to the services or stations to which these frequencies are regularly assigned.

(c) The use of frequencies allocated exclusively to Government stations in columns 5 and 6 of § 2.104 (a) may be authorized to non-Government stations in those instances where the Commission finds, after consultation with the appropriate Government agency or agencies, that such assignment is necessary for intercommunication with Government stations or where such use by non-Government stations is required for coordination with Government activities.

§ 2.104 Frequency allocations—(a) Table of frequency allocations. (1) In the table of frequency allocations below 25 Mc, the authority extended to stations in the fixed service, unless otherwise specified, extends only to those stations in the following categories of service:

(i) Aeronautical fixed;

(ii) Fixed (in Territories);

(iii) International fixed public;

(iv) Fixed service which, as of January 1, 1952, has station assignments on the frequencies 2848, 4245, 5365, 7625, and 7690 kc.

(2) In the table of frequency allocations between 5000 and 25,000 kc, the authority extended to stations in the mobile service, unless otherwise specified, extends only to those stations in the following categories of service:

[1] Date to be determined.

[1] From time to time when the Commission moves a service from one band to another it provides that existing stations may continue on the old band for a certain length of time, usually in order to provide for the amortization of equipment. Nothing in this section shall be construed as inconsistent with such authorizations.

[2] The provisions of this section do not apply for the authorization of frequencies within the following frequency bands: 14,350–14,400 kc, 20,000–25,000 kc.

(112) The development of long distance radionavigation systems is authorized in this band which will become exclusively allocated wholly or in part for the use of any one such system as soon as it is internationally adopted. Other considerations being equal, preference should be given to the system requiring the minimum bandwidth for world-wide service and causing the least harmful interference to other services. If a pulse radionavigation system is employed, the pulse emissions nevertheless must be confined within the band, and must not cause harmful interference outside the band to stations operating in accordance with the Regulations.

During the experimental period prior to the international adoption of any long distance radionavigation system in this band, the rights of existing stations operating in this band will continue to be recognized.

(116) The fixed service is authorized, provided no harmful interference is caused to ship telegraphy in the North Atlantic and the Mediterranean areas.

(124) Priority is given to the aeronautical fixed service in northern areas which are subject to auroral disturbances.

(125) Priority is given to the aeronautical radionavigation service in Region 2, China, India and Pakistan.

(C100) A band of 30 kc of width, included between the limits of 285 and 320 kc, shall be allocated in each region to the radiobeacon service. In the European region, this band shall be reserved solely for maritime radiobeacons.

(AR1) The aeronautical fixed service shall have priority in the areas subject to auroral disturbances.

(US31) Navigation aids in U. S. and possessions between 200 and 415 kc are normally operated by the U. S. Government. However, authorizations may be made by the Commission for nongovernment operation in this band subject to the conclusion of appropriate arrangements between the Commission and the government agencies concerned and upon special showing of need for service which the government is not yet prepared to render.

(NG1) On the condition that harmful interference will not be caused to services operating in accordance with the table of frequency allocations, the following classes of stations may be authorized to use frequencies in this band: (1) Experimental stations engaged solely in scientific or technical radio experiments not related to an existing or proposed service nor intended to develop a proposed service or specific use of radio, (2) contest developmental stations, and (3) export developmental stations.

(NG27) In cases where adequate land line facilities are not available and where radio propagation characteristics do not permit the use of frequencies above 25,000 kc, fixed stations in the Domestic Fixed Service may be authorized to use frequencies in this band only on the condition that the communications concern the safety of life or property.

(NG36) Stations in the fixed service in Alaska may continue to be authorized the use of frequencies in this band on the condition that the provisions of Paragraph 88 of the Atlantic City, 1947, Radio Regulations are observed.

(US26) This frequency band is not available to non-government stations.

(US27) The use of the frequency 540 kc is subject to the conditions that no harmful interference is caused to the services operating on 500 kc, and in the band 510–535 kc.

(NG1) On the condition that harmful interference will not be caused to services operating in accordance with the table of frequency allocations, the following classes of stations may be authorized to use frequencies in this band. (1) Experimental stations engaged solely in scientific or technical radio experiments not related to an existing or proposed service nor intended to develop a proposed service or specific use of radio, (2) contract developmental stations, and (3) export developmental stations.

(NG24) For conditions which apply to the use of this band, refer to the North American Regional Broadcasting Agreement.

(NG25) The aeronautical radionavigation service may be authorized the use of the frequencies 1638 kc and 1708 kc only.

(NG27) In cases where adequate land line facilities are not available and where radio propagation characteristics do not permit the use of frequencies above 25,000 kc, fixed stations in the Domestic Fixed Service may be authorized to use frequencies in this band only on the condition that the communications concern the safety of life or property.

(115) Limited to ship stations (telegraphy exclusively).

(147) In any particular area the Loran system of radionavigation operates either on 1850 or 1950 kc, the band occupied being 1800–1900 kc or 1900–2000 kc. Any of the authorized services may employ whichever of these two bands is not required for Loran on the condition that they do not cause harmful interference to Loran.

(148) The frequency 2182 kc is the distress and calling frequency for the maritime mobile service (telephony). The interested administrations will insure by special arrangement where necessary, that an adequate guard-band is provided. The conditions for the use of this frequency are prescribed in article 34 of the Radio Regulations, (Atlantic City, 1947).

(151) In Region 2, provision will be made for coastal telegraphy in the maritime mobile service by special arrangement.

(260) In Region 2, the frequency band 2088.5–2093.5 kc is reserved exclusively for calling (telegraphy only).

(AR5) The frequency 2091 kc is designated as the calling frequency assignable to ship radio telegraph stations operating in this band.

(NG1) On the condition that harmful interference will not be caused to services operating in accordance with the table of frequency allocations, the following classes of stations may be authorized to use frequencies in this band: (1) Experimental stations engaged solely in scientific or technical radio experiments not related to an existing or proposed service nor intended to develop a proposed service or specific use of radio. (2) contract developmental stations, and (3) export developmental stations.

(NG21) For radiolocation activities of the petroleum industry only, land radiopositioning stations and mobile radiopositioning stations may be authorized to use frequencies in this band, provided that such use (a) shall be limited to locations within 150 miles of the shoreline of the Gulf of Mexico, (b) shall be subject, internationally, to the provisions of paragraph ss of the Atlantic City, 1947, Radio Regulations and to the use-in-derogation provisions of Article 7 of the Cairo General Radio Regulations, (c) shall not cause harmful interference to stations in the Disaster Communications Service between the times at New Orleans of sunset and sunrise or at any time during an actual or imminent disaster in any area. Stations in the Disaster Communications Service shall not cause harmful interference to radiopositioning stations between the times at New Orleans of sunrise and sunset except during an actual or imminent disaster in any area.

(NG23) (a) The amateur service may use, in any area, whichever bands, 1800–1825 and 1875–1900 kc, or 1900–1925 and 1975–2000 kc, are not required for Loran in that area, in accordance with the following conditions:

(i) The use of these frequencies by the amateur service shall not be a bar to the expansion of the radionavigation (Loran) service;

(ii) The amateur service shall not cause harmful interference to the radionavigation (Loran) service;

(iii) Only types A1, A3, emission shall be employed;

(iv) Amateur operation shall be limited to:

1 No operation.

(b) The provisions of (a), above, shall be considered as temporary in the sense that they shall remain subject to cancellation or to revision, in whole or in part, by order of the Commission whenever the Commission shall deem such cancellation or revision to be necessary or desirable in the light of the priority within this band of the Loran system of radionavigation.

(NG26) In cases where adequate land line facilities are not available, and where radio propagation characteristics do not permit the use of frequencies above 25,000 kc, fixed stations in the Domestic Fixed Service the communications of which concern the safety of life or property, and fixed stations the communications of which are with coast station facilities authorized in the fixed service on a secondary basis, may be authorized to use frequencies in this band.

At the time of notification of these cases the attention of the International Frequency Registration Board is drawn to the above condition.

(156) The standard frequency is 5000 kc/s.

(239) In certain cases, for which provision is made in articles 33 and 34 (of the Radio Regulations, Atlantic City, 1947), aircraft stations are authorized to use frequencies in the maritime mobile bands between 4000 and 23,000 kc for the purpose of entering into communication with stations of the maritime mobile service.

At the time of notification of these cases the attention of the International Frequency Registration Board is drawn to the above condition.

(239) In certain cases, for which provision is made in articles 33 and 34 (of the Radio Regulations, Atlantic City, 1947), aircraft stations are authorized to use frequencies in the maritime mobile bands between 4000 and 23,000 kc for the purpose of entering into communication with stations of the maritime mobile service.

(277) The frequency 8364 kc is designated for the use of survival craft equipped to transmit on frequencies between 4000 and 23,000 kc and wishing to establish, with stations of the maritime mobile service, communications relating to search and rescue.

(C123) For use of this band by the Aeronautical Services see paragraphs 149 through 150 of the General Radio Regulations, Cairo Revision 1938.

(C124) The frequency 6210 kc shall be the general calling frequency for aircraft stations working in the band included between 6000 and 25,000 kc except where regional agreements provide otherwise.

(C180) For use of this band by the maritime mobile service see paragraphs 180 through 189 of the General Radio Regulations, Cairo Revision 1938.

(NG1) On the condition that harmful interference will not be caused to services operating in accordance with the table of frequency allocations, the following classes of stations may be authorized to use the frequencies in this band: (1) Experimental stations engaged solely in scientific or technical radio experiments not related to an existing or proposed service nor intended to develop a proposed service or specific use of radio, (2) contract developmental stations, and (3) export developmental stations.

(184) The frequency 75 Mc is designated for aeronautical marker beacons. In Region 1, the guardband is ±0.2 Mc; in Regions 2 and 3, ±0.4 Mc.

US4 The use of the frequency 75 Mc by aeronautical marker beacons is temporary and may be authorized until they are moved to a frequency band allocated for the aeronautical radionavigation service, or until they are no longer required. (See notes 216 and US12).

NG1 On the condition that harmful interference will not be caused to services operating in accordance with the table of frequency allocations, the following classes of stations may be authorized to use frequencies in this band: (1) Experimental stations engaged solely in scientific or technical radio experiments not related to an existing or proposed service nor intended to develop a proposed service or specific use of radio, (2) contract developmental stations, and (3) export developmental stations.

NG3 Operational fixed stations may be authorized to use frequencies in this band in accordance with columns 10 and 11 of the table of frequency allocations, on the condition that harmful interference will not be caused to the reception of television stations on channels 4 or 5. In any area in the continental United States, the Aviation service and Marine service may each be authorized to use four of the frequencies in the band 72-76 Mc listed in column 10 for operational fixed stations in these services.

NG5 Fixed stations in the Domestic Fixed Public service may be authorized to use any of the frequencies in the band 72-76 Mc indicated in column 10, on the conditions that (a) harmful interference will not be caused to the reception of television stations on channels 4 or 5 and (b) that harmful interference will not be caused to operational fixed stations.

NG28 In the Territory of Hawaii, the frequency bands 76-88 Mc and 98-108 Mc are allocated exclusively to the fixed service for use by common carrier fixed stations for inter-island communications only.

(198) The frequency 156.80 Mc is designated for world-wide use for safety, calling and intership and harbor control communications in the maritime mobile service (simplex telephony). Any other use of this frequency should be avoided in areas where such other use is liable to cause harmful interference to the maritime mobile service. The interested administrations will ensure, by special arrangements where necessary, that an adequate guard-band is provided. In Region 2, its use for this purpose will be restricted to the frequency modulated type of transmission (F3) and it is strongly recommended that the same type of transmission be adopted for this purpose in Regions 1 and 3.

US20 In order to provide for inter-communication for safety purposes between government and non-government stations in the maritime mobile service, the frequencies 157.1 and 157.2 Mc are allocated exclusively in all areas, to government stations in the fixed and mobile services, and the frequencies 173.225, 173.275, 173.325, 173.375 Mc are allocated exclusively, in all areas, to non-government stations in the fixed and land mobile services.

NG1 On the condition that harmful interference will not be caused to services operating in accordance with the table of frequency allocations, the following classes of stations may be authorized to use frequencies in this band: (1) Experimental stations engaged solely in scientific or technical radio experiments not related to an existing or proposed service nor intended to develop a proposed service or specific use of radio, (2) contract developmental stations, and (3) export developmental stations.

NG7 The use of the frequencies 156.27, 156.33, 156.39, 156.45, 156.51, 156.57, 156.63, 156.69, 156.75, 156.87, 156.93, 156.99, 157.05, 157.11, 157.29, 157.35, 157.41, 157.47, 161.85, 161.91, and 161.97 Mc may be authorized to base and land mobile stations in the Public Safety Radio Services on the condition that no harmful interference will be caused to the Maritime Mobile Service except that on the frequencies 157.05 and 157.11 Mc this authority may be extended only to those stations authorized prior to April 28, 1952. Public Safety Service operations at points within 150 statute miles of coastal areas and navigable gulfs, bays, rivers, and lakes may be authorized only after a factual finding indicates that, on an engineering basis, no harmful interference will be caused to the Maritime Mobile Service.

NG8 The international intership service has priority on this frequency.

NG9 The international port operational service, on a simplex basis, has priority on this frequency.

NG10 The frequency 156.80 Mc has been designated for world-wide use for safety, calling and intership and harbor control communications in the maritime mobile service.

NG11 The use of the frequencies in the block 159.51–161.79 Mc may be authorized to base and land mobile stations in the Public Safety Radio Services, in any area, on the condition that harmful interference will not be caused to stations in the Railroad Radio Service.

§ 2.202 Bandwidths — (a) Necessary bandwidths. The necessary bandwidth is the width of the frequency band which is necessary in the over-all system, including both transmitter and receiver, for the proper reproduction at the receiver of the desired information, and does not necessarily indicate the interfering characteristics of an emission. For the determination of this necessary bandwidth, the following table may be considered as a guide. In the formulation of the table, the following working terms have been employed:

B = Telegraph speed in bauds.

$\frac{N}{T}$ = Maximum possible number of black plus white elements to be transmitted per second, in facsimile television.

M = Maximum modulation frequency expressed in cycles per second.

D = Half the difference between the maximum and minimum values of the instantaneous frequencies; D being greater than $2M$, greater than $\frac{N}{T}$ or greater than B, as the case may be. Instantaneous frequency is the rate of change of phase.

t = Pulse length expressed in seconds.

K = An over-all numerical factor which differs according to the emission and depends upon the allowable signal distortion, and, in television, the time lost from the inclusion of a synchronizin, signal.

(b) Table of necessary bandwidths.

I. Amplitude Modulation

Description and class of emission.	Necessary bandwidth in cycles per second	Examples: Details	Examples: Designation of emission
Continuous wave telegraphy: A1.	BK $K=5$ for fading circuits. $K=3$ for non-fading circuits.	Morse code at 25 words per minute, $B=20$, bandwidth: 100 c/s. Four channel multiplex, 7 unit code, 60 words per minute per channel, $B=170$, $K=5$, bandwith: 850 c/s.	0.1A1 0.85A1
Telegraphy modulated at audio frequency: A2.	$BK+2M$ $K=5$ for fading circuits. $K=3$ for non-fading circuits.	Morse code at 25 words per minute with 1,000-cycle tone, $B=20$ bandwidth: 2,100 c/s.	2.1A2

Diameter of cylinder = 70 mm. Number of lines per mm = 3.77. Speed of rotation 1 turn per second. Frequency of modulation = 1,800 c/s. Bandwidth: 3,600+1,242 = 4,842 c/s.	4.84A4
Television: A5	$\frac{KN}{T}$ $K=1.5$ (this allows for synchronization and filter shaping). NOTE: This band can be appropriately reduced when asymmetrical transmission is employed.	The total number of picture elements (black and white) transmitted per second = the number of lines forming each image × number of elements per line × number of pictures transmitted per second. Number of lines = 500. Number of elements per line = 500. Number of pictures per second = 25. Bandwidth: approximately 9 Mc/s.	9.000A5

II. Frequency Modulation

Frequency-shift telegraphy: F1.	$BK+2D$ $K=5$ for fading circuits. $K=3$ for non-fading circuits.	Four-channel multiplex with 7-unit code, 60 words per minute per channel: $B=170$. $K=5$. $D=425$. Bandwidth: 1,700 c/s.	1.7F1
Commercial telephony and broadcasting: F3.	$2M+2DK$ For commercial telephony, $K=1$. For high-fidelity transmission higher values of K may be necessary.	For an average case of commercial telephony with: $D=15,000$. $M=3,000$. Bandwidth: 36,000 c/s.	36F3
Facsimile: F4.	$\frac{KN}{T}+2M+2D$ $K=1.5$	(See facsimile, amplitude modulation). Cylinder diameter = 70 mm. Lines per mm = 3.77. Cylinder speed = 1 r. p. s. Modulation tone = 1,800 c/s. $D=10,000$ c/s. Bandwidth: 25,000 c/s (approximately).	25F4

III. Pulsed Emissions

Unmodulated pulse: P0	$2\frac{K}{t}$ K varies from 1 to 10 according to the permissible deviation in each particular case from a rectangular pulse shape. In many cases the value of K does not need to exceed 6.	$t=3\times10^{-6}$ $K=6$ Bandwidth: 4×10^{6} c/s.	4.000P0
Modulated pulse: P2 or P3.	The bandwidth depends upon the particular types of modulation used, many of these being still in the development stage.	----------

SUBPART E—DISTRESS, DISASTER AND EMERGENCY COMMUNICATIONS

§ 2.401 Distress messages. Each station licensee shall give absolute priority to radiocommunications or signals relating to ships or aircraft in distress; shall cease all sending on frequencies which will interfere with hearing a radiocommunication or signal of distress and except when engaged in answering or aiding the ship or aircraft in distress, shall refrain from sending any radiocommunications or signals until there is assurance that no interference will be caused with the radiocommunications or signals relating thereto; and shall assist the ship or aircraft in distress, so far as possible, by complying with its instructions.

§ 2.402 Control of distress traffic. The control of distress traffic is the responsibility of the mobile station in distress or of the mobile station which, by the application of the provisions of § 2.403, has sent the distress call. These stations may, however, delegate the control of the distress traffic to another station.

§ 2.403 Retransmission of distress message. Any station which becomes aware that a mobile station is in distress may transmit the distress message in the following cases:

(a) When the station in distress is not itself in a position to transmit the message.

(b) In the case of mobile stations, when the master or the person in charge of the ship, aircraft, or other vehicles carrying the station which intervenes believes that further help is necessary.

(c) In the case of other stations, when directed to do so by the station in control of distress traffic or when it has reason to believe that a distress call which it has intercepted has not been received by any station in a position to render aid.

§ 2.404 Resumption of operation after distress. No station having been notified to cease operation shall resume operation on frequency or frequencies which may cause interference until notified by the station issuing the original notice that the station involved will not interfere with distress traffic as it is then being routed or until the receipt of a general notice that the need for handling distress traffic no longer exists.

§ 2.405 Operation during emergency. The licensee of any station, except amateur, may, during a period of emergency in which normal communication facilities are disrupted as a result of hurricane, flood, earthquake, or similar disaster, utilize such station for emergency communication service in communicating in a manner other than that specified in the instrument of authorization; Provided: (a) That as soon as possible after the beginning of such emergency use, notice be sent to the Commission at Washington, D. C., and to the Engineer in Charge of the district in which the station is located, stating the nature of the emergency and the use to which the station is being put, and (b) That the emergency use of the station shall be discontinued as soon as substantially normal communication facilities are again available, and (c) That the Commission at Washington, D. C. and the Engineer in Charge shall be notified immediately when such special use of the station is terminated: Provided further, (d) That in no event shall any station engage in emergency transmission on frequencies other than, or with power in excess of, that specified in the instrument of authorization or as otherwise expressly provided by the Commission, or by law. And provided further, (e) That the Commission may, at any time, order the discontinuance of any such emergency communication undertaken under this section.

§ 2.406 National defense; free service. Any common carrier subject to the Communications Act may render to any agency of the United States Government free service in connection with the preparation for the national defense. Every such carrier rendering any such free service shall make and file, in duplicate, with the Commission, on or before the 31st day of July and on or before the 31st day of January in each year, reports covering the periods of 6 months ending on the 30th day of June and the 31st day of December, respectively, next prior to said dates. These reports shall show the names of the agencies to which free service was rendered pursuant to this rule, the general character of the communications handled for each agency, and the charges in dollars which would have accrued to the carrier for such service rendered to each agency if charges for all such communications had been collected at the published tariff rates.

§ 2.407 National defense; emergency authorization. The Federal Communications Commission may authorize the licensee of any radio station during a period of national emergency to operate its facilities upon such frequencies, with such power and points of communication, and in such a manner beyond that specified in the station license as may be requested by the Army, Navy, or Air Force.

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

[Regs. Serial No. SR-389]

PART 4b—AIRPLANE AIRWORTHINESS; TRANSPORT CATEGORIES

SPECIAL CIVIL AIR REGULATION; EMERGENCY EXITS FOR AIRPLANES CARRYING PASSENGERS FOR HIRE

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 27th day of October 1952.

Special Civil Air Regulation SR-387, effective October 27, 1952 (17 F. R. 8613), contained inadvertent errors in the table with respect to the number of exits authorized by the Civil Aeronautics Administration for passenger use. These errors are being corrected in this Special Civil Air Regulation. Accordingly, the CV-240, CV-340, and M-202 which were listed in SR-387 with seven approved exits are listed herein with six exits, and the M-404 which was listed in SR-387 with eight approved exits is listed herein with seven exits.

Civil Air Regulations Amendment 4b-4, effective December 20, 1951, prescribes emergency exit provisions for new type transport category airplanes. The amendment was not made applicable to airplane types currently in operation. Nevertheless the Board considers that more stringent rules should apply to all large airplanes carrying passengers for hire. A study of current type airplanes indicates that in some instances the exit facilities have become marginal for the number of occupants carried and that further increases in occupancy must be more strictly related to the number of exits available. The study further reveals that even in some of the airplane types which are not considered marginal in this respect further increases in occupancy should not be permitted without the installation of additional exits.

The regulation herein adopted requires on all large airplanes (above 12,500 pounds maximum certificated take-off weight) compliance with either § 4b.362 (a), (b), and (c) of Part 4b of the Civil Air Regulations as amended by Amendment 4b-4, effective December 20, 1951, or with the listed values of maximum number of occupants, except that the listed values can be adjusted for the number of exits installed in the ratio of not more than eight additional occupants for each additional exit. The type, size, and location of such additional exits are being made dependent upon the presently installed exit facilities on the individual airplane types. The listed values of maximum number of occupants and the corresponding number of exits reflect in most instances the arrangement presently approved. In a few cases, upward adjustments from the presently approved arrangement have been made where the number of exits so warrants.

Special Civil Air Regulation SR-387 is hereby superseded. It is, however, set out in its entirety in this regulation, including the reasons for its adoption, so that all pertinent information may be available in one document. Since the errors being corrected by this regulation are minor in nature and impose no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary, and the regulation may be made effective without prior notice.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby makes and promulgates the following Special Civil Air Regulation, effective October 27, 1952:

Contrary provisions of the Civil Air Regulations notwithstanding, no large airplane (above 12,500 pounds maximum certificated take-off weight) while carrying passengers for hire shall be operated with occupants in excess of the number permitted by applying the provisions of § 4b.362 (a), (b), and (c) of Part 4b of the Civil Air Regulations as amended by Amendment 4b-4, effective December 20, 1951, except that airplane types listed in the following table may be operated with the listed maximum number of occupants (including all crew members) and the listed corresponding number of exits (including emergency exits and doors) heretofore approved by the Administrator for emergency egress of passengers. Additional occupants above the values listed in the table may be carried if additional exits are provided, except that in no case shall more than eight additional occupants be carried for any one additional exit. The type, size, and location of such additional exits shall be approved by the Administrator. For airplanes which have a ratio of maximum number of occupants to number of exits (as listed in the following table) greater than 14:1 and for airplanes which do not have installed at least one full-size door-type exit in the side of the fuselage in the rearward portion of the cabin, the first additional exit approved by the Administrator for increased occupancy shall be a floor-level exit not less than 24 inches wide by 48 inches high located in the side of the fuselage in the rearward portion of the cabin. In no case shall an occupancy greater than 115 be allowed unless there are two full-size door-type exits in the rearward portion of the cabin, one on each side of the fuselage.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Production and Marketing Administration

[7 CFR Part 943]

[Docket No. AO 231-A 3]

HANDLING OF MILK IN NORTH TEXAS MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held in the Junior Ball Room, Jefferson Hotel, 312 South Houston Street, Dallas, Texas, beginning at 10:00 a. m., c. s. t., November 18, 1952, for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to proposed amendments hereinafter set forth, or appropriate modifications thereof, to the tentative marketing agreement heretofore approved by the Secretary of Agriculture and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the North Texas marketing area. These proposed amendments have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Amendments to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the North Texas marketing area were proposed as enumerated below. Proposals relative to enlargement of the marketing area raise the issue as to whether the provisions of the present order would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act if applied to the marketing area, as proposed to be extended, and if not, what modifications of the provisions of the order, as amended, are appropriate to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

Amendments to the order, as amended, have been proposed as follows:

With respect to definitions:

By North Texas Producers Association, Arlington, Texas:

1. Re-define the definition of "Producer" in § 943.10, so as to restrict this definition of a "Producer" so as to require that such a person hold a Grade A Health Department Permit, or rating, issued by a local, State or Federal health authority having jurisdiction within the marketing area, and to provide that a producer whose milk is diverted to an unapproved plant for more than five days during any one month shall not retain his status as a producer (when his milk is so diverted), except when such diversion occurs during the delivery periods of March through August of each year.

2. Amend the provisions of § 943.6, to add to the North Texas marketing area all territories including all municipal corporations, Federal military reservations, facilities and installations, and State institutions within Wichita County, Texas.

3. Amend the provisions of § 943.7 (a) to read as follows:

(a) A milk plant approved by any health authority having jurisdiction in the marketing area from which milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks or cream labelled Grade A is disposed of for fluid consumption in the marketing area on wholesale or retail routes, except deliveries to the approved plant of a handler (including plant stores, vendors, peddlers or independent contractors), or:

4. Re-define that part of § 943.7 (b) relating to a receiving station qualifying as an approved plant, so as to require that the operator of such a receiving station dispose of not less than 75 percent of his Grade A receipts as Class I during each of the delivery periods of September through March, in order to qualify as a Pool Plant during such delivery periods, and to require that such operator of a receiving station dispose of not less than 50 percent of his total Grade A receipts as Class I during the preceding delivery periods of September through March, in order to qualify as a Pool Plant during the delivery periods of April through August.

5. Insert a new definition of a pool plant, which will require that a handler dispose of not less than 15 percent of his total Grade A receipts as Class I on regular wholesale and retail routes within the marketing area, in order to qualify as a pool plant.

By Hugo Swan, Dallas, Texas, on behalf of certain handlers:

6. Amend § 943.6 entitled "North Texas Marketing Area" so as to include the following counties:

Franklin.	Navarro.
Titus.	Harrison.
Camp.	Red River.
Morris.	Bowie.
Upshur.	Van Zandt.
Wood.	McLennan.
Rains.	Hill.
Smith.	Bell.
Gregg.	Falls.
Rusk.	Somervell.
Henderson.	Hood.

By Malsby's, Mineral Wells, Texas:

7. That Palo Pinto County, Texas, be included in the marketing area.

With respect to classification of milk:

By North Texas Producers Association:

8. Amend the provisions of § 943.44 (b) and (c) to extend the mileage limitations contained in these paragraphs to 250 miles, and to provide that said mileage limitations be computed on an airline mile basis from the nearest point of the marketing area.

By Hugo Swan on behalf of certain handlers:

9. Delete from § 943.41 entitled "Classes of Utilization" paragraph (a) (1) the following word, "Buttermilk."

10. Amend § 943.41 paragraph (b) by adding the following subparagraphs:

(5) Dumped or destroyed in accordance with regulations to be determined by the Administrator.

(6) Sold to bakeries and other food product manufacturers permitted to use ungraded milk products.

11. Amend § 943.44 entitled "Transfers" so that paragraph (c) shall read as follows:

(c) As Class I milk, if transferred or diverted in the form of milk or skim milk from an approved plant to an unapproved plant more than 200 air miles distant from the nearest boundary of the North Texas Marketing area and/or located in the counties of Lawrence, Barry, Cedar, Newton, McDonald, Jasper, Dade, Greene, St. Clair and Polk in Missouri and/or located in the counties of Benton, Carroll, Washington, Madison and Boone in Arkansas.

12. Amend § 943.44 Transfers by adding the following paragraph:

NEWMAN GROVE SALE CO.

DEPOSTING OF STOCKYARD

It has been ascertained that the Newman Grove Sale Company, Newman Grove, Nebraska, originally posted on March 3, 1950, as being subject to the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, as amended (7 U. S. C. 181 et seq.), no longer comes within the definition of a stockyard under said act for the reason that it no longer meets the area requirements. Therefore, notice is given to the owner of such stockyard and to the public that such stockyard is no longer subject to the provisions of said act.

Notice of public rule making has not preceded promulgation of the foregoing rule since it is found that the giving of such notice would prevent the due and timely administration of the Packers and Stockyards Act and would, therefore, be impractical. There is no legal warrant or justification for not deposting promptly a stockyard which no longer meets the area requirements of the act and is, therefore, no longer a stockyard within the definition contained in said act.

The foregoing rule is in the nature of a rule granting an exemption or relieving a restriction and, therefore, may be made effective in less than 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER. This notice shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The installation of the proposed facilities, according to the application, will provide the added facilities required by Applicant to receive peak day volumes of 200 MMcf in 1954, and 300 MMcf in 1955, from Permian Basin Pipeline Company, as proposed to be supplied by that company under its application now pending before the Commission in Docket No. G-1928. The application states that installation of the G-2063 facilities, upon receipt of 200 MMcf of natural gas from Permian in 1954, will increase Applicant's daily system salable capacity from 818 MMcf [1] to 1,019 MMcf, and upon receipt of the additional 100 MMcf from Permian in 1955, will increase such capacity to 1,112 MMcf.

Applicant states that the proposed capacity increase resulting from the facilities proposed will be adequate to supply the additional contract demand volumes, beyond those to be received under Applicant's Docket No. G–1618 capacity, which Applicant's gas utility customers have requested for the presently-served communities for use during the 1953–1954 heating season, and, in addition, will provide approximately 17 MMcf per day for certain new communities not presently served natural gas.

The estimated cost of the facilities total $45,570,000 for 1953 and $24,256,000 for 1954. Applicant proposes to finance the proposed facilities through the issuance and sale of additional common stock and debentures.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 17th day of November 1952. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

An application by the Commission for court enforcement of such Steps is now pending in the United States District Court for the District of Delaware. Under Step I the Prior Preference Stock of Standard is to be retired by the distribution of common stocks of subsidiaries held by Standard. Power, as the holder of 40,843 shares of Standard's $7 Prior Preference Stock, is entitled under Step I to receive in exchange therefor 118,444.7 shares of common stock of Oklahoma Gas and Electric Company ("Oklahoma"), 191,962.1 shares of common stock of Wisconsin Public Service Corporation ("Wisconsin"), and 85,770.3 shares of common stock of Duquesne Light Company ("Duquesne"), all of which companies are public utility subsidiaries of Standard. Under the instant application Power proposes to acquire such securities. Such acquisition would result in Power's holding 4.91 percent of the common stock of Oklahoma, 8.65 percent of the common stock of Wisconsin, and, together with 31,000 shares of common stock of Duquesne to be received by Power pursuant to Step I–A of the aforesaid plan, 1.97 percent of the common stock of Duquesne presently outstanding.

In the Commission's aforesaid findings, opinion and order approving Step I of the Standard plan, reference was made to the instant application and the Commission stated that the application would be processed separately pursuant to Rule U–23 and that the Commission's order to be entered on such application would contain a specific condition that the securities to be acquired by Power are to be held subject to the Commission's order dated June 19, 1942, requiring Power to liquidate and dissolve. It was further stated that under the circumstances surrounding the proposed acquisition by Power the requirements of section 10 would be satisfied.

In connection with the instant application Power has requested that the Commission make appropriate tax recitals conforming to the requirements of Supplement R and section 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Appropriate notice of said filing having been given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U–23 promulgated pursuant to the act, and the Commission not having received a request for a hearing with respect to said application within the period specified in said notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission finding with respect to the application, as amended, that the applicable provisions of the act and the rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied and that no adverse findings are necessary and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said application be granted forthwith subject to the terms and conditions set forth below and deeming it appropriate to grant Power's request for tax recitals:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U–23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said amended application be, and the same hereby is, granted forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U–24 and to the further condition that the securities to be acquired pursuant to the instant application shall be held subject to the Commission's order dated June 19, 1942, requiring Power to liquidate and dissolve.

It is further ordered and recited, That the transfer and delivery by Power to Standard of 40,843 shares of the $7 Prior Preference stock of Standard in exchange for 118,444.7 shares of common stock of Oklahoma, 191,962.1 shares of common stock of Wisconsin, 85,770.3 shares of common stock of Duquesne, together with cash and scrip certificates in lieu of fractional shares, are necessary or appropriate to the integration or simplification of the holding company system of which Standard and Power are members, and are necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

By the Commission.

GRANITE STATE ELECTRIC CO. AND NEW ENGLAND ELECTRIC SYSTEM

ORDER AUTHORIZING ISSUANCE AND SALE BY SUBSIDIARY OF CAPITAL STOCK AND ACQUISITION THEREOF BY PARENT COMPANY

OCTOBER 28, 1952.

New England Electric System ("NEES"), a registered holding company, and its public-utility subsidiary company, Granite State Electric Company ("Granite"), having filed with this Commission an application-declaration, pursuant to sections 6 (b), 9 (a) and 10 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("the act") and Rules U–23 and U–42 (b) (2) promulgated thereunder, with respect to the following proposed transactions:

Granite proposes to issue and sell, for cash, 5,500 shares of additional capital stock, $100 par value, at a price of $100 per share. NEES, the sole stockholder of Granite, proposes to acquire such additional shares and will use available cash for such purchase.

The instant application-declaration, which was filed on September 24, 1952, states that, pursuant to a bank loan agreement with the First National Bank of Boston, Granite had outstanding $450,000 principal amount of note indebtedness. Pursuant to this Commission's order dated October 1, 1952, making effective an earlier declaration filed by Granite (File No. 70–2928), Granite has authority to increase such note indebtedness by the issuance of $100,000 of additional promissory notes. The instant application-declaration further states that the proceeds from the proposed issuance and sale of capital stock will be used by Granite for the payment of its then outstanding note indebtedness, and the balance, if any, will be used to pay for construction costs or to reimburse its treasury for prior construction expenditures. At the time of the sale of the capital stock, the amount of authorized but unissued promissory notes will be reduced by the amount, if any, by which the proceeds of $550,000 from the sale of the capital stock exceeds the amount of Granite's then outstanding note indebtedness.

The application-declaration further states that the total expenses to Granite and to NEES in connection with the proposed transactions, including services rendered by New England Power Service Company, an affiliated service company, at the actual cost thereof, are estimated at $1,405 and $300, respectively.

The New Hampshire Public Utilities Commission has expressly authorized the proposed issuance and sale of capital stock and the application-declaration states that no other State commission or Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

It is requested that the Commission's order herein become effective upon issuance.

Notice of the filing of the application-declaration having been given in the manner and form provided by Rule U–23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, and a hearing not having been requested or ordered by the Commission within the time specified in said notice; and the Commission finding that the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder are satisfied, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said application-declaration be granted and permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U–23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said application-declaration be, and hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U–24, and that this order shall become effective upon its issuance.

By the Commission.

GAS SERVICE CO.

ORDER AUTHORIZING PROPOSED ISSUANCE OF NOTES

OCTOBER 28, 1952.

The Gas Service Company ("Gas Company"), a gas utility subsidiary of Cities Service Company, a registered holding company, having filed a declaration and an amendment thereto, pursuant to sections 6 (a) and 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), with respect to the following proposed transactions:

Gas Company proposes to enter into a Credit Agreement with the Chase National Bank of the City of New York and Commerce Trust Company whereby Gas Company may borrow from time to time on or prior to November 1, 1954, sums not to exceed $7,500,000 in aggregate amount. Each loan will be evidenced by a promissory note payable on June 1, 1956, and bearing interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum up to January 1, 1954, and at the rate of 3¼ percent per annum thereafter. The agreement provides that Gas Company will pay a commitment fee of ¼ of 1 percent per annum on the daily average unused amount of the commitments from October 1, 1952, which commitments may be terminated or reduced by the Company upon five days' written notice, and that the notes may be prepaid without premium, unless such prepayment is made before June 1, 1955, and is made from proceeds of bank loans.

The declaration states that the net proceeds from the loans will be used by Gas Company for construction purposes and to reimburse the treasury, in part, for construction work heretofore completed. This construction program is estimated to require the expenditure of approximately $13,619,000 during the years 1952 to 1954, inclusive, and Gas Company expects to use approximately $6,119,000 of Company funds in addition to the proposed loans to finance such construction.

The declarant states that no finder's fee, commission or remuneration will be paid in connection with the issuance of the proposed notes and estimates its expenses at $10,500, including legal fees of $7,500, fees and expenses in connection with applications to State Commissions of $1,500, expenses of Gas Advisers, Inc., a mutual service company, of $500, and printing and miscellaneous expenses of $1,000.

The State Corporation Commission of Kansas, the Public Service Commission of Missouri and the Nebraska State Railway Commission have authorized the proposed issuance and sale of said notes and the declaration states that no other State commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Said declaration having been filed on October 2, 1952, and an amendment thereto having been filed on October 27, 1952, and notice of said filing having been given in the form and manner required by Rule U–23 promulgated pursuant to said act, and the Commission not having received a request for a hearing within the time specified in said notice, or otherwise, and the Commission not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission finding that the said declaration, as amended, satisfies the requirements of the applicable provisions of the act and the rules thereunder, and finding no basis for making adverse findings, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that the declaration, as amended, be permitted to become effective:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U–23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said declaration, as amended, be and the same hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U–24.

FEDERAL LIQUIDATING CORP.

NOTICE OF FILING IN RESPECT OF PROPOSED FINAL LIQUIDATING DIVIDEND

OCTOBER 28, 1952.

Notice is hereby given that Federal Liquidating Corporation ("Liquidating Corporation"), a subsidiary of Cities Service Company, a registered holding company, has filed a declaration pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"). Declarant designates section 12 (c) of the act and Rule U-42 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any person may, not later than November 10, 1952, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request that a hearing be held in respect of the proposed transactions, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission orders a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed to the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after November 10, 1952, said declaration, as filed or as amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said declaration on file in the office of the Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Liquidating Corporation was organized in order to facilitate the liquidation of Federal Light and Traction Company ("Federal"), formerly a holding company subsidiary of Cities Service Company. In furtherance of such objective Liquidating Corporation acquired certain assets of Federal not distributed to its stockholders and assumed the remaining liabilities of Federal for the sole purpose of discharging such liabilities and distributing any net proceeds of such assets in liquidation to the stockholders of Liquidating Corporation.

In December 1950, the company, pursuant to the order of the Commission dated December 15, 1950 (File No. 70-2528), effected its dissolution under the law of Delaware, the state of incorporation of the company, and paid over to The New York Trust Company, as liquidating agent, the sum of $918,580 to be distributed in partial liquidation at the rate of $1.75 per share to the stockholders of the company upon surrender by them of their stock certificates representing the shares of common stock of the company. Under the law of Delaware the company has continued in existence for the purpose of winding up its affairs; all assumed and direct liabilities, including fees and expenses in connection with Federal's reorganization proceeding under section 11 (e), have been discharged; and the company has on hand approximately $466,687.42, and is now in a position to make the final distribution to its stockholders.

It is proposed to effect the payment to its stockholder-recipients of the $1.75 per share liquidating dividend a final liquidating dividend of 88.8 cents per share, aggregating $466,113.86, leaving approximately $573.56 to defray miscellaneous expenses, including $250 to be paid to the New York Trust Company for services as liquidating agent in making the final liquidating distribution.

Declarant requests that the Commission's order herein become effective upon its issuance.

By the Commission.

ST. LOUIS-SAN FRANCISCO RAILWAY CO.

REROUTING OR DIVERSION OF TRAFFIC

In the opinion of Charles W. Taylor, Agent, the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Company, account derailment on the Ashdown Division, is unable to transport traffic routed over this line.

It is ordered, That: (a) Rerouting traffic: The St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Company, account derailment on the Ashdown Division, is unable to transport traffic in accordance with shippers' routing, and is hereby authorized to divert such traffic over any available route to expedite the movement, regardless of the routing shown on the waybill. SUBPART B—UNITED STATES STANDARDS

U. S. STANDARDS FOR GRADES OF FROZEN MIXED VEGETABLES[1]

On May 20, 1952, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (17 F. R. 4576) regarding the issuance of proposed United States Standards for Grades of Frozen Mixed Vegetables. After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the proposals set forth in the aforesaid notice, the following United States Standards for Grades of Frozen Mixed Vegetables are hereby promulgated under the authority contained in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 1037; 7 U. S. C. 1621 et seq.) and the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1953 (Pub. Law 451; 82d Cong., approved July 5, 1952):

§ 52.715 Frozen mixed vegetables. Frozen mixed vegetables consist of three or more succulent vegetables, properly prepared and properly blanched; may contain vegetables (such as, small pieces of sweet red peppers or sweet green peppers) added as garnish; and are frozen and maintained at temperatures necessary for the preservation of the product.

(a) Kinds and styles of basic vegetables. It is recommended that frozen mixed vegetables, other than small pieces of vegetables added as garnish, consist of the following kinds and styles of vegetables as basic vegetables:

(1) Beans, green or wax: Cut style, predominantly of ½ inch to 1½ inch cuts;
(2) Beans, lima: Any single varietal type;
(3) Carrots: Diced style, predominantly of ⅜ inch to ½ inch cubes;
(4) Corn, sweet: Golden (or Yellow) in whole kernel style;
(5) Peas: Early type or sweet type.

(b) Proportions of ingredients. It is recommended that frozen mixed vegetables consist of three, four, or five basic vegetables in the following proportions:

(1) Three vegetables. A mixture of three basic vegetables in which any one vegetable is not more than 40 percent by weight of all the frozen mixed vegetables.

(2) Four vegetables. A mixture of four basic vegetables in which none of the vegetables is less than 8 percent by weight nor more than 35 percent by weight of all the frozen mixed vegetables.

(3) Five vegetables. A mixture of five basic vegetables in which none of the vegetables is less than 8 percent by weight nor more than 30 percent by weight of all the frozen mixed vegetables.

[1] The requirements of these standards shall not excuse failure to comply with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

(c) Grades of frozen mixed vegetables. (1) "U. S. Grade A" or "U. S. Fancy" is the quality of frozen mixed vegetables in which each basic vegetable possesses similar varietal characteristics; in which all vegetables possess a good color, are practically free from defects, possess a good character, possess a good flavor and odor; and that score not less than 85 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this section.

(2) "U. S. Grade B" or "U. S. Extra Standard" is the quality of frozen mixed vegetables in which each basic vegetable possesses similar varietal characteristics; in which all vegetables possess a reasonably good color, are reasonably free from defects, possess a reasonably good character, possess a fairly good flavor and odor; and that score not less than 70 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this section.

(3) "Substandard" is the quality of frozen mixed vegetables that fail to meet the requirements of U. S. Grade B or U. S. Extra Standard.

(d) Ascertaining the grade. (1) The grade of frozen mixed vegetables is ascertained by considering, in conjunction with the requirements of the respective grade, the respective ratings for the factors of color, absence of defects, and character.

(2) The relative importance of each factor which is scored is expressed numerically on the scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given such factors are:

Factors:	Points
(i) Color	20
(ii) Absence of defects	40
(iii) Character	40
Total score	100

(3) The scores for the factors of color, absence of defects, and character (with respect to each individual vegetable prior to cooking) are determined immediately after thawing so that the product is sufficiently free from ice crystals to permit proper handling as individual units; and representative samples of the product are cooked to ascertain tenderness of the frozen mixed vegetables, collectively, before final evaluation of the score for character. Flavor and odor are also ascertained on the cooked product.

(4) "Good flavor and odor" means that the product and each basic vegetable after cooking has a good, characteristic normal flavor and odor and is free from objectionable flavors and objectionable odors of any kind.

(5) "Fairly good flavor and odor" means that the product after cooking may be lacking in good flavor and odor but is free from objectionable flavors and objectionable odors of any kind.

(e) Ascertaining the rating for the factors which are scored. The essential variations within each factor which is scored are so described that the value may be ascertained for each factor and expressed numerically. The numerical range within each factor which is scored is inclusive (for example, "17 to 20 points" means 17, 18, 19, or 20 points).

(1) Color. The factor of color refers to the general brightness of all the combined vegetables.

(i) Frozen mixed vegetables which possess a good color may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Good color" means that the combined basic vegetables as a mass are bright and characteristic of reasonably young or reasonably tender mixed vegetables that have been properly prepared and properly processed; that any pieces of vegetable material used for garnish are reasonably bright; and that none of the individual vegetables are off color for any reason.

(ii) If the frozen mixed vegetables possess a reasonably good color, a score of 14 to 16 points may be given. Frozen mixed vegetables that fall into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Extra Standard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good color" means that the combined basic vegetables as a mass are reasonably bright and characteristic of fairly young or fairly tender mixed vegetables that have been properly prepared and properly processed; that any pieces of vegetable material used for garnish may be only fairly bright but are not off color for any reason; and that none of the individual vegetables are off color for any reason.

(iii) If the frozen mixed vegetables fail to meet the requirements of subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, a score of 0 to 13 points may be given. Frozen mixed vegetables that fall into this classification shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

(2) Absence of defects. The factor of absence of defects refers to the degree of freedom from harmless extraneous vegetable materials, slightly damaged units, moderately damaged units, seriously damaged units, and any other defects which detract from the appearance or edibility of the product.

(i) "Harmless extraneous vegetable material" means any vegetable substance other than from any of the basic vegetables or garnish and any portions of the basic vegetables which are normally removed in preparation for processing. Such materials include, but are not limited to, "Small pieces" and "large pieces" as follows:

(a) A "small piece of harmless extraneous vegetable material" is any piece or unit of such material similar in shape and the equivalent in size or smaller than $^{3}/_{16}$ square inch of leafy material or loose pieces of pods from peas or lima beans, tough or woody stems of any size other than unstemmed units of green or wax beans, ¼-inch cube of corn cob material, ½ square inch of corn husk, and $^{3}/_{8}$-inch diameter thistle buds;

(b) A "large piece of harmless extraneous vegetable material" is any piece or unit of such material similar in shape and larger in size than the equivalent of an applicable kind of "small piece of harmless extraneous vegetable material."

(ii) "Slightly damaged unit" means any unit of the basic vegetable or garnish that is affected by slight blemishes, slight discoloration, or similar injury that are noticeable but do not materially affect the appearance or edibility of the unit, and includes, but is not limited to, light discoloration of the hilum of lima beans or other light discoloration of the skin which does not penetrate into the cotyledon of lima beans.

(iii) "Moderately damaged unit" means any unit of a basic vegetable or garnish that is affected by blemishes, discoloration, or any other similar injury that materially affects the appearance or edibility of the unit and has the following specific meanings for the respective vegetables:

(a) Beans, green or wax. Any unit blemished by scars, by pathological injury, by insect injury, or by other means which in the aggregate exceeds the area of a circle ⅛ inch in diameter.

(b) Beans, lima. A bean or portion thereof that is spotted or otherwise definitely discolored or that is blemished by pathological injury, by insect injury, or by other means other than light discoloration.

(c) Carrots. Any unit possessing an unpeeled area greater than the area of a circle ⅛ inch in diameter; and any unit blemished by internal or external discoloration, by sunburn or green color, by pathological injury, by insect injury, or by other means.

(d) Corn. Any kernel or portion thereof that possesses serious brown or black discoloration.

(e) Peas. Any spotted pea or any off-colored pea (such as brown, gray, cream, or yellow-white) that is abnormally defective and that definitely lacks any tinge of green color.

(f) Garnish. Any piece blemished by discoloration, by pathological injury, by insect injury, or by other means which in the aggregate exceeds the area of a circle ⅛ inch in diameter.

(iv) "Seriously damaged unit" means any unit of the basic vegetable or garnish, other than damaged corn kernels, that is damaged to the extent that the appearance and edibility of the unit is seriously affected and includes, but is not limited to, "shriveled" lima beans that are materially wrinkled and not of normal plumpness; "sprouted" lima beans that show an external shoot protruding beyond the cotyledon or skin; and any unit with brown or very black or very dark spots and serious insect injury regardless of the area affected.

(v) "Other defects" means any defects not specifically mentioned that affect the appearance or edibility of the product, and includes, but is not limited to the following:

(a) Beans, green or wax. Loose seeds and portions thereof; and pod sections with very ragged edges that are partially cut or split into two parts, or that are markedly shorter or longer than the predominating lengths of the cut units;

(b) Beans, lima. Mashed beans, broken beans, loose cotyledons, loose skins, and any portions thereof;

(c) Carrots. Crushed, broken, cracked, or irregularly shaped units; units with excessively frayed edges and surfaces; and units markedly smaller than one-half the volume of, or markedly larger than, the predominating size of cubes;

(d) Corn. Crushed kernels, ragged kernels, loose skins, and dark and objectionable pieces of silk more than ½ inch in length; and

(e) Peas. Mashed peas, broken peas, loose cotyledons, loose skins, and any portions thereof.

(vi) Frozen mixed vegetables that are practically free from defects may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Practically free from defects" means that there may be present no more than the following defects within the limits stated:

(a) No large pieces of harmless extraneous vegetable material; but 1 small piece of harmless extraneous vegetable material for each 16 ounces net weight, or for each package if the package is less than 16 ounces, of frozen mixed vegetables: Provided, That the combined weight of all the harmless extraneous material is not more than ½ of 1 percent, by weight, of the frozen mixed vegetables;

(b) 2 moderately damaged units for each 3 ounces of frozen mixed vegetables and 1 seriously damaged unit for each 4 ounces of frozen mixed vegetables: Provided, That slightly damaged, moderately damaged, and seriously damaged units, either singly or in combination, do not materially affect the appearance or edibility of the frozen mixed vegetables; and

(c) Other defects, individually or collectively, do not materially affect the appearance of the frozen mixed vegetables.

(vii) If the frozen mixed vegetables are reasonably free from defects, a score of 28 to 33 points may be given. Frozen mixed vegetables that fall into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Extra Standard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably free from defects" means that there may be present no more than the following defects within the limits stated:

(a) 1 large piece of harmless extraneous vegetable material and 2 small pieces of harmless extraneous vegetable material for each 16 ounces net weight, or for each package if the package is less than 16 ounces, of frozen mixed vegetables: Provided, That the combined weight of all the harmless extraneous material is not more than ½ of 1 percent, by weight, of the frozen mixed vegetables;

(b) 4 moderately damaged units for each 3 ounces of frozen mixed vegetables and 1 seriously damaged unit for each 2 ounces of frozen mixed vegetables: Provided, That slightly damaged, moderately damaged, and seriously damaged units, either singly or in combination, do not seriously affect the appearance or edibility of the frozen mixed vegetables; and

(c) Other defects, individually or collectively, do not seriously affect the appearance of the frozen mixed vegetables.

(viii) If the frozen mixed vegetables fail to meet the requirements of subdivision (vii) of this subparagraph, a score of 0 to 27 points may be given. Frozen mixed vegetables that fall into this classification shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

(3) Character. The factor of character refers to the texture, the maturity, and the degree of development of the pods and seeds in green beans or wax beans; the tenderness of lima beans; the tenderness and the degree of freedom from stringy or coarse fibers in carrots; the tenderness and maturity or starchiness of the corn; the tenderness or maturity of the peas; and to the tenderness of the combined frozen mixed vegetables after cooking.

(i) Frozen mixed vegetables which collectively and individually possess a good character may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Good character" means that the combined vegetables after cooking are tender and that the individual vegetables prior to cooking meet the following requirements:

(a) Beans, green or wax. The bean pods are full-fleshed and tender, the seeds are in the earlier stages of maturity, and both the bean pods and seeds are the equivalent of frozen green beans or wax beans that would score not less than 36 points for the factor of "Texture and Maturity" as outlined in the "United States Standards for Grades of Frozen Snap Beans."

(b) Beans, lima. The lima beans, except for an occasional bean that may be white, are tender.

(c) Carrots. The units are tender and are the equivalent of frozen diced carrots that would score not less than 26 points for the factor of "Texture" as outlined in the "United States Standards for Grades of Frozen Diced Carrots" (§ 52.218).

(d) Corn. The kernels are at least in the cream stage of maturity, have at least a reasonably tender texture, and are the equivalent of frozen whole-grain corn that would score not less than 43 points for the factor of "Tenderness and Maturity" as outlined in the "United States Standards for Grades of Frozen Whole Kernel (or Whole Grain) Corn" (§ 52.271).

(e) Peas. The peas are at least reasonably tender and are the equivalent of frozen peas that would score not less than 34 points for the factor of "Tenderness and Maturity" as outlined in the "United States Standards for Grades of Frozen Peas."

(ii) If the frozen mixed vegetables, collectively and individually, possess a reasonably good character, a score of 28 to 33 points may be given. Frozen mixed vegetables that fall into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Extra Standard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good character" means that the combined vegetables after cooking are reasonably tender and practically free from tough fibers and that the individual vegetables prior to cooking meet the following requirements:

(a) Beans, green or wax. The bean pods are at least fairly tender and are the equivalent of frozen green beans or wax beans that would score not less than 30 points for the factor of "Texture and Maturity" as outlined in the "United States Standards for Grades of Frozen Snap Beans."

(b) Beans, lima. The lima beans are at least fairly tender and not more than 10 percent by count of all the lima beans may be white.

(c) Carrots. The units are at least reasonably tender and are the equivalent of frozen diced carrots that would score not less than 24 points for the factor of "Texture" as outlined in the "United States Standards for Grades of Frozen Diced Carrots" (§ 52.218).

(d) Corn. The kernels are at least fairly tender and are the equivalent of frozen whole-grain corn that would score not less than 38 points for the factor of "Tenderness and Maturity" as outlined in the "United States Standards for Grades of Frozen Whole Kernel (or Whole Grain Corn" (§ 52.271).

(e) Peas. The peas are at least fairly tender and are the equivalent of frozen peas that would score not less than 30 points for the factor of "Tenderness and Maturity" as outlined in the "United States Standards for Grades of Frozen Peas."

(iii) If the frozen mixed vegetables, collectively or individually, fail to meet the requirements of subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, a score of 0 to 27 points may be given. Frozen mixed vegetables that fall into this classification shall not be graded above Substandard, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

(f) Explanation of terms and analyses. (1) The "proportion of ingredients" are determined on the thawed vegetables by the following procedure:

(i) Separate and assemble from all the containers in the sample each of the basic vegetables;

(ii) Weigh each basic vegetable thus composited to obtain the "aggregate weight" of each basic vegetable from all the containers in the sample;

(iii) Add the aggregate weights of all the basic vegetables to obtain the "grand total weight" of all the basic vegetables from all containers in the sample; and then

(iv) Calculate the percentage of each basic vegetable in the sample by dividing the "aggregate weight" of each basic vegetable by the "grand total weight" of all the basic vegetables.

(g) Tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples. (1) When certifying samples that have been officially drawn and which represent a specific lot of frozen mixed vegetables, the grade for such lot will be determined by averaging the total scores of the containers comprising the sample, if:

(i) Not more than one-sixth of such containers fails to meet all the requirements of the grade indicated by the average of such total scores, and, with respect to such containers which fail to meet the requirements of the indicated grade by reason of a limiting rule, the average score of all containers in the sample for the factor, subject to such limiting rule, is within the range for the grade indicated;

(ii) None of the containers comprising the sample falls more than 4 points below the minimum score for the grade indicated by the average of the total scores; and

(iii) All containers comprising the sample meet all applicable standards of quality promulgated under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and in effect at the time of the aforesaid certification.

AUTHORITY: §§ 963.0 through 963.91 issued under sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c.

§ 963.0 Findings and determinations—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon a proposed marketing agreement and order regulating the handling of milk in the Stark County, Ohio, marketing area.

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk produced for sale in the said marketing area as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supplies of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(4) All milk and milk products handled by handlers, as defined in this order, are in the current of interstate commerce or directly burden, obstruct, or affect interstate commerce in milk or its products; and

(5) The necessary expenses of the market administrator for the maintenance and functioning of such agency will require the payment by each handler as his pro-rata share of such expenses 3 cents per hundredweight or such lesser amount as the Secretary may prescribe with respect to (i) all receipts of producer milk (including such handler's own production), (ii) all other source milk received at a pool plant and classified as Class I, and (iii) all other source milk on which payment is made pursuant to § 963.72 (b).

(b) Additional findings. In view of the fact that this order will constitute the original imposition of a regulatory program of this nature for the market, the provisions other than those relating to prices and payments to producers, should be put into effect prior to the effective date of the provisions relating to prices and payments to producers, in order that handlers may have opportunity to make necessary adjustments in their accounting and other operational procedures to conform with all provisions of the order. Reasonable time will have been afforded interested parties to prepare to comply with the aforesaid provisions. It is hereby found and determined, in view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, that good cause exists for making all of the terms and provisions of this order except §§ 963.22 (h), 963.50 through 963.74, and 963.76 thereof effective on November 1, 1952, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay such effective date beyond that specified.

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping milk covered by this order which is marketed within the Stark County, Ohio, marketing area) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period (July 1952), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order Relative to Handling

It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Stark County, Ohio, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the following terms and conditions:

In either case the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler or producer-handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 963.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. Skim milk and butterfat contained in milk, skim milk, and cream or used to produce milk products received during each month from all sources by each handler shall be classified pursuant to §§ 963.41 through 963.46.

§ 963.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in § 963.43 and § 963.44 skim milk and butterfat shall be classified separately as follows:

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk including reconstituted skim milk and all butterfat:

(1) Moved from a plant during the month or on hand at a plant at the end of the month in the form of milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, cream including sour cream, or any mixture of cream and milk or skim milk, except skim milk and butterfat which is classified as Class II milk pursuant to paragraph (b) (1), (2), or (3) of this section;

(2) Used to produce concentrated milk for fluid consumption which was moved from a plant during the month or was on hand at a plant at the end of the month; or

(3) In shrinkage of producer milk as computed pursuant to § 963.42 (b) which is in excess of such shrinkage classified as Class II milk pursuant to paragraph (b) (4) of this section.

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk including reconstituted skim milk and all butterfat:

(1) Contained in skim milk which is dumped or fed to livestock by the handler or is moved from a plant and disposed of to farmers or livestock feeders for livestock feeding;

(2) Contained in cream which was moved from a plant during the month to a cold storage warehouse in the form of frozen cream or in the form of cream to be frozen, or which was on hand at a plant at the end of the month in the form of frozen cream;

(3) In shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat contained in producer milk in amounts equal to either the amounts of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, computed pursuant to § 963.42 (b) or amounts equal to 2 percent of the skim milk and butterfat, respectively, contained in producer milk, whichever amounts are smaller;

(4) In shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat contained in other source milk as computed pursuant to § 963.42 (b); or

(5) Used to produce or contained in ice cream, imitation ice cream, and other frozen desserts and mixes for such products (liquid or powdered); eggnog; butter; butter oil; cheese, including cottage cheese; bulk condensed skim milk or whole milk (sweetened or unsweetened); evaporated or condensed milk (or skim milk) in hermetically sealed cans; casein; nonfat dry milk solids; dry whole milk; condensed or dry buttermilk; whey; powdered malted milk; lactose; yogurt; aerated products; or any other products other than those specified in paragraph (a) of this section which products are moved from a plant during the month or are on hand at a plant at the end of the month.

§ 963.42 Shrinkage. Shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat contained in producer milk and in other source milk shall be computed each month as follows:

(a) Combine into separate totals for skim milk and butterfat all skim milk and butterfat contained in all milk, skim milk, and cream or used to produce all milk products received during the month from all sources, and deduct therefrom all skim milk and butterfat, respectively, contained in or used to produce all milk, skim milk, cream, and all milk products moved from a plant during the month or on hand at a plant at the end of the month: Provided, That producer milk transferred or diverted by a handler from his pool plant to another pool plant without first having been received for purposes of weighing in the transferring or diverting handlers pool plant shall be included in the receipts at the pool plant to which such milk was transferred or diverted for the purpose of computing shrinkage and shall be excluded from the receipts at the transferring or diverting handler's pool plant for such purpose.

(b) Prorate the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section to skim milk and butterfat, respectively, contained in or used to produce all producer milk and all other source milk.

§ 963.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. All skim milk and butterfat contained in producer milk and in other source milk received by a handler shall be classified as Class I milk unless the handler proves to the market administrator that such skim milk and butterfat or a portion thereof should be classified as Class II milk. Any skim milk or butterfat which is classified in one class shall be reclassified to the other class if subsequent to the original classification such skim milk or butterfat is handled in such a manner as to justify its reclassification.

§ 963.44 Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat transferred (including skim milk and butterfat in milk which was diverted) from a pool plant in the form of milk, skim milk or cream to:

(a) Another pool plant or a nonpool plant from which a route is operated wholly or partially within the marketing area shall be classified as Class I milk unless utilization in Class II is indicated by the operators of both plants in their reports filed pursuant to § 963.30 for the month during which such transfer was made. If the two operators indicate a Class II utilization of all or part of the transferred skim milk and butterfat and the pounds of skim milk or butterfat remaining in Class II milk after the allocation of skim milk and butterfat in other source milk pursuant to § 963.46 (e) for the plant to which such transfer was made are greater than the pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, so mutually indicated to be classified as Class II milk, then all such skim milk or butterfat transferred shall be classified as Class II milk. If the pounds of skim milk or butterfat remaining in Class II milk after the allocation of skim milk and butterfat in other source milk pursuant to § 963.46 (e) for the plant to which such transfer was made are less than the pounds of skim milk or butterfat, respectively, so mutually indicated to be classified as Class II milk, then an amount of such transferred skim milk or butterfat, respectively, equal to the pounds remaining in Class II in the plant to which such transfer was made shall be classified as Class II milk and the remainder of such skim milk or butterfat so transferred shall be classified as Class I milk.

(b) To a producer-handler shall be classified as Class I milk.

(c) To a nonpool plant from which no route is operated within the marketing area shall be classified as Class I milk unless utilization in Class II is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by the operators of both plants on or before the 8th day of the month following that within which such transfer was made and the operator of the nonpool plant maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat received at his plant and makes such books and records available to the market administrator, upon his request, for the verification of such utilization. If the above conditions are met the market administrator shall classify all skim milk and butterfat received at the nonpool plant and the skim and butterfat so transferred shall be allocated in series beginning with any skim milk and butterfat, respectively, remaining in Class I milk after allocating skim milk and butterfat in milk received from dairy farmers who the market administrator determines constitute the regular source of milk for Class I uses at such plant in series beginning with Class I milk.

§ 963.45 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the report submitted by each handler pursuant to § 963.30 and shall compute separately the pounds of skim milk and butterfat in each class.

§ 963.46 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat. Skim milk and butterfat to be classified pursuant to § 963.40 shall be separately allocated to skim milk and butterfat classified pursuant to §§ 963.41 through 963.44 in sequence as follows:

(a) Plant shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat contained in producer milk as computed pursuant to § 963.42 (b) shall be allocated to skim milk and butterfat, respectively, classified pursuant to § 963.41 (a) (3) and (b) (4).

(b) Skim milk and butterfat contained in or used to produce products other than milk, skim milk, or cream received in such form shall be allocated to skim milk and butterfat contained in or used to produce products moved from a plant during the month or on hand at a plant at the end of the month in like form.

(c) Skim milk and butterfat contained in any frozen cream which was classified in a previous month as Class II milk pursuant to § 963.41 (b) (2) and which was removed from storage or received from another handler during the month for which classification is being determined shall be allocated to skim milk and butterfat used to produce ice cream or other frozen desserts or mixes for such ice cream or other frozen desserts moved from a plant during such month or on hand at a plant at the end of such month.

(d) Remaining skim milk and butterfat contained in or used to produce other source milk other than that received from a plant at which the handling of milk is fully subject to the pricing and payment provisions of another marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act shall be allocated to remaining skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class II milk, and if such remaining skim milk or butterfat contained in or used to produce such other source milk exceeds the remaining skim milk or butterfat, respectively, in Class II milk, such excess of skim milk or butterfat shall be allocated to skim milk or butterfat, respectively, in Class I milk.

(e) Remaining skim milk and butterfat contained in or used to produce other source milk received from a plant at which the handling of milk is fully subject to the pricing and payment provisions of another marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the Act shall be allocated to remaining skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class II milk, and if such remaining skim milk or butterfat contained in or used to produce such other source milk exceeds the remaining skim milk or butterfat, respectively, in Class II milk, such excess of skim milk or butterfat shall be allocated to the skim milk and butterfat in Class I milk.

(f) Skim milk and butterfat transferred and classified pursuant to § 963.44 shall be allocated to skim milk and butterfat, respectively, pursuant to such classification.

(g) Add to the remaining skim milk and butterfat in each class the skim milk and butterfat, respectively, allocated pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section.

(h) If the then remaining skim milk or butterfat in all classes exceeds the skim milk or butterfat contained in producer milk received by such handler, subtract such excess of skim milk or butterfat from remaining skim milk or butterfat, respectively, in Class II milk, and if the remaining skim milk or butterfat in Class II milk is less than such excess of skim milk or butterfat, respectively, subtract the difference of skim milk or butterfat from remaining skim milk or butterfat, respectively, in Class I milk. The resulting volumes of skim milk and butterfat in each class are the volumes of skim milk and butterfat in producer milk in each class.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 963.50 Basic formula price. The basic formula price per hundredweight of milk to be used in determining the Class I and Class II milk price pursuant to § 963.51 and § 963.52 shall be the highest of the prices per hundredweight of milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content computed by the market administrator pursuant to paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section.

(a) The average of the basic (or field) prices ascertained to have been paid or to be paid per hundredweight for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department of Agriculture by the companies indicated below:

(b) The price resulting from the following computation:

(1) Multiply by 6 the simple average as computed by the market administrator, of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the month for which prices are being computed;

(2) Add an amount equal to 2.4 times the simple average as published by the Department of Agriculture of the prices determined per pound of "Cheddars" on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange at Plymouth, Wisconsin, for the trading days that fall within the month; and

(3) Divide by 7 and to the resulting amount add 30 percent; and then multiply by 3.5.

(c) The price computed by adding together the plus amounts pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph:

(1) From the average price of butter as computed in paragraph (b) (1) of this section, subtract 3 cents, add 20 percent of the resulting amount, and then multiply by 3.5.

(2) From the simple average as computed by the market administrator, of the weighted averages of the carlot prices per pound for nonfat dry milk solids, spray, and roller process, respectively, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the month for which prices are being computed by the Department of Agriculture, deduct 5.5 cents, and multiply by 8.2.

§ 963.51 Class I milk prices. The minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for butterfat and skim milk in producer milk received by such handler during the month which is classified as Class I milk shall be computed by the market administrator as follows:

Provided, That in each month from the effective date of this section through July 1953 the price per hundredweight for producer milk received by a handler at a pool plant for which the handler holds a permit from the health authorities of either of the cities of Alliance, Canton, or Massillon, Ohio, and classified as Class I milk shall be the Class I price for such month as computed pursuant to § 975.61 (a), exclusive of the proviso contained therein, of the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area (7 CFR, Part 975) less 15 cents, and the price for producer milk received by a handler at a pool plant for which the handler does not hold a permit from the health authorities of either of the cities of Alliance, Canton, or Massillon, Ohio, and classified as Class I milk shall be such Cleveland Class I less 40 cents.

(a) Add to the basic formula price the following amount for the month indicated:

Month	Amount
May and June	$0.90
March, April, July, and August	1.30
All others	1.70

Provided, That in computing the price to be paid by any handler for butterfat and skim milk contained in producer milk which was received by such handler during the month at a pool plant for which the handler does not hold a permit from the health authorities of either of the cities of Alliance, Canton, or Massillon, Ohio, and which is classified as Class I milk, the amounts to be added to the basic formula price pursuant to this paragraph shall be 25 cents less in each month than the amounts indicated above.

(b) Add or subtract from the result computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section a "supply-demand adjustment" computed as follows:

(1) Compute a "current utilization percentage" by dividing the total volume of producer milk and other source milk received by all handlers in the first and second months preceding the month for which a price is being computed which was classified as Class I milk pursuant to §§ 963.41 (a), 963.43, and 963.44 by the total volume of producer milk received by all handlers during the same months, multiplying the result by 100, and rounding to the nearest whole number;

(2) Compute a "net utilization percentage" by subtracting from the current utilization percentage computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph the appropriate "standard utilization percentage" shown below:

Month for which a price is being computed:	Standard utilization percentage
January	84
February	80
March	78
April	75
May	71
June	64
July	61
August	64
September	67
October	70
November	76
December	82

(3) The amount of the supply-demand adjustment shall be as follows:

[Cents per hundredweight]

If the net utilization percentage is—	Supply-demand adjustment for specified month is—
	Jan., Feb., Mar., Aug., and Sept.	Apr., May, June, and July	Oct., Nov., and Dec.
+12 or over	+38	+25	+50
+9 or +10	+28	+19	+38
+6 or +7	+20	+13	+26
+3 or +4	+10	+7	+14
+1 to −1	0	0	0
−2 or −1	−10	−14	−7
−6 or −7	−20	−26	−13
−9 or −10	−28	−38	−19
−12 or −13	−38	−50	−25

−21 or under	−38	−50	−50

When the net utilization percentage does not fall within one of the above tabulated brackets, the supply-demand adjustment shall be determined by the adjacent bracket which is the same as or nearest to the bracket used in the previous month. If in the first month this supply-demand adjustment is in effect the net utilization percentage does not fall within one of the above tabulated brackets the supply-demand adjustment shall be determined by the adjacent bracket which would result in the higher supply-demand adjustment.

(c) Divide the price computed pursuant to § 963.50 (c) into the amount computed pursuant to § 963.50 (c) (1).

(d) Multiply the price computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section by the result obtained pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section.

(e) Divide the result obtained pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section by 0.035. This result shall be the price per hundredweight of butterfat classified as Class I milk.

(f) From the price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) and (b) of this section, subtract the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section, and divide the remainder by 0.965. The result shall be the price per hundredweight of skim milk classified as Class I milk.

§ 963.52 Class II milk prices. The minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for butterfat and skim milk in producer milk received by such handler during the month which is classified as Class II milk shall be computed by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Multiply the basic formula price computed pursuant to § 963.50 by the result obtained pursuant to § 963.51 (c).

(b) Divide the result obtained pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section by 0.035. The result shall be the price per hundredweight of butterfat classified as Class II milk.

(c) From the basic formula price computed pursuant to § 963.50 subtract the amount computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, and divide the remainder by 0.965. The result shall be the price per hundredweight of skim milk classified as Class II milk.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICE

§ 963.60 Value of producer milk. The value of producer milk received by each handler during the month shall be computed by the market administrator by multiplying the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat in each class as computed pursuant to § 963.46 by the applicable class prices and adding together the resulting amounts: Provided, That if after the allocation of skim milk and butterfat pursuant to paragraphs (a) through (g) of § 963.46 the remaining amount of skim milk or butterfat exceeds the amount of skim milk or butterfat, respectively, in producer milk received by such handler, there shall be added to the value of the producer milk received by such handler a further amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of skim milk or butterfat as subtracted pursuant to § 963.46 (h) by the applicable class price.

§ 963.61 Computation of uniform prices. For each month the market administrator shall compute a uniform price per hundredweight of milk containing 3.5 percent of butterfat to be paid to producers delivering milk to any pool plant for which the handler operating such plant holds a permit for such plant from the health authorities of either of the cities of Alliance, Canton, or Massillon, Ohio and a uniform price to be paid per hundredweight of milk containing 3.5 percent of butterfat to producers delivering to any pool plant for which the handler operating such plants does not hold a permit for such plant from any of such health authorities as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the value of producer milk for each handler as computed pursuant to § 963.60 for all handlers who reported pursuant to § 963.30 for such month, except those in default in payments required pursuant to § 963.72 for the preceding month;

(b) Add the total amount of all payments made pursuant to § 963.72 (b), (c), and (d);

(c) Add any amounts paid into the producer-settlement fund and subtract any amounts paid out of the producer-settlement fund pursuant to § 963.77;

(d) Add an amount representing not less than one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund exclusive of the amounts added or subtracted pursuant to paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section;

(e) Subtract, if the weighted average butterfat test of all producer milk represented by the amounts included under paragraph (a) of this section is greater than 3.5 percent, or add, if the weighted average butterfat test of such milk is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the total pounds of butterfat represented by the difference of such weighted average butterfat test from 3.5 percent, by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 963.74 multiplied by 10;

(f) Subtract an amount computed by multiplying by 25 cents the hundredweight of producer milk which was (1) received during the month for which uniform prices are being computed at all pool plants for which the handler operating such plant holds a permit for such plant from the health authorities of either of the cities of Alliance, Canton, or Massillon, Ohio, and (2) classified as Class I milk;

(g) Divide the resulting amount by the total hundredweight of producer milk received by all handlers during the month for which uniform prices are being computed;

(h) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents, and the result shall be the uniform price to be paid per hundredweight of milk containing 3.5 percent of butterfat to producers who delivered milk during the month for which uniform prices are being computed to any pool plant for which the handler operating such plant holds a permit for such plant from the health authorities of either of the cities of Alliance, Canton, or Massillon, Ohio.

§ 963.62 Notification. On or before the 13th day of each month the market administrator shall notify each handler who submitted a report for the preceding month pursuant to § 963.30 of:

(a) The classification pursuant to § 963.46 of skim milk and butterfat contained in producer milk received by such handler during the preceding month and the value of such milk computed pursuant to § 963.60;

(b) The uniform prices for the preceding month computed pursuant to § 963.61; and

(c) The amount due such handler pursuant to § 963.73 and the amount to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 963.72, 963.75, and 963.76.

PAYMENTS FOR MILK

§ 963.70 Payments to producers or cooperative associations. Subject to §§ 963.74 and 963.76, each handler who is not a cooperative association shall make payments to producers or cooperative associations pursuant to either paragraph (a) or (b) of this section:

(a) On or before the 16th day of each month such handler shall pay to a cooperative association which requests such payment for producer milk received in the preceding month from producers who have given such cooperative association written authorization to collect payment for their milk a total amount not less than the sum of the individual amounts otherwise payable to such producers pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section. In making such payments to a cooperative association, the payments shall be accompanied with a statement showing the name of each producer for whose milk payment is being made to the cooperative association, the volume and average butterfat content of milk received from each such producer, and the amount of and reason for any deductions which the handler has withheld from the amount due such producer.

(b) On or before the 18th day of each month such handler shall pay each producer (other than those for who a cooperative association collects pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section) for milk received from him during the preceding month at not less than the appropriate uniform price computed pursuant to § 963.61 (h) or (k) for such month, adjusted by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 963.74 for such month, and less any deductions authorized by such producer: Provided, That if the payments made to a handler pursuant to § 963.73 have been reduced pursuant to the proviso contained therein, such handler may reduce payments to producers or cooperative associations by the same amount per hundredweight of milk and such handler shall complete payments to producers or cooperative associations as required by this section or before the next date for making payments pursuant to this section following the date upon which such handler receives payment in full for amounts due him pursuant to § 963.73.

§ 963.71 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made pursuant to §§ 963.72 and 963.77 and out of which he shall make all payments pursuant to §§ 963.73 and 963.77.

§ 963.72 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 14th day of each month handlers shall make payments to the market administrator as follows:

(a) If the value of producer milk received by a handler in the preceding month as computed pursuant to § 963.60 exceeds the amount which such handler is required to pay to all producers pursuant to § 963.70, such handler shall pay the difference between the two amounts.

(b) Any handler who during the preceding month operated a nonpool plant from which a route extending into the marketing area was operated shall pay an amount computed by determining the value at the Class I price which would be applicable at such plant if it were a pool plant of all Class I milk disposed of on routes operated wholly or partially within the marketing area during the preceding month and by deducting from such value the value of such milk at the Class II price: Provided, That if such handler received at his nonpool plant during the preceding month skim milk and butterfat from a pool plant which was classified as Class I milk pursuant to § 963.44 (c) a payment shall be made pursuant to this section only if the volume of Class I milk so disposed of on routes operated wholly or partially within the marketing area is in excess of the volume of Class I milk received from a pool plant and shall be computed only on such excess.

(c) Any handler who during the preceding month operated a pool plant shall pay an amount computed by determining the value of other source milk which was received during the preceding month and allocated to Class I milk pursuant to § 963.46 (d) at the Class I price applicable to such plant and by deducting from such value the value of such milk at the Class II price.

(d) Any handler who received other source milk in the preceding month which was allocated to Class I milk pursuant to § 963.46 (e) shall pay any amount by which the value of such milk at the Class I price applicable to the plant at which such other source milk was received exceeded the value of such milk computed pursuant to the other marketing agreement or order.

§ 963.73 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 16th day of each month, the market administrator shall pay to each handler any amount by which the sum required to be paid by such handler for the preceding month pursuant to § 963.70 is greater than the total value of the milk of such handler computed pursuant to § 963.60 for such preceding month, less any unpaid obligations of the handler to the market administrator pursuant to § 963.72: Provided, That if the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make payments to all handlers pursuant to this paragraph, the market administrator shall reduce such payments by a uniform amount per hundredweight of milk and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds become available.

§ 963.74 Producer butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to § 963.70 the uniform prices shall be adjusted for each one-tenth of one percent of butterfat content in the milk of each producer above or below 3.5 percent, as the case may be, by a butterfat differential (computed to the next high half-cent) computed as follows: Divide the average price of butter as computed pursuant to § 963.50 (b) (1) by 10 and, if the result is not an even whole or half cent, round to the next higher whole or half cent.

§ 963.75 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense incurred pursuant to § 963.22 (c), each handler shall pay the market administrator on or before the 14th day of each month 3 cents per hundredweight or such lesser amount as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe with respect to (a) all receipts within the preceding month of producer milk (including such handler's own production), (b) all other source milk received at a pool plant in the preceding month and classified as Class I, and (c) all other source milk on which payment is made pursuant to § 963.72 (b).

§ 963.76 Marketing services. In making payments to producers or cooperative associations pursuant to § 963.70 a handler shall make deductions and dispose of amounts so deducted as follows:

(a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section a handler shall deduct 6 cents per hundredweight, or such lesser amount as the Secretary may from time to time prescribe, with respect to all producer milk for which payment is being made pursuant to § 963.70 and shall pay the total amount of such deductions to the market administrator on or before the 16th day after the end of the month in which such producer milk was received. Such amount shall be expended by the market administrator to verify weights and tests of milk of producers and to provide producers with market information, such services to be performed by the market administrator or by an agent engaged by and responsible to him.

(b) In the case of producers for whom a cooperative association is actually performing the services described in paragraph (a) of this section, as determined by the market administrator, a handler shall make, in lieu of the deductions specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions from payments required pursuant to § 963.70 (b) for producer milk received in the preceding month as may be authorized by such producers, and pay such deductions on or before the 16th day after the end of the month in which such producer milk was received to the cooperative association rendering such services.

§ 963.77 Errors in payments. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records or accounts discloses errors or whenever skim milk or butterfat is reclassified pursuant to § 963.43 resulting in moneys due (a) the market administrator from such handler, or such handler from the market administrator or (b) any producer or cooperative association from such handler pursuant to § 963.70 the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any such amount due, and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payment set forth in the provision under which such error occurred, following the 5th day after such notice. In computing amounts due pursuant to this section Class prices, the appropriate uniform price, the butterfat differential, the rate of administration assessment pursuant to § 963.75, and the rate of marketing service deduction pursuant to § 963.76 which were applicable in the month for which the original calculations of amounts due were made shall be used.

§ 963.78 Termination of obligation. (a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this order shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's report of utilization of the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to a cooperative association, the name of such producers or association, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this subpart, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books or records required by this subpart to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this subpart to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this subpart shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which milk involved in the claim was received if any underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within that applicable period of time, files pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 963.80 Effective time. The provisions of this subpart, or any amendment to this subpart, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this subpart for the payment of money.

§ 963.81 Suspension or termination. Whenever the Secretary finds this subpart or any provision of this subpart obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall terminate or suspend the operation of this order or any such provision of this subpart.

§ 963.82 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this subpart there are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 963.83 Liquidation. Upon the suspension of the provisions of the subpart, except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidation agent as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated all assets, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidation agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 963.90 Agent. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this subpart.

§ 963.91 Separability of provisions. If any provision of this subpart, or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid the application of such provisions, and the remaining provisions of this subpart, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 30th day of October 1952 to be effective as follows:

Sections 963.0 through 963.22 (g), 963.30 through 963.46, 963.75, and 963.77 through 963.91 of this order shall be effective on and after November 1, 1952; and all of the remaining terms and provisions of this order (§§ 963.22 (h), 963.50 through 963.74, and 963.76) shall be effective on and after December 1, 1952.

PART 967—MILK IN SOUTH BEND-LA PORTE, IND., MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED

§ 967.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the South Bend-La Porte, Indiana, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making effective not later than November 1, 1952, this order amending the said order, as amended. This action is necessary in the public interest in order to reflect current marketing conditions and to insure the market of an adequate supply of milk. Accordingly any further delay in the effective date of this order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will seriously impair orderly marketing of milk in the South Bend-La Porte, Indiana, marketing area. The provisions of the said amendatory order are well known to handlers. Reasonable time under the circumstances has been afforded persons affected to prepare for its effective date. Therefore, it would be impracticable and contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this amendatory order 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (see sec. 4 (c) Administrative Procedure Act, Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong., 60 Stat. 237).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative association of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping the milk covered by this order amending the order, as amended) of more than 50 percent of the volume of milk covered by the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, which is marketed within the South Bend-La Porte, Indiana, marketing area, refused or failed to sign the marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area; and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the said order, as amended, is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of the producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period (September 1952) were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the South Bend-La Porte, Indiana, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete § 967.50 (b) (2) and substitute therefor the following:

(2) Add an amount computed as follows: From the simple average of the daily prices paid per pound, using the midpoint of any price range as one price, for Wisconsin State Brand cheddars in cars or truckloads, f. o. b. Wisconsin assembling points, as reported by the Department for the trading days during the delivery period, subtract 1.3 cents, and multiply by 2.4:

2. Delete § 967.51 in its entirety and substitute therefor the following:

§ 967.51 Class I milk prices. The minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for skim milk and butterfat in producer milk received and classified as Class I milk for each delivery period shall be computed by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Add to the basic formula price (3.5 percent milk) the following amount for the delivery period indicated: May and June, $0.70; July through January, inclusive, $1.30; and February through April, inclusive, $0.90: Provided, That such Class I price differential shall be increased or decreased, respectively, 3 cents for each full percent that the current supply-demand ratio is greater or less than 72 percent.

(b) Add together the amount computed pursuant to § 967.50 (c) (2) and any amount per hundredweight by which (on a 3.5 percent butterfat basis) the effective basic formula price pursuant to § 967.50 is higher than the price computed pursuant to § 967.50 (c), divide such sum by 0.035, and then add thereto the following amount for the delivery period indicated: May and June, $8.25; July through January, inclusive, $13.75; and all others, $11.00: Provided, That such amount for the delivery period indicated shall be increased or decreased, as the case may be, by the amount per hundredweight resulting from the proviso of paragraph (a) of this section divided by 0.035. The resulting amount shall be the price of butterfat in Class I milk.

(c) Subtract from the price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section the amount computed in paragraph (b) of this section times 0.035, and divide the remainder by 0.965. The resulting amount shall be the price of skim milk in Class I milk.

(d) On or before the last day of each delivery period the market administrator shall make the following computations based upon the reported receipts and utilization of handlers as defined in the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area, as computed by the market administrator under the latter order:

(1) Determine the total receipts of Grade A milk from all producers (including receipts from own farm production) for the most recent 12-month period.

(2) Determine the total pounds of Grade A milk actually utilized in Class I milk and Class II milk products during the most recent 12-month period and subtract therefrom the amount of Class II milk represented by frozen cream and plastic cream moving into storage during such 12-month period.

(3) Divide the amount obtained in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph by the amount obtained in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph and round to the nearest full percent, which resulting percentage shall be known as the "current supply-demand ratio."

(4) In making the computations specified in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, the market administrator shall use the reported receipts and utilization of handlers of Grade A milk under both Order 41 and former Order 69 (Suburban Chicago, Illinois, marketing area) when it is necessary to use data for delivery periods prior to July 1, 1951.

3. Delete § 967.52 (c) and substitute therefor the following:

(c) Compute the arithmetical average of the basic (or field) prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid, or to be paid, for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the delivery period at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or the Department by the companies listed below: Provided, That in the case of any such plant for which prices are reported on a biweekly basis, the simple average of the two most recent price quotations applicable to milk received during the delivery period at such plant shall be used in computing the average price for the four plants.

Present Operator and Location

Goshen Milk Condensing Co., Goshen, Indiana.
New Paris Creamery Co., New Paris, Indiana.
Schlosser Brothers Creamery, Plymouth, Indiana.
Elgin Milk Products Co., Galien, Michigan.

4. Delete § 967.60 (c) and substitute therefor the following:

(c) On or before the 4th day after the end of such delivery period each handler shall pay to each producer, or to a cooperative association authorized to collect payment, not less than the amount per hundredweight provided in the schedule set forth in this paragraph, for milk received from such producer or caused to be delivered to such handler by such cooperative association during the first 15 days of such delivery period: Provided, That in the event any producer or cooperative association discontinues shipping to such handler during any delivery period, such partial payments shall not be made and full payment for all milk received from such producer or cooperative association during such delivery period shall be made on or before the 18th day after the end of such delivery period pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section:

When the uniform price for the preceding delivery period is:	The amount of the partial payment shall be
Under $1.00	$0.00
$1.00–$1.99	1.00
$2.00–$2.99	2.00
$3.00–$3.99	3.00
$4.00–$4.99	4.00
$5.00–$5.99	5.00
$6.00–$6.99	6.00
$7.00– and over	7.00

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c)

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 30th day of October 1952, to be effective on and after the 1st day of November 1952.

5. Paragraph (c) of § 594.101 is rescinded and the following substituted therefor:

§ 594.101 Statement of policy. • • •

(c) Economy. In any case when, pursuant to paragraph (a) (2) of this section, it is determined that a saving will be effected by the purchase of mandatory items listed in the Federal Supply Schedule from sources other than those listed in such Schedule, the voucher submitted to the General Accounting Office shall contain a finding stating the reason for purchase from other than Federal Supply Schedule, and citing the amount of the savings effected. In arriving at such a saving, a percentage of 5 percent will be added to the actual price of the items to offset the administrative cost resulting from purchase, receiving, storing, issuing, etc., due to purchase outside the Schedule. The authority to make such a finding is vested in the Heads of the Procuring Activities. This authority will not be construed as authorization to disregard the requirements of the Federal Supply Schedule.

6. A new § 596.104–12a is added as follows:

§ 596.104–12a Military security requirements, research and development contracts. The following clause is approved for use in contracts with educational or non-profit institutions, as a deviation from the Armed Services Procurement Regulation (see Chapter IV of this title) pending inclusion in a future revision of the Armed Services Procurement Regulation:

MILITARY SECURITY REQUIREMENTS; RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

(a) The provisions of the following paragraphs of this clause shall apply only if and to the extent that this contract involves access to security information or other matter classified "Top Secret," "Secret," "Confidential," or "Restricted."

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this clause, the Contractor agrees to provide and maintain a system of security controls within its or his own organization in accordance with (i) the requirements of the Department of Defense Industrial Security Manual for Safeguarding Classified Matter, dated December 13, 1951, as in effect on date of this contract, which Manual is hereby incorporated by reference and made a part of this contract, and (ii) any amendments to said Manual required by the demands of national security as determined by the Government and made after the date of this contract, notice of which has been furnished to the Contractor.

(c) The Government agrees that it shall indicate, when necessary, by a security information classification ("Top Secret," "Secret," "Confidential," or "Restricted"), the degree of importance to the national defense of information pertaining to supplies, services, and other matter to be furnished by the Contractor in complying with the requirements of the terms and the Government shall give written notice of such classification to the Contractor and of any subsequent changes thereof. The Contractor is authorized to rely on any letter or other written instrument signed by the Contracting Officer changing the classification of security information or other matter.

(d) Designated representatives of the Government responsible for inspection pertaining to industrial plant security shall have the right to inspect at reasonable intervals the procedures, methods, and facilities utilized by the Contractor in complying with the requirements of the terms and conditions of this clause. Should the Government, through its authorized representative, determine that the Contractor's security methods, procedures, or facilities do not conform to such requirements, it shall submit a written report to the Contractor advising him of the proper action to be taken in order to effect compliance with such requirements.

(e) In the event the Contracting officer notifies the Contractor of (i) a change in the classification of this contract or any part thereof from a nonclassified status to a classified status or from a lower classification to a higher classification or (ii) a change in military security requirements which results in more restrictive areas controls than previously required, the Contractor shall exert every reasonable effort compatible with its established policies to continue the performance of work under the contract in compliance with such change in classification or in military security requirements. If, despite such reasonable efforts, the Contractor determines that the continuation of work under this contract is not practicable because of such change in classification or military security requirements it shall so notify the Contracting Officer in writing.

(f) After receiving such written notification, the Contracting Officer shall explore the circumstances surrounding the proposed change in classification or in military security requirements and shall endeavor to work out a mutually satisfactory method whereby the Contractor can continue performance of the work under this contract.

(g) If, upon the expiration of fifteen (15) days after receipt of the notification by the Contracting Officer of the Contractor's stated inability to proceed, (i) the application to this contract of such change in classification or in military security requirements has not been withdrawn and (ii) a mutually satisfactory method for continuing performance of work under this contract has not been agreed upon, the Contractor may request the Contracting Officer to terminate the contract in whole or in part. Thereupon, the Contracting Officer shall terminate the contract in whole or part, as may be appropriate, and such termination shall be deemed a termination under the provisions of the clause of this contract entitled "Termination for the Convenience of the Government."

(h) Any disagreement concerning a question of fact arising under this clause shall be considered a dispute within the meaning of the clause of this contract entitled "Disputes."

(i) The Contractor agrees to insert in all subcontracts hereunder which involve access to classified security information or other matter, provisions shall conform substantially to the language of this clause, including this paragraph (i), but excluding paragraphs (c), (f), (g) and (h) of this clause.

7. Section 596.151–1 is rescinded and the following substituted therefor:

§ 596.151–1 Price escalation (labor and materials).—(a) The escalation clause set forth in this section is authorized for use in formally advertised or negotiated contracts for the procurement of supplies under conditions wherein it is desired to effect one or more possible price adjustments, during the life of the contract, solely upon the basis of rates of pay for certain specified types of labor and/or costs of certain specified types of materials. The clause is not to be used in those instances wherein it is desired to adjust contract prices upon the basis of changes in the original estimates of hours of labor or quantities of materials. The clause may be used in the procurement of items other than those of a standard commercial nature in those instances where adequate cost experience has been obtained on previous contracts and where the design of the supplies has been stabilized.

(b) Paragraph (b) of the clause provides that prices may be adjusted only if the change results in an increase or decrease of at least three percent of the aggregate contract price. Authority is granted to deviate from his percentage to provide for a lesser percentage if it is deemed that the value of the contract warrants the administration of price adjustments involving a smaller percentage change.

(c) The percentage increase to be specified in subparagraph (d) (3) of the clause shall not exceed fifteen percent.

(d) When it is planned to include this clause in contracts to be awarded as a result of formal advertising, the invitations for bid will clearly so state, and will further state that all bids will be evaluated after applying the maximum amount of escalation.

PRICE ESCALATION

(Labor and Materials)

(a) The Contractor represents and warrants that the prices set forth in this contract do not include any contingency allowance to cover the possibility of increased costs of performance resulting from increases in either (1) the Contractor's rates of pay for labor or (2) the prices which the Contractor is required to pay for materials, as set forth in detail in paragraph (b) hereunder. The Contractor further represents and warrants that the net price or prices paid or to be paid by the Government under this contract do not and shall not exceed those paid by any other purchaser or consignee for like quantities of the same or similar supplies.

(b) In the event that, at any time during the performance of this contract, the Contractor is required to pay rates of pay for the types of labor specified below, or is required to pay prices for the materials specified below, in excess of, or less than the following rates and/or prices upon which the contract unit price for _____

(Insert name or reference to end item) is based:

Type of labor or material	Unit of measure	Rate of pay or price per unit then in such event the contract unit price may be adjusted upward or downward in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (c). Such adjustment shall apply to the units completed subsequent to the effective date of any such increase or decrease and shall be by an amount equivalent to the increase or decrease in cost per uncompleted unit occasioned by the increase or decrease in rates of pay for the labor or prices for material specified above. No adjustment shall be made, however, that does not result in an increase or decrease of at least three percent (3%) of the then aggregate contract price of the uncompleted units of the contract.

(c) Not later than twenty (20) days after the effective date of any increase or decrease as referred to in paragraph (b) hereof, the Contractor shall notify the Contracting Officer of any such increase or decrease, and with such notification shall submit a supporting cost breakdown. Such cost breakdown will—

(1) Be prepared in accordance with recognized commercial accounting principles;

(2) Indicate changes in estimated labor and/or material costs resulting from any increase or decrease as referred to in paragraph (b) hereof; and

(3) Be signed by a responsible official of the Contractor. Upon the basis of such notification and cost breakdown, and such other data as may be available to the Contracting Officer or as shall be furnished to him upon request to the Contractor, a price adjustment to reflect the increase or decrease in costs as referred to in paragraph (b) hereof shall be determined by mutual agreement between the Contractor and the Contracting Officer, and shall be set forth in an amendment to this contract. In the event that the Contractor fails to give notice of any decrease as required herein, a downward adjustment shall be later effected with respect to the units completed subsequent to the effective date of any such decrease. The Contracting Officer or any person authorized by him may examine any or all of the Contractor's records and information available to the Contractor relating to rates paid for labor and prices paid for materials specified in paragraph (b) hereof.

(d) Price adjustments may be agreed upon at any time and from time to time during the performance of this contract in accordance with the provisions of this clause. In no event, however, shall any price adjustment be made:

(1) For any increases or decreases in costs other than those for the types of labor and materials specified in paragraph (b) hereof.

(2) For increased or decreased costs resulting from an increase or decrease as related to the original contract estimates in number of hours of labor or in amounts of materials.

(3) For increases or accumulated increases in unit prices in excess of ____ percent (____%) of the original contract unit price.

(4) For rates of pay for labor or prices for materials in excess of those established by the Economic Stabilization Agency or other authorized Government Agency.

(e) Pending a determination of any price adjustment under this clause the Contractor shall continue deliveries hereunder. Failure of the parties to agree upon a price adjustment pursuant to the provisions of this clause shall be deemed to be a dispute as to a question of fact within the meaning of the clause of this contract entitled "Disputes."

8. In § 596.152–1, paragraphs (b) (1) and (d) are amended to read as follows:

§ 596.152–1 Form II–B price redetermination clause. • • •

(b) Conditions for use. • • •

(1) The contract is a fixed-price contract for supplies, the quantity being procured is large, no accurate forecast of the cost of production is feasible, and the contract covers a period of at least nine months.

• • • • •

(d) Contract clause. The following Form II–B price redetermination clause may be used in negotiated fixed-price contracts in accordance with the instructions set forth in the preceding paragraphs and is approved for use in accordance with § 592.403 of this subchapter.

PRICE REDETERMINATION
(Form II–B)

(a) The prices stated herein may be increased or decreased in accordance with this clause. In no event shall the revised price exceed $_____.

(b) Times for negotiation. (1) Upon completion of delivery of __ percent of the (here specify the principal items to be furnished under the contract) to be furnished under this contract or upon expenditure of (here specify the percentage of the total contract amount), whichever shall occur last, the parties shall negotiate to revise the prices of all items theretofore and thereafter to be delivered. Within ____ (not to exceed 45) days after the completion of delivery or expenditure of funds referred to above, the Contractor shall furnish to the Contracting Officer the statements and data referred to in paragraph (c) of this clause. At any time and from time to time after the completion of delivery or expenditure of funds referred to above, subject to the limitations specified in this clause, either the Government or the Contractor may deliver to the other a written demand that the parties negotiate to adjust the prices under this contract. No demand shall be made prior to 90 days after completion of delivery or expenditure of funds referred to above, and thereafter neither party shall make a demand having an effective date within 90 days of the effective date of any prior demand. Each demand shall specify a date (identical with or subsequent to the date of the delivery of the demand) as of which the revised prices shall be effective as to the deliveries made thereon and thereafter. This date is hereinafter referred to as "the effective date of the price redetermination." For the purposes of the first negotiation contemplated by this paragraph, the date of execution of this contract shall be deemed to be the effective date of the price redetermination. Any demand under this clause, if made by the Contractor, shall state briefly the ground or grounds therefor and shall be accompanied by the statements and data referred to in paragraph (c) of this clause. If the demand is made by the Government, such statements and data will be furnished by the Contractor within ____ (not to exceed 45) days of the delivery of the demand.

(2) In the event all remaining work under this contract, as it may from time to time be amended, shall be terminated pursuant to the clause of this contract entitled "Termination for Convenience of the Government," no demand shall then or thereafter be made and any demand the effective date of which is less than 30 days before the effective date of such termination shall be void and of no effect.

(c) Submission of data. At the time or each of the times specified or provided for in paragraph (b) of this clause the Contractor shall submit (1) a new estimate and breakdown of the unit cost and the proposed prices of the items remaining under this contract after the effective date of the price redetermination, itemized so far as is practicable in the manner prescribed by WD Form 105; (ii) an explanation of the differences between the original (or last preceding) estimate and the new estimate; (iii) such relevant shop and engineering data, cost records, overhead absorption reports and accounting statements as may be of assistance in determining the accuracy and reliability of the new estimate; (iv) a statement of experienced costs of production hereunder to the extent that they are available at the time or times of the negotiation of the revision of prices hereunder; and (v) any other relevant data usually furnished in the case of negotiation of prices under a new contract. The Government may make such examination of the Contractor's accounts, records and books as the Contracting Officer may require and may make such audit thereof as the Contracting Officer may deem necessary.

(d) Negotiations. (1) Upon the filing of the statements and data required by paragraph (c) of this clause, the Contractor and the Contracting Officer will negotiate promptly in good faith to agree upon prices for items to be delivered on and after the effective date of the price redetermination. Negotiations for price redetermination under this clause shall be conducted on the same basis, employing the same types of data (including, without limitation, comparative prices, comparative costs, and trends thereof) as in the negotiation of prices under a new contract.

(2) After each negotiation the agreement reached will be evidenced by a supplemental agreement stating the redetermined prices to be effective with respect to deliveries on and after the effective date of the price redetermination (or such other later date as the parties may fix in such supplemental agreement).

(e) Disagreements. If within _____ (not to exceed 45) days after the date on which the statements and data are required pursuant to paragraph (b) of this clause to be filed (or such further period as may be fixed by written agreement) the contracting Officer and the Contractor fail to agree to redetermined prices (which term, for the purpose of this clause, shall include direct costs, indirect costs, and profit), the failure to agree shall be a dispute concerning a question of fact within the meaning of the clause of this contract entitled "Disputes," and the prices so fixed shall remain in effect for the balance of the contract notwithstanding any other provision of this clause.

(f) Payments. Until new prices shall become effective in accordance with this clause, the prices in force at the effective date of the price redetermination shall be paid upon all deliveries, subject to appropriate later redetermination made pursuant to paragraph (d) or (e) or (g) (2) (B) of this clause. It is mutually understood that where the Contractor fails to submit cost data required by paragraph (b) (1) of this clause within the time specified, payment of all invoices shall be suspended by the Contracting Officer until such time as the required statements and data are furnished by the Contractor.

(g) Termination provisions. For any of the purposes of the clause of this contract entitled "Termination for Convenience of the Government" (including, without limitation, the computation of "the total contract price" and "the contract price of work not terminated"), the contract price of delivered articles shall be deemed to be:

(1) For all items delivered prior to the effective date of the price redetermination, the contract price (giving effect to any prior revisions under this clause) applicable to each such item.

(2) For all items delivered on or after the effective date of the price redetermination.

(A) The contract price as revised in accordance with this clause if such revision shall have been agreed upon.

(B) If such revision shall not have been agreed upon, then such estimated prices as the Contractor and the Contracting Officer may agree upon as reasonable under all the circumstances and in the absence of such agreement such reasonable prices as may be determined in accordance with the clause of this contract entitled "Disputes."

(h) Termination during the initial period. In the event that this contract is terminated pursuant to the clause of this contract entitled "Termination for Convenience of the Government," or the Contractor's right to deliver is terminated pursuant to the clause of this contract entitled "Default," so that the last delivery under the contract as terminated is made prior to the completion of the initial period as specified in paragraph (b) of this clause, the Contractor within ____ days after such last delivery shall furnish the data required by paragraph (c) of this clause and thereupon the parties shall negotiate in good faith to agree upon revised prices under this contract. The agreement reached shall be evidenced by a supplemental agreement to this contract stating the revised prices under the contract. Any disagreement as to the revised prices will be disposed of as a question of fact in accordance with the clause of this contract entitled "Disputes." The following is authorized as an optional paragraph (e) in the Form II–B price redetermination clause:

(e) Disagreements. (1) If within _____ (not to exceed 45) days after the date on which the statements and data are required pursuant to paragraph (b) of this clause to be filed (or such further period as may be fixed by written agreement) the Contracting Officer and the Contractor fail to agree to redetermined prices (which term, for the purpose of this clause, shall include direct costs, indirect costs and profit), the Contractor, if he has substantially complied with the requirements of this clause as to the furnishing of statements and data, may give written notice to the Contracting Officer requiring the Government to pay the prices set forth in such notice from the time at which the price redetermination was to be effective under the provisions of this clause.

(2) If the Contracting Officer and the Contractor fail to agree, the Contracting Officer within 30 days after the delivery of the Contractor's notice may serve upon the Contractor a written election by which the Government agrees to pay to the Contractor fair and just compensation from the time at which such price redetermination was to be effective under the provisions of this clause. The written election shall specify the amount which the Contracting Officer deems to be fair and just compensation. If no written election is served upon the Contractor, the prices set forth in the Contractor's notice shall be incorporated in an appropriate supplemental agreement. If a written election is served upon the Contractor as above provided, the contract shall continue in effect as modified by such written election and the Contractor (a) shall be paid currently the amount specified by the Contracting Officer in such written election for all deliveries affected thereby and (b) may recover from the United States, by suit brought within six months after the delivery of such written election or after the completion of deliveries under this contract, whichever shall last occur, the amount, if any, by which such fair and just compensation exceeds the amount so specified.

(3) If the Contracting Officer and the Contractor fail to agree and no notice has been given by the Contractor as contemplated in paragraph (e) (1) of this clause, the Contractor shall be entitled to receive, from the time at which such price redetermination was to be effective under the provisions of this clause, fair and just compensation the amount which shall be determined as a question of fact pursuant to the clause of this contract entitled "Disputes."

9. A new § 602.810 is added as follows:

§ 602.810 Reports and inspection. (a) The Property Administrator shall secure from the Contractor (at such intervals and at times appropriate to the particular contract concerned, as determined by the Contract Administrator) reports showing the Contractor's program for the maintenance, repair, protection and preservation of Government Property in the possession of the Contractor and also showing the extent to which the Contractor is following and adhering to said program. Where the Contractor has a well established maintenance and protection schedule for his own equipment, and such schedule is approved by the Property Administrator, the requirements of this paragraph shall be deemed met by a written statement to the effect that Government Property will receive the same treatment as that received by the Contractors' own equipment.

(b) The Property Administrator shall conduct periodic inspections of the physical condition of such property to determine the adequacy of the Contractor's performance of the scheduled program. He shall report promptly in writing to the Contract Administrator any noncompliance by the Contractor with the requirement that he shall properly care for Government Property. [201]

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

[Ceiling Price Regulation 167, Amdt. 3]

CPR 167—COTTONSEED FEED PRODUCTS

CONTRACTS FOR FUTURE DELIVERY OF MIXES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 167 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Amendment 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation (CPR) 167 established new ceiling prices for mixes based upon cottonseed feed products. It provided that the new ceiling prices would not apply to deliveries of mixes made no later than October 31, 1952 under contracts entered into prior to October 3, 1952 for delivery prior to November 1, 1952. Deliveries before November 1 under such contracts could be made under the ceiling prices in effect prior to the amendment.

In issuing Amendment 1, the Director intended to afford sellers of mixes based on cottonseed feed products treatment substantially equivalent to that given sellers of mixes based on flaxseed feed products. In view of his decision to extend the cutoff date for former ceiling sales of flaxseed feed products mixes, the Director deems it appropriate to take equivalent action in respect to cottonseed feed product mixes. Accordingly, this amendment changes section 2 (c) of CPR 167 to provide that the new ceiling prices for mixes based on cottonseed feed products do not apply to deliveries made no later than November 30, 1952 on contracts entered into prior to October 3, 1952 for delivery before December 1, 1952.

In view of the nature of this amendment, special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all applicable standards of that act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Section 2 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 167 is amended to read as follows:

(c) Deliveries of mixes made no later than November 30, 1952, under "firm contracts" entered into prior to October 3, 1952, for delivery before December 1, 1952. A "firm contract" means a contract which is not subject to adjustment or renegotiation of price or month of delivery.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Director of Price Stabilization.

GCPR, SR 95—CEILING PRICES FOR PROCESSORS AND DISTRIBUTORS OF FLAXSEED FEED PRODUCTS

CONTRACTS FOR FUTURE DELIVERY OF MIXES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment to Supplementary Regulation 95, Revision 1, to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Amendment 2 to Supplementary Regulation (SR) 95, Revision 1, to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (GCPR) established new ceiling prices for flaxseed feed products mixes. It provided that the new ceiling prices would not apply to deliveries of mixes made no later than October 31, 1952 under contracts entered into prior to October 3, 1952 for delivery prior to November 1, 1952. Deliveries before November 1 under such contracts could be made under the ceiling in effect prior to the amendment. This action was taken in order to afford to sellers of mixes based on flaxseed feed products treatment substantially equivalent to that given to sellers of mixes based on soybean products. Information which has become available to the Director since amendment 1 was issued indicates that in order to achieve this objective it is appropriate to extend the cutoff date by one month. Accordingly, this amendment changes section 2 (c) of SR 95 Revision 1, to the GCPR to provide that the new ceiling prices for flaxseed feed products mixes do not apply to deliveries made no later than November 30, 1952 on contracts entered into prior to October 3, 1952 for delivery before December 1, 1952.

In the formulation of this amendment there has been consultation with industry representatives to the extent practicable and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all applicable standards of that act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Section 2 (c) of Supplementary Regulation 95, Revision 1, to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is amended to read as follows:

(c) This supplementary regulation does not apply to deliveries of mixes made no later than November 30, 1952, under "firm contracts" entered into prior to October 3, 1952, for delivery before December 1, 1952. A "firm contract" means a contract which is not subject to adjustment or renegotiation of price or month of delivery.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

CPR 121—Printing, Printed Products, Allied Products and Certain Paper Products

Church Offering Envelopes

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 3 to Ceiling Price Regulation 121 is hereby issued.

Statement of Considerations

This amendment adds church offering envelopes to the list of printed commodities covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 121. A church offering envelope is a small envelope upon which is printed a number, a date, the name of some religious or charitable institution, and other printed matter, the purpose of which is to accommodate the giving of offerings to the religious or charitable institution concerned. These envelopes are packaged in numbered sets so that each contributor, or his family, may have a group of envelopes for offerings over a period of time, usually one year.

There are 19 printers of church offering envelopes. More than 50% of the total production is produced by 14 printers who purchase envelopes and then do the printing on them. The remaining 5 printers manufacture their own envelopes and then print them.

The intention of CPR 121 was to cover manufacturers and printers of envelopes used for greeting cards, social stationery, and related products. Church offering envelopes are similar to such envelopes and should have been included in the list of printed commodities covered by the regulation.

In the formulation of this amendment there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives of the envelope industry to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

Amendatory Provisions

Ceiling Price Regulation 121 is amended in the following respects:

1. Paragraph (e) of Appendix A is amended by adding a fifth commodity as follows:

(5) Church offering envelopes.

Effective date. This Amendment 3 to Ceiling Price Regulation 121 shall become effective November 3, 1952.

CPR 146—Ceiling Prices for Sales of Wool Grease and Lanolin by Manufacturers and Processors

Maintenance of Customary Price Discounts

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 146 is hereby issued.

Statement of Considerations

CPR 146 does not now require the maintenance of discounts or allowances based on terms of sale or differences in classes of purchasers. It has come to the attention of the Director that manufacturers and processors of wool grease customarily allowed discounts to wholesalers, distributors and other resellers of wool grease and lanolin, which resulted in lower prices than those charged to consuming purchasers. Accordingly, this amendment brings CPR 146 into conformance with industry practice by requiring manufacturers and processors to maintain discounts and allowances based on terms of sale or differences in classes of purchasers if they customarily offered them during the GCPR base period. Manufacturers and processors of wool grease and lanolin, prior to the effective date of CPR 146, were under the GCPR which required the maintenance of such discounts.

In the formulation of this amendment, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

Amendatory Provisions

Section 2 of Ceiling Price Regulation 146 is amended by adding a new paragraph designated (c) to read as follows:

(c) The ceiling prices set forth in paragraph (a) or determined under paragraph (b) shall be subject to the same discounts and allowances, based on terms of sale or difference in classes of purchasers, as those which you customarily offered or maintained during the period December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951, inclusive.

[General Disallowance Order 1]

GDO 1—Fines in Criminal Cases and Payments in Satisfaction or Settlement of Civil Liabilities Arising From Violation of Ceiling Price Regulations by Sellers

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, as amended, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Orders Nos. 2 and 15, this General Disallowance Order 1 is hereby issued.

Statement of Considerations

Section 409 (d) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, provides that the President shall prescribe the extent to which any payment of a fine pursuant to section 409 (b) or any payment made to the United States or to any buyer in compromise or satisfaction of any liability or of any right of action, suit, or judgment, authorized pursuant to section 409 (c) for selling any material or service, in violation of a regulation or order establishing a ceiling price, shall be disregarded by the executive departments and other governmental agencies in determining, for the purpose of any other law or regulation, the costs or expenses of any person violating such regulation or order. By appropriate delegations, the Director of Price Stabilization is now vested with such authority. The purpose of this order is to prescribe the extent to which such payments by sellers shall be disregarded for the purposes indicated.

The pertinent language of section 409 (c) of the act is substantially the same as that contained in the corresponding provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. A considerable body of court decisions has grown up concerning the tax deductibility and treatment for other purposes of fines and damage payments made by violators of the maximum price regulations issued under that act. In the formulation of this order, consideration has been given to such court decisions; and the provisions of this order are designed to conform to the prevailing judicial opinion in such matters.

Fines imposed under section 409 (b) are criminal penalties for willful violations of ceiling price regulations. Basic public policy affirmed by court decisions would clearly be violated and the value, as an effective enforcement sanction, of the provisions of section 409 (b) would be greatly impaired if a payment of such a fine could be deducted, as an "ordinary and necessary business expense" or otherwise, for tax purposes; or if a person making such a payment were permitted to gain therefrom advantage of any other kind in connection with any other matter within the jurisdiction of the United States. Accordingly, this order provides that any payment of such a fine shall be wholly disregarded by the executive departments and other governmental agencies in determining the violator's costs or expenses for the purpose of any other law or regulation.

The treatment of payments made in compromise or satisfaction of the civil liability created by section 409 (c) presents a somewhat more complex problem. In providing for the so-called "treble damage" action, section 409 (c) states that the amount of any judgment rendered "shall be the amount of the overcharge if the defendant proves that the violation of the regulation or order in question was neither willful nor the result of failure to take practicable precautions against the occurrence of the violation." The clear Congressional intent is that only if the seller can make such a showing is the full measure of the treble damage claim to be mitigated as indicated; and that, even upon such a showing, the seller is to be required to repay the amount of the overcharge thus innocently received.

It is therefore reasonable to infer that the entry of judgment for an amount not in excess of the overcharge is based upon a finding, by court or jury, that such violation was neither willful nor the result of failure to take practicable precautions against the occurrence thereof. In the decisions above referred to, the courts ruled that payments of this kind were deductible for tax purposes. The provisions of this order conform to such judicial determinations.

On the other hand, the entry of a judgment in an amount exceeding the amount of the overcharge or overcharges should reflect a finding (or at least a failure of proof to the contrary) that the violation was attributable, in some degree, either to willfulness or to a failure by the seller to take practicable precautions to avoid the violation. The reasons which dictate the disallowance, for tax or other purposes, of fines paid consequent to criminal proceedings under section 409 (c) apply with equal force to payments made in satisfaction of such judgments. To permit such a payment, even that portion thereof which represents simply the amount of the overcharge, to be treated as a legitimate business expense would, by permitting the violator to gain a tax or similar benefit from any portion of such payment, greatly mitigate the sanction which was intended to be imposed by section 409 (c) of the Act. This position is supported by court decisions. This order, therefore, provides that any such payments, whether made to the United States or to the buyer, shall be wholly disregarded by the executive departments and other governmental agencies in determining the violator's costs or expenses for the purposes of any other law or regulation.

In practice, most of such "treble damage" claims against sellers are disposed of by settlements with the United States. The criteria formulated by the OPS Office of Enforcement for the compromise settlement of such matters reflect the provisions of section 409 (c) above described. Consequently, the effecting of a settlement of such a claim for simply the amount of the overcharge or overcharges indicates a finding by OPS that the violation involved was neither willful nor the result of the seller's failure to take practicable precautions against the occurrence thereof. And, similarly, the effecting of a settlement for more than the overcharge or overcharges indicates that such a finding could not be made. The considerations discussed above therefore apply as well in the case of such settlements and, accordingly, this order provides that all payments resulting from settlements with the United States, including any payments made to the buyer as a result of such settlements, shall be wholly disregarded by the executive departments and other governmental agencies in determining the violator's costs or expenses for the purposes of any other law or regulation except where the settlement is simply for the amount of the overcharge.

In the formulation of this order special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

Sec.
1. What this order does.
2. Payments to be disregarded.
3. Reports by OPS.
4. Applicability of this order to past as well as future payments.

Authority: Sections 1 to 4 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816 as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101-2110, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

Section 1. What this order does. This order prescribes the extent to which any payment by a seller made by way of fine pursuant to section 409 (b) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act"), or any payment by a seller made to the United States or to any buyer in compromise or satisfaction of any liability or of any right of action, suit or judgment, authorized pursuant to section 409 (c) of said act for selling any material or service in violation of a regulation or order providing a ceiling or ceilings, shall be disregarded by the executive departments and other governmental agencies in determining, for the purposes of any other law or regulation, the costs or expenses of any person so in violation.

Sec. 2. Payments to be disregarded. The following payments shall be wholly disregarded by the executive departments and other governmental agencies in determining, for the purposes of any other law or regulation, the costs or expenses of any person making such payment:

(a) Any payment made by way of fine pursuant to section 409 (b) of the act shall be wholly disregarded.

(b) Any payment made to the United States or to any buyer in compromise or satisfaction of any liability or of any right of action, suit, or judgment, authorized pursuant to section 409 (c) of the act, for selling any material or service in violation of a regulation or order providing a ceiling or ceilings, shall be wholly disregarded: Provided, however, That the amount so paid to the United States or to any buyer shall not be disregarded for any purposes or to any extent if the total of the amount so paid (exclusive of attorney's fees, court costs or interest, if any) does not exceed the total amount of the overcharge or overcharges upon which such liability, right of action, suit, or judgment was based. If, in connection with the entry of any such judgment or the effecting of any such compromise, there shall be clear and express indication that only a portion of the violations so reflected were attributable, in any degree, either to willfulness or failure to take practicable precautions, then only that portion of the amount of any payment made pursuant to such judgment or compromise as may be so specified shall be disregarded.

(c) If any matter involving a violation of any such regulation or order providing a ceiling or ceilings shall finally have been disposed of, by way of settlement or suit, in such a manner as to require payments both to the United States and to a buyer or buyers and if the amount of such payments shall, in the aggregate, exceed the amount of the overcharge or overcharges involved, the total amount of such payments shall be wholly disregarded.

(d) If in any matter involving a violation of an order or regulation providing a ceiling or ceilings, there has been or shall have been instituted a criminal proceeding pursuant to section 409 (b) of the act as well as the institution or the assertion of a claim, by either the United States or by any buyer, pursuant to section 409 (c) of the act, and if the violating seller has been or shall be adjudged guilty in such criminal proceeding, the amount of any payment made in connection with the disposition of any such claim under section 409 (c) of the act (as well as the amount of any fine which may be assessed and paid in such criminal proceeding) shall be wholly disregarded.

(e) If any payment made pursuant to the provisions of section 409 (c) is a partial payment on account of a total liability fixed by compromise or judgment, such partial payment shall be disregarded if the total amount of such liability, if it had been paid in one sum, would have been disregarded under the criteria hereinabove stated.

Sec. 3. Reports by OPS. The Director of Enforcement of the Office of Price Stabilization or such person or persons as may be designated by him are hereby authorized to and, pursuant to procedures to be promulgated by the Director of Enforcement, shall forward to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and to all other appropriate governmental agencies, a statement indicating any payment of the kind above described which, pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this order, should be disregarded by the executive departments and other governmental agencies for the purposes above indicated.

Sec. 4. Applicability of this order to past as well as future payments. The provisions of this order shall apply to all payments of the kind above described which have been made prior to the effective date of this order, and after April 5, 1952, as well as to payments made on or after such effective date.

Effective date. This order shall become effective as of October 24, 1952.

[Price Procedural Regulation 1, Revision 2, Amdt. 1]

PPR 1—General Price Procedures

Compulsory Orders To Obtain Information for Incorporation in the Record of Protest Proceedings

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order

10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Orders Nos. 2 and 5, this amendment to Price Procedural Regulation 1, Revision 2, is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment clarifies sections 66 and 67 (b) of the regulation with respect to the methods by which the Director of Price Stabilization may obtain material to be incorporated into the record of protest proceedings. It also adds a new section relating to compulsory orders issued by the Director under sections 66 or 67 (b). This amendment applies to protest proceedings instituted prior to the effective date of this amendment, as well as to those instituted on or after that date.

Section 66 authorizes the Director to incorporate into the record of any protest proceeding evidence in support of the provisions against which the protest is filed. Section 67 (b) authorizes the Director to incorporate into the record of protest proceedings statements submitted in support of the provisions of the regulation or order protested. This amendment clarifies these sections by adding language to state explicitly that such evidence and information may be obtained by voluntary methods such as orders providing an opportunity to present further evidence, or by compulsory methods such as subpenas, interrogatories, and similar orders issued pursuant to the authority of section 705 (a) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

In addition, a new section 105 is added to the regulation concerning compulsory orders issued by the Director under sections 66 or 67 (b). It is required that every such order shall contain a statement setting forth the scope and purpose of the order. Such an order shall be issued only after a determination that the evidence sought is not available from any Federal or other responsible agency. Persons subject to such orders are provided an opportunity to file a motion to modify or vacate the order within fifteen days after the receipt of the order. Such a motion must be in affidavit form and must detail the objections to the order and the grounds upon which its vacation or modification is sought. The Director will grant or deny the motion within a reasonable time.

The new section 105 also specifies the procedure to be followed when the privilege against self-incrimination and the right to immunity are sought by a person subject to a compulsory order.

Section 705 (b) of the act provides:

> No person shall be excused from complying with any requirement under this section or from attending and testifying or from producing books, papers, documents, and other evidence in obedience to a subpena before any grand jury or in any court or administrative proceeding based upon or growing out of any alleged violation of this Act on the ground that the testimony or evidence,* documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to incriminate him or subject him to penalty or forfeiture; but no natural person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture in any court, for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing concerning which he is so compelled, after having claimed his privilege against self-incrimination, to testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, except that such natural person so testifying shall not be exempt from prosecution and punishment for perjury committed in so testifying: * * *

Pursuant to the language of section 705 (b) which states that no person shall be prosecuted for any transaction, matter, etc., which he is compelled to produce by a compulsory administrative order "after having claimed his privilege against self-incrimination," this new section provides that, to obtain immunity, any person subject to such order must first refuse to comply with the order and claim the privilege. He may not claim the privilege and claim the right to immunity at the same time as he complies with the order. The Director must first be granted an opportunity to decide whether he will require that the order be complied with and thereby grant the right to immunity or whether he will not proceed further in requiring the response.

Because of the wide coverage of this procedural regulation and the nature of its provisions, the Director has found it impracticable to consult formally with industry or trade association representatives.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

1. Section 66 of Price Procedural Regulation 1, Revision 2, is amended by the addition of the following sentences to begin immediately following the end of the first sentence of the section: "The Director may obtain such evidence from the protestants or any other persons by the use of voluntary methods, such as orders providing an opportunity to present further evidence, and similar orders. He may also obtain such evidence by the use of compulsory methods, such as subpenas, interrogatories and similar orders."

2. Section 67 (b) is amended by the addition of the following sentences to follow immediately after the end of the first sentence of that section: "The Director may obtain such evidence from the protestant or any other persons by the use of voluntary methods, such as orders providing an opportunity to present further evidence, and similar orders. He may also obtain such evidence by the use of compulsory methods, such as subpenas, interrogatories and similar orders."

3. Sections 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, and 110 are renumbered and redesignated as sections 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, and 111, respectively. The following new section is added and is designated as section 105:

SEC. 105. Compulsory orders: Issuance; motions to modify or vacate; self-incrimination and immunity; violations. This section applies to subpenas, interrogatories or similar compulsory orders of the Director issued under section 66 or 67 (b) of this regulation.

(a) Issuance. Every compulsory order, such as an interrogatory, subpena, etc., issued under sections 66 and 67 (b) shall set forth its scope and the purpose for its issuance. Such orders shall be utilized only if the data sought is not available in adequate and authoritative form from any federal or other responsible agency and shall contain a statement that such data is not so available.

(b) Motions to modify or vacate. Any person subject to such order may file with the Recording Secretary of the Office of Price Stabilization a motion to modify or vacate the order. Such motion must be filed no later than fifteen (15) days after the date of his receipt of the order, unless this period is extended by order of the Director, for cause shown. Such motion shall be in affidavit form and shall set forth in detail the objections to the order and the grounds upon which its modification or vacation is sought. Within a reasonable time after receipt of this motion, the Director shall issue an order granting or denying the motion.

(c) Self-incrimination and immunity. Persons subject to such orders may, under the provisions of section 705 (b) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, claim their constitutional privilege against self-incrimination, and seek immunity from prosecution if the privilege is legally existent and applicable, only by complying with the following procedures:

(1) Within the time for response set forth in such order, the person to whom the order is addressed must file a statement with the Recording Secretary of the Office of Price Stabilization to the effect that response to the order or any portion thereof is refused on the grounds that such response might incriminate such person.

(2) Upon the filing of such a statement, such order insofar as it applies to the person filing such statement, is automatically suspended.

(3) The Director will then advise within a reasonable time whether such order is reinstated and thereby immunity granted to such person and the refusal to answer rejected, or whether the Director will accept the refusal and will not proceed further in requiring the response.

(4) Any person to whom such order is directed may not comply therewith and at the same time claim the privilege against self-incrimination or immunity. Any such response and simultaneous claim of privilege or immunity will be considered a voluntary response and a waiver of the privilege of self-incrimination and a rejection of immunity.

(d) Violations. Failure to comply with orders covered by this section will render the violator subject to the penalties outlined in sections 705 and 706 of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In addition, if the violator has filed a protest, other action such as the denial of the violator's protest may be taken where, in the judgment of the Director, such action is deemed reasonable and appropriate.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended, 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment is effective November 3, 1952.

Chapter IV—Salary and Wage Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

Subchapter A—Salary Stabilization Board

[Interpretation 2, Revised]

INT. 2—CHRISTMAS AND YEAR-END BONUSES

This interpretation, issued pursuant to a resolution of the Salary Stabilization Board, applies to the payment of Christmas and year-end bonuses not directly related to profits paid by companies which had a practice of paying such bonuses in 1950. Such bonuses are permissible under the salary stabilization regulations to the extent set forth in this interpretation. If Christmas or year-end bonuses are paid under this interpretation, bonuses of a similar nature paid in prior years may not be included as part of the "base period bonus fund" authorized by the Bonus Regulation (General Salary Stabilization Regulation 2, as amended).

1. Q. A company in 1950 paid a week's salary to each of its employees as a Christmas or year-end bonus. Payment of the bonus was not directly related to the company's profits. May the practice be continued in any year?

A. Yes. However, the employer must follow his 1950 practice as to the groups of employees among whom such bonuses were paid and may not pay such bonuses to a group of employees to whom such bonuses were not paid in 1950. If the practice was to pay a stated portion of salary, the employer may pay the same portion but no more. If the practice was to pay a specific sum, the same sum may be paid.

2. Q. If the salary of an employee has increased since 1950 may his Christmas or year-end bonus be based upon the increased salary?

A. Yes; provided, of course, that the increase did not violate salary stabilization regulations.

3. Q. A company had a practice in effect in 1950 of paying 2 percent of annual earnings as Christmas bonuses. May it pay such Christmas bonuses in any year based upon 2 percent of annual earnings?

A. Only subject to the limitations and provisions of the Bonus Regulation. Such a bonus is directly related to profits and is not covered by this interpretation.

4. Q. A company's practice in 1950 was to pay as a Christmas or year-end bonus 1 percent of salaries to employees with one year of service and an additional 1 percent of salaries for each additional year of service. May the same practice be followed in any year?

A. Yes.

5. Q. Upon the facts stated in the foregoing questions, may Christmas or year-end bonuses be paid to a new employee?

A. Yes; provided Christmas or year-end bonuses were paid in 1950 to new employees in the group into which the particular employee is hired.

INT. 15—EXCLUSION FROM SALARY STABILIZATION OF CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS EMPLOYED IN A PROFESSIONAL CAPACITY

CERTIFICATE TO PRACTICE

The purpose of this amendment to Interpretation 15 is to define the extent to which certified public accountants employed in a professional capacity by a firm of certified public accountants are excluded from salary stabilization under section 402 (e) (ii) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISION

1. Paragraph 1 is amended to read as follows:

1. Certified public accountants licensed to practice as such. To be exempt, an accountant must have a certificate to practice as a certified public accountant in a State, Territory, or possession of the United States or in the District of Columbia.

GSO 15—CHRISTMAS OR YEAR-END BONUSES NOT EXCEEDING $40 IN VALUE

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

The purpose of this order is to authorize the payment of "Christmas or year-end bonuses," not exceeding $40 in value, by employers whether or not a similar distribution was made in prior years.

ORDER

Christmas or year-end distributions not exceeding $40. An employer may distribute, at Christmas or the year-end, to any of his employees subject to the jurisdiction of the Salary Stabilization Board an amount, either in cash or in kind, not exceeding $40, even though no similar distribution was made in any previous year. [General Salary Stabilization Regulation 1, Amended, Amdt. 2]

GSSR 1—STABILIZATION AND GENERAL ADJUSTMENTS OF SALARIES AND OTHER COMPENSATION

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

The Office of Salary Stabilization has previously exempted from salary stabilization employees who are bona fide residents of and actually employed in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, the Panama Canal Zone, or the Pribilof Islands for the reasons set forth in the statements of considerations of superseded General Salary Orders 2 and 3 (now superseded by section 3 (h) of General Salary Stabilization Regulation 1, Amended), as well as General Salary Order 14 (to be superseded by this amendment).

The Wage Stabilization Board has by General Wage Regulation Nos. 16 and 16A, Revised, extended the exemption from wage stabilization to employees in all United States territories (except Hawaii and Alaska), possessions, trust territories, off-shore bases and militarily occupied areas. The major part of the employment in the additional areas exempted arises from the needs of various government agencies, and of contractors with these agencies. It is estimated that between 4,000 and 5,000 persons recruited from the United States are currently engaged on construction projects in the areas under consideration. Other types of civilian employment are negligible in these areas.

Official data indicate that the employment needs of such projects do not interfere with employment in the construction industry in the continental United States, Alaska and Hawaii; and it is the judgment of the Construction Industry Commission and Wage Stabilization Board, that this exemption will not have an unstabilizing effect upon construction rates in the continental United States under present circumstances. In the judgment of the Wage Stabilization Board, there would follow no unstabilizing effect from exempting also the extremely small number of other civilian employees in the areas to which the exemption is now being extended.

After considering the foregoing, the Salary Stabilization Board on the merits has found that the application of salary stabilization to employees in the areas covered by this amendment is unnecessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. This amendment is therefore issued to permit such exemption.

In the formulation of this amendment, due consideration has been given to the standards and procedures set forth in Titles IV and VII of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

1. Section 3 (h) of General Salary Stabilization Regulation 1, Amended, is amended to read as follows:

(h) Employees who are bona fide residents of and actually employed in any territory (except Hawaii and Alaska apart from the Pribilof Islands), possession, trust territory or off-shore base of the United States or in any area occupied by the Armed Forces of the United States.

2. General Salary Order 14 is superseded as of the effective date of this amendment.

3. The amendment shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[General Wage Regulation 16, Revision]

GWR 16—EXEMPTIONS FOR GEOGRAPHIC AREAS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., Pub. Laws 96 and 429, 82d Cong.), Executive Orders 10161 (15 F. R. 6105) and 10377 (17 F. R. 6891) and General Order No. 16, Economic Stabilization Administrator (16 F. R. 6925), this revision of General Wage Regulation 16 and supersedure of General Wage Regulation 16A is hereby promulgated.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

General Wage Regulation No. 16 exempted from wage stabilization regulations employees in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. General Wage Regulation No. 16A exempted from wage stabilization regulations employees in the Panama Canal Zone. The purpose of this revision is to extend the exemption from wage stabilization regulations to employees in all United States territories (except Alaska and Hawaii), possessions, trust territories, off-shore bases, and militarily occupied areas.

In additional areas which this revision exempts from wage stabilization regulations, the major part of the employment arises from the needs of various government agencies, primarily the Army, Navy, Air Force and the Atomic Energy Commission, and of contractors with these agencies. Most of the employment involved is on construction projects. These agencies and contractors generally recruit their unskilled labor from the local areas and their skilled and semi-skilled labor from the United States, and, in some cases, from Hawaii. It is estimated that approximately 4,000 persons recruited from the United States are currently engaged on construction projects in the areas under consideration. Other types of civilian employment are negligible in these areas.

Although each governmental agency concerned has its own independent procedure for establishing wage rates on overseas projects, the wage rates for the particular skill involved are, in general, based on the prevailing rates in the area in which workers are recruited or on the national average of going rates in all the areas in which recruiting is done for the skill involved. In addition, various forms of bonuses or incentive differentials are given.

Data made available by the Bureau of Employment Security indicates that, in general, the present supply of manpower in the construction industry is sufficient to meet the current modest needs of overseas projects with little interference with mainland construction, and in the judgment of the Construction Industry Stabilization Commission, in which the Wage Stabilization Board concurs, this exemption will not have an unstabilizing effect upon construction rates in the continental United States under present circumstances.

In the Board's judgment also no unstabilizing effect will follow from also exempting the extremely small number of other civilian employees in the areas to which the exemption is now being extended.

In view of the foregoing considerations, it is the unanimous judgment of the Board that, under the present circumstances, continued application of wage stabilization regulations to employees in areas covered by this revised Regulation is unnecessary to effectuate the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. The Wage Stabilization Board has accordingly recommended that the Administrator supersede Regulation 16A and promulgate this revised Regulation 16.

The Administrator concurs in the judgment of the Wage Stabilization Board and hereby promulgates this revised Regulation 16 and supersedure of Regulation 16A. Due consideration has been given to the standards and procedures of Titles IV and VII of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

O. 10281, Aug. 28, 1951, 16 F. R. 8789; 3 CFR 1951 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this direction does. The purpose of this direction is to permit the placement and acceptance of certain third quarter 1952 and fourth quarter 1952 authorized controlled material orders even though they call for delivery after the end of such quarters.

SEC. 2. Third quarter authorized controlled material orders. (a) The provisions of this section apply to all authorized controlled material orders for the third calendar quarter of 1952 which are placed on and after the effective date of this direction.

(b) An authorized controlled material order for steel placed pursuant to an allotment for the third calendar quarter of 1952 which contains the quarterly identification 3Q52, or an authorized controlled material order for steel placed pursuant to self-authorization (for example, Direction 1 to CMP Regulation No. 1) or quota (for example, CMP Regulation No. 5) for the third calendar quarter of 1952 which does not contain a quarterly identification, may call for delivery at any time up to November 30, 1952: Provided, however, That such order is placed pursuant to lead time requirements. A steel controlled materials producer or a steel controlled materials distributor who receives an authorized controlled material order for steel which bears the quarterly identification 3Q52 and which calls for delivery between October 1, 1952, and November 30, 1952, shall accept and fill such order in preference to an authorized controlled material order which bears the quarterly identification 4Q52 and which calls for delivery between October 1, 1952, and November 30, 1952, notwithstanding the sequence of order placement.

SEC. 3. Fourth quarter authorized controlled material orders. (a) The provisions of this section apply only to authorized controlled material orders for the fourth calendar quarter of 1952 which do not bear a program identification A, B, C, or E, and a digit (including the suffix B-5), or Z-2, and which are placed on and after July 29, 1952, the original effective date of this direction.

(b) An authorized controlled material order for steel placed pursuant to an allotment for the fourth calendar quarter of 1952 which contains the quarterly identification 4Q52, or an authorized controlled material order for steel placed pursuant to self-authorization (for example, Direction 1 to CMP Regulation No. 1) or quota (for example, CMP Regulation No. 5) for the fourth calendar quarter of 1952 which does not contain a quarterly identification, may call for delivery at any time from October 1, 1952, to February 28, 1953.

(c) A steel controlled materials producer who, during the 15-day period immediately preceding the commencement of the lead time for January 1953, receives an authorized controlled material order for steel which bears the quarterly identification 4Q52 and which calls for delivery during January 1953 shall accept and fill such order in preference to an order which bears the quarterly identification 1Q53 and which calls for delivery during January 1953, notwithstanding the sequence of order placement. A steel controlled materials producer who, between November 17, 1952, and November 28, 1952, receives an authorized controlled material order for an item of steel with a lead time of 45 or 60 days, which order bears the quarterly identification 4Q52 and calls for delivery during February 1953, shall accept and fill such order in preference to an order which bears the quarterly identification 1Q53 and which calls for delivery during February 1953, notwithstanding the sequence of order placement. Authorized controlled material orders for steel which bear the quarterly identification 4Q52 and which call for delivery between January 1, 1953, and February 28, 1953, but which are not placed during the periods specified in the preceding two sentences, shall have equal preferential status at the mill level with authorized controlled material orders for steel which bear the quarterly identification 1Q53. Orders which bear the quarterly identification 1Q53 and which are replaced in mill schedules for January or February 1953 by orders which bear the quarterly identification 4Q52 shall be rescheduled for delivery at the earliest date possible.

(d) A steel controlled materials distributor who receives an authorized controlled material order for steel which bears the quarterly identification 4Q52 and which calls for delivery between January 1, 1953, and February 28, 1953, shall accept and fill such order in preference to an order which bears the quarterly identification 1Q53 and which calls for delivery between January 1, 1953, and February 28, 1953, notwithstanding the sequence of order placement.

SEC. 4. Applicability of other regulations and orders. The provisions of CMP Regulations Nos. 1 and 4, Revised CMP Regulation No. 6, NPA Orders M-1 and M-6A, including the directions and amendments thereto, and of any other NPA regulation and order heretofore issued, are superseded to the extent to which they are inconsistent with the provisions of this direction, but in all other respects the provisions of such regulations and orders shall remain in full force and effect. Section 8 of NPA Order M-1 gives steel controlled materials producers the option to determine which authorized controlled material orders not bearing a program identification A, B, C, or E, and a digit (including the suffix B-5), or Z-2, they will accept and schedule prior to the 15-day period immediately preceding the commencement of the lead time. This option shall be superseded by section 3 (c) of this direction only with respect to the placement between November 17, 1952, and November 28, 1952, of authorized controlled material orders for items of steel with a lead time of 45 or 60 days which bear the quarterly identification 4Q52 and which call for delivery during February 1953. This direction does not supersede the provisions of section 8 (a) (2) of NPA Order M-1, which limits the quantity of orders which steel controlled material producers may accept for shipment during any one month.

This direction as amended shall take effect November 3, 1952.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATIONS

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[Docket No. 10221]

PART 3—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

In the matter of amendment of Subpart A, Part 3 of the Commission's rules, sections 1 and 9 of the Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations, and of title of said standards, to provide for the incorporation of the frequency 540 kilocycles in the standard broadcast band; Docket No. 10221.

1. These proceedings were instituted by a notice of proposed rule making issued by the Commission on June 18, 1952, in the above-entitled matter. The purpose of the proposed amendments is to make the frequency 540 kc available for domestic use in the broadcast service.

2. The Atlantic City Radio Regulations, among other things, provided that the frequency band 535–550 kc might be included in the broadcast band in Region 2 (which includes the North American Region) on or after January 1, 1949, in accordance with special arrangements between countries in the Region. No agreement was reached by that date for a new assignment plan for the fixed and mobile radio services operating within the band 415–545 kc. However, as a result of the Extraordinary Administrative Radio Conference, Geneva, 1951, agreement was reached for the implementation of a considerable portion of the frequency allocation table below 4000 kc; and, with respect to the broadcast use of 540 kc, agreement was reached for the reassignment of the fixed and mobile radio stations operating in the band 535–550 kc. The Agreement brings into force on December 1, 1952, the provisions for use of the band of frequencies 535–1605 kc—made in the Atlantic City Radio Regulations.

3. The Commission's notice of proposed rule making in these proceedings provided that interested persons could file comments thereon until July 28, 1952. It was further provided that comments or briefs in reply to the original comments could be filed within 10 days from that date. Comments were filed by three parties: The National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters and Midland Broadcasting Company, Kansas City, Missouri (KMBC and KFRM) and the National Federation of American Shipping.

4. In its comments the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters stated that:

> The Association takes cognizance of the proximity of 540 kilocycles to the frequencies used in other radio services, such as the Government and marine services. As stated by the Commission in its Public Notice 77020, June 18, 1952, the marine services have been on notice since 1947 that 540 kilocyles was intended for broadcast purposes. In view of the fact that this five-year period is ample time in which to take necessary action in preparation for the use of 540 kilocycles for broadcast purposes, and since the Safety of Life at Sea Convention, which comes into force next November (the month proceeding the date set by the E. A. R. C. for bringing into force the broadcast band 535–1605), provides higher standards for shipboard auto-alarms, the Association respectfully submits that no meritorious objections to the use of 540 kilocycles for broadcast purposes could be made by these services.

It was also stated by the Association that the frequency 540 kc is subject to U. S. 27, NG 24 and AR 4[1] which appear in Columns 7 and 6 (a) of the Table of Frequency Allocations, § 2.104 (a) of the Commission's rules, and that it would be "appropriate to reference those footnotes also in the listing of 540 kc in § 3.25 (c) of the rules."

5. In its comments Midland Broadcasting Company stated that:

> The proposal of the Commission to provide for the use of 540 kilocycles as a Class II channel is eminently suited to the best utilization of the frequency to areas of the United States still without primary broadcast service. By permitting the use of the frequency with powers of 250 watts to 50 kilowatts sufficient flexibility is provided to permit of the variable use of the frequencies in ways best suited to the needs of such unserved areas.

6. The National Federation of American Shipping filed a comment in which it stated that in view of the possible interference to ship autoalarm by broadcasting stations operating on 540 kc that the provisions of footnotes AR 4 and U. S. 27, referred to above "• • • • continue to be carried in the frequency allocations table and that appropriate examination of the interference factor be considered by FCC prior to the granting of each or any specific authorization for broadcasting on the frequency 540 kc."

7. On August 8, 1952, the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters filed a reply to the comments of the National Federation of American Shipping.[2] In the reply it was stated that in view of European operation on 529 kc without intolerable interference to marine radio services and in view of the significant engineering advances made in the last decade, it is unlikely that standard broadcast operation on 540 kc will create a menace to the safety of life and property at sea.

8. None of the parties to this proceeding has raised any objection to the proposal to make the frequency 540 kc available for domestic use in the broadcast service, provided such use is subject to the provisions of AR4, U. S. 27, and N. G. 24, as set forth above. And it is our view that there is no objection to the use of the frequency for this purpose subject to the foregoing condition. We are of the opinion, therefore, that the amendments proposed in the notice of proposed rule making in this proceeding should be adopted as modified by the addition of the suggested footnote.

9. It is therefore ordered that effective 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, Part 3 of the Commission's rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations (550–1600 kc) is amended as set forth below.

(Sec. 303, 48 Stat. 1082, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 303. Interprets or applies sec. 307, 48 Stat. 1084, 47 U. S. C. 307)

Adopted: October 23, 1952.

Released: October 24, 1952.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] T. J. SLOWIE,
Secretary.

1. Sections 3.1, 3.2, and 3.3 are amended to read as follows

1. Sections 3.1, 3.2, and 3.3 of the Commission's rules and regulations are amended to read as follows:

§ 3.1 Standard broadcast station. The term "standard broadcast station" means a broadcasting station licensed for the transmission of radiotelephone emissions primarily intended to be received by the general public and operated on a channel in the band 535–1605 kilocycles.

§ 3.2 Standard broadcast band. The term "standard broadcast band" means the band of frequencies extending from 535 to 1605 kilocycles.

§ 3.3 Standard broadcast channel. The term "standard broadcast channel" means the band of frequencies occupied by the carrier and two side bands of a broadcast signal with the carrier frequency at the center. Channels shall be designated by their assigned carrier frequencies. The 107 carrier frequencies assigned to standard broadcast stations shall begin at 540 kilocycles and be in successive steps of 10 kilocycles.

2. Section 3.25 (c) is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.25 Clear channels: Class I and II stations. • • •

(c) For Class II stations which will not deliver over 5 microvolts per meter groundwave or 25 microvolts per meter 10 percent time skywave at any point on the Canadian border and provided that such stations operating nighttime (i. e., sunset to sunrise at the location of the Class II station) are located not less than 650 miles from the nearest Canadian border, 540,[4] 690, 740, 860, 990, 1010,[5] and 1580 kilocycles.

3. The Commission's Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations (550–1600 kc) are amended as follows:

a. The title is amended to read: "Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations (535–1605 kc)."

b. In section 1 Engineering standards of allocation the first sentence of the second paragraph to read as follows: "Sections 3.21 to 3.34, inclusive, govern allocation of facilities in the standard broadcast band of 535 to 1605 kc."

c. In section 9 Requirements for approval of power rating of vacuum tubes, subparagraph (2) of paragraph 4 is amended to read as follows: "On the frequencies 535 to 1605 kc in the standard broadcast band."

[F. R. Doc. 52-11792; Filed, Nov. 3, 1952; 8:45 a. m.]

[1] AR 4. In order to do everything possible to protect the safety of life at sea and in the air, broadcasting stations, particularly those assigned the frequency 540 kc shall not cause harmful interference to the services which utilize the international distress and calling frequency 500 kc. Broadcasting stations shall use frequencies so separated from the limits of this band as not to cause harmful interference to the services to which the frequency bands immediately adjoining are allocated. U. S. 27. The use of the frequency 540 kc is subject to the conditions that no harmful interference is caused to the service operating on 500 kc and in the band 510–535 kc NG24. For conditions which apply to the use of this band, refer to the North American Regional Broadcasting Agreement.

[2] The reply filed on August 8, 1952, by the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters was submitted one day subsequent to the expiration of the time allocated by the Commission for the submission of such replies. It filed therewith a petition requesting an extension of time for the submission of its reply in these proceedings. This request is granted and the reply is accepted.

[5] A station on 1010 kilocycles shall also protect a Class 1–B station at Havana, Cuba.

[Docket No. 10314]

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606 Table of assignments, rules governing television broadcast station; Docket 10314.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration its notice of proposed rule making (FCC 52–986) issued in the above-entitled proceeding on September 2, 1952, proposing the amendment of § 3.606 Table of assignments, rules governing television broadcast stations, so as to assign Channel 4 to Irwin, Pennsylvania.[1] Since the assignment of Channel 4 to Irwin, Pennsylvania, would require changes of the offset carrier designations of other assignments, other changes in the Table of Assignments, § 3.606 of the rules were also proposed. The Table of Assignments, § 3.606 was proposed to be amended to read as follows:

City	Channel number
District of Columbia: Washington	4–, 5, 7+, 9–, 20+, *26–,
Ohio, Columbus	4–, 6+, 10+, *24, 40–.
Pennsylvania: Irwin	4+.

2. The Commission's proposed rule making provided that comments or briefs either opposing or supporting the proposed changes in the Table of Assignments could be filed on or before September 19, 1952, and that comments and briefs in reply could be filed within 10 days from the last date for filing original comments or briefs.

3. Allegheny Broadcasting Corporation, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and Mon-Yough Broadcasting Company, McKeesport, Pennsylvania, filed timely comments supporting the proposed amendments of the Assignment Table. In these comments it was asserted that the assignment of Channel 4 to Irwin as proposed by the Commission would afford opportunity for greater television service to cities in the Pittsburgh metropolitan area; that the proposal is consistent with the objectives of sections 1 and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended; that the proposal would cure the present inefficient utilization of spectrum space which now exists under the Commission's Table; and that the demand for local television facilities in cities other than Pittsburgh in the area requires the assignment of Channel 4 to Irwin as proposed.

4. WWSW, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, filed a timely comment, and thereafter a supplemental comment, opposing the proposed assignment of VHF Channel 4 to Irwin. The objections raised by WWSW, Inc., to the Notice of Proposed Rule Making in this proceeding are premised on the contention that VHF Channel 4 should be assigned to Pittsburgh or to Braddock. In the Sixth Report and Order (FCC 52–294) we denied counterproposals which requested the assignment of Channel 4 to these communities. Petitions for reconsideration of the denial of these counterproposals were filed by WCAE, Inc., and Matta Broadcasting Company.[2] In our Memorandum Opinion and Order (FCC 52–988) of September 2, 1952, the petition for reconsideration of WCAE, Inc., seeking assignment of Channel 4 to Pittsburgh, was denied. On the same date, we also issued a Memorandum Opinion (FCC 52–987) in which we pointed out that we were taking no action on the pending petition of Matta Broadcasting Company for reconsideration of our decision denying the requested assignment of Channel 4 to Braddock. We stated that:

> In the event that the proposal to assign Channel 4 to Irwin, Pa., is made final that channel will be available, in accordance with § 3.607 of the Rules, for application in the City of Braddock as well as other cities.

We believe that our decision denying the petition for reconsideration of WCAE, Inc., which requested the assignment of Channel 4 to Pittsburgh, and our decision deferring action on the petition for reconsideration of Matta Broadcasting Company which requested the assignment of Channel 4 to Braddock, are correct and we now reaffirm these decisions on the grounds stated therein.

5. The particular objections raised by WWSW, Inc., to the proposal to put Channel 4 in Irwin in this proceeding are without merit. Petitioner assumes that the assignment of Channel 4 to Braddock instead of to Irwin would constitute the assignment of that channel to Pittsburgh under the Commission's rules. Even were this assumption of petitioner correct, Channel 4 nevertheless could not be assigned to Braddock, in view of the resulting substandard separation to WLWC, Columbus, Ohio. Moreover, petitioner's assumption that the assignment of Channel 4 to Braddock would constitute an assignment of that channel to Pittsburgh rests upon a misconstruction of the Commission's rules. Section 3.607 (b) of the Commission's rules provides in part that "A channel assigned to a community listed in the Table is available upon application in any unlisted community which is located within 15 miles of the listed community." Thus, since Pittsburgh is within 15 miles of Braddock, the assignment of Channel 4 to Braddock would make that channel available as a Pittsburgh channel if no channels were assigned to Pittsburgh. However, since channels have been assigned to Pittsburgh and it is therefore a community "listed in the Table", the assignment of Channel 4 to Braddock would obviously not constitute an assignment of that channel to Pittsburgh under the "15 mile rule."

6. Petitioner also asserts that "Since the plain purpose of Mayor Lawrence's petition (pursuant to which the notice of proposed rule making to assign Channel 4 to Irwin was issued) is to increase television to the Pittsburgh area, the issue should be met directly and not in such a way as to make the Commission appear guilty of subterfuge." The charge that the Irwin assignment is a subterfuge is patently false. We recognize the desirability of additional service in the Pittsburgh area, but find that we cannot assign Channel 4 to Pittsburgh without violating the minimum cochannel assignment separation standards. The assignment of Channel 4 to Irwin complies with those standards, brings a first television station to that community, and, in addition, provides additional service to the Pittsburgh area. Our decision to assign Channel 4 to Irwin in order to achieve a more efficient utilization of the channel is not a subterfuge.

7. It is asserted by WWSW, Inc., that "• • • The Commission should not become involved in any contrivance which will give unmerited preference to Matta Broadcasting Company over other Pittsburgh area applicants. • • •" This contention is clearly ill-founded. The argument that Matta Broadcasting Company would receive an "unmerited preference" is presumably addressed to the question whether, and to what extent, local residence should constitute a basis for preference among competing applicants for television facilities. That question is not before us. We are concerned here only with the rule making question of assignment of channels in accordance with the Commission's separation standards and in accordance with good assignment principles. We are not concerned here with the bases for selecting among competing applicants in adjudicatory licensing proceedings.

8. In the Supplement to its comments WWSW, Inc., offers an additional argument designed to show that the assignment of Channel 4 to Irwin rather than Braddock would be erroneous. Petitioner recognizes that the assignment of Channel 4 to Braddock would not comply with the minimum co-channel assignment separations since Braddock is less than 170 miles from WLWC, Columbus, Ohio, to which Channel 4 is assigned.[3] WWSW, Inc., argues that since Crosley Broadcasting Corporation filed an application in which it proposed to operate Station WLWC with a tower height of 436 feet that "it is obvious that a reduction in height of only a few feet below the 1,000 feet permissible would make the allocation of Channel 4 to Braddock

[1] This notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 9, 1952 (17 F. R. 8125).

[2] WWSW, Inc., has not requested reconsideration of the Sixth Report and Order but has filed a petition for review with the Court of Appeals, Third Circuit.

[3] Crosley Broadcasting Corporation is licensee of WLWC, Columbus, Ohio, WLWT, Cincinnati, Ohio, and WLWD, Dayton, Ohio. In a letter dated September 17, 1952, the Commission advised the licensee that the operation of these stations proposed by Crosley in its applications to change channels in accordance with Commission show cause orders, and to increase power, appeared to result in overlaps of the stations' signals in contravention of the Commission's multiple ownership rules.

entirely within the Commission's standards as regarding interference." The Sixth Report and Order (FCC 52-294) and our Memorandum Opinion and Order (FCC 52-988) dated September 2, 1952, set forth the reasons for denying requests for operation with less than maximum height or power at substandard separations. The reasons there set forth are a full and adequate reply to the contention now raised by petitioner in this proceeding. Furthermore, it should be pointed out that petitioner's proposal would place a permanent limitation on the antenna height of a station operating on Channel 4 in Columbus. Such a limitation would frustrate one of the basic purposes intended to be served by the standards of heights and powers adopted in the Sixth Report. The standards there adopted were designed to permit the authorization of all stations to use maximum heights and powers in order to achieve wide service areas, consistent with a minimum of interference. The proposal of Crosley Broadcasting Corporation, at this time, to operate WLWC with an antenna height of 436 feet is neither a necessary nor a permanent limitation on the utilization of Channel 4. In any event the operation proposed by any applicant cannot and should not be relied upon to effect enduring limitations on the utilization of the channel by all potential licensees of the same facilities. The transitory questions presented by the immediate circumstances or inclinations of particular licensees should not be confused with basic problems presented by the establishment of a nation-wide Table of Assignments which will determine the course of television for the foreseeable future.

9. In view of the foregoing, it is ordered that, effective 30 days from the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the Table of Assignments contained in § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations is amended to read as follows:

City	Channel number
District of Columbia: Washington	4-, 5, 7+, 9-, 20+, *26-.
Ohio: Columbus	4-, 6+, 10+, *34, 40-.
Pennsylvania: Irwin	4+.

PART 8—STATIONS ON SHIPBOARD IN THE MARITIME SERVICES

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

In the matter of amendment of Part 8 of the Commission's rules for temporary implementation of the radio provisions of the Safety of Life at Sea Convention, London, 1948.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 23d day of October 1952;

The Commission having under consideration the matter of amendment of Part 8 of its rules for the purpose of implementing the radio provisions of the Safety of Life at Sea Convention, London, 1948:

It appearing, that the Safety of Life at Sea Convention, London, 1948, will come into force on November 19, 1952, and on that date the radio provisions thereof will become applicable to certain United States ships; and

It further appearing, that substantial detailed changes in Part 8 of the Commission's rules, in addition to certain amendments heretofore proposed, are necessary for the purpose of clearly establishing radio requirements which, in accordance with the Convention, are to be determined by each Administration, and to incorporate the Convention requirements in the Commission's rules in an orderly manner; and

It further appearing, that a period of time beyond November 19, 1952, will be required to complete rule making procedures to incorporate the above-mentioned substantial changes in Part 8 of the Commission's rules; and

It further appearing, that it is necessary that certain minimum changes to the Commission's rules be made immediately for the temporary guidance of those who will be affected by the coming into force of the 1948 Convention and the Commission's inspection engineers; and

It further appearing, that the rule amendments herein ordered are temporary in nature and, for the most part, merely reflect the minimum provisions of the Safety of Life at Sea Convention, London, 1948; and

It further appearing, that in view of the foregoing it is impracticable to comply with the notice and public procedure provided by section 4 of the Administrative Procedures Act and for the same reason the amendments herein ordered may be made effective immediately:

MANUFACTURERS

RENEWAL OF CERTIFICATIONS FOR SHIPS' STORES AND SUPPLIES OF A DANGEROUS NATURE

1. The Commandant, United States Coast Guard, on January 12, 1943, waived the requirements in 46 CFR 147.03–9, regarding ships' stores and supplies of a dangerous nature, to the extent that for the duration of World War II and six months thereafter it was not necessary for the manufacturers to submit applications for renewal of certification for their products during the month of January of each year.

2. The President by Proclamation No. 2974 dated April 28, 1952, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated Wednesday, April 30, 1952 (17 F. R. 3813), proclaimed the war was terminated. Therefore, the waiver by the Commandant, United States Coast Guard, dated January 12, 1943, by its own terms expires October 28, 1952, and is hereby canceled effective October 28, 1952. A letter to this effect has been sent to all known manufacturers of approved ships' stores and supplies of a dangerous nature.

3. All certifications of ships' stores and supplies of a dangerous nature made subject to the above waiver are continued in effect until February 1953. Manufacturers desiring to have certifications renewed must submit applications in accordance with the provisions of 46 CFR 147.03–9 for receipt by the Commandant, United States Coast Guard, during the month of January 1953. Each application shall contain a sworn statement affirming that the characteristics of the approved product or article have not been altered or changed in any respect and it is the manufacturer's intention to continue to market the product. Upon receipt of such statement the records of the Commandant of the Coast Guard will be endorsed, indicating that the certification continues active and in force. Failure to submit such applications during January 1953 shall automatically serve to cancel the certificates and the appropriate notice will be published in the U. S. Coast Guard's "Proceedings of the Merchant Marine Council" regarding the cancellations.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASE OF SHEEP

FINDING OF EMERGENCY OUTBREAK

Whereas, the disease of sheep known as scrapie has appeared in this country in the State of California, and

Whereas, the existence of this disease constitutes a real danger to producers, shippers and others concerned with the sheep industry as well as to the national economy,

Now, therefore, in accordance with the provisions of the appropriation item in the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1953 (Pub. Law 451, 82d Cong., 2d sess.) entitled "Eradication of Foot-and-Mouth Disease and Other Contagious Diseases of Animals and Poultry", and section 11 of the act of May 29, 1884 (21 U. S. C. 114a), I find an emergency arising out of the existence and spread of scrapie, which in my opinion threatens the livestock industry of the country, and I authorize the transfer of funds to the said appropriation item and the use thereof for all proper purposes in a program conducted in cooperation with States and political subdivisions thereof, farmers associations, and similar organizations and individuals, to arrest and eradicate the disease wherever found.

No appeal having been filed from said initial decision of said hearing examiner as provided for in Rule XXII, nor any other action taken as thereby provided to prevent said initial decision becoming the decision of the Commission thirty days from service thereof upon the parties, said initial decision, including said order to cease and desist, accordingly, under the provisions of said Rule XXII became the decision of the Commission on August 9, 1952.

The said order cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondent, Rainbow Girl Coat Company, Inc., a corporation, and its officers, and the respondents, Arnold Freed and Harold Freed, individually and as officers of said respondent corporation, and said respondents' respective representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the introduction or manufacture for introduction into commerce, or the offering for sale, sale, transportation, or distribution in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the aforesaid act, of girls' coats or other wool products, as such products are defined in and subject to the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939, which products contain, purport to contain, or in any way are represented as containing "wool," "reprocessed wool," or "reused wool," as those terms are defined in said act, do forthwith cease and desist from misbranding such products by:

1. Falsely or deceptively stamping, tagging, labeling or otherwise identifying such products as to the character or amount of the constituent fibers therein;

2. Failing to securely affix or to place on each such product a stamp, tag, label, or other means of identification showing in a clear and conspicuous manner:

(a) The percentage of the total fiber weight of such wool product, exclusive of ornamentation not exceeding five percentum of said total fiber weight of (1) wool, (2) reprocessed wool, (3) reused wool, (4) each fiber other than wool where said percentage by weight of such fiber is five percentum or more, and (5) the aggregate of all other fibers;

(b) The maximum percentage of the total weight of such wool product of any non-fibrous loading, filling, or adulterating matter;

(c) The name or the registered identification number of the manufacturer of such wool product or of one or more persons engaged in introducing such wool product into commerce, or in the offering for sale, sale, transportation, distribution or delivering for shipment thereof in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939;

3. Failing to separately and distinctly set forth on the required stamp, tag, label, or other means of identification affixed to or placed on any such product, the character and amount of the constituent fibers appearing in the linings thereof which purport to contain, or in any manner are represented as containing wool, reprocessed wool, or reused wool.

Provided, That the foregoing provisions concerning misbranding shall not be construed to prohibit acts permitted by paragraphs (a) and (b) of section 3 of the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939; and Provided further, That nothing contained in this order shall be construed as limiting any applicable provisions of said act or the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder.

By "Decision of the Commission and order file report of compliance", Docket 5924, August 8, 1952, which announced and decreed fruition of said initial decision, report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: August 8, 1952.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

[Ceiling Price Regulation 29, Revision 1]

CPR 29—PURE NICKEL SCRAP, MONEL METAL SCRAP, STAINLESS STEEL SCRAP, AND OTHER SCRAP MATERIALS CONTAINING NICKEL AND CHROME, ETC.

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Revision 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 29 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This revision accomplishes a number of changes, the need for which has arisen since the issuance of the nickel scrap regulation on May 3, 1951. In operating under the regulation for more than one year, the industry has encountered a number of problems which have indicated the need for the clarification and changes accomplished by this revision.

This revision extends the coverage of Ceiling Price Regulation 29 to include steel scrap with a nickel content exceeding 6.99 percent or a chrome content exceeding 10.99 percent. Preparation services which are defined as the services performed in preparing the commodities covered by the regulation for direct industrial consumption are also now included in the coverage of CPR 29. To avoid the possible application of this regulation to certain items intended to be covered in CPR 46, copper nickel solids and borings, and nickel silver solids and borings meeting the specifications set out in CPR 46 are specifically excluded from this regulation. A number of provisions have been added to enable the industry to operate more easily under the regulation. Other provisions have been modified to more nearly conform with industry practices and a basic definition of stainless steel has been added.

To aid the industry to operate more easily under the regulation Table A has been broadened in several respects. In order to avoid the pricing of certain stainless steel grades under Table A, which table is not intended to price these grades, the item in that table of ferro-nickel-chrome-iron scrap containing from 20 percent to 90 percent nickel has been revised to specifically except standard AISI stainless steel grades which must be priced under Table B as stainless steel grades. The category covering monel clippings and rods is considered too limited in that it does not include other standard shapes similarly priced. In order to correct this shortcoming sheet, skeleton and rods which are standard shapes have been added to the category. Table A also lacked a category covering grades of miscellaneous nickel bearing scrap, including grindings, spent catalyst, sludges, and mud and filter cakes. A category has been added to Table A covering these materials and the ceiling price of 32 cents a pound for miscellaneous nickel copper and nickel copper iron scrap containing less than 40 percent nickel has been made applicable.

It has also been determined that for the type of material covered by Table A, more than one dealer often participates in preparing the material for direct industrial consumption by a consumer. CPR 29 as issued permitted payment of the preparation premium only to the dealer selling directly to the consumer. In view of the fact that this provision is too restrictive and does not conform to industry practice, this revision permits the preparation fee set forth in Table A to be divided by the dealer selling directly to the consumer, with another dealer who participates in the preparation, to an extent not greater than 50 percent of the preparation fee.

Prior to this revision the regulation contained no definition of "stainless steel." This created some confusion and certain difficulties in distinguishing between some of the materials covered by Table A and certain grades of nickel bearing stainless steel which were intended to be covered by Table B. Stainless steel is now defined in this revision as heat and corrosion resistant steel containing 50 percent or more iron and 11 percent or more chromium with or without nickel, molybdenum or other elements. Material meeting this definition and also containing 1 percent or more nickel is now defined as "nickel bearing stainless steel." For the purposes of this regulation and establishing ceiling prices these definitions are considered to conform more nearly with present industry concepts.

The ceiling prices of the volume grades of nickel bearing stainless steel scrap remain unchanged. These are $130 per gross ton for sheets, clippings and solids, and $110 per gross ton for turnings and borings containing 16 to 20 percent chrome and 7 to 10 percent nickel. The regulation as originally issued also established ceiling prices for nickel bearing stainless steel scrap containing over 20 percent chrome and 10 percent nickel. This was found to be too limited, in that ceiling prices for nickel bearing stainless steel containing less than 16 percent chrome and 7 percent nickel were not established. Hence for all grades or types of "nickel bearing stainless steel" scrap the revision establishes a ceiling price for sheets, clippings and solids of 40 cents per pound of nickel contained and 12 cents per pound of chrome contained; and for turnings and borings establishes a ceiling price of 15 percent less than the applicable price per gross ton for sheets, clippings and solids.

This does not apply, however, to nickel bearing stainless steel scrap with a nickel content of 3 percent or less which is to be priced as a straight chrome grade under Table B. This conforms to historical practice in the industry and results in a higher and fairer ceiling price than if the scrap were priced on the basis of the nickel and chrome contained at 40 cents and 12 cents per pound, respectively. To further conform with historical industry practice a differential of $5.00 per ton less than the carload price is established on sales of less than carload lots of the straight chrome grades of stainless steel. A similar pricing pattern of $10.00 per ton less for less-than-carload lots was established by the regulation as originally issued for the nickel bearing grades of stainless steel.

Controversies have arisen under CPR 29 both as to the proper interpretation of the preparation premium provision for stainless steel scrap and the type of material for which a preparation premium was payable. In some instances consumers in order to obtain stainless steel scrap, have had to pay the preparation premium for unsuitable material, and pay an additional preparation premium to another for a suitable preparation. The revision corrects this problem by setting forth the exact forms in which stainless steel scrap must be prepared or generated before a premium becomes payable. Before the premium becomes payable the scrap must also be suitable without further preparation for direct charging into an electric furnace. This means that if the consumer is required to have the scrap further prepared prior to charging it into its electric furnace the premium may not be paid. This change conforms to industry practice.

The brokerage commission provision has been eliminated from the regulation. In its place a provision has been substituted providing for payment of a premium to a seller of stainless steel scrap other than the generator who sells to a consumer, and in addition meets the other conditions specified in the regulation. Further to more nearly conform with industry practice and because of the smaller volume in which stainless steel scrap moves, a seller other than the generator who sells to a consumer is permitted to accumulate less than carload lots and charge the consumer a premium on the basis of the carload price.

A provision has been added permitting the intransit preparation of stainless steel scrap sold for shipment in rail carload lots or in a minimum quantity of 30,000 pounds for shipment by truck. This conforms with industry practice and provides a flexibility that will facilitate the movement of stainless steel scrap. There has also been added a provision for application for establishment of ceiling prices for unlisted grades and for special preparations, such as for use in a small electric furnace of 500 pounds to two tons capacity.

"Carload" as defined in the original regulation means the minimum quantity required to obtain the carload freight rate from the point of shipment to destination. This definition is realistic insofar as solid materials are concerned which do not in some cases occupy the full capacity of a freight car. However, bulky material like turnings and borings in most cases will occupy a full car without aggregating the minimum weight necessary to obtain the carload rate on a shipment of solids. In addition, freight cars throughout the country vary in size causing further confusion. Therefore, in order to provide a fair standard of uniform applicability, the definition of a "carload" has been changed to mean the shipment by rail of a minimum quantity of 30,000 pounds from the point of shipment to destination, or the minimum quantity required to load a car to visible capacity and so certified on the railroad bill of lading. If delivery is made by truck, a carload shall consist of a minimum quantity of 30,000 pounds if complete delivery is made in three calendar days exclusive of Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the provisions of this ceiling price regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

So far as practicable, the Director has given due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and to relevant factors of general applicability. In the judgment of the Director, the ceiling prices established in this regulation are not below the lower of the prices prevailing just before the issuance of this regulation or the prices prevailing during the period January 25, 1951, to February 24, 1951, inclusive.

In formulating this regulation three Industry Advisory Committee meetings were held, the Director consulted with other industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and has given full consideration to their recommendations.

The provisions of this ceiling price regulation and their effect upon business practices, cost practices, or means or aids to distribution in the industry have been considered. It is believed that no changes in such practices or methods have been effected. To the extent, however, that the provisions of this regulation may operate to compel changes in such practices or methods, such provisions are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of the regulation and to effectuate the policies of the act.

(i) A complete description of the material including analysis, shape and size.

(ii) Trade name of the material, if any.

(iii) Name and address of purchaser.

(3) If your application is to have a ceiling price established for the purchase of specially prepared stainless steel scrap, or for specially prepared pure nickel scrap, monel metal scrap, and other scrap materials containing nickel or chrome with or without any other alloy or any combination thereof, such as for use in a small electric furnace of 500 pounds to two tons capacity, it must contain the following additional information:

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Amdt. 37]

GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

EFFECT OF MANUFACTURER'S EXCISE TAXES ON CEILING PRICES OF WHOLESALERS AND RETAILERS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 37 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This Amendment 37 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (GCPR) removes malt beverages and tobacco products from the list of products contained in section 20 (e) of the GCPR. Since the issuance of CPR 117 and Revision 1 thereof, malt beverages have not been covered by the GCPR, and therefore the reference to these products contained in section 20 (e) is inappropriate.

Under the GCPR, prior to this amendment, distributors of tobacco products were allowed to increase their ceiling prices to reflect manufacturer's excise tax increases only by an amount equal to the amount of increase in such manufacturer's excise taxes. This was the situation which existed prior to November 1, 1951, under the provisions of section 11 of the GCPR, and this exact pass-through provision has continued unchanged until this amendment. When changes were made in the tax section of the GCPR (section 20) by Amendment 23, which became effective on November 1, 1951, it was made clear that the other amendments to the tax section of the GCPR which then became effective and permitted a markup on Federal excise tax increases did not apply to tobacco products. Section 402 (k) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, now requires that this section of the GCPR be amended to permit tobacco distributors to apply their customary percentage markups on any increase in the manufacturer's excise tax and, therefore, this amendment makes the required change.

When, as originally enacted, section 402 (k) (the so-called Herlong Amendment) became law on July 31, 1951, it prohibited OPS after that date from making any change in its then existing regulations and orders which would deny to sellers of materials at wholesale or retail their customary percentage margins over costs of the materials. The original Herlong Amendment did not require OPS to change any regulations issued prior to the passage of that Amendment.

Prior to the issuance of Amendment 23 to the GCPR, the regulation did not permit resellers of products other than processed agricultural commodities to pass on any increase in the excise taxes which they paid and which were not separately stated. On the other hand, section 11 of the GCPR provided for a dollar-and-cent pass-through of any increase in excise tax not separately stated for all distributors of processed agricultural commodities. Thus, when the changes in Federal excise taxes became effective on November 1, 1951, it was necessary for OPS to take new regulatory action to provide adjustments for the distributors of products not processed from agricultural commodities and as to such adjustments it was necessary for OPS to comply with the requirements of the Herlong Amendment. Amendment 23, with reference to distributors of tobacco products, made no change in the pass-through adjustments already permitted these distributors by section 11 of the GCPR, and was therefore not a change in OPS regulations after July 31, 1951. Accordingly, Amendment 23, insofar as tobacco products are concerned, was not subject to the Herlong Amendment. Moreover, the limited data available to OPS on October 31, 1951, indicated that customary percentage markups were not applied by distributors of tobacco products to the manufacturer's excise tax.

The Defense Production Act Amendments of 1952 broadened the Herlong Amendment by deleting the word "hereafter," so that the Amendment became applicable to all regulatory action whenever taken by OPS.

In view of this change in the statute and of protests submitted prior to this change by wholesalers and retailers of cigarettes, OPS made a further study and analysis to determine whether groups of sellers (as distinguished from individual sellers) of tobacco products at wholesale and retail did have customary percentage margins over costs of materials or customary charges. Data submitted in the protest proceeding were inconclusive, but results of a margin study based on data which became available to the OPS after the change in the Herlong Amendment and a further analysis by OPS of a survey made by OPA in 1942 now indicate the existence of customary percentage markups over costs of materials including the manufacturer's excise tax.

Under these circumstances, it is clear that distributors of tobacco products may not be prevented from marking up the manufacturer's excise tax increase. This amendment therefore deletes tobacco products from section 20 (e) and permits distributors of these products to add their customary markups to manufacturer's excise tax increases in accordance with Supplementary Regulation 29. The GCPR base period is used in SR 29 because of the large number of small sellers in both the wholesale and retail trades who do not have pre-Korean records. It is believed that the margins of these sellers in the GCPR base period approximate their pre-Korean markups.

The special circumstances which led to the formulation of this amendment have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable. In the judgment of the Director the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the provisions of Title IV of the Defense Production Act, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of that act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

The General Ceiling Price Regulation is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 20 (d) is amended to read as follows:

(d) Where net cost includes changed or new excise tax. If you are a wholesaler or retailer and the net invoice cost of a commodity purchased by you for resale is changed by reason of the imposition or elimination of or increase or decrease in a manufacturer's excise tax, you recalculate your ceiling price under Supplementary Regulation 29, except for photographic apparatus, film, and equipment (excluding private brands) as covered by paragraph (e) of this section.

2. Section 20 (e) is amended to read as follows:

(e) Commodities for which only exact change in excise tax may be reflected in ceiling price. If you are a wholesaler or retailer of photographic apparatus, film, and equipment (except private brands), you may increase your ceiling price by the exact amount of any increase in or new manufacturer's excise tax reflected on the invoice to you; and you must decrease your ceiling price by the exact amount of the decrease in or elimination of any such tax reflected on the invoice to you. You must in all such cases, on sales to sellers for resale, state separately the amount of the tax.

JOSEPH H. FREEHILL,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR Parts 40, 41, 42]

MINIMUM ECONOMIC STRENGTH REQUIREMENTS FOR AIR CARRIERS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE-MAKING

Notice is hereby given that the Civil Aeronautics Board has under consideration the adoption of proposed amendments to Parts 40, 41 and 42 of the Civil Air Regulations in substance as hereinafter set forth.

Interested persons may participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in duplicate to the Civil Aeronautics Board, attention Bureau of Safety Regulation, Washington 25, D. C. In order to insure their consideration by the Board before taking further action on the proposed rule, communications must be received by December 15, 1952. Copies of such communications will be available after December 18, 1952, for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section of the Board, Room 5412, Commerce Building, Washington, D. C.

Ever since the initial promulgation of Part 40 of the Civil Air Regulations, there has been a requirement for minimum economic strength applicable to those seeking air carrier operating certificates for interstate scheduled operations within the continental limits of the United States. No similar showing has been required of air carriers operating under Part 41 in scheduled overseas or foreign air transportation, nor of irregular carriers or air taxi operators operating under the provisions of Part 42. Although § 40.6 has been in the regulations for a number of years, it has not, because of its generality, proved of great value to the Administrator in determining a carrier's fitness to engage in air carrier operations. Moreover, in the case of air carriers operating under Part 40, financial fitness, willingness and ability to operate as an air carrier are demonstrated in detail in the proceedings for a certificate of public convenience and necessity and the fact that they have been issued such a certificate by the Board has been deemed almost conclusive by the Administrator as their ability to meet this provision.

Recent accident investigations conducted by the Board have demonstrated that regardless of the number of specific safety rules in effect, a carrier may not be able to conduct his operations with the high degree of safety expected from air carriers if the finances of the carrier are in such precarious condition that he must rely upon the income of the next few days of operations to meet his current obligations. It has been found that the tendency is to cut corners on maintenance, and otherwise to conduct operations under conditions which prudent judgment would have avoided in order to bring in the revenue needed to keep the operation going.

The Board believes that, when the finances of an air carrier become so imperiled that there is neither cash nor credit available for the next two weeks' operating expenses, the economic compulsion to operate becomes so great that a hazardous situation is created. The Board is therefore of the opinion that as the very minimum, every air carrier should have sufficient cash on hand or readily available credit to meet the expected current operating expenses of the next ensuing two weeks, without regard to the income to be derived from those operations. If this amount is kept on hand, or such credit is readily available, the temptation to cut corners will be curtailed. This requirement is proposed not only as a condition for the original issuance of the air carrier operating certificate, but also as continuing condition on the right of the holder to continue to operate under this certificate. The Board envisions that any air carrier whose financial position becomes such that he cannot meet the standards herein proposed, will become immediately subject to an emergency certificate suspension proceeding by the Administrator under section 609 of the act.

Accordingly, it is proposed to amend Parts 40, 41 and 42 by inserting therein a provision to read substantially as follows:

Minimum economic strength requirements. Applicant shall show sufficient cash on hand or credit available to him to insure that for a period of at least two weeks all current operating expenses will be met as they come due without regard to income received during such period. No air carrier shall carry passengers or property for hire at any time when his economic strength falls below the level herein set forth.

This regulation is proposed under the authority of Title VI of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended. The proposal may be changed in the light of comments received in response to this notice of proposed rule-making.

TERMINATIONS OF APPROVALS OF EQUIPMENT

BUOYANT CUSHIONS FILLED WITH TYPHA (PROCESSED CATTAIL FLOSS)

The buoyant cushions filled with typha (processed cattail floss) were originally approved during World War II due to the fact that under War Production Order No. M-85 kapok was restricted to use in lifesaving devices for vessels engaged in the war effort and there was no kapok available for use in buoyant cushions for pleasure motorboats. Under the provisions of 46 CFR 28.4-1 then in effect and later under the provisions of 46 CFR 160.008-3, the use of buoyant cushions filled with typha (processed cattail floss) was accepted as a substitute for buoyant cushions filled with kapok. The approvals were limited for the duration of the Unlimited National Emergency proclaimed by the President on May 27, 1941, and six months thereafter. This time limitation was one of the conditions on which the approvals were granted and was contained in each approval when published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The President, by Proclamation 2974 dated April 28, 1952, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of April 30, 1952 (17 F. R. 3813), terminated the Unlimited National Emergency proclaimed on May 27, 1941.

All the manufacturers of buoyant cushions filled with typha (processed cattail floss) have been advised of the expiration of their approvals under the terms on which granted and that such approvals will not be extended. Therefore, the approvals for buoyant cushions filled with typha (processed cattail floss) shall be terminated effective upon October 29, 1952. Notwithstanding this termination of approval on any buoyant cushion filled with typha (processed cattail floss), such buoyant cushions manufactured before the effective date of termination of approval may be used on pleasure motorboats so long as they are in good and serviceable condition, but in no case later than October 29, 1953.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Commandant, United States Coast Guard, by Treasury Department Order No. 120, dated July 31, 1950 (15 F. R. 6521), and in compliance with the authorities cited below, the following approvals for buoyant cushions filled with typha (processed cattail floss) are terminated effective October 29, 1952:

ECONOMIC STABILIZATION AGENCY

Office of Price Stabilization

[Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, Section 20 (c), Special Order 18]

LELAND ELECTRIC CO.

COMMISSION CEILING PRICES FOR THE SALE OF 20 FRAME MOTORS, ALTERNATORS, GENERATORS AND MOTOR GENERATORS

Statement of considerations. The commission ceiling prices for the sales of 20 frame motors alternators, generators, and motor generators for the Leland Electric Company, Dayton 1, Ohio, by its sales representatives are adjusted by this Special Order pursuant to section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended.

This section authorizes the Director of Price Stabilization to adjust ceiling prices of sellers of an essential non-retail service as to which there is a limited supply available. In order to obtain an adjustment under this section, the buyer must demonstrate that he is purchasing an essential non-retail service as to which there is a limited supply available from sellers thereof who are too numerous to make recourse by them to section 20 (b) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, practicable. The purchaser must further demonstrate that these sellers are threatening to discontinue supplying him with such service, and in addition, the applicant must agree to absorb any price increase over his sellers' existing ceiling prices, and must so state in his application. The buyer may not apply for or obtain an increase in his suppliers 'ceiling prices for the service supplied to him, which would bring the proposed increased ceiling prices in excess of the price he would be required to pay to other suppliers of the same service. The buyer's application must also show the nature and extent of the sellers' direct labor and material cost increases incurred by them since their ceiling prices for that service were established. These cost increases will be considered by the Office of Price Stabilization in determining the amount of price increase which may be granted. Where practicable the purchaser must state the names and addresses of the sellers and the ceiling prices of each seller.

It appears from information submitted in the application that the applicant sells, in addition to other sizes, 20 frame motors, alternators, generators and motor generators throughout the United States through the services of 17 sales representatives. The Director of Price Stabilization has determined that the supply of such service is limited; that the increased ceiling prices for commissions will not exceed the prevailing prices at which the applicant could purchase the same service; that the applicant's suppliers are threatening to discontinue supplying such service because their ceiling prices are below prevailing rates; that the applicant has agreed to absorb any price increases and will not pass on such increases in the form of increased prices to others; and that the sellers of 20 frame unit sales representative service to the applicant are too numerous to make recourse to paragraph 20 (b) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, practicable. The increased ceiling prices reflect the direct labor and material cost increases incurred by these sellers since their ceiling prices for the service were established, and such increases will not be inconsistent with the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the statement of considerations and pursuant to section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, this Special Order is hereby issued.

1. The application of the Leland Electric Company, Dayton 1, Ohio, (hereinafter referred to as Leland) for

3. Copies of this order shall be provided by Leland to the firms listed above. A copy of this order shall be kept at the place of business of each of these firms and another copy shall be filed by each seller of sales representative service with the appropriate District Office of the Office of Price Stabilization with which each of the firms has filed or is required to file a statement of its ceiling prices under section 18 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 39, Section 5, Special Order 1]

ADJUSTMENT OF RATES PURSUANT TO EXISTING PRICING METHOD

Statement of considerations. The various companies covered by this order are affiliated companies, each of which acts as the consolidated delivery department of, and handles all the deliveries for, leading department stores and specialty shops in a single metropolitan area. They provide delivery service throughout their respective retail trading areas pursuant to contract carrier permits granted by the appropriate State regulatory bodies and, where necessary, by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Rates charged for the services afforded by the companies covered by this order are subject to the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation and may be adjusted under the provisions of Supplementary Regulation 39 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation. On March 28, 1952, the subject companies filed with the National Office, among other things, a request for such administrative relief as would enable them to continue the pricing system then in effect.

The affiliated United Parcel Service companies, each of which operates in a substantially similar manner, have long-term contracts with retail department stores and specialty shops. Under the initial contract between a United Parcel Service company and any of the larger stores served, the company customarily purchases all of the trucks, equipment, and other delivery facilities of the store, leases the space formerly used by the store for garage or warehouse purposes, takes over all its delivery employees and consolidates and pools all its deliveries with those of other stores served. By virtue of the integration of department store delivery service with specialty shop service, delivery costs per unit are reduced and the volume necessary to an economical operation is furnished the delivery companies. Each company performs for the stores all of the services previously performed by their own delivery departments. Service is performed under an adjustable rate contract, protecting each company against increases in costs during the term of the contract and providing for an incentive arrangement whereby both the United Parcel Service company and the store benefit by reduced costs and are penalized by increased costs. Under the adjustable rate contract, tentative rates are established for each fiscal quarter of the contract, but these rates are subject to retroactive adjustment at the beginning of each succeeding fiscal quarter.

In a typical contract, the provisions for readjustment operate as follows:

All costs are converted to a cost per count or unit of service. Such cost per count or unit for the previous quarter becomes the base rate for the current quarter. This base rate plus a stated allowance per count becomes the tentative weekly billing rate for the current contract quarter. At the end of the quarter, a readjustment is made whereby increases or decreases in cost are shared equally by the company and the store. The cost per unit in turn becomes the base rate for the following quarter.

For the various types of service such as package delivery and furniture delivery, the amount of the retroactive rate adjustment is determined at the end of each fiscal quarter by the relation between the particular base rate and the average cost per package unit. If the average cost exceeds the base rate, one-half of the excess is charged to the store. If the average cost is less than the base rate, one-half of the saving is refunded to the store. In either event, the amount of the adjustment is equal to one-half the difference between base rate and average cost, multiplied by the number of units handled for the store.

The contracts with the smaller stores are similar in form and content to those with the larger stores. The volume and type of business of the smaller stores do not require the same detail and the intricate contractual provisions as in the case of the larger stores. Usually, no takeover of equipment or personnel is involved. Inasmuch as it would be impracticable to include an adjusted rate formula in the contracts with smaller stores, such contracts are made for a much shorter term, usually one year, and contain a flat rate. However, the general method by which the flat rate is arrived at, and the considerations determining the amount, are similar to those used in arriving at the formula. Actually, the smaller store's rate is based on unit cost just as is the larger store's. Annual adjustments in flat rate contracts are based upon the same factors as those affecting application of the adjustable rate formula.

In order to be eligible for adjustment under the provisions of Supplementary Regulation 39, a motor carrier must establish that the adjustment is necessary to permit the continuance of an essential service for which there is no adequate substitute available at a rate equivalent to or lower than the ceiling rate requested, and that the carrier will suffer substantial financial hardship in his overall operations unless the adjustment is granted. The nature of the adjustable rate formula under which both company and store gain directly as costs decrease, and lose directly as costs increase, and the entire relationship between each United Parcel Service company and each store served is founded upon the proposition that the same service at equivalent or lower rates is not available elsewhere. The only alternative to the service provided by the various United Parcel Service companies is the operation by a store of its own delivery department. The operating ratios of the various companies covered by this order reveal that the pricing formulas described above substantially achieve the ends contemplated by Supplementary Regulation 39 and that rate adjustments required by the formula are within permissible bounds. Furthermore, the preparation of individual orders adjusting rates charged under the hundreds of contracts executed by the various United Parcel Service companies would be impracticable.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the Statement of Considerations and pursuant to section 5 (b) of Supplementary Regulation 39, It is ordered:

(a) That the ceiling rates for the contract carrier delivery services rendered by United Parcel Service of New York, Inc., United Parcel Service of Pennsylvania, Inc., United Parcel Service of Illinois, Inc., United Parcel Service of Milwaukee, United Parcel Service of Cincinnati, Inc., United Parcel Service of Detroit, Inc., United Parcel Service of Minnesota, Inc., United Parcel Service of Los Angeles, Inc., United Parcel Service Bay District, United Parcel Service of Portland, United Parcel Service of Seattle, shall be no higher than those resulting from the application of the appropriate pricing method set forth below:

(1) Where charges are determined by formula and adjusted quarterly.

The ceiling rates and charges for furniture delivery service, package delivery and other contract carrier service rendered by the carriers covered by this order for any department store or specialty shop shall at no time exceed the highest charges which would be produced by application, on a quarterly basis, of any formula in effect during the base period, December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951, inclusive, for the particular service.

(2) Where charges are determined by fixed price per unit and adjusted annually.

The rate per unit charged to any department store or specialty shop for contract carrier service shall at no time exceed the price per unit for such service for such department store or specialty shop during the base period, December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951, inclusive, increased by a percentage computed as follows: the price per unit resulting from application of the pricing formula discussed above to the deliveries of such department store or specialty shop during the quarter immediately preceding the beginning of a particular contract year shall be compared with the price per unit resulting from application of the pricing formula to the deliveries of such department store or specialty shop during the quarter immediately preceding the effective date of the contract in effect during the base period, and the percentage of increase, if any, shall be determined.

(b) Beginning with the quarter ending on September 30, 1952, each of the companies covered by this order shall submit individual profit and loss statements quarterly and a statement of all adjustments in ceiling rates made as a result of the application of the appropriate formula, to the Director of the Services, Transportation and Foreign Trade Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington, D. C. Adjustments in ceiling rates must be reported within 30 days of the date that they are determined by formula.

[1] This order applies to United Parcel Service of New York, Inc., United Parcel Service of Pennsylvania, Inc., United Parcel Service of Illinois, Inc., United Parcel Service of Milwaukee, United Parcel Service of Cincinnati, Inc., United Parcel Service of Detroit, Inc., United Parcel Service of Minnesota, Inc., United Parcel Service of Los Angeles, Inc., United Parcel Service Bay District, United Parcel Service of Portland, and United Parcel Service of Seattle.

(c) All provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation and Supplementary Regulation 39, except as inconsistent with the provisions of this order, shall remain in full force and effect as to the services covered by this order.

(d) This order may be amended, modified or revoked by the Director of Price Stabilization at any time.

Effective date. This special order shall become effective as of March 28, 1952.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File Nos. 54-66, 59-61, 59-35]

FEDERAL WATER AND GAS CORP. ET AL

NOTICE AND ORDER REGARDING APPLICATION FOR AUTHORITY TO ENTER INTO CLOSING AGREEMENT

OCTOBER 30, 1952.

On September 18, 1951, the Commission, pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), issued its findings and opinion and order approving a plan of liquidation of Federal Water and Gas Corporation ("Federal"), a registered holding company. Said order reserved jurisdiction to entertain such further proceedings and to make such supplemental findings and orders and to take such further action as the Commission might deem appropriate in connection with the enforcement of section 11 (b) of the act and in connection with the plan, the transactions incident thereto, and the consummation thereof.

Upon application of the Commission said plan was approved by the United States District Court for the District of Delaware by order entered on October 16, 1951, and ordered enforced. The order of the United States District Court enforcing said plan also reserved to the Court jurisdiction to entertain such further proceedings, to make such further findings, to enter such supplemental orders, and to take such further action as it might deem appropriate in connection with the claims asserted against Federal, or in connection with the plan, the transactions incident thereto and the consummation thereof.

At the time of filing said plan and at the time said orders approving the plan were entered, the principal liability of Federal was with respect to a claim by the United States for unpaid income taxes for the year 1947. In determining the amount of the cash reserve which should be set aside to meet all claims against Federal, it was estimated that there might be due for income taxes for the year 1947, $361,190.75, against which there had been paid at the filing of the return the sum of $93,153.77, leaving $268,036.98 as the maximum claim which, it was estimated, could be asserted against Federal for unpaid income taxes for the year 1947, with interest. At that time however, Federal took the position that its income taxes due the United States for the year 1947, including interest to December 15, 1951, amounted to $122,785.31, which amount has been paid.

Subsequent to Court enforcement of said plan the Commissioner of Internal Revenue has taken the position that the income taxes due the United States by Federal for the year 1947, including interest to September 15, 1952 amounts to $1,319,703.60 in addition to the amount already paid.

Federal has submitted to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue a proposal to settle its income tax liability for the year 1947 by paying an additional amount of $145,251.67 plus interest, which computed to September 15, 1952, will amount to $65,844.65.

Federal has now filed an application with the Commission requesting that the Commission determine pursuant to section 11 (e) of the act that the proposed settlement of Federal's income tax liability for the year 1947, is fair and equitable to the parties affected by the settlement and that the Commission apply to the United States District Court for the District of Delaware pursuant to section 11 (e) of the act for an order approving and enforcing said settlement.

Notice is hereby given that any interested person may, not later than November 14, 1952, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law raised by said application proposed to be controverted, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after November 14, 1952, said application, as filed or as amended, may be granted or the Commission may exempt such transaction as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act or the Commission may take such other action as may appear appropriate.

It is ordered, That copies of this notice be sent by registered mail to Federal, to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for the United States and to all parties to this proceeding, that notice shall be given to all other persons by general release of this Commission which shall be distributed to the press and mailed to the persons on the mailing list for releases under the act, and that further notice shall be given to all other persons by publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

Philadelphia Company ("Philadelphia"), a registered holding company and a subsidiary of Standard Gas and Electric Company ("Standard") and Standard Power and Light Corporation ("Power"), both registered holding companies, having filed a certificate of notification pursuant to Rule U-44 (c) under the act with respect to the sale by Philadelphia of $6,354,000 principal amount of Twenty-Year 3⅜ Percent Sinking Fund Debentures due March 1, 1970, of Equitable Gas Company ("Equitable"), a former public utility subsidiary of Philadelphia, and the Commission having thereafter found and determined that it was not necessary for Philadelphia to file a declaration with the Commission regarding the proposed sale of the debentures;

Said notification, among other things, having set forth the form and manner in which Philadelphia would solicit bids for such debentures and stating that before the acceptance of any bid Philadelphia would notify the Commission of the terms and provisions of the proposed sale and seek an order of the Commission approving such terms and provisions;

Philadelphia having informed the Commission that it has offered the debentures of Equitable for sale in the manner outlined in its certificate of notification and that pursuant to this solicitation it received the following bids:

Bidder:	Price as percent of principal amount
Blyth & Co., Inc.	94.47
Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc.	94.31
Eidder, Peabody & Co., Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane, and White, Weld & Co.	93.571

Philadelphia having indicated that it proposes to accept the bid of Blyth & Co., Inc., and that the debentures will be offered by the purchaser for sale to the public at a price of 94.636 percent of the principal amount thereof resulting in an underwriter's spread of 0.166 percent of the principal amount, aggregating $10,547.64; and

It being represented that the fees and expenses applicable to the proposed sale will not exceed $6,000 of which $3,000 represents the fee of Reed, Smith, Shaw & McClay, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, attorneys for Philadelphia, $3,000 represents the fees of Beekman & Boque, and Sullivan, Donovan, Heeneman & Hanrahan, in the amounts of $2,000 and $1,000 respectively, as counsel to the purchasers and the balance is for necessary expenses.

The Commission having examined these data and having determined that the proposed sale may appropriately be made and that the fees and expenses applicable thereto do not appear unreasonable:

It is ordered, That Philadelphia be and hereby is, authorized and directed to effectuate the sale of the Equitable debentures in the manner and form proposed, subject to the requirements contained in Rule U-24.

NORTH AMERICAN CO.

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION REGARDING PROPOSED STABILIZATION

OCTOBER 29, 1952.

The North American Company ("North American"), a registered holding company, having filed an application, and an amendment thereto, pursuant to the act and certain rules promulgated thereunder, concerned with the following proposed transactions:

Pursuant to a plan of liquidation and dissolution of North American Utility Securities Corporation ("NAUS"), heretofore approved by order dated July 23, 1952, under section 11 (e) of the act and ordered enforced by the United States District Court for the District of Maryland, North American will receive, inter alia, 78,684 shares of the common stock of Pacific Gas & Electric Company ("PG&E"), a former public utility subsidiary of North American. This Commission by order dated April 14, 1942, directed North American to divest itself of all of its direct and indirect interests in PG&E.

North American notified this Commission, pursuant to Rule U-44 (c), that upon receipt of the same it intends to sell the 78,684 shares of common stock of PG&E to non-affiliated interests pursuant to a public invitation for sealed written competitive bids and the Commission determined that no declaration need be filed in connection with the proposed sale.

North American in the instant application seeks permission to acquire common stock of PG&E by purchases on the New York Stock Exchange, the San Francisco Stock Exchange and the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, if, in the judgment of North American's officers, such purchases are necessary or advisable to facilitate the intended sale by stabilizing the market price thereof. Purchases by North American will be made only during the period beginning on the day of the opening of bids for the purchase of the common stock and ending at the time of the acceptance of a bid. The filing states that all common stock acquired through these stabilization operations will be promptly disposed of by North American after the sale of the 78,684 shares of common stock of PG&E.

It is represented in the application that customary brokerage fees and commissions will be paid by North American in connection with purchases made by it for stabilization purposes. It is stated that other expenses incurred in connection with such stabilization operations are not separable from the fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with all the transactions enumerated above and that the aggregate fees and expenses in connection with such transactions are estimated at $14,500 of which $5,500 represents fees and expenses of counsel. The record is not complete however with respect to the nature and extent of the services of counsel.

North American has requested that with respect to its receipt of the 78,684 shares of PG&E common stock the Commission's order herein contain the finding, recital and order hereinafter set forth.

The Commission having issued a notice of filing pursuant to Rule U-23 and not having received a request for a hearing thereon within the period specified in said notice or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon;

It appearing to the Commission that the proposed transactions meet all applicable standards of the act and the rules and regulations thereunder and that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that the application, as amended, be granted forthwith;

It is hereby ordered, Pursuant to said Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, and subject to the terms and conditions of Rule U-24, that the application, as amended, be, and the same hereby is, granted forthwith, except, however, with respect to the fees to be paid counsel by North American, as to which matter jurisdiction be, and the same hereby is, reserved;

It is further ordered and recited and the Commission finds, That the transfer and delivery by NAUS or its nominee, Noxid & Co., to North American (in its own name or that of its nominee, Burntull & Co.) of 78,684 shares of the common stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company, $25 par value, (being comprised of certificates for 9,800 shares numbered NC193929 to 194026 inclusive; a certificate for 56,900 shares numbered NF184234; a certificate for 5,690 shares numbered NF317251; a certificate for 6,259 shares numbered NF388155; and a certificate for 35 shares numbered NF461258) in connection with and as a part of the final liquidation and dissolution of NAUS and as authorized and permitted by the order of this Commission dated July 23, 1952, and in obedience thereto, is necessary and appropriate to the integration of the holding company system of which North American and NAUS are members and is necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be and hereby is, reserved to enter such other or further orders, conforming to the requirements of Supplement R of Chapter 1 and section 1808 (f) of Chapter 11 of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended, as may appear to the Commission to be appropriate.

MILWAUKEE ELECTRIC RAILWAY AND TRANSPORT CO. AND WISCONSIN ELECTRIC POWER CO.

NOTICE OF FILING REGARDING ACQUISITION OF SECURITIES IN CONNECTION WITH SALE OF TRANSPORTATION PROPERTIES

OCTOBER 29, 1952.

Notice is hereby given that an application-declaration has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, by Wisconsin Electric Power Company ("WEPCO"), a registered holding company and a public utility company, and its non-utility subsidiary the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Transport Company ("Transport"). The filing has designated sections 9, 10, and 12 of the act and Rules U-42, 43, 44, and 45 promulgated thereunder as being applicable to the transactions described therein.

All interested persons are referred to said application-declaration, which is on file in the offices of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized as follows:

Transport is engaged in the passenger transportation business in and about the City of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and also operates a terminal rail carrier principally for hauling coal to certain of WEPCO's power plants. It also owns all the outstanding securities of a company rendering automobile parking and garage services.

The application-declaration states that Transport has made repeated efforts in the past to sell its passenger transportation properties, including a public invitation for competitive bids for the sale of such properties during 1947 and, since that time, by negotiations with approximately ten different groups or individuals and the City of Milwaukee. Such efforts were unsuccessful.

Subject to obtaining the approval of the necessary regulatory authorities, including the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin and this Commission, Transport has entered into an agreement with Milwaukee and Suburban Transport Company ("New Transit Company") to sell Transport's passenger transportation properties for a consideration of $10,000,000, which amount is subject to adjustment for changes in property, materials and supplies.

The filing seeks authority for the acquisition by Transport of promissory notes and preferred stock of New Transit Company constituting part of the consideration for the sale of the passenger transportation properties, and as an incident to such sale, the acquisition by Transport of certain of its own outstanding securities all of which are held by WEPCO. The consideration for the sale of the passenger transportation properties will consist of $4,000,000 in cash, $3,000,000 principal amount of 5 percent Secured Promissory Notes, and $3,000,000 par or stated value of 5 percent Cumulative Preferred Stock of New Transit Company. The promissory notes will be secured by a second mortgage which will provide for a fixed sinking fund of $300,000 per year beginning after the retirement of $4,000,000 of first mortgage serial bonds to be issued by New Transit Company. Such serial bonds will mature serially until 1962, but under the provisions of the indenture may be retired earlier. In addition, the notes will have the benefit of a contingent annual sinking fund beginning in 1954, in an amount equal to one-half of New Transit Company's net income, as defined in said mortgage. Under the terms of the preferred stock there will be redeemed in each year after the retirement of the first mortgage bonds and notes, 3,000 shares of such preferred stock plus an additional amount equivalent to one-half of New Transit Company's net income, as defined in the company's charter.

Transport also proposes to acquire from WEPCO and to retire (i) all of Transport's $3,000,000 principal amount of First Mortgage 4 percent Bonds by purchase for cash at the principal amount thereof plus accrued interest, (ii) 55,000 shares of its capital stock of a par value of $100 per share by purchase for cash at par value, and (iii) not in excess of 45,000 additional shares of such capital stock by surrender by WEPCO.

Transport will obtain funds for the purchase of its bonds and capital stock from the proceeds of the proposed sale of its properties and from other treasury funds which will not be needed by it in operating the businesses which it will conduct after consummation of such sale. Such businesses will be that of a terminal rail carrier and the holding of securities.

It is stated that the proposed sale will result in a net book loss to Transport estimated at approximately $7,800,000 as of July 31, 1952, which loss, in turn, will result in a surplus deficit of Transport of between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. The surplus deficit is proposed to be eliminated by the retirement without consideration of the smallest number of shares of capital stock of Transport, not exceeding 45,000, as will be necessary for such purpose.

WEPCO proposes to make the transfers to Transport described above, to adjust the carrying value of its investment in Transport to the aggregate par value of that company's capital stock which will be outstanding after the above-mentioned transactions, and to make related adjustments in its accounts to reflect the various transactions.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors that a hearing be held with respect to the proposed transactions and that said application-declaration should not be granted and permitted to become effective except pursuant to the further order of this Commission:

It is ordered, That a hearing on said application-declaration be held on November 10, 1952, at 10:00 a. m., at the office of the Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. On such date, the Hearing Room Clerk in Room 193 will advise as to the room in which such hearing will be held. Any person desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in the proceedings, is directed to file with the Secretary of the Commission at or before the time of the hearing, a written request relative thereto as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That Edward C. Johnson or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearing in such matter. The officer so designated is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said act and to a hearing officer under the Commission's rules of practice.

The Division of Public Utilities of the Commission having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the application-declaration, and that, upon the basis thereof, the following matters and questions are presented for consideration without prejudice to its specifying additional matters and questions upon further examination:

(1) Whether the proposed sale of the passenger transportation properties by Transport is necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) (1) of the act, and is not otherwise detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors;

(2) Whether the proposed acquisition by Transport of the securities of New Transit Company meets the applicable requirements of section 10 of the act;

(3) Whether the proposed retirement of its securities by Transport may be permitted under the standards of section 12 (c) of the act;

(4) Whether any affiliation exists between New Transit Company and the WEPCO holding company system;

(5) Whether the accounting entries proposed to be made are in accordance with sound accounting principles;

(6) What terms and conditions, if any, with respect to the proposed transactions should be prescribed in the public interest or for the protection of investors and consumers;

(7) Generally, whether the proposed transactions comply with the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations and orders promulgated or issued thereunder;

It is further ordered, That particular attention be directed at said hearing to the foregoing matters and questions.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve notice of the aforesaid hearing by mailing copies of this notice and order by registered mail to Transport, WEPCO, New Transit Company, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Wisconsin Public Service Commission and the Mayor of the City of Milwaukee, Wisconsin; that notice shall be given to all other persons by general release of this Commission which shall be distributed to the press and mailed to the persons on the mailing list of this Commission for releases under the act, and that further notice be given to all persons by publication of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

with his progress in training. They detect those veterans with serious mental or emotional disturbances and refer them to Veterans Administration Mental Hygiene Clinics or other mental hygiene or medical services. They conduct research concerning the objectives, methods, and results of counseling.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. (1) In order to adequately counsel veterans in selecting and attaining suitable educational and/or occupational goals the counseling psychologist (VR&E) must have had a specialized background of education and experience in the field of psychology, with particular emphasis upon counseling, and in other fields related to vocational and educational guidance. This background should have provided a thorough knowledge of the principles underlying behavior and of psychological and counseling techniques. The counseling psychologist (VR&E) must have the ability to apply professionally recognized therapeutic counseling techniques in assisting the veteran with personal problems or conflicts which interfere with his vocational choice or with his progress in training. Since counseling psychologists (VR&E) function without professional direction from psychiatrists, they must have sound preparation in order to be able to detect those veterans with serious mental or emotional disturbances and refer them to mental or hygiene clinics for more intensive and extensive treatment.

(2) The counseling psychologist (VR&E) must have a comprehensive knowledge of occupations and their varied demands and opportunities, an understanding of scientific method and of theory of measurement and be thoroughly familiar with a wide array of psychological tests used in assessment of interests, personality traits, mental abilities, achievements and special aptitudes. He must be able to interpret test results to the veterans. The counseling psychologist (VR&E) should have had sufficient training and experience to enable him to conduct research concerning the objectives, methods and results of counseling in order to improve the professional quality of counseling.

(3) In dealing with seriously disabled veterans the counseling psychologist (VR&E) must have a comprehensive background of information concerning the nature of, and common inter-relationships among various types of disabilities. This knowledge must be sufficiently thorough to enable him to determine whether disabled veterans are in need of vocational rehabilitation to prepare them for suitable employment, to understand and use medical terminology, and to interpret and apply medical information and advice concerning physical capacities and limitations in relation to specific occupations. He must be able to recognize the psychological effects of severe physical disabilities upon the veteran and apply counseling techniques which will fully develop the veteran's residual capacities through his choice of a vocational and/or educational goal.

(4) The only way that these knowledges can be acquired is through a balanced program of study in an accredited college or university in the courses listed in paragraph (a) of this section.

1. The first sentence of section 3 of said General Order 15 is hereby amended to read as follows: "The National Enforcement Commission, created by General Order 18 of the Economic Stabilization Agency, issued July 28, 1952 (17 F. R. 6925), has authority, with respect to persons within the jurisdiction of the Wage Stabilization Board, the Salary Stabilization Board and the Office of Salary Stabilization, and the Railroad and Airline Wage Board, to determine whether any wage, salary, or other compensation has been paid or accrued, at any time, in violation of any provision of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, or any regulation or order or directive heretofore or hereafter promulgated under the act, or any regulation or order or directive heretofore or hereafter promulgated into the act, and further to determine the amount of payments or accruals to be disregarded and disallowed for the purposes enumerated in section 4 (a) below. Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 30, Supplementary Regulation 8, Amdt. 1]

CPR 30—MACHINERY AND RELATED MANUFACTURED GOODS

EXTENSION OF CERTAIN DATE

Extension of date on and after which manufacturers covered by Supplementary Regulation 8 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 may not sell formula priced commodities or services at ceiling prices established either under Supplementary Regulation 4 or 5 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30.

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this amendment to Supplementary Regulation 8 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment extends the deadline date (November 6, 1952) on and after which manufacturers of formula priced commodities and services covered by Supplementary Regulation 8 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 may not sell these commodities or services at ceiling prices determined under Supplementary Regulations 4 or 5 to CPR 30. The reason for this amendment is that the method described in the statement of considerations to SR 8 to CPR 30 to permit the computation of an average overhead adjustment factor, in those cases in which formula priced commodities are in the same product line or category as stock items, which was to be incorporated into SR 4 to CPR 30 has been delayed. Accordingly this amendment extends the November 6, 1952 date to December 31, 1952, in order to provide time for filing reports and obtaining the necessary authorization.

In view of the technical nature of the changes made by this amendment, and the desirability of immediate action, the Director of Price Stabilization has found that special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Subparagraph (2) of section 9 (b) of Supplementary Regulation 8 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 is amended to read as follows:

(2) Relation to Supplementary Regulations 4 and 5 to CPR 30. This supplementary regulation supersedes and replaces SR 4 and SR 5 to CPR 30 with respect to the establishment of adjusted ceiling prices for formula priced commodities and services covered by this supplementary regulation. On and after December 31, 1952, you may not sell any formula priced commodity or service covered by this supplementary regulation at a ceiling price established either under SR 4 or SR 5 to CPR 30. In addition, your application for adjustment under this supplementary regulation may be made separately from your application for adjustment under SR 4 or SR 5 to CPR 30, and your adjusted ceiling prices determined under this supplementary regulation may be made effective separately from your adjusted ceiling prices determined under SR 4 or SR 5 to CPR 30.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

TIGHE E. WOODS,
Director of Price Stabilization.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 63, Amdt. 2 to Area Milk Price Regulation 1]

GCPR, SR 63—AREA MILK PRICE ADJUSTMENTS

AMPR 1—NEW YORK METROPOLITAN MILK MARKETING AREA, NEW YORK

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105) and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 2 to Area Milk Price Regulation 1, of Region 2, District 1 (16 F. R. 11077) to Supplementary Regulation 63 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 9559) is hereby issued. Delegation of Authority No. 41 (16 F. R. 12679).

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Area Milk Price Regulation 1, issued on October 29, 1951, in Amendment 1 provided that the ceiling price of cottage cheese would be related to the producer price of Class II milk as announced by the Milk Marketing Administrator on the fifth day of each month. Upon further study of the operations of the cheese industry under the regulation, it has been found that the past practice of the major part of the industry has been to relate changes in such cheese prices to the fluctuations in price of Class III milk, rather than Class II. Following the established policy of OPS to conform as nearly as possible with the established customs of industry, and particularly since the fluctuations in price of Class III milk have in the past conformed closely with those of Class II milk, the Director has decided to base the changes in cheese prices now provided for in AMPR 1, as amended, upon the fluctuations in the price of Class III milk.

Area Milk Price Regulation 1 provided among other things that each change in the ceiling prices of soft cheeses would become effective on the first of the month following that month on the fifth of which the milk price change, upon which the cheese ceiling price change was based, became effective. Experience of the members of the trade operating under the regulation indicates that the effective date of such prices can and should be made much earlier in each case. It has been learned that the accounting practices of the great bulk of the distributors best lend themselves to the setting of the effective date as of the Monday following the week in which falls the fifth day of the month, the date on which the Milk Marketing Administrator announces the change in skim milk price.

All of the prices enumerated in this amendment have been issued after careful and intensive consideration of all data found to be representative of the operation of all segments of the milk industry in this marketing area.

Every effort has been made to conform this amendment to existing business practices, cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution. Insofar as any provisions of this regulation may operate to compel changes in business practices, or methods, such provisions are found by the Regional Director of the Office of Price Stabilization to be necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of this regulation.

In formulating this amendment, the Office of Price Stabilization in Region II, has consulted with representatives of the industry to the extent practicable, and has given consideration to industry's recommendations.

In the judgment of the Regional Director of the Office of Price Stabilization this amendment is generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purpose of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Area Milk Price Regulation 1, as amended, issued under Supplementary Regulation 63, as amended, to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby amended in the following respects:

1. Section 4 (c) is deleted and a new section 4 (c) is added to read as follows:

Section 4 (c). Specific Producer Price on Which the Ceiling Prices of Products of Skim Milk are Based:

(1) In accordance with section 8 of SR 63, processors and distributors of soft cheeses will adjust their cheese ceiling prices in any month in accordance with changes in the Class III producer milk price and in the butterfat differential for Class III milk, from both of which the skim value is derived, as announced by the Milk Marketing Administrator on the 5th day of that month for such milk received at country plants in an area extending not more than 201–210 miles from New York City.

For example: The Class III producer milk price and the butterfat differential for Class III milk announced by the Milk Marketing Administrator on the fifth day of November 1952, will govern the ceiling price for cheese products for November 1952, commencing with the Monday following the fifth of November 1952.

(2) The adjustment of ceiling prices must be accomplished on the first Monday following the fifth day of each month.

(3) The specific producer price on which the prices of products processed from skim milk are based is 66.29 cents, the value of skim milk per 100 lbs. of whole milk of 3.5 percent butterfat, as announced by the Milk Marketing Administrator in January 1952, and is determined in accordance with the provisions of section 927.40 (f) Page 16 of Federal Order No. 27, as amended. However, the amount to be subtracted in making this computation shall be 48 cents instead of 80 cents, as mentioned in section 927.40 (f) of said Federal Order, as amended, this amount (48 cents) being the historical allocation for handling skim milk.

2. A new subsection to section 4 (d) is added to read as follows:

(e) Fractions will be rounded as follows:

Increase or decrease in producer price (cents per 8-oz. cup)	Increase or decrease in ceiling price (cents per 8-oz. cup)
0.251–0.750	½
0.751 and over	1

Effective date. This amendment is effective the 10th day of November, 1952.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

JAMES G. LYONS,
Regional Director,
Region II.

[General Overriding Regulation 14, Amdt. 26]

GOR 14—EXCEPTED AND SUSPENDED SERVICES

EXEMPTION OF BOAT REPAIRS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this amendment to General Overriding Regulation 14 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

In accord with the policy of the Office of Price Stabilization to concentrate its efforts within major areas materially affecting the cost of living of the average American family, business costs, or the defense program, this amendment extends the coverage of GOR 14 to exempt from price control charges made for repair and conversion of all boats and ships. This service does not enter significantly into the cost of living of the average American family, business costs, or the defense program, and the continuance of control involves administrative difficulties for OPS and the suppliers concerned which are disproportionate in relationship to the value of such control to the price stabilization program.

All repair and conversion services on boats over 65 feet in length have already been suspended from price control. Since boatyards perform similar services upon boats regardless of the length, the continued control of repair services and conversion of boats 65 feet and under in length present numerous administrative difficulties for the sellers of these services. Many boats 65 feet and under in length are pleasure craft, luxury items, the repair and conversion of which have no effect upon the cost of living of the average American family. In addition, sales of all boats and ships have already been suspended from price control by GOR 9, Amendment 24. Inasmuch as the major areas of the boat and ship industry have already been removed from control the exemption from control of repair and conversion services for all boats and ships will not affect the price stabilization program and will be of substantial benefit to the sellers of the services.

In the formulation of this amendment, the Director has consulted with industry representatives including trade association representatives, and has given consideration to their recommendations.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Paragraph (a) of section 3 is amended by adding at the end thereof the following subparagraph:

(113) Charges made for repair and conversion services to any boat, ship, barge, canal boat, lighter or tug.

This amendment to General Overriding Regulation 14 is effective November 5, 1952.

JOSEPH H. FREEHILL,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

App. Sup. 2071; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61; 3 CFR, 1951 Supp.; secs. 402, 405, E. O. 10281, Aug. 28, 1951, 16 F. R. 8789; 3 CFR, 1951 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order applies particularly to producers of construction machinery and equipment, as hereinafter defined, and provides rules for placing, accepting, and scheduling rated orders for such machinery and equipment. The purpose of this order is to provide for equitable distribution of such rated orders among producers, in order to reduce to a minimum the disruption of normal distribution. This order affects NPA Reg. 2 in various respects as hereinafter set out.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, and includes any agency of the United States Government or any other government.

(b) "Construction machinery" means any type of construction machinery and equipment as listed and described in List A of this order, and includes parts of such machinery or equipment.

(c) "Producer" means a person engaged in the business of manufacturing construction machinery for sale as such.

(d) "Claimant agency" is a Government agency or NPA division shown in List B of this order.

(e) "NPA" means the National Production Authority.

SEC. 3. Required delivery dates. A rated order for construction machinery must specify delivery on a particular date or during a particular month, which in no case may be earlier than required by the person placing the order. The producer shall schedule the order for delivery within the requested month as close to the requested delivery date as is practicable considering the need for maximum production.

SEC. 4. Rejection of rated orders. A producer need not accept a rated order which he receives less than 45 days prior to the first day of the month in which delivery is requested unless specifically directed to accept the order by NPA.

SEC. 5. Limitation for acceptance of rated orders. Unless specifically directed by NPA, no producer shall be required to accept rated orders for delivery in any one month for any one model of any type of construction machinery including parts, in excess of (a) 50 percent of his production schedule of that model for that month or (b) 50 percent of his average monthly shipments of that model during the 6-month period from January 1, 1950, through June 30, 1950, whichever is greater.

SEC. 6. Limitation on use of ratings. (a) On and after September 4, 1952, no person shall apply or extend a rating to obtain any item of construction machinery listed in Part 1 of List A of this order, but not including parts of such items, unless the rating bears a program identification consisting of the letter A, B, C, or E, and one digit, or the program identification Z–1 or Z–2. The rating limitation contained in the preceding sentence shall not apply to the items in Part 2 of List A of this order.

(b) Any person unable to obtain any item of construction machinery listed in Part 1 of List A of this order at the time he requires it, and who is not authorized to use an A, B, C, E, or Z–2 rating for the purpose, may apply to NPA in accordance with this paragraph for the right to use a Z–1 rating. He shall apply to NPA through the appropriate claimant agency as shown in List B of this order or, if he is unable to determine the appropriate claimant agency, he may apply directly to NPA which will route the application to the appropriate claimant agency. Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph, application shall be made on Form NPAF–138C. Applicants whose appropriate claimant agency is the Canadian Division of NPA shall file on Canadian Department of Defence Production Form 57–3. Applicants whose appropriate claimant agency is the Office of International Trade or the Mutual Security Agency shall file on Form IT–835. Each application shall state the amounts, makes, models, sizes, and values of the machinery required, the end use to which the machinery will be put, the name of the prospective supplier, and the justification showing why the use of a rating is in the public interest, or in the interest of the national defense, and what efforts, if any, have been made to obtain the machinery without a rating.

(c) No applicant shall, within 1 year of his acquisition of any construction machinery obtained pursuant to an application granted in accordance with this section, sell or otherwise dispose of that machinery without written approval of NPA or of the claimant agency through which application was made: Provided, however, That the provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to machinery acquired as the result of any application filed on Form IT–835.

(d) No producer of construction machinery shall treat as a rated order any order received by him after the effective date of this amendment for any item of construction machinery listed in Part 1 of List A of this order, but not including parts of such items, unless it bears a rating permitted by this section.

SEC. 7. Effect of this order on NPA Reg. 2. To the extent that the provisions of this order, and particularly the provisions of sections 4 and 5 hereof, are in conflict with the provisions of NPA Reg. 2, the provisions of this order shall prevail. Otherwise, the provisions of NPA Reg. 2 shall continue to apply to the construction machinery industry.

SEC. 8. NPA assistance in placing rated orders. Any person who is unable to place a rated order for construction machinery due to the limitations imposed by section 5 of this order should apply to NPA, Ref.: M–43, specifying the producers who refused to accept the order. NPA will arrange to assist him in locating sources of supply.

SEC. 9. Scheduled programs. NPA may from time to time approved scheduled programs calling for the production and delivery of one or more types of construction machinery over specified periods of time. Upon approval of any such program, a supplement or supplements to this order will be issued, describing the program and specifying the manner in which it shall be carried out by persons affected thereby.

SEC. 10. Request for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment or exception claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, by letter in triplicate, and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought, and the justification therefor.

SEC. 11. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall make and preserve, for at least 3 years thereafter, accurate and complete records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use, in sufficient detail to permit the determination, after audit, whether each transaction complies with the provisions of this order. This order does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily used, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals by those persons who, at the time such microfilm or other photographic records are made, maintain such copies of records in the regular and usual course of business.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority, at the usual place of business where maintained.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 12. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: NPA Order M–43.

SEC. 13. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or any other order or regulation of NPA, or who wilfully furnishes false information or conceals any material fact in the course of operation under this order, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This order as amended shall take effect November 5, 1952.

CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENT

This amendment is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In the formulation of this amendment, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

This amendment affects NPA Order M-80 of March 12, 1952, as last amended by Amendment 3 of October 21, 1952, by redesignating the present section 13 as paragraph (a) and adding another paragraph designated (b) to said section. Section 13 as amended will now read as follows:

(c) After the date specified by order of the hearing examiner for the filing of proposed findings of fact, conclusions of law and supporting reasons pursuant to the provisions of § 150.421, the hearing examiner shall make and file an initial decision which shall become the final decision unless an appeal therefrom is perfected in the manner provided in § 150.423.

TITLE 50—WILDLIFE

Chapter I—Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior

Subchapter C—Management of Wildlife Conservation Areas

DEER HUNTING

Basis and purpose. On the basis of observations and reports of field representatives of the Fish and Wildlife Service and of conservation agents of the North Dakota Game and Fish Department, it has been determined that there is a general surplus of deer in many parts of North Dakota and that periodic reductions of the population, in accordance with basic game management practices, are necessary to assure the maintenance of a proper balance between the deer population and available food and cover. The harvest of this surplus will be facilitated by opening certain national wildlife refuges to the public hunting of deer from time to time, when such action is determined to be necessary and desirable by the Commissioner of the North Dakota Game and Fish Department and the Director of the Fish and Wildlife Service. The public hunting of deer will not interfere with the primary purpose for which the affected refuges were established.

Since the following regulations are relaxations of existing regulations applicable to the affected refuges, notice and public procedure thereon are not required (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001, et seq.).

Effective immediately upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, §§ 33.6, 33.75, 33.97, 33.103, and 33.322 are amended to read as hereinafter indicated, and §§ 33.10, 33.80, 33.95, 33.100, 33.109, 33.201, and 33.330 are added:

1. In Subpart—Arrowwood National Wildlife Refuge, North Dakota; Deer Hunting, amend § 33.6 and add § 33.10 to read as follows:

§ 33.10 Deer hunting permitted. Deer may be taken in accordance with the applicable laws of the State of North Dakota on such lands, if any, of the Arrowwood National Wildlife Refuge as may be designated by suitable posting by the refuge officer in charge, subject to the conditions and restrictions of Parts 18 and 21 of this subchapter and to § 33.6.

2. In Subpart—Des Lacs National Wildlife Refuge, North Dakota; Deer Hunting, amend § 33.75 and add § 33.80 to read as follows:

§ 33.75 Routes of travel. Persons entering the refuge for the purpose of fishing or deer hunting shall follow such routes of travel as may be designated by the officer in charge of the refuge.

§ 33.80 Deer hunting permitted. Deer may be taken in accordance with the applicable laws of the State of North Dakota on such lands, if any, of the Des Lacs National Wildlife Refuge as may be designated by suitable posting by the refuge officer in charge, subject to the conditions and restrictions of Parts 18 and 21 of this subchapter and to § 33.75.

3. In Subpart—Long Lake National Wildlife Refuge, North Dakota; Deer Hunting, add § 33.95 and amend § 33.97 to read as follows:

§ 33.95 Deer hunting permitted. Deer may be taken in accordance with the applicable laws of the State of North Dakota on such lands, if any, of the Long Lake National Wildlife Refuge as may be designated by suitable posting by the refuge officer in charge, subject to the conditions and restrictions of § 33.97.

§ 33.97 Entry. Entry on and use of the refuge for any purpose are governed by the regulations in Parts 18 and 21 of this subchapter, and strict compliance therewith is required. All fishermen and deer hunters must comply with all applicable laws and regulations of the State of North Dakota and must have on their person and exhibit at the request of any authorized Federal or State officer whatever license is required by such laws and regulations, which license shall serve as a Federal permit for fishing or deer hunting within the refuge.

4. In Subpart—Lostwood National Wildlife Refuge, North Dakota; Deer Hunting, add § 33.100 to read as follows:

§ 33.100 Deer hunting permitted. Deer hunting is permitted, subject to the conditions and restrictions of Parts 18 and 21 of this subchapter, during the State season and in accordance with all applicable State laws, on such lands, if any, of the Lostwood National Wildlife Refuge as may be designated by suitable posting by the refuge officer in charge, and by such routes of access as may be designated by posting by said refuge officer.

5. In Subpart—Lower Souris National Wildlife Refuge, North Dakota; Deer Hunting, amend § 33.103 and add § 33.109 to read as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 29.23 (m)-1 (g), as amended by Treasury Decision 5458, approved June 15, 1945, is further amended by changing the term "development costs properly charged to expense" appearing in the first sentence to read as follows: "development costs properly charged to expense or allowable as deductions under section 23 (cc)".

PAR. 2. Section 29.23 (m)-2, is amended as follows:

(A) By amending the first sentence of paragraph (a) and the bracketed matter immediately following that sentence to read as follows: "The basis upon which depletion, other than discovery depletion or percentage depletion, is to be allowed in respect of any property is the basis provided for in section 113 (a), adjusted as provided in section 113 (b) for the purpose of determining the gain upon the sale or other disposition of such property, except that with respect to taxable years ending after December 31, 1950, the amount of expenditures treated as deferred expenses under sections 23 (cc) (2) and 23 (ff) (2) shall be disregarded in determining such adjusted basis (see §§ 29.113 (a)-1 to 29.114-1 inclusive, and §§ 29.23 (cc)-1 and 29.23 (ff)-1); and".

(B) By inserting immediately after the word "depreciation" in paragraph (d) the following: ", through deferred expenses,".

(A) By adding a headnote to paragraph (a) so that the headnotes to section and paragraph read: "§ 29.23 (m)-15 Allowable capital additions in case of mines—(a) General."

(B) By deleting the letter (b) which immediately precedes the beginning of the second paragraph; and

(C) By adding immediately following the second paragraph the following new paragraph (b).

(b) Special rules for taxable years ending after December 31, 1950. Sections 23 (cc) and 23 (ff) contain special provisions for treatment of expenditures for certain exploration and development costs (other than for acquisition or improvement of depreciable property) with respect to ores and minerals other than oil or gas. See §§ 29.23 (cc)-1 and 29.23 (ff)-1.

PAR. 4. Section 29.23 (m)-17 is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph (h):

(h) For taxable years ending after December 31, 1950, sections 23 (cc) and 23 (ff) provide special rules for treatment of depreciation allowances with respect to the exploration and development of a mine or other natural deposit other than oil or gas. See §§ 29.23 (cc)-1 and 29.23 (ff)-1.

PAR. 5. There is inserted immediately following § 29.23 (bb)-1 the following:

SEC. 309. EXPENDITURES IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF MINES (REVENUE ACT OF 1951, APPROVED OCTOBER 20, 1951).

(a) Deduction of expenditures. Section 23 (relating to deductions from gross income) is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following new subsection:

(cc) Development of Mines—(1) In general. Except as provided in paragraph (2), all expenditures paid or incurred during the taxable year for the development of a mine or other natural deposit (other than an oil or gas well) if paid or incurred after December 31, 1950, and after the existence of ores or minerals in commercially marketable quantities has been disclosed. This subsection shall not apply to expenditures for the acquisition or improvement of property of a character which is subject to the allowance for depreciation provided in section 23 (l), but allowances for depreciation shall be considered, for the purposes of this subsection, as expenditures.

(2) Election of taxpayer. At the election of the taxpayer, made in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary, expenditures described in paragraph (1) paid or incurred during the taxable year shall be treated as deferred expenses and shall be deductible on a ratable basis as the units of produced ores or minerals benefited by such expenditures are sold. In the case of such expenditures paid or incurred during the development stage of the mine or deposit, the election shall apply only with respect to the excess of such expenditures during the taxable year over the net receipts during the taxable year from the ores or minerals produced from such mine or deposit. The election under this paragraph, if made, must be for the total amount of such expenditures, or the total amount of such excess, as the case may be, with respect to the mine or deposit, and shall be binding for such taxable year.

(3) Adjusted basis of mine or deposit. The amount of expenditures which are treated under paragraph (2) as deferred expenses shall be taken into account in computing the adjusted basis of the mine or deposit, except that such amount and the adjustments to basis provided in section 113 (b) (1) (J), shall be disregarded in determining the adjusted basis of the property for the purpose of computing a deduction for depletion under section 114.

(d) Effective date. The amendments made by this section shall be applicable to taxable years ending after December 31, 1950.

§ 29.23 (cc)–1 Mine development expenditures—(a) Allowance of deduction. (1) Effective only with respect to taxable years ending after December 31, 1950, section 23 (cc) (1) provides for a deduction from gross income of all expenditures for the development of a mine or other natural deposit (other than an oil or gas well) paid or incurred by the taxpayer after December 31, 1950, and after the existence of ores or minerals in commercially marketable quantities has been disclosed subject to this section. The deduction is not allowable with respect to expenditures for the acquisition or improvement of property of a character subject to allowance for depreciation under section 23 (l). However, allowances for depreciation shall be considered for the purposes of this section as expenditures for development to the extent allocable to development. Expenditures are deductible under section 23 (cc) (1) (notwithstanding the provisions of § 29.23 (m)–15) whether paid or incurred by the taxpayer while the mine is in the development or while in the production stage.

(2) For the purposes of this section, expenditures for development of a mine or other natural deposit do not include expenditures paid or incurred for the purpose of ascertaining the existence, location, extent, or quality of any deposit of ore or other mineral. For treatment of certain exploration expenditures see section 23 (ff) and § 29.23 (ff)–1. In general, the provisions of this section are applicable only to costs paid or incurred by the taxpayer in respect of development undertaken (directly or through a contract) by the taxpayer and do not apply, for example, to such costs of development undertaken by other persons as may be reflected in the acquisition cost paid or incurred by the taxpayer for wholly or partially developed property.

(3) As to the deductibility of expenditures attributable to a grant or loan made to a taxpayer by the United States for the encouragement of the exploration, development, or mining of critical and strategic minerals, see section 22 (b) (15).

(b) Election to defer. (1) A taxpayer entitled to the deduction under section 23 (cc) (1) may, in lieu of taking such deduction in the year when the expenditures for development were paid or incurred, elect under section 23 (cc) (2) to treat such expenditures as deferred expenses to be deducted ratably as the units of the produced ore or minerals benefited by the expenditures are sold. In the case of such expenditures paid or incurred while the mine or deposit is in the development stage, the election is applicable only in respect of the excess of such expenditures paid or incurred during the taxable year over the net receipts during the taxable year from the ore or minerals produced from the mine or deposit. The amount of such expenditures not in excess of net receipts from the ore or mineral for the taxable year while the mine or deposit is in the development stage shall be deductible in full. (See § 29.23 (m)–15 (a) for description as to when a mine will be considered to have passed from a development to a production stage.)

(2) The amount of the deduction allowable during the taxable year is an amount A, which bears the same ratio to B (the total development expenditures deferred reduced by the amount of such expenditures deducted in prior taxable years) as C (the number of units of the ore or mineral benefited by such expenditures sold during the taxable year) bears to D (the number of units of ore or mineral benefited by such expenditures remaining as of the taxable year). For the purposes of this proportion, the "number of units of ore or mineral benefited by such expenditures remaining as of the taxable year" is the number of units of ore or mineral benefited by the deferred development expenditures remaining at the end of the year to be recovered from the property (including units benefited by such expenditures recovered but not sold) plus the number of units benefited by such expenditures sold within the taxable year. The principles outlined in § 29.23 (m)–9 are applicable in estimating the number of units remaining as of the taxable year and the number of units sold during the taxable year. The estimate is subject to revision in accordance with § 29.23 (m)–9 in the event it is ascertained as the result of operations or development that the remaining units are materially greater or less than the number of units remaining from a prior estimate.

(3) If the taxpayer has paid or incurred expenditures of the character described in this paragraph, has made the election to defer such expenditures, and thereafter leases the developed property retaining a royalty interest therein, he shall be allowed the ratable deduction indicated in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(4) The election referred to in this paragraph shall be made for each mine or deposit by a statement attached to the taxpayer's return for the taxable year to which such election is applicable. If such an election is made by the taxpayer, such election must be for the total amount of all such expenditures during the taxable year while the mine is in the producing stage. If the mine or deposit is in the development stage, such election must be for all of the excess of such expenditures over the net receipts during the taxable year from the ore or mineral produced. The election shall be binding for the taxable year in respect to which the election was made.

PAR. 6. There is inserted immediately following section 23 (ee) which follows § 29.23 (bb)–1, the following:

SEC. 342. DEDUCTION OF EXPENDITURES FOR MINE EXPLORATION [REVENUE ACT OF 1951, APPROVED OCTOBER 20, 1951].

(a) Deduction of mine exploration expenditures. Section 23 (relating to deductions from gross income) is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following new subsection:

(ff) Deduction of exploration expenditures—(1) In general. In the case of expenditures paid or incurred during the taxable year for the purpose of ascertaining the existence, location, extent, or quality of any deposit of ore or other mineral, and paid or incurred prior to the beginning of the development stage of the mine or deposit, so much of such expenditures as does not exceed $75,000. This subsection shall apply only with respect to the amount of such expenditures which, but for this subsection, would not be allowable as a deduction for the taxable year. This subsection shall not apply to expenditures for the acquisition or improvement of property of a character which is subject to the allowance for depreciation provided in section 23 (l), but allowances for depreciation shall be considered, for the purposes of this subsection, as expenditures paid or incurred. In no case shall this subsection apply with respect to amounts paid or incurred for the purpose of ascertaining the existence, location, extent, or quality of any deposit of oil or gas.

(2) Election of taxpayer. If the taxpayer elects, in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary, to treat as deferred expenses any portion of the amount deductible for the taxable year under paragraph (1), such portion shall not be deductible under paragraph (1) but shall be deductible on a ratable basis as the units of produced ores or minerals discovered or explored by reason of such expenditures are sold. An election made under this paragraph for any taxable year shall be binding for such year.

(3) Limitation. This subsection shall not apply to any amounts paid or incurred in any taxable year if in any four preceding years the taxpayer, or any individual or corporation who has transferred to the taxpayer any mineral property under circumstances which make the provisions of paragraph (7), (8), (11), (13), (15), (17), (20), or (22) of section 113 (a) applicable to such transfer, has either (A) been allowed a deduction under paragraph (1) of this subsection or (B) made the election provided under paragraph (2) of this subsection.

(4) Adjusted basis of mine or deposit. The amount of expenditures which are treated under paragraph (2) as deferred expenses shall be taken into account in computing the adjusted basis of the mine or deposit, but such amounts, and the adjustments to basis provided in section 113 (b) (1) (M) shall be disregarded in determining the adjusted basis of the property for the purpose of computing a deduction for depletion under section 114.

(c) Effective date. The amendments made by this section shall be applicable to taxable years ending after December 31, 1950.

§ 29.23 (ff)–1 Discovery or exploration expenditures—(a) Allowance of deduction. (1) Subject to the limitation prescribed in paragraph (c) of this section, section 23 (ff)–1 provides with respect to taxable years ending after December 31, 1950, for a deduction from gross income of expenditures for ascertaining the existence, location, extent, or quality of any deposit of ore or other mineral (other than oil or gas) paid or incurred by the taxpayer after December 31, 1950, but prior to the beginning of the development stage. The expenditures thus described include only those which, except for this section, would not qualify as a deduction for the taxable year and do not include expenditures for the acquisition or improvement of property of a character which is subject to the allowance for depreciation provided for in section 23 (l). However, allowances for depreciation shall be considered for the purposes of this section as expenditures paid or incurred. For the purposes of this section, such expenditures do not include expenditures paid or incurred after the existence of ores or minerals in commercially marketable quantities has been disclosed. For treatment of development expenditures see section 23 (cc) and § 29.23 (cc)–1. In general, the provisions of this section are applicable only to costs paid or incurred by the taxpayer in respect of exploration or discovery undertaken (directly or through contract) by the taxpayer and do not apply, for example, to such costs of exploration or discovery undertaken by other persons as may be reflected in the acquisition cost paid or incurred by the taxpayer for the property.

(2) As to the deductibility of expenditures attributable to a grant or loan made to a taxpayer by the United States for the encouragement of the exploration, development or mining of critical and strategic minerals, see section 22 (b) (15).

(b) Election to defer. (1) A taxpayer entitled to the deduction under section 23 (ff) (1) may, in lieu of taking such deduction to which he is entitled in the year when the expenditures for discovery or exploration were paid or incurred, elect under section 23 (ff) (2) to treat any portion of such deductible expenditures as deferred expenses to be deducted ratably as the units of produced ores or minerals discovered or explored by reason of such expenditures are sold.

(2) The amount of the deduction allowable during the taxable year is an amount A, which bears the same ratio to B (the total discovery or exploration expenditures deferred reduced by the amount of such expenditures deducted in prior taxable years) as C (the number of units of the produced ore or mineral sold during the taxable year) bears to D (the number of units of ore or mineral remaining as of the taxable year). For the purposes of this proportion, the "number of units of ore or mineral remaining as of the taxable year" is the number of units of ore or mineral remaining at the end of the year to be recovered from the property (including units recovered but not sold) plus the number of units sold within the taxable year. The principles outlined in § 29.23 (m)–9 are applicable in estimating the number of units remaining as of the taxable year and the number of units sold during the year. The estimate is subject to revision in accordance with that section in the event it is ascertained as the result of further discovery, development or operations that the remaining units are materially greater or less than the units remaining from a prior estimate.

(3) If the taxpayer has paid or incurred expenditures of the character described in this section, has made the election to defer such expenditures and thereafter leases the property retaining a royalty interest therein, he shall be allowed the ratable deduction in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(4) The election referred to in this paragraph shall be made by a statement attached to the taxpayer's return for the taxable year to which such election is applicable. In such statement, the taxpayer shall disclose the amount to be deferred, and the name, location, extent and nature of the mineral deposit to which the election relates. The election shall be binding for the taxable year in respect to which the election was made.

(c) Limitation. The deduction described in paragraph (a) of this section is allowable only for the amount of all such expenditures paid or incurred by the taxpayer in the taxable year as does not exceed $75,000. Amounts otherwise allowable as deductions without reference to this section (except allowances for depreciation) are not to be taken into account in determining this limitation. The limitation applies to all such described expenditures of the taxpayer and is not a total amount allowable with respect to each mine or deposit. No deduction under section 23 (ff) (1) or election under section 23 (ff) (2) may be taken or exercised if in any four preceding years (not necessarily consecutive years) the taxpayer, or any individual or corporation who has transferred to the taxpayer any mineral or ore property under circumstances which make the provisions of paragraph (7), (8), (11), (13), (15), (17), (20), or (22) of section 113 (a) applicable to such transfer, has been allowed a deduction or elected to treat such expenditures as deferred expenses under section 23 (ff) (1) or section 23 (ff) (2), respectively. Thus, under such circumstances, no deduction under section 23 (ff) (1) or election under section 23 (ff) (2) may be taken or exercised after the combined deductions and elections so taken or exercised by one or more transferors and the taxpayer equal four.

Example (1). Assume that a taxpayer who has never claimed the benefits of section 23 (ff) received in 1956 a mineral deposit from X corporation upon a distribution in complete liquidation of the latter under conditions which would make the provisions of section 113 (a) (15) applicable in determining the basis of the property in the hands of the taxpayer, and that during the year 1955 X corporation expended $60,000 for exploration expenditures which X corporation elected to treat as deferred expenses. On the basis of these facts the taxpayer may deduct or defer for any three (not necessarily consecutive) subsequent taxable years similar expenditures made in those years not to exceed $75,000 in any year. Where the amount expended in any taxable year is less than $75,000 the difference, if any, may not be carried over or back to other taxable years.

Example (2). Assume the same facts stated in example (1) except that, prior to acquisition by the taxpayer of the deposit from corporation X in 1956, corporation X had acquired the deposit in 1954 in a similar distribution from Y corporation which, in the years 1952 and 1953, deducted exploration costs paid in respect of an entirely different deposit in the amounts of $30,000 and $50,000 respectively. Under these circumstances, the taxpayer may deduct or defer exploration expenditures paid or incurred for only one taxable year in an amount not in excess of $75,000.

PAR. 7. There is inserted immediately preceding § 29.24–1 the following:

SEC. 309. EXPENDITURES IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF MINES (REVENUE ACT OF 1951, APPROVED OCTOBER 20, 1951).

• • • • •

(c) Technical amendment. Section 24 (a) (2) (relating to items not deductible) is hereby amended by adding after the word "estate" the following: ", except expenditures for the development of mines or deposits deductible under section 23 (cc)".

(d) Effective date. The amendments made by this section shall be applicable to taxable years ending after December 31, 1950.

PAR. 8. Section 29.24–2, as amended by Treasury Decision 5513, approved May 16, 1946, is further amended as follows:

(A) By inserting immediately after the section heading the following headnote designating the first paragraph as (a): "(a) Expenditures except non-depreciable mine development expenditures."

(B) By adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph (b):

(b) Non-depreciable expenditures for mine development. Section 23 (cc) provides that certain expenditures (not subject to depreciation allowance under section 23 (l)) paid or incurred by the taxpayer for mine development after December 31, 1950, may be deducted or treated as deferred expenses. For the rules governing treatment of such expenditures see section 23 (cc) and § 29.23 (cc)–1.

PAR. 9. There are inserted immediately preceding § 29.113 (b) (1)–1 the following:

SEC. 309. EXPENDITURES IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF MINES (REVENUE ACT OF 1951, APPROVED OCTOBER 20, 1951).

• • • • •

(b) Adjusted basis for determining gain or loss upon sale or exchange. Section 113 (b) (1) (relating to adjusted basis of property) is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following subparagraph:

(J) For amounts allowed as deductions as deferred expenses under section 23 (cc) (2) (relating to certain expenditures in the development of mines) and resulting in a reduction of the taxpayer's taxes under this chapter, but not less than the amounts allowable under such section for the taxable year and prior years.

• • • • •

(d) Effective date. The amendments made by this section shall be applicable to taxable years ending after December 31, 1950.

SEC. 342. DEDUCTION OF EXPENDITURES FOR MINE EXPLORATION (REVENUE ACT OF 1951, APPROVED OCTOBER 20, 1951).

• • • • •

(b) Adjusted basis for determining gain or loss upon sale or exchange. Section 113 (b) (1) (relating to adjusted basis of property) is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

(M) for amounts allowed as deductions as deferred expenses under section 23 (ff) (2) (relating to certain exploration expenditures) and resulting in a reduction of the taxpayer's taxes under this chapter, but not less than the amounts allowable under such section for the taxable year and prior years.

(c) Effective date. The amendments made by this section shall be applicable to taxable years ending after December 31, 1950.

PAR. 10. Section 29.113 (b) (1)–1, as amended by Treasury Decision 5873, approved December 7, 1951, is further amended by adding at the end thereof the following new paragraph (k):

(k) With respect to taxable years ending after December 31, 1950, the basis shall also be adjusted to take into account the amount of expenditures for development and exploration of mines or mineral deposits treated as deferred expenses under sections 23 (cc) (2) and 23 (ff) (2). The basis so adjusted shall be reduced by the amount of such expenditures allowed as deductions under such sections which results in a reduction of the taxpayer's liability for income tax but not less than the amounts allowable under such sections for the taxable year and prior years. For example, if a taxpayer purchases unexplored and undeveloped mining property for $1,000,000 and at the close of the development stage has incurred exploration and development costs of $9,000,000 treated as deferred expenses, the basis of such property at such time for computing gain or loss will be $10,000,000. Assuming that the taxpayer in this example has operated the mine for several years and has deducted allowable percentage depletion in the amount of $2,000,000 and has deducted allowable deferred exploration and development expenditures of $2,000,000, the basis of the property in the taxpayer's hands for purposes of determining gain or loss if sold will be $6,000,000.

EXCESS PROFITS TAXES; TAXABLE YEARS ENDING AFTER JUNE 30, 1950

BASE PERIOD CATASTROPHE

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing in duplicate to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington 25, D. C., within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in section 62 of the Internal Revenue Code (53 Stat. 32; 26 U. S. C. 62).

[SEAL] JOHN B. DUNLAP,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

In order to conform Regulations 130 (26 CFR Part 40) to section 517 of the Revenue Act of 1951, approved October 20, 1951, such regulations are amended by inserting immediately after § 40.458–8 the following:

SEC. 517. BASE PERIOD CATASTROPHE (REVENUE ACT OF 1951, APPROVED OCTOBER 20, 1951).

Section 459, as added by section 516 of this Act, is hereby amended by adding after subsection (a) thereof the following new subsection:

(b) Base period catastrophe—(1) Eligibility requirements. A taxpayer shall be entitled to the benefits of this subsection only if it was engaged throughout its base period primarily in manufacturing and if—

(A) The taxpayer suffered during the last thirty-six months of its base period a catastrophe by fire, storm, explosion, or other casualty which destroyed or rendered inoperative a production facility constituting a complete plant or plants having in the hands of the taxpayer immediately prior to the catastrophe an adjusted basis equal to 15 per centum or more of the adjusted basis of all the taxpayer's production facilities at such time;

(B) As a result of such catastrophe the taxpayer's normal production or operation was substantially interrupted for a period of more than twelve consecutive months; and

(C) The taxpayer, prior to the end of its base period, replaced such production facility with a production facility which at the end of its base period had in its hands an adjusted basis not less than the adjusted basis immediately prior to the catastrophe of the production facility destroyed or rendered inoperative.

(2) Computation. The taxpayer's base period net income determined under this subsection shall be the amount computed under subparagraph (A) or the amount computed under subparagraph (B), whichever results in the lesser tax under this subchapter for the taxable year for which the tax is being computed:

(A) The amount computed under section 435 (d) by substituting for the excess profits net income for each month in the taxable year in which the catastrophe described in paragraph (1) occurred an amount equal to the aggregate, divided by the number of months in the base period preceding such taxable year, of the excess profits net income for each month (computed under section 435 (d) (1)) in the base period preceding such taxable year. The average base period net income computed under this subparagraph shall, for the purpose of section 435 (a) (1) (B), be considered an average base period net income determined under section 435 (d).

(B) The amount computed under section 435 (e) (2) (G) (i) and (ii).

SEC. 523. EFFECTIVE DATE OF TITLE V (REVENUE ACT OF 1951, APPROVED OCTOBER 20, 1951).

Except as otherwise provided in section 506 (d), the amendments made by this title (including sec. 517) shall be applicable only with respect to taxable years ending after June 30, 1950.

§ 40.459 (b)–1 Base period catastrophe. (a) A corporation which was engaged throughout its base period primarily in manufacturing, which suffered a catastrophe by fire, storm, explosion, or other casualty during the last 36 months of its base period, and which satisfies all the requirements provided in subparagraphs (A), (B), and (C) of section 459 (b) (1) may compute its average base period net income, for the purpose of computing its excess profits tax for any taxable year ending after June 30, 1950, under the provisions of section 459 (b) (2) and of paragraph (b) of this section instead of under any other applicable provisions of the Code and regulations.

(b) Computation of average base period net income under section 459 (b). If a taxpayer may compute its average base period net income under section 459 (b), its average base period net income as computed under section 459 (b) (2) shall be whichever of the following two amounts results in the lesser excess profits tax for the taxable year for which such tax is being computed:

(1) The amount computed under section 435 (d) and § 40.435–1 (d) determined by substituting for the excess profits net income for each month in the taxable year in which the catastrophe described in section 459 (b) (1) occurred an amount equal to the aggregate of the excess profits net income for each month (computed under section 435 (d) (1) and § 40.435–1 (d) (1)) in the base period preceding such taxable year divided by the number of months in the base period preceding such taxable year.

(2) The amount computed under section 435 (e) (2) (G) (i) and (ii) and under §§ 40.435–5 (a) (7) (i) and (ii) and 40.435–5 (b).

An average base period net income computed under section 459 (b) (2) (A) and under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be considered, for the purpose of section 435 (a) (1) (B), to be an average base period net income determined under section 435 (d). If the average base period net income is computed under section 459 (b) (2) (A) and under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph for the purpose of determining the excess profits tax for any taxable year, the base period capital addition, provided in section 435 (f), will be allowed in computing the excess profits tax for such taxable year. If, in determining the excess profits tax for any taxable year, the average base period net income is computed under section 459 (b) (2) (B) and under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, however, the base period capital addition will not be allowed in computing the excess profits tax for such taxable year since such average base period net income is not considered to be an average base period net income computed under either section 435 (d) or under section 442. The amount computed under section 459 (b) (2) (A) and subparagraph (1) of this paragraph or the amount computed under section 459 (b) (2) (B) and subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, depending on which results in the lesser excess profits tax for the taxable year, is to be the average base period net income computed under section 459 (b).

Unless otherwise specifically provided in this chapter or by the Commissioner in any case or class of cases, bonds prepared on forms approved by the Commissioner, all agreements of extension of liability relating thereto, and all powers of attorney for delivery of collateral security deposited in connection therewith shall be retained at the office of the Service where approved. If the obligors are adversely affected by the decision of the district director, they shall be notified by the district director in writing on Form I–323 of his decision and of their right to appeal to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, in accordance with Part 7 of this chapter, by filing a Notice of Appeal, Form I–290B, at the office of the district director within 10 days from the receipt of notification of such decision. SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 6.11 Notice of appeal—(a) Written decision. Whenever an alien or other party affected by a written decision is entitled under this chapter to appeal to the Board, he shall be given written notice that he may appeal from such decision; that such appeal may be taken by filing with the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the case two copies of Notice of Appeal, Form I-290A; and that such appeal must be taken within the number of days provided for in the particular section of this chapter relating to such appeal. The Forms I-290A shall be enclosed with the notice. The party taking the appeal may file with the Notice of Appeal a brief in support of his appeal. The party affected may waive the submission of such brief. The district director, the officer in charge, or the Board, in their discretion, for good cause shown, may extend the time within which the brief may be submitted. One copy of the Notice of Appeal shall be retained in the office where the proceedings are pending and one copy placed in the file relating to the case. The certification of a case as provided in this part shall not relieve the party affected from compliance with the provisions of this section in the event such party is entitled, and desires, to appeal from an initial decision, nor shall it serve to extend the time specified in the applicable parts of this chapter for the taking of an appeal. The departure from the United States of a person who is the subject of deportation proceedings, prior to the taking of an appeal from a decision in his case, shall constitute a waiver by such person of the right to appeal.

(b) Oral decision. Whenever an alien or other party affected by an oral decision is entitled under this chapter to appeal to the Board, such appeal shall be taken as provided in the particular section of this chapter relating to such appeal.

§ 6.12 Withdrawal of appeal. In any case in which an appeal has been taken, the party taking the appeal may file a written withdrawal of such appeal with the officer with whom the notice of appeal was filed. If the record in the case has not been forwarded to the Board on appeal in accordance with § 6.13 the decision made in the case shall be final to the same extent as though no appeal had been taken. If the record has been forwarded on appeal, the withdrawal of the appeal shall be forwarded to the Board and, if no decision in the case has been made on the appeal, the record shall be returned to the officer in charge and the initial decision shall be final to the same extent as though no appeal had been taken. If a decision on the appeal was made by the Board in the case, further action shall be taken in accordance therewith. Departure from the United States of a person who is the subject of deportation proceedings subsequent to the taking of an appeal but prior to a decision thereon shall constitute a withdrawal of the appeal and the initial decision in the case shall be final to the same extent as though no appeal had been taken.

§ 6.13 Forwarding of record on appeal. If an appeal is taken from a decision, either written or oral, as provided in this chapter, the entire record of the proceeding shall be forwarded to the Board by the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the case:

(a) Upon receipt of the Notice of Appeal and brief in support thereof if the decision appealed from was in writing; or

(b) Upon receipt of the brief in support of an appeal taken orally if the decision appealed from was oral; or

(c) Upon expiration of the time allowed for the submission of the brief; or

(d) Upon receipt of a written waiver of the right to submit a brief.

§ 6.14 Stay of execution of decision. The decision in any proceeding under this chapter from which an appeal to the Board may be taken shall not be executed during the time allowed for the filing of an appeal unless a waiver of the right to appeal is filed, nor shall such decision be executed while an appeal is pending or while a case is before the Board by way of certification.

§ 6.15 Notice of certification. Whenever in accordance with the provisions of § 6.1 (c) a case is required to be certified to the Board, the alien or other party affected shall be given notice of certification. A case shall not be certified until an initial decision has been made and no appeal has been taken. If it is known at the time of making the initial decision that the case will be certified, the notice of certification shall be included in such decision and no further notice of certification shall be required. If it is not known until after the initial decision was made that the case will be certified, the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the case shall cause a Notice of Certification (Form I–290C) to be served upon the party affected. In either case the notice shall inform the party affected that the case is required to be certified to the Board and of the right to make representation before the Board, including oral argument and submission of brief, if desired. The brief shall be submitted to such district director or officer in charge for transmittal to the Board within 10 days from receipt of the notice of certification, unless for good cause shown the district director, officer in charge or the Board extends the time within which the brief may be submitted. The party affected may waive the submission of such brief. The case shall be certified and forwarded to the Board by the district director or officer in charge upon receipt of the brief, or the expiration of the time within which the brief may be submitted, or upon receipt of a written waiver of the right to submit a brief.

§ 6.16 Fees. A notice of appeal or a motion filed under this part by any person other than an officer of the Service shall be accompanied by the fee specified in Part 2 of this chapter which fee shall be remitted in accordance with the provisions of Part 2. The Board may, in its discretion, authorize the prosecution of any such appeal or motion without prepayment of fees by an alien or other party affected who makes affidavit that he is unable to pay such fees. Such affidavit shall state the nature of the motion or appeal, and the affiant's belief that he is entitled to redress. An appeal may not be taken in forma pauperis, nor may a motion be filed in forma pauperis if the officer of the Service from whose decision the appeal is taken or with respect to whose decision the motion is addressed certifies in writing that the appeal or motion is not taken or made in good faith.

§ 6.21 Motion to reopen or motion to reconsider—(a) Form. Motions to reopen and motions to reconsider shall be submitted in triplicate. A request for oral argument if desired shall be incorporated in the motion. The Board in its discretion may grant or deny oral argument. Motions to reopen shall state the new facts to be proved at the reopened hearing and shall be supported by affidavits or other evidentiary material. Motions to reconsider shall state the reasons for reconsideration and shall be supported by such precedent decisions as are pertinent. The filing of a motion to reopen or a motion to reconsider shall not serve to stay the execution of any decision made in the case. Execution of such decision shall proceed unless a stay of execution is specifically granted by the Board, the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the case.

(b) Distribution of motion papers when alien is moving party. In any case in which a motion to reopen or a motion to reconsider is made by the alien or other party affected, the three copies of the motion papers shall be submitted to the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the place where the proceedings were conducted, who shall retain one copy, forward one copy to the officer of the Service who made the initial decision in the case, and submit the third copy with the case to the Board.

(c) Distribution of motion papers when Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, is the moving party. (1) Whenever a motion to reopen or a motion to reconsider is made by the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, two copies of the motion shall be forwarded to the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the place where the proceedings were conducted. The district director shall cause one copy to be served on the alien or other party affected. Such alien or party shall have a period of 10 days from the date of the service upon him of the motion within which to submit in triplicate to the district director or officer in charge a brief in opposition to the motion. The submission of such brief may be waived. The district director, officer in charge, or the Board, in their discretion, for good cause shown may extend the time within which such brief may be submitted. Such district director or officer in charge shall transmit to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, proof of service of the motion and two copies of any brief submitted in opposition to such motion and the record of the proceeding:

(i) Upon receipt of the brief in opposition to the motion; or

(ii) Upon expiration of the time allowed for the submission of such brief; or

(iii) Upon receipt of a written waiver of the right to submit such brief.

(2) Upon receipt of the foregoing, the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, shall transmit to, and file with, the Board the motion, proof of service of the motion, brief, and the record in the case.

(d) Ruling on motion. Rulings upon motions to reopen or motions to reconsider shall be by written order. If the order directs a reopening, the record shall be returned to the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the place where the reopened proceedings are to be conducted. If the motion to reconsider is granted, the decision upon such reconsideration shall affirm, modify, or reverse the original decision made in the case.

The district director, officer in charge or the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, in his discretion, if good cause shown, may extend the time within which the brief may be submitted. One copy of the Notice of Appeal shall be retained in the office where the proceedings are pending and two copies shall be placed in the file relating to the case. The certification of a case as provided in this part shall not relieve the party affected from compliance with the provisions of this section in the event such party is entitled, and desires, to appeal from an initial decision, nor shall it serve to extend the time specified in the applicable parts of this chapter for the taking of an appeal.

§ 7.12 Withdrawal of appeal. In any case in which an appeal has been taken, the party taking the appeal may file a written withdrawal of such appeal with the officer with whom the Notice of Appeal was filed. If the record in the case has not been forwarded to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, on appeal in accordance with § 7.13, the decision made in the case shall be final to the same extent as though no appeal had been taken. If the record in the case has been forwarded on appeal, the withdrawal of the appeal shall be forwarded to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, and if no decision in the case has been made on the appeal, the record shall be returned to the office in which the proceedings are pending and the decision in the case shall be final to the same extent as though no appeal had been taken. If a decision on the appeal was made in the case, further action shall be taken in accordance therewith.

§ 7.13 Forwarding of record on appeal. If an appeal is taken from a decision, either written or oral, as provided in this chapter, the entire record of the proceedings shall be forwarded by the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the case to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division:

(a) Upon receipt of the Notice of Appeal and brief in support thereof if the decision appealed from was in writing; or

(b) Upon receipt of the brief in support of an appeal taken orally if the decision appealed from was oral; or

(c) Upon expiration of the time allowed for the submission of the brief; or

(d) Upon receipt of a written waiver of the right to submit a brief.

§ 7.14 Stay of execution of decision. The decision of any proceeding under this chapter from which an appeal to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, may be taken shall not be executed during the time allowed for the filing of an appeal unless a waiver of the right to appeal is filed, nor shall such decision be executed while an appeal is pending or while a case is before the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, by way of certification.

§ 7.15 Notice of certification. When the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, in accordance with the provisions of § 7.1 (b) directs that a case (other than one falling within the classes enumerated in § 6.1 (b) of this chapter) be certified to him for review, the alien or other party affected shall be given notice of such certification. Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, a case shall not be certified until an initial decision has been made and no appeal has been taken. If it is known at the time of making the initial decision that the case will be certified, the notice of certification shall be included in such decision and no further notice of certification shall be required. If it is not known until after the initial decision was made that the case will be certified, the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the case shall cause a notice of certification (Form I–290D) to be served upon the party affected. In either case the notice shall inform the party affected that the case is required to be certified to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, and of the right to submit a brief, if desired, for consideration by the Assistant Commissioner. The brief shall be submitted to such district director or officer in charge for transmittal to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, within ten days from receipt of the notice of certification, unless, for good cause shown, the district director, officer in charge, or the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, extends the time within which the brief may be submitted. The party affected may waive the submission of such brief. The record of the case shall be certified and forwarded to the Assistant Commisisoner, Inspections and Examinations Division, by the district director or the officer in charge upon receipt of the brief, or the expiration of the time within which the brief may be submitted, or upon receipt of a written waiver of the right to submit a brief.

§ 7.16 Fees. A notice of appeal filed under this part shall be accompanied by a fee of $10 as prescribed by, and remitted in accordance with, the provisions of Part 2 of this chapter. The Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, in his discretion, may authorize the prosecution of any such appeal without prepayment of fees by an alien or other party affected who makes affidavit that he is unable to pay such fees. Such affidavit shall state the nature of the appeal and the affiant's belief that he is entitled to redress. An appeal may not be taken in forma pauperis if the officer from whose decision the appeal is taken certifies in writing that the appeal is not taken in good faith.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS [RESERVED]

Subchapter B—Immigration Regulations

NOTE: Explanation of numbering system utilized in this subchapter. Each part of this subchapter has been given the same number as the section of the Immigration and Nationality Act to which it relates. For example, Part 242 concerns only section 242 of the Immigration and Nationality Act. Each part of this subchapter is divided into two subparts: Subpart A—Substantive Provisions and Subpart B—Procedural and Other Nonsubstantive Provisions. Each section of Subpart A bears a number consisting of the part number followed by a decimal point and by a single digit beginning with "1" and continuing to "9", using as many as required. For example, § 242.1 is the first substantive section of Part 242 and § 242.9 is the ninth substantive section of Part 242, assuming there existed nine substantive sections in Part 242. When a substantive section is required to be implemented by one or more procedural sections, the relating procedural section or sections bear the same number as the substantive section to which it relates plus one additional digit to the right of the decimal point beginning with "1" for the first procedural section and continuing to "9", if that many are required. For example, § 242.11 is the first procedural section implementing the first substantive section of Part 242 and § 242.87 is the seventh procedural section implementing the eighth substantive section of Part 242. If a substantive section does not require procedural sections, no procedural section numbers will appear for that particular substantive section.

If it appears to the district director or the officer in charge receiving the petition that the beneficiary would be inadmissible to the United States even if the petition were approved, the petitioner shall be advised of this possibility and given an opportunity to withdraw his petition should he so desire. If the petition is withdrawn, no further action thereon shall be taken and the fee shall be retained as though final action had been taken on the petition. If the petitioner does not withdraw the petition, further action thereon shall be taken in accordance with the provisions of this part. If the investigation is made by an office of the Service other than a district office, the petition and all accompanying papers shall, upon completion of such investigation, be forwarded to the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the office that made the investigation with a report and transcript of the investigation and the recommendation of the officer in charge.

(b) Action by district director. The determination as to whether a petition filed under this part shall be approved shall be limited to a consideration as to whether the eligibility of the beneficiary to the classification requested has been established. If the district director, receiving a petition either directly from the petitioner or from the officer in charge, is satisfied after consultation with appropriate agencies of the government, if any, that the beneficiary is eligible for the classification requested, he shall approve the petition and note his decision thereon accordingly. If the district director is not satisfied that the petition should be approved, he shall disapprove the petition and note his decision thereon accordingly. The presentation of such card shall not otherwise relieve the holder from establishing his admissibility to the United States under the applicable provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

(c) Form 186; who may apply. A nonresident alien's border crossing identification card may be issued to any alien who, upon application therefor, submits satisfactory evidence that he (1) is a Canadian citizen or a British subject, domiciled or residing in Canada, or a native-born citizen of Mexico domiciled or residing therein, (2) presents a valid unexpired passport required of nonimmigrants, unless a passport is not required to be presented under the provisions of this part, (3) desires temporary admission into the continental United States for a period or periods of not more than 72 hours each, and (4) is admissible to the United States: Provided, however, That no such card shall be issued unless the applicant is known or shown to be a person who has complied fully with all provisions applicable to him of laws, regulations, Executive orders, or other governmental requirements regulating the entry of aliens to the United States; and Provided further, That such card may be issued to an applicant who desires temporary admission into the United States for more than 72 hours if such applicant desires such card to facilitate admission, is (1) a citizen of and has his residence in, Canada, and is entitled under § 212.3 (b) to enter the United States for less than six months without presenting a visa, border crossing identification card, or passport, or (2) a British subject having his residence in Canada, and is entitled under § 212.3 (c) to enter the United States for less than 30 days without presenting a visa, border crossing identification card or passport.

(d) Application. Application for a nonresident alien's border crossing identification card shall be made on Form I–190 at any office of the Service located at any land or water port of entry or international airport in the continental United States or Alaska or at any office of the Service located in Canada. The applicant shall appear in person, shall execute his application under oath before an immigration officer, and shall be fingerprinted. The applicant shall furnish a photograph prepared in accordance with the provisions of Part 10 of this chapter. If, because of unusual circumstances, it would be a hardship for the applicant to obtain a photograph, the officer considering the application, in his discretion, may waive the furnishing of the photograph.

(e) Disposition of application. If the applicant is found to have the qualifications specified in paragraph (c) of this section, the identification card shall be issued to him by the examining immigration officer. Entries on the card shall be made by typewriter, if practicable, or in ink. The applicant shall sign his full name to the card in ink, unless unable to sign his name. The applicant's photograph shall be fastened on the card unless the furnishing of the photograph is waived, in which case his right index finger print shall be placed on the card in lieu of his photograph. The card shall be valid for an initial period of two years, unless in the discretion of the issuing officer a shorter period of validity is desired because of special circumstances. The period of validity shall be noted on the card and on the application. The issuing officer in his discretion or upon direction of his superior officer may issue the card subject to such conditions as the circumstances of the case indicate to be proper and such conditions shall be noted on the card and on the application. The identification card shall be delivered to the applicant on his personal appearance in the office where the application is filed, except that where justified by unusual circumstances, the card may be delivered to him by mail prior to his application for admission to the United States. If the examining immigration officer, in his discretion, determines that a nonresident alien border crossing card should not be issued, he shall deny the application. No appeal shall lie from a denial of the application but such denial shall be without prejudice to the alien's applying for admission to the United States under applicable provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

(f) Extension. The rightful holder of a nonresident alien's border crossing identification card issued for a fixed period, who meets the eligibility requirements of paragraph (c) of this section, may apply to have such card extended during the period of the validity of such card, or, if the period of validity has expired, may apply to have such card revalidated. In no event shall such card be extended or revalidated beyond a date six years from the date of its original issuance.

(g) Surrender. Any nonresident alien's border crossing identification card issued prior to November 14, 1941, which comes to the attention of an officer of the Service shall be surrendered by the holder and returned to the original issuing office. Any nonresident alien's border crossing identification card which is presented by a person who does not have the qualifications set forth in paragraph (c) of this section, or who is making improper use of the card, or is not the rightful holder thereof, shall be surrendered by the holder and returned to the original issuing office, with a report of the reasons therefor: Provided, however, That no card shall be required to be surrendered if found in the possession of an alien applying for admission to the United States unless and until the holder has been excluded by a special inquiry officer. If a nonresident's border crossing identification card has been lost, mutilated or destroyed the person to whom such card was issued may make a new application in accordance with the provisions of this section and any mutilated card shall be attached to such application for return to the office of issuance.

§ 212.61 Application for consent to reapply—(a) Form. The application for consent to reapply for admission to the United States shall be submitted on Form I–212. In stating the reasons for his desire to enter the United States, the applicant shall include a statement of facts establishing whether:

(2) There is need for the services of the applicant in the United States.

(3) The applicant is a bona fide crewman who has no means of earning his livelihood other than by pursuing such calling which necessitates his coming to the United States.

(4) It is necessary for the applicant to enter the United States frequently across the international land border to purchase the necessities of life, or in connection with the business in which he is engaged, or for some other urgent reason.

(b) Disposition. The district director receiving an application for consent to reapply for admission, in his discretion, may grant or deny such application. He shall note the Form I–212 to show his decision and his reason for denial if the application is denied. The applicant shall be given written notice of the decision. The decision shall be final except that an appeal therefrom may be taken by the applicant to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, within 10 days from receipt of notification of decision, in accordance with the provisions of Part 7 of this chapter.

§ 212.72 Disposition of application—(a) Action by officer with whom application is filed. The officer with whom the application is filed shall cause such investigation to be conducted as he deems necessary for the proper disposition of the application. If this action is taken in an office of the Service other than a district office, upon completion of such investigation, the application and all pertinent papers shall be forwarded to the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which the application was filed, with the recommendation of the officer in charge.

(b) Action by the district director. The district director, in his discretion, may grant or deny the application. The applicant shall be given written notice of the decision and if the application is denied, of the reasons therefor and of his right to appeal to the Board in accordance with the provisions of part 6 of this chapter within 10 days from the receipt of notification of such decision.

(c) Conditions. If the application is granted, it shall be under such terms and conditions, including exaction of bond, as may be deemed appropriate to the district director or to the Board when granting the application.

§ 212.81 Application for temporary admission of nonimmigrant; form and execution. Application for the advance exercise of discretion under the provisions of section 212 (d) (3) shall, except as hereinafter provided, be submitted on Form I–192, executed under oath before a consular officer in accordance with applicable consular regulations. When Form I–192 is not readily available and the case is one of unforeseen emergency, the application shall be in writing and shall contain all the information required by such form. When it is impracticable for the alien seeking the said benefits to execute the application, said application may be executed by his parent, guardian, attorney or representative, and in such cases, the application need not be under oath and need not be executed before a consular officer.

§ 212.82 Application for temporary admission of nonimmigrant; filing of application. If the alien seeking the benefits of section 212 (d) (3) of the Immigration and Nationality Act is not in possession of a nonimmigrant visa required for admission to the United States and is not exempt from the presentation of such visa, the executed application shall be filed with the consular officer before whom the alien is required to apply for his nonimmigrant visa. In all other cases, the executed application shall be filed with the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division.

§ 212.83 Application for temporary admission of nonimmigrant; disposition of application. If the Secretary of State or the consular officer recommends that an alien be admitted temporarily to the United States despite his inadmissibility, the application with such recommendation shall be forwarded to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, who, in his discretion, may grant or deny such application. The Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, in his discretion, may grant or deny any application which is authorized by this part to be filed directly with him. The applicant and the Secretary of State shall be given written notice of the decision and, if the application is denied, of the reasons therefor and of the right of the alien to appeal to the Board in accordance with the provisions of Part 6 of this chapter, within ten days from the receipt of notification of such decision. If the application is granted, it shall be under such terms and conditions, including exaction of bond on Form I–331, I–332, or I–337 as the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, or the Board, when granting the application, deems appropriate to the case, as provided in section 212 (d) (6) of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

§ 212.91 Return of paroled alien. If the district director or officer in charge who has paroled an alien into the United States determines that the purpose of the parole has been served, the paroled alien shall be taken into custody by an immigration officer under the order of such district director or officer in charge and shall thereupon forthwith be returned to the custody from which such alien was paroled.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

If the district director or officer in charge is satisfied that the alien would be admissible provided such bond were furnished, he may admit the alien upon the furnishing of such bond. No appeal shall lie from his decision. If the application is granted, the officer granting the application shall note the application form and the Form 257a or I–94C submitted by the applicant or prepared for him as provided in § 221.3 (c) of this chapter to show the data to which the alien is permitted to remain in the United States and any additional conditions which may have been imposed as a condition precedent to the granting of the application. If the application is denied, the officer denying the application shall note the application form and such Form 257a or I–94C to show the denial. Notwithstanding any of the provisions of this paragraph, the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, may require any classes of cases or individual cases to be submitted to him for initial decision. No appeal shall lie from the decision of the Assistant Commissioner.

(c) Notice of decision. The Form 257a or I–94C noted as provided in this part shall be sent to the applicant together with any passport submitted and shall constitute notice of the decision in the case. SUBPART A—SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 214e.1 Definitions. As used in this part, the term:

(a) "Trader" means (1) an alien admitted to the United States under the provisions of section 101 (a) (15) (E) of the Immigration and Nationality Act; or (2) an alien admitted to the United States under the provisions of section 3 (6) of the Immigration Act of 1924; or (3) an alien who after admission lawfully acquires a status under (1) or (2); or (4) an alien who is readmitted to the United States on the basis of a re-entry permit lawfully issued under the provisions of paragraphs (a) (2) and (b) of section 223 of the Immigration and Nationality Act; or (5) an alien who was readmitted to the United States on the basis of a re-entry permit lawfully issued under the provisions of section 10 (g) of the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended.

(b) "Dependent" means a trader's alien spouse or alien child admitted under (1), (2), (3), (4), or (5) of paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 214e.2 Limitations on time for which admitted. An alien admitted to the United States as a nonimmigrant of the class described in section 101 (a) (15) (E) of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall be admitted for a period of time fixed by the admitting officer, not to exceed one year.

§ 214e.3 Bond. Traders and dependents who are required to furnish bond under § 214.3 or § 214.4 of this chapter shall furnish bond on Form I–338.

§ 214e.4 Failure to maintain status. A trader or dependent shall be deemed to have failed to maintain status upon the occurrence of any one of the following events, which are not exclusive as to what shall constitute failure to maintain status:

(a) In the case of a trader:

(1) The termination of the treaty on which the status of trader was based; or

(2) A change by a trader from the activities specified in clause (i) to the activities specified in clause (ii) of section 101 (a) (15) (E) of the Immigration and Nationality Act or vice versa unless, prior to making such change, he obtains consent to do so from the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the district in which the trader resides.

(b) In the case of a dependent:

(1) When the trader no longer is eligible to remain in the United States as a trader; or

(2) When the trader dies; or

(3) In the case of the dependent spouse, when the marriage to the trader terminates; or

(4) In the case of the dependent child, when such child marries or reaches the 21st anniversary of his birth;

unless at the time of the happening of any such event after the effective date of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the dependent in his own right would be entitled to the status of a nonimmigrant of the class described in section 101 (a) (15) (E) of the Immigration and Nationality Act were he applying for admission to the United States in such status in possession of appropriate documents; or unless at the time of the happening of any such event prior to December 24, 1952, the dependent in his own right at that time would have been entitled to the status of a nonimmigrant of the class described in section 3 (6) of the Immigration Act of 1924 as it then existed were he applying for admission to United States in such status in possession of appropriate documents. Such dependent entitled to nonimmigrant status in his own right may be permitted to remain in the United States subject to the provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act and this part. If the dependent spouse establishes such eligibility, the child of such spouse may also be permitted to remain in the United States subject to the applicable provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act and this part. The fact that the dependent child establishes such eligibility shall not authorize the parent of such child to remain in the United States.

(c) Failure to submit a maintenance of status report required by § 214e.6.

§ 214e.5 Additional documents required in support of application for an extension of temporary admission. A trader or dependent who applies for an extension of temporary admission shall attach to his application a properly executed Form I–126 and such supporting documents required by such form.

All available data specified in Form I–126 shall be furnished by the alien.

(b) Disposition of report. After examination of the report on Form I–126 and accompanying documents and after making such investigation as may be necessary, the district director or the officer in charge receiving the report shall determine whether the alien is complying with the conditions set forth in § 214.2 of this chapter. The decision of such officer shall be final and no appeal shall lie therefrom. If the alien is found to be complying with such conditions, the district director or the officer in charge shall note the Form I–126 and the Form 257a or I–94C submitted by the alien or prepared for him as provided in § 221.3 (c) of this chapter with the words "Status maintained" and the date of such determination. be performed by the alien, and (ii) whether the labor organization has any objections to the proposed importation of the alien, and if so, the nature of such objections. If the prospective employer fails to receive a reply to a request submitted to such labor organization for such a statement, a copy of the letter sent to the labor organization by registered mail and the receipt returned by the Post Office Department showing that the letter was delivered shall be attached to the application in lieu of the statement from the labor organization.

If more than one nonimmigrant is included on a single application, it shall be regarded as a separate application for each such nonimmigrant for the purposes of Part 2 of this chapter, and a fee in an amount equal to $10 for each such nonimmigrant shall be submitted with the application.

AUTHORITY: §§ 223.1 to 223.13 issued under sec. 103, 66 Stat. 173. Interpret or apply sec. 223, 66 Stat. 194.

SUBPART A—SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 223.1 Issuance and extension of reentry permits. Subject to the provisions of this part, district directors shall issue reentry permits under section 223 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, and shall grant extensions of the period of validity of such permits.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 223.11 Application—(a) Contents, form; submission. An application for a reentry permit under the provisions of section 223 of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall be executed under oath and be submitted on Form I–131, in duplicate, with two photographs of the applicant. An application for a reentry permit shall not be accepted from an applicant who is not within the United States. An application for a reentry permit shall be submitted to the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the applicant's place of residence in the United States. In emergent cases, the application may be submitted to the office of the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the place where the applicant may be at the time of his application, and may be acted upon by that district director even though he may not have administrative jurisdiction over the applicant's place of residence. The application shall include, but shall not be limited to, the following information with respect to the applicant: (1) Name currently used; (2) address in the United States; (3) place and date of birth; (4) alien registration number; (5) occupation and description of business activities in the United States; (6) date, place and manner of lawful admission to the United States for permanent residence, or admission to the United States as a treaty merchant; (7) name used at time of arrival; (8) father's name and mother's maiden name; (9) name and address of person to whom destined at time of admission to the United States; (10) by whom accompanied at time of such admission; (11) country of which applicant is a citizen, subject, or national; (12) date, place, and manner of last arrival in the United States; (13) name used at the time of last arrival; (14) marital status on the date of filing application, and if married the name and address of spouse; (15) present personal description; (16) name of employer; (17) port and date of proposed departure, name of vessel or other means of transportation on which departing, length of proposed absence, and reasons for going abroad; (18) what temporary address abroad will be.

(b) When filed. An application for a reentry permit should be filed at least 30 days before the proposed date of departure.

(c) Action on application. If the district director is satisfied (1) that the applicant meets the eligibility requirements contained in section 223 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, (2) that the application is made in good faith, and (3) that the alien's proposed departure from the United States would not be contrary to the interests of the United States, he shall grant the application and issue the permit which shall be valid for the time thereon specified, not to exceed one year. If the district director is not satisfied that the application should be granted he shall deny the application. The applicant shall be notified in writing of the decision with the reasons therefor, unless the disclosure of the reasons would, in the opinion of the district director, be prejudicial to the public interest, safety or security, in which event the reasons shall not be stated. At that time, the applicant shall be advised that he has 10 days from the date of receipt of notification of the decision in which he may appeal to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division. If on such appeal the application is granted, the Assistant Commissioner shall notify the district director and the permit shall be issued by that officer. The notice to an applicant to call for the delivery of the permit shall constitute notice to him of the favorable decision made in the case, either initially or on appeal. If the application is denied and no appeal is taken, or is denied on appeal, the fee shall be returned to the applicant.

§ 223.12 Reentry permit—(a) Form. Reentry permits shall be issued on Form I–132, shall indicate whether issued under paragraph (a)(1) or (a) (2) of section 223 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, and the period of its validity. In any case in which the reentry permit is valid for readmission only to Hawaii, such limitation shall be endorsed conspicuously on the face of the Form I–132.

(b) Period of validity; extensions. A reentry permit shall be valid for such period as the district director granting the application shall authorize, not to exceed one year from the date of issuance. An application for extension of a reentry permit shall be addressed to and filed with the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the applicant's place of residence in the United States. Such application shall be in writing and shall state (1) the applicant's name and address in the United States; (2) when, where and the manner in which he departed from the United States; (3) port of landing and date of his arrival abroad; (4) countries visited by him in the order visited; (5) his reasons for requesting an extension and period for which the extension is desired; and (6) his address to which the permit is to be returned. The application shall be executed under oath and shall be accompanied by the reentry permit sought to be extended. If executed in the United States it may be sworn to before any officer generally authorized to administer oaths, or before an immigration officer without fee. If executed abroad it shall be executed before a consular officer. If the district director is satisfied that the period of validity should be extended he may grant an extension for such period as to him shall appear appropriate, in no event, however, to exceed one year from the original expiration date. The extended period shall be endorsed on the permit which shall be returned to the applicant in person or by mail. If the district director concludes that the requested extension should not be granted, he shall forward the application for the extension and all relating papers to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division for decision. If the extension is granted by the Assistant Commissioner, the application and related papers shall be returned to the office of origin. The district director shall thereupon appropriately endorse the permit and forward it to the applicant. If the extension is denied, the fee shall be refunded, and the permit shall be returned to the applicant if the remaining period of its validity permits its use for return to the United States. Any number of extensions may be granted provided the period of validity does not exceed beyond one year from the date of original expiration.

(c) Delivery. The reentry permit shall be forwarded to the office of the Service designated by the applicant in the application and the applicant shall obtain it from that office in person prior to his departure from the United States, except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section. The officer effecting delivery of the permit shall be satisfied that the person calling for it is the applicant and, in the event minor discrepancies have been noted by the issuing officer, the officer effecting delivery shall obtain satisfactory explanation from the applicant as to such discrepancies. The applicant shall sign his name to the permit in the presence of the officer. The officer making delivery shall endorse his signature in such manner as to cover part of the photograph and part of the permit. If for any reason it is concluded that the permit should not be delivered, it shall be returned to the district office of origin with a report of the facts for non-delivery. In the event it is then determined on the basis of such report or upon reconsideration of the application that the permit should not be issued, the application shall be denied in the same manner as though it had not been granted previously and the applicant shall have the same right to appeal.

(d) Emergent cases. If the applicant satisfactorily establishes that a bona fide emergency exists requiring his departure from the United States before a permit can be issued and delivered, the permit, if issued, may be forwarded to a consular officer abroad for delivery to the applicant in the manner prescribed in paragraph (c). The applicant shall be informed that the acceptance of his application does not assure the issuance of the permit.

(e) Registrants under Selective Service Act. No reentry permit or extension thereof shall be issued or granted to any alien who is legally subject to registration for service in the armed forces in the United States unless the applicant shall present a permit from his local Selective Service Board to depart from the United States. A reentry permit issued to such an alien may be made valid for a period which will coincide with the period of absence authorized by the local board, except that in no instance shall the period exceed one year. For reasons which may appear appropriate to the issuing district director, the period of validity of the reentry permit may be for a lesser period than the period of absence authorized by the local board.

§ 223.13 Disposition of reentry permit—(a) Upon application for admission. The holder of a reentry permit applying for readmission into the United States shall present the permit to the examining immigration officer at the port of arrival who, if he finds the alien to be the rightful holder of the permit, that the permit has not expired, and that the alien is otherwise admissible, shall endorse thereon the disposition of the alien's application for readmission. If the alien is admitted and the period of validity of the permit has not expired the permit shall be returned to the alien. If the alien is not admitted, the reentry permit shall be retained in the custody of the Service pending final disposition of the alien's application for admission. If the alien is ultimately excluded the permit shall be returned to the issuing office for appropriate disposition.

(b) Upon expiration. Upon the expiration of the period of validity of a reentry permit it shall be surrendered by the holder to the issuing office. If any such expired permit has not been surrendered to the Service, no subsequent reentry permit shall be issued to the same alien unless he shall first surrender the previous permit, or satisfactorily account for his failure so to do.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 231.21 Arrival manifests and lists for vessels; general directions for preparation—(a) Alien manifests. Separate Form or Forms I–415 shall be prepared prior to the vessel's arrival at a port in the United States on which the surname of the passengers will appear so far as practicable in alphabetical order:

(1) For alien immigrant passengers who embarked at the same port abroad and who are destined to disembark at the same port in the United States;

(2) For alien nonimmigrant passengers who embarked at the same port abroad and who are destined to disembark at the same port in the United States;

(3) For alien through passengers without regard to their port of embarkation abroad or the foreign country to which destined. Manifests for through passengers shall be submitted in duplicate. The headings of Forms I–415 covering through passengers shall be properly filled in to show the facts of arrival of the vessel, with the added notation "and proceed foreign via ----------" (inserting the names of the other ports of call to be made in the United States on the voyage with the final port of call shown last). This notation shall be entered under the words "Arriving at port of ----------," appearing directly above columns 3 and 4 of the Form I–415. In manifesting passengers under (1), (2), and (3), if the number of passengers does not exceed the number that can be manifested on one Form I–415, such passengers shall be grouped according to class of travel and manifested on one Form I–415 according to class, with the designation of the class noted in the body of the form at the head of each class group. If the number of such passengers exceeds the maximum number that can be listed on one Form I–415, the passengers shall be grouped according to class of travel and a separate Form I–415 shall be used to manifest the passengers in each class, the designation of the class being shown in the heading of each form used.

(b) Citizen or national manifests. The foregoing procedure for the manifest grouping of alien passengers shall apply, so far as it is applicable, to the manifest grouping of passengers who are citizens or nationals of the United States, and in respect of through passengers who are citizens or nationals of the United States, the same notation prescribed in paragraph (a) (3) of this section shall be added directly above columns 3 and 4 of the Form I–416.

(c) Numbering of manifests. Manifest Forms I–415 and I–416 shall be numbered consecutively in the indicated space in the upper right-hand corner of the form commencing with number "1" for each voyage, all the Forms I–416, if any, to be numbered before assigning number to any Forms I–415.

(d) Family members. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section as to class groupings and use of separate manifests, all passengers being members of one family, who embark at the same port abroad and are destined to disembark at the same port in the United States, shall be manifested on the same manifest sheet. If they are traveling in different classes, they shall be shown under the class of the head of the family; if some are aliens and others United States citizens or nationals, they shall all be shown on the alien manifest Form I–415 with the notation "USC" or "USN" entered after the names of the citizen or national members.

(e) Stowaways. Any stowaway shall be manifested on the last numbered form, the notation "stowaway" being shown in the last column opposite the name of each stowaway.

(f) Listing documents. In column (2) of Form I–415 shall be shown the serial number and letter of any Foreign Service Form 256 or 257, or immigration Form I–100a, which the passenger is required to present for admission to the United States. The notation "WOV–419" shall be shown in column (2) if the alien is to pass through the United States under the provisions of section 238 (d) of the Immigration and Nationality Act. In the case of each alien passenger who does not have a Form 256, 257, or I–100a, the persons responsible for the delivery of the manifest, and as a part thereof, shall prepare a set of immigration Forms I–94 and shall deliver them to such passenger. The serial number of such Form I–94 shall be noted in column (2) of Form I–415 opposite the name of each passenger for whom such set of forms is prepared. Whenever a set of Forms I–94 is prepared for a passenger who has a nonimmigrant visa, the visa application number and letter shall be noted on all copies of the Form I–94 in the box entitled "Travel documents presented". The Form 256, 257 or I–100a, is required to be surrendered by the passenger to the United States immigration officer at the port of arrival in the United States where he is examined for admission.

§ 231.22 Arrival manifests and lists for vessels; delivery. (a) Immediately upon the arrival at the first port in the United States of a vessel required to prepare a manifest, one legible copy of manifest Forms I–415 and I–416 prepared as provided in § 231.21 (a) (1) and (2) and two legible copies of manifest Forms I–415 and I–416 prepared as provided in § 231.21 (a) (3), fully executed as provided in this part and assembled in numerical order, covering all of the passengers on board without regard to the port to which ultimately destined, shall be delivered to the immigration officer boarding the vessel at such port of first arrival. To facilitate inspection, an advance copy of manifest Forms I–415 and I–416 may be delivered to the officer in charge of the first port of arrival prior to the arrival of the vessel. The furnishing of such advance copy will not, however, relieve the vessel of the responsibility of furnishing a complete manifest to the immigration officer at the first port of call which shall indicate any changes or corrections which differ from the advance copy. If an arriving vessel is to touch at more than one United States port, the inspection of all passengers shall, if practicable, be completed at the first port of arrival. If the inspection of all passengers at the first port of arrival is impracticable, the inspection of passengers destined to subsequent ports of arrival shall be deferred in the discretion of the examining immigration officer. In such event, the manifest of those passengers not inspected at the first port of arrival shall be returned to the master for presentation at the subsequent ports of arrival. The procedure followed at the first port of arrival, as prescribed by this paragraph, shall also be followed at any subsequent ports of arrival. When any passenger desires regularly to land at any port in the United States other than the one to which he is manifested, his name shall be stricken by the ship's officer from the manifest upon which it was originally recorded and transferred to the manifest intended for the port where he wishes to land. Such change on the manifest shall be made only with the prior knowledge of the immigration officer and shall be attested by his signature and title placed opposite each entry. On the manifest to which the name is transferred; he will note: "Transferred from manifest of passengers for ----------, ---------- dated ----------, ---------- Immigration Officer."

(b) With respect to through passengers, both copies of the manifests shall be delivered to the immigration officer boarding the vessel at the first port of call in the United States. The passengers listed thereon shall be inspected as to their eligibility for shore leave as provided in this part.

(c) Both copies of such manifests shall be noted to indicate which through passengers are eligible for shore leave and which are not eligible. The original copy of such manifests shall be returned to the master of the vessel who shall present them at each subsequent port of call to the immigration officer boarding the vessel who shall return them to the master after examination of such manifests. Prior to the departure of the vessel from its last port of call in the United States, the original copies of such manifests shall be delivered to an immigration officer with Forms 257a, I–94C, relating to such departing passengers. Such delivery shall be in lieu of the delivery of departure manifests relating to such passengers required by § 231.3: Provided however, That all of the procedural requirements for departure manifests set forth in § 231.31 shall be observed. Departure manifests at the intermediate ports of call shall not be required for through passengers.

§ 231.23 Landing card. To facilitate examination of passengers and for convenience of identification on arrival, there may be given to each passenger listed on Form I–415 or I–416 a ticket or "landing card" showing his name and the number of the manifest and line number thereof on which his name appears.

§ 231.31 Departure manifest and lists for vessels—(a) General directions for preparation. (1) Separate Form or Forms I–434 or I–435 shall be used:

(i) For each port in the United States covering persons embarking at such port.

(ii) For passengers destined to each port of foreign debarkation, except (a) if all of the alien passengers boarding at the same port of embarkation in the United States can be recorded on one Form I–434, they shall be grouped according to the port of debarkation which shall be noted in the body of the Form I–434 at the head of each group, and (b) if all citizen and national passengers boarding at the same port of embarkation in the United States can be recorded on one Form I–435, they shall be grouped according to the port of embarkation which shall be noted in the body of the Form I–435 at the head of each group.

(2) Forms I–434 and I–435 shall be numbered consecutively in the indicated space in the upper right-hand corner of the heading, commencing with No. 1 for each voyage, all the Forms I–435, if any, to be numbered before assigning numbers to any Forms I–434. In column 2 of Form I–434 opposite the name of each passenger there shall be shown the serial number and letter of any Foreign Service Form 257a, immigration Form I–94C, or immigration Form I–100a in his possession which was last used by such passenger to enter the United States, as evidenced by the Service notation thereon. Unless such form is not required to be surrendered by the departing alien, such form shall be surrendered by the passenger to the representative of the transportation company who shall note thereon by printing in ink, rubber stamp, or typewriter, the name of the port of embarkation, the date of departure therefrom, and the name of the vessel, and attach such form to, and make it a part of the Form I–434 relating to the passenger whose form it is. If an alien has been permitted to pass through the United States under the provisions of section 238 (d) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the notation "WOV–419" shall be posted in column 2 of Form I–434 opposite the name of the alien. Whenever a departing alien passenger does not surrender Form 257a, I–94C or I–100a, the persons responsible for the delivery of the departure manifest as a part thereof shall cause to be executed an immigration Form I–424 for each such alien passenger; shall place the notation "I–424" in column 2 opposite the name of each such passenger; and shall attach the Form I–424 to, and make it a part of, the departure manifest.

(3) The term "Deportee" shall be noted in column 2 of Form I–434 opposite the name of each passenger who has been arrested within the United States and is being deported or who has been excluded from the United States and is being deported pursuant to such exclusion. Any Form 257a, I–94C, or I–100a surrendered by or in behalf of such deportee, or in the absence of any such form, the I–424 prepared for such deportee, shall be conspicuously marked "Deportee".

(b) Delivery. Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph, Forms I–434 and I–435 and attached documents fully executed in accordance with this part and assembled in numerical order, shall be delivered to the immigration official at each port of embarkation in the United States prior to the departure of the vessel therefrom with respect to all passengers boarding the vessel at that port who are destined to a place outside the United States. If more than one Form I–434 or I–435 is used at a port of embarkation, the affidavit on the last numbered form only need be executed. Vessels making voyages to and from the United States at regular or periodic intervals according to a published schedule of which there is sufficient notice to all concerned may deliver the Form or Forms I–434 and I–435, together with the documents required to be attached, to the district director or officer in charge of the office having administrative jurisdiction over the respective ports of embarkation subsequent to the departure of the vessel therefrom but within such time as to be received by each such officer within 30 days following the departure of the vessel from its last port of embarkation in the United States on that voyage. Notwithstanding the foregoing exception, clearance shall not be granted to any vessel unless the Forms I–434 and I–435, and attached documents, are delivered prior to departure if the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the post of departure knows or has reason to believe that the vessel will not return to a port in the United States within 30 days of its departure from its last port of embarkation in the United States or that the Form or Forms I–434 and I–435 and attached documents will not be delivered so as to be received within the 30 day period herein provided.

(c) Debarkation of passenger prior to departure foreign. In any case in which a passenger originally destined to a place outside the United States leaves the vessel either at the initial port of embarkation or at any other port of call in the United States and prior to the departure of the vessel from the United States, the persons responsible for the delivery of the departure manifest shall notify the Service of such debarkation upon acquiring knowledge thereof. If such knowledge is acquired prior to the departure of the vessel from the United States but subsequent to the delivery of the manifest covering such passenger, the notification shall be given by delivering prior to the departure of the vessel, a supplemental Form I–434 if the debarking passenger is an alien, or a supplemental Form I–435, if a citizen or national of the United States, to the immigration officials at the port where the vessel is then located. The supplemental form shall contain the complete heading as on the original but only the information as to the passenger who debarked with a notation in the last column as to the date and port of such disembarkation. If knowledge of such disembarkation is acquired subsequent to the departure of the vessel from the United States and subsequent to the delivery of the manifest covering such passenger, the notification shall be given by wireless or radio to the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the port where such passenger initially embarked and, in addition, the supplemental form previously referred to herein shall be prepared and mailed promptly to such officer. If the departure manifest covering such passenger is not delivered prior to the departure of the vessel from the United States as provided in paragraph (c) of this section, the notification shall be made by striking out the name and information relating to such debarking passenger on the manifest on which it appears and by noting in the last column thereof the date and port of disembarkation in the United States. Any document surrendered by such passenger still in the possession of the transportation company shall be forwarded with the manifest.

(d) Waiver in certain cases—(1) Through passengers. As provided in § 231.22, the original copy of the arrival manifests covering through passengers shall be accepted in lieu of departure manifests required to be prepared by this section.

(2) Cruise passengers. The district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which is located the United States port of origin and termination of the voyage of cruise passengers, on written request of the transportation company made in advance of the departure of the vessel, may waive the filing of Forms I–434 and I–435 for cruise passengers and the other documents required to be submitted on condition (i) that Forms I–415 and I–416 are delivered to the examining immigrant officer immediately upon the return of the vessel to the port in the United States from which the cruise started and prior to the debarkation of any passenger; and (ii) that a Form I–424 be executed and attached to the Form I–415 for each alien passenger who failed to return with the vessel to such port indicating on such form the place where such alien left the vessel; and (iii) that a Form I–435 be executed and delivered, listing such citizen or national passengers who failed to return with the vessel to such port, indicating on such form the place where such passenger left the vessel.

§ 231.41 Arrival manifests for aircraft—(a) General directions for preparation. (1) Except as otherwise provided in this part, Forms I–466 and I–437 shall be used for manifesting passengers arriving in the United States by aircraft. When more than one Form I–466 is required they shall be numbered consecutively in the indicated space in the upper right-hand corner of the form starting with number 1 for each flight to or from the United States. If all of the passengers manifested on a single Form I–466 are destined to disembark at the same port in the United States, the name of such port of debarkation shall be shown in the heading of the form in the space provided. Otherwise, the passengers shall be grouped according to their respective ports of debarkation in the United States, the name of the port of debarkation noted in the body of the form at the head of each group, and the heading for port of debarkation marked "As Noted Below". Members of a family embarking at the same port abroad and destined to disembark at the same port in the United States shall be listed consecutively within the group to which they belong. Any stowaway aboard shall be manifested on the last form prepared, the notation "stowaway" being shown in the second column opposite the name of each stowaway.

(2) In the case of each alien passenger who does not have a Foreign Service Form 256 or 257, or an immigration Form I–100a or I–132, the persons responsible for the delivery of the manifest and as a part thereof shall execute a set of immigration Forms I–94 and shall deliver them to such passenger for surrender by him to the United States immigration officer at the port where examined for admission to the United States. Whenever a set of Forms I–94 is prepared for a passenger who has a nonimmigrant visa, the visa application number and letter shall be noted on all copies of the Form I–94 in the box entitled, "Travel documents presented".

(3) In the case of each passenger who is a citizen or national of the United States, the persons responsible for the delivery of the manifest and as a part thereof shall cause to be executed a Form I–437 and shall deliver it to such passenger so that he may be able to surrender it to the United States immigration officer at the port where inspected for admission to the United States.

(b) Delivery. (1) Immediately upon the arrival at the first port in the United States of an aircraft required to deliver a passenger manifest, three legible copies of such manifest fully executed as provided in this part and assembled in numerical order covering all of the passengers on board, without regard to the port to which ultimately destined shall be delivered to the immigration officer who is to inspect the aircraft at that port.

(2) If an arriving aircraft is to touch at more than one United States port, the inspection of all passengers shall, if practicable, be completed at the first port of arrival. If the inspection of all passengers at the first port of arrival is impracticable, the inspection of passengers destined to subsequent ports of arrival shall be deferred in the discretion of the examining immigration officer. In such event the manifest of those passengers not inspected at the first port of arrival shall be returned to the commander of the aircraft for presentation at the subsequent ports of arrival. The procedure followed at the first port of arrival, as prescribed by this paragraph, shall also be followed at any subsequent ports of arrival.

§ 231.42 Departure manifests for aircraft—(a) General directions for preparation. (1) The name of the foreign port of debarkation shall be shown in the heading of the Form I–466 in the space provided if all of the pasengers who are manifested on a single Form I–466 are destined to disembark at the same foreign port. Otherwise, the passengers shall be grouped according to their respective foreign ports of debarkation, the name of the port of debarkation noted in the body of the form at the head of each group, and the heading on the form for port of debarkation marked, "As Noted Below". Members of a family destined to the same port of debarkation shall be listed consecutively within the group to which they belong.

(2) Each alien passenger shall surrender to the representative of the transportation company any Foreign Service Form 257a, immigration Form I–94C, or immigration Form I–100a in his possession which was last used by such passenger to enter the United States as evidenced by the Service notation thereon, unless such form is not required to be surrendered. The representative of the transportation company shall note on each such surrendered form by printing in ink, rubber stamp or typewriter, the name of the port of embarkation in the United States, the date of departure therefrom, and the registration marks of the aircraft, and shall attach such form to, and make it a part of, the Form I–466 relating to the passenger whose form it is. If an alien has been permitted to pass through the United States under the provisions of section 238 (d) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the notation "WOV–419" shall be posted in column 2 opposite the name of the alien. Whenever a departing alien passenger does not surrender Form 257a, I–94C or I–100a, the persons responsible for the delivery of the departure manifest as a part thereof shall cause to be executed an immigration Form I–424 for each such alien passenger; shall place the notation "I–424" in column 2 opposite the name of each such passenger; and shall attach the Form I–424 to, and make it a part of, the departure manifest.

(3) In the case of each alien passenger who has been arrested in the United States and is being deported from the United States or has been excluded from the United States and is being deported pursuant to such exclusion, any Form 257a, I–94C, or I–100a surrendered by or in behalf of such deportee, or in the absence of any such form the I–424 prepared for such deportee, shall be marked conspicuously "Deportee". In the case of each passenger who is a citizen or national of the United States, the persons responsible for the delivery of the manifest and as a part thereof shall cause to be executed a Form I–437 which shall be attached to the Form I–466 relating to such passenger.

(b) Delivery. Except as otherwise specifically provided in this paragraph, Forms I–466 together with the documents required to be attached thereto, fully executed in accordance with the provisions of this part and assembled in numerical order, shall be delivered prior to departure to the immigration officials at the port in the United States from which the aircraft will proceed to a place outside the United States. Aircraft making flights to and from the United States at regular or periodic intervals according to a published schedule of which there is sufficient notice to all concerned may deliver the Form or Forms I–466 together with the documents required to be attached thereto subsequent to the departure of the aircraft but within such time as to be received by the immigration officer in charge of the port from which the aircraft proceeded foreign within 4 days following the departure of such aircraft. Notwithstanding the foregoing exception, clearance shall not be granted any aircraft unless the Forms I–466 and attached documents are delivered prior to departure, if the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the port of departure knows or has reason to believe that the aircraft will not return to a port in the United States within 30 days of its departure or that the forms and documents attached will not be delivered so as to be received by him within the 4-day period herein provided.

(c) Debarkation of passenger prior to departure foreign. In any case in which a passenger originally destined to a place outside the United States leaves the aircraft prior to its departure foreign, the persons responsible for the delivery of the manifest shall notify the Service of such debarkation upon acquiring knowledge thereof. If such knowledge is acquired prior to the departure of the aircraft from the United States but subsequent to the delivery of the manifest, the notification shall be given by delivering, prior to the departure of the aircraft, a supplemental Form I–466 to the immigration official at the port from which the aircraft is to proceed foreign. The supplemental form shall contain the complete heading as on the original but only the information as to the passenger who left the aircraft with a notation in column 2 as to the debarkation of the passenger prior to departure. If knowledge of such debarkation is acquired subsequent to the departure of the aircraft and subsequent to the delivery of the manifest, the notification shall be given by wireless or radio to the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the port from which the aircraft departed foreign, in addition, the supplemental form previously referred to shall be prepared and mailed promptly to such officer via air mail. If the departure manifest is not delivered prior to the departure of the aircraft from the United States as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, the notification shall be made by striking out the name and information relating to such debarking passenger on the Form I–466 on which it appears and by noting in the second column of that form the facts of such debarkation of the passenger prior to the departure of the aircraft. Any document surrendered by such passenger in the possession of the transportation company shall be forwarded with the manifest, as corrected.

§ 233.52 Reimbursement of transportation line for detention expenses in certain cases. A transportation line which has paid the detention expenses referred to in § 233.5 shall, upon presentation of itemized receipts be reimbursed from the applicable appropriation of the Service if it is finally determined that the transportation line should not be assessed for the payment of such expenses. The reimbursement shall cover only reasonable amounts actually expended for such expenses, but the reimbursement for the cost of maintenance shall not, except in unusual circumstances and unless the expense was incurred with the prior approval of the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the port, exceed the maximum per diem allowance prescribed in section 836 of Title 5 of the United States Code in lieu of subsistence. No reimbursement shall be made for detention expenses incurred after the alien has been offered for deportation to the transportation line which brought him to the United States.

SUBPART A—SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 235.1 General qualifications and requirements for the admission of aliens. The following general qualifications and requirements shall be met by an alien in order that he may enter the United States lawfully and properly regardless of whether he seeks to enter for permanent, indefinite, or temporary stay, and regardless of the purpose for which he seeks to enter:

(a) The alien shall apply in person at a place designated as a port of entry for aliens.

(b) The alien shall apply for admission at a time when the immigration office at the port is open for the inspection of applicants for admission.

(c) The alien shall make his application in person to an immigration officer.

(d) The alien shall present whatever documents are required.

(e) The alien shall establish to the satisfaction of the immigration officer that he is not subject to exclusion under the immigration laws, executive orders, or Presidential Proclamations and that he is entitled under all of the provisions of the immigration laws and this chapter applicable to him, to enter the United States.

§ 235.2 Examination postponed—(a) Alien and members of family. When an alien upon arrival or pending the determination of his right to admission to the United States is found or believed to be suffering from a disability which in the opinion of the examining immigration officer or special inquiry officer renders it impracticable to proceed with the examination under the Immigration and Nationality Act, the facts shall be reported to the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the port of arrival who shall determine whether the examination is to proceed or be postponed. If the examination is postponed and the testimony of such alien is required to determine the admissibility of members of his family, the determination of such cases may be postponed in the discretion of such district director or officer in charge until the examination of such alien becomes practicable. If such alien's testimony is not so required, and if the alien is in no manner necessary to the financial support of the remaining family members and he presumably appears to be eligible for admission provided he recovers from the disability or such disability is found not to exist, the family members may be examined forthwith and, if found eligible for admission to the United States, admitted:

(1) Upon the deposit of a sum of money (or transportation ticket and money) sufficient to defray the expenses of conveying the alien whose case is postponed to final destination; and

(2) Upon the deposit of a further sum of money (or transportation ticket and money) sufficient to cover the cost of the service and transportation of a proper attendant from the port of arrival to the point of destination or deportation and return, where it appears to the officer in charge that such attendant is or may be necessary for the proper care and attention of the alien.

(b) Accompanying alien. If it appears to the examining immigration officer that an alien not found to be admissible is likely to be certified by the examining medical officer as helpless from sickness or mental or physical disability or infancy pursuant to section 237 (e) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the examination of any accompanying alien, whose protection or guardianship will be required by the alien not found admissible, shall be postponed pending decision of the case of the alien likely to be excluded.

§ 235.3 Detention of aliens. All aliens (including alien crewmen) arriving at a port in the United States by vessel or aircraft shall be detained aboard the vessel or at the airport of arrival by the master, commanding officer, purser, person in charge, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel or aircraft until admitted or otherwise permitted to land by an officer of the Service. Notice or order to so detain shall not be required.

§ 235.4 Admitted alien assisted. Notwithstanding admission, and for reasons satisfactory to the district director or officer in charge, where facilities are available, any alien may remain a few days at an immigration station upon payment of the actual cost of such maintenance. If in such a case the delay in leaving the immigration station is due to accident or other unavoidable circumstances and the alien is without sufficient means to defray the expenses incident thereto, the district director or the officer in charge, in his discretion, may authorize such expense, reporting the case promptly to the Central Office with full reasons for his action and requesting that the authorization be ratified.

§ 235.5 Preexamination in certain parts of the United States; who may apply. When an office of the Service is located in Hawaii, Alaska, Guam, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or any outlying possession of the United States, a person (whether an alien or claiming United States nationality) who is residing, and is entitled under the immigration laws to reside permanently, in any of the places enumerated herein, who intends to travel by vessel and to apply for temporary or permanent admission to any other part of the United States or outlying possession of the United States without transhipment, may appear before the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over such office to be examined as to his admissibility to the United States.

§ 235.6 Pre-inspection in certain parts of the United States. In the case of any aircraft proceeding from Hawaii, Alaska, Guam, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands of the United States destined directly and without touching at a foreign port or place to any other of such places or to the continental United States, the examination required by the Immigration and Nationality Act of the passengers and crew may be made prior to the departure of the aircraft, and in such event, final determination of admissibility shall be made immediately prior to such departure. The examination shall be conducted in accordance with sections 235, 236, and 237 of the Immigration and Nationality Act and this part and Parts 236 and 237 of this chapter, except that if it appears to the examining immigration officer that any person in the United States being examined under this section is prima facie deportable from the United States, further action with respect to his examination shall be deferred and an application for a warrant of arrest shall be made and further proceedings conducted as provided in section 242 of the Immigration and Nationality Act and Part 242 of this chapter. When the inspection procedure described above is applied to any aircraft, persons examined and found admissible shall be placed aboard the aircraft, or kept at the airport separate and apart from the general public until they are permitted to board the aircraft. No other person shall be permitted to depart on such aircraft until and unless found admissible as provided in this section.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 235.11 Notice of referral to Special Inquiry Officer. If, in accordance with the provisions of section 235 (b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the examining immigration officer detains an alien for further inquiry before a special inquiry officer, he shall immediately sign and deliver to the alien a Notice To Alien Detained For Hearing By Special Inquiry Officer, (Form I–122). If the alien is unable to read or understand the notice, it shall be read and explained to him by an employee of the Service, through an interpreter, if necessary, prior to the further inquiry before the special inquiry officer.

§ 235.12 Referral of certain cases to district director or officer in charge. The immigration officer conducting the preliminary examination in the case of an alien who is applying for admission to the United States for permanent residence and who is liable to be excluded because likely to become a public charge or because of physical disability other than tuberculosis, leprosy, or a dangerous contagious disease shall refer the question of admission to the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the place where the examination is being conducted. The district director or officer in charge may in his discretion admit the alien on primary inspection, if otherwise admissible, in accordance with Part 213 of this chapter. If the district director or officer in charge does not so admit the alien, the question of admission shall be referred to a special inquiry officer, and the special inquiry officer may, in his discretion, admit the alien, if otherwise admissible, in accordance with the provisions of Part 213 of this chapter.

§ 235.13 Reading test. Aliens who are subject to the provisions of section 212 (a) (25) of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall be required to demonstrate their ability to read and understand matter printed in plainly legible type and in a language or dialect designated by the alien at the time of examination. When applying the reading test immigration officers shall use the printed and numbered test slips supplied by the Service for that purpose, and a record shall be made upon the manifest or hearing record of the special inquiry officer showing both the class and serial number of the slip used in each case and the language or dialect designated by the applicant and actually used in the examination. No two aliens listed upon the same manifest sheet shall be examined at seaports by the use of the same slip. If the examining immigration officer is unable to speak and understand the language or dialect in which the alien is examined, the services of an interpreter shall be used for interpreting into spoken English the printed matter as read by the alien, so that the examining officer may compare such interpretation with the slip of corresponding serial number containing the English translation of the same reading matter. In all cases in which, because of lack of the qualified interpreters necessary for the observance of the general method prescribed herein, or for any reason, it is impracticable to adopt said general method, immigration officers may employ such other means as will clearly demonstrate the alien's ability, or lack of ability, to read and understand.

§ 235.14 Notation of passports. When an alien admitted temporarily to the United States is issued a form 257a or I–94C, the admitting officer shall stamp the passport presented by the alien to show the word "Admitted" and the date and place of admission. There shall be inscribed in the passport as a part of such notation the visa application number (including any letters that are part thereof) appearing on the form 257a, if such number does not appear in the passport visa, or the serial number (including any letters that are part thereof) of the form I–94C. When an alien is admitted permanently to the United States, the admitting immigration officer shall stamp any passport presented by the alien to show the word "Admitted," the date and place of admission, and the section of law under which admitted. Immigration officers shall not endorse passports in cases other than as prescribed by this section and § 252.1(c) of this chapter, and shall not in any case place their signatures or titles in passports.

§ 235.15 Temporary exclusion—(a) Report. Any officer who temporarily excludes an alien under the provisions of section 235(c) of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall report such action promptly to the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the port at which such alien arrived. If the subject of the report is an alien who seeks to enter the United States other than under section 101(a)(15)(D) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the report shall be forwarded by the district director to the Commissioner and further action shall be taken thereon as provided in paragraph (c) of this section.

(b) Action in cases of alien crewmen. If the subject of the report is an alien crewman who seeks to land as a nonimmigrant pursuant to section 101 (a) (15) (D) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the district director shall determine whether the crewman is inadmissible to the United States under paragraph (27), (28), or (29) of section 212 (a) of that Act. If the district director is satisfied that the crewman is excludable under any of such paragraphs on the basis of information of a confidential nature, the disclosure of which the district director, in the exercise of his discretion, concludes would be prejudicial to the public interest, safety, or security, he shall direct the examining immigration officer not to grant such crewman a conditional permit to land, and the reasons for taking such action shall not be disclosed to the crewman. Otherwise, the case shall be returned by the district director to an examining immigration officer to determine whether a conditional permit to land should be granted such crewman pursuant to section 252 of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

(c) Action by Commissioner. If the Commissioner is satisfied that the alien is inadmissible to the United States under paragraph (27), (28), or (29) of section 212 (a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act and if the Commissioner, in the exercise of his discretion, concludes that such inadmissibility is based on information of a confidential nature the disclosure of which would be prejudicial to the public interest, safety, or security, he may (1) deny any hearing or further hearing by a special inquiry officer and order such alien excluded and deported; or (2) enter such other order in the case as he deems appropriate. In any other case the Commissioner shall direct that the alien be given a hearing or further hearing before a special inquiry officer.

(d) Finality of decision. The decision of the district director or the Commissioner provided for in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section respectively shall be final and no appeal may be taken therefrom. The decision of the Commissioner shall be in writing, signed by him and, unless it contains confidential matter, a copy shall be served on the alien. If the decision contains confidential matter, a separate order showing only the ultimate disposition of the case shall be signed by and served on the alien.

(e) Hearing by special inquiry officer. In any case in which the Commissioner directs that an alien temporarily excluded be given a hearing or further hearing before a special inquiry officer, such hearing and all further proceedings in the case shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of section 236 and other applicable sections of the Immigration and Nationality Act to the same extent as though the alien had been referred to a special inquiry officer by the examining immigration officer; except, that if confidential information, not previously considered in the case, is adduced supporting the exclusion of the alien under paragraph (27), (28), or (29) of section 212 (a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the disclosure of which, in the discretion of the special inquiry officer, may be prejudicial to the public interest, safety, or security, the special inquiry officer may again temporarily exclude the alien under the authority of section 235 (c) of the Immigration and Nationality Act and further action shall be taken as provided in this section.

§ 235.51 Preexamination procedure—(a) action by district director or officer in charge—(1) applicant eligible for permanent residence. The district director or officer in charge shall cause such investigation to be conducted as he deems necessary. If such officer is satisfied (i) that the person is eligible to apply under § 235.5; (ii) that any claim to United States nationality has been established; (iii) that the person is clearly and beyond a doubt admissible for permanent residence without a visa and passport to the place to which destined, he shall cause to be prepared and issued to such person a Form I–94F noting the reverse side to show the place and date of the preexamination and the words "Issued under 8 CFR 235.5" followed by the signature of the issuing officer in the space provided. The names and ages of children under 14 may be included in the Form I–94 prepared in the case of an accompanying parent or guardian.

(2) Applicant eligible for temporary admission only. The district director or officer in charge shall cause such investigation to be conducted as he deems necessary. If the applicant is within the purview of the proviso to section 212 (d) (7) of the Immigration and Nationality Act and is eligible under that Act for temporary admission only, without a visa and passport, the district director or officer in charge shall cause to be prepared and issued a complete set of Forms I–94 if he is satisfied that the applicant is clearly and beyond a doubt admissible to the place to which destined. The Forms I–94 shall be noted as provided above for the Form I–94F. The names and ages of children under 14 may be included in the Form I–94 prepared in the case of the accompanying parent or guardian.

(b) Action at port of arrival. If the person to whom a Form I–94 has been issued in accordance with the previous paragraph applies for admission within 30 days of the notation of the preexamining officer and there has been no change in the person's immigration status since such endorsement, he may be admitted upon identification. Upon admission, the form or forms presented shall be surrendered as provided in § 221.3 of this chapter. If the examining immigration officer at the port of entry is not satisfied of the person's admissibility notwithstanding the determination made on preexamination, further action in the case shall be taken as provided in sections 235, 236, and 237 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, this part, and Parts 236 and 237 of this chapter, unless it appears prima facie to such examining immigration officer that such person would be deportable under the Immigration and Nationality Act from that part of the United States or possession of the United States from which he came, in which event application for a warrant of arrest shall be made, and further proceedings conducted, as provided in Part 242 of this chapter. Further action on the application for admission shall be deferred until disposition of the deportation proceedings.

(c) Aliens not eligible. If the district director or officer in charge is not satisfied that the alien is eligible for temporary or permanent admission under this section he shall not issue a Form I–94. No appeal shall lie from the decision of the district director or officer in charge, but a refusal to issue a Form I–94 under this part shall be without prejudice to a subsequent application for admission at the place of intended destination.

§ 236.1 Authority of special inquiry officers. Subject to any specific limitation prescribed by this chapter and the Immigration and Nationality Act, in determining cases referred to them for further inquiry as provided in section 235 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, special inquiry officers shall exercise such discretion and authority conferred upon the Attorney General by that Act as is appropriate and necessary for the disposition of the case.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 236.11 Conduct of hearing—(a) General provisions; duties of special inquiry officers. At the commencement of the hearing the special inquiry officer shall enter of record as an exhibit in the case a copy of the Form I–122 previously delivered to the alien by the examining immigration officer as provided in Part 235 of this chapter. The special inquiry officer shall rule upon objections, introduce material and relevant evidence in behalf of the Government and the alien, and otherwise regulate the course of the hearing and exercise such other powers and authority as are conferred upon him by the Immigration and Nationality Act and this chapter. If the alien has a relative or a friend present at the hearing and that person is a witness in the case, his testimony shall be completed before he is permitted to remain at the hearing, unless, in the discretion of the special inquiry officer, his presence before testifying will not be prejudicial to a proper determination of the case. During the course of the hearing the alien's attorney or representative shall be permitted to examine the alien and he, or the alien, shall be permitted to examine any witnesses offered in the alien's behalf, to cross examine any witnesses called by the Government, to offer evidence material and relevant to any matter in issue, and to make objections which shall be stated succinctly and entered on the record. Argument in support of objections and any irrelevant material or unduly repetitious matter shall be excluded from the record. If the alien is not represented by an attorney or representative, the special inquiry officer shall advise the alien of his rights, as described in this section, and shall assist the alien in the presentation of his case to the end that all of the material and relevant facts may be adduced.

(b) Development of facts relating to penalties incurred by transportation company. In all cases in which there is any reason for believing that any administrative fine prescribed may have been incurred, the special inquiry officer shall develop in the course of the hearing all facts and circumstances material to a determination of liability to such fine.

(c) Medical examiner as witness. Whenever the certificate of the examining surgeon fails to describe particularly the nature, character, and extent of the physical defect which it is certified may affect the ability of the alien to earn a living and the alien has not affirmatively established that he will not have to earn a living, the special inquiry officer shall call such examining surgeon as a witness and interrogate him fully as to the particular nature, character and extent of the defect, disease or disability certified. Such testimony shall be made a part of the record.

(d) Record in illiteracy cases. In all cases in which the reading test is applied and aliens are rejected as unable to read and understand, the record shall, in addition to the card number, clearly set forth (1) that the alien designated the particular language used in the test, (2) the complete English text appearing on the card, (3) a definite finding by the special inquiry officer as to the degree to which the alien failed to read and understand, and (4) if the alien claims to be within any class exempted from the test, a definite finding by the special inquiry officer as to the validity of such claim.

§ 236.12 Decision of special inquiry officer. If an alien is excluded by a special inquiry officer he shall be advised of the decision of such officer and the reasons therefor and, if entitled to appeal to the Board, he shall be so advised. If the special inquiry officer at the conclusion of the hearing admits the alien, he shall so state for the record and, if no appeal is taken from such decision, shall take further action as provided in Part 221 of this chapter with respect to notation and disposition of documents.

§ 236.13 Advice to alien found excludable—(a) Return voyage. An excluded alien shall be informed that the return voyage is at the expense of the transportation company which brought him and that such transportation company must return him in the same class in which he came. If the alien is entitled to refund of passage money that information shall also be furnished to him.

(b) Permission to reapply. The special inquiry officer excluding an alien shall advise him of the provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act and of this chapter relating to the necessity of obtaining permission to reapply for admission to the United States should he desire to reapply within one year from his deportation under the excluding decision. The fact of that notification shall be entered on the record together with the alien's foreign address. In cases in which the alien is excluded for causes which can readily be removed or overcome, he may be advised by the special inquiry officer that the application for permission to reapply for admission may then and there be made. If the alien does not appeal from the excluding decision and desires to make such application, the special inquiry officer in his discretion may grant him permission to reapply for admission. Written notification of such permission shall be furnished to the alien for his use in subsequent proceedings. If the application for permission to reapply is denied by the special inquiry officer no appeal shall lie from such denial, but it shall be without prejudice to any further application made by the applicant pursuant to § 212.6 of this chapter. If an appeal is taken from a decision of the special inquiry officer as provided in section 236 (b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the decision on appeal, if adverse to the alien, may grant him permission to reapply for admission within one year.

(c) Alien certified for mental condition; right of medical appeal. An alien certified for insanity or mental defect shall be advised of his right to appeal to a board of medical officers of the United States Public Health Service, and that he may introduce before such board one expert medical witness at his own cost and expense. In the event the alien desires to appeal to such medical board, the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which the proceedings are pending, in conformity with regulations prescribed by the United States Public Health Service, shall make such arrangements with the office of the Surgeon General as may be necessary for the convening of such medical board.

(d) Notice of possible appeal by officer in charge. In any case falling within the purview of § 236.16 in which the decision of the special inquiry officer is to admit the alien, the special inquiry officer shall advise the alien at the conclusion of the hearing that the decision is not final and is subject to possible appeal by the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which the hearing was conducted, and that such appeal may be taken within a period of 5 days after a transcript of the record is made available to such district director or officer in charge.

(e) Contents of record. The exact language employed in conveying information to an alien in accordance with this section, and the alien's replies or acknowledging statements, shall be made a part of the record in the case.

§ 236.14 Finality of decision. The decision of the special inquiry officer shall be final except when:

(a) The case has been certified to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, as provided in § 7.1 (b) of this chapter, or certified to the Board as provided in § 6.1 (c) of this chapter; or

(b) The alien takes an appeal as provided in § 236.15; or

(c) The district director or officer in charge takes an appeal as provided in § 236.16.

§ 236.15 Appeal by alien. If the alien desires to take an appeal from a decision of a special inquiry officer he shall be required to state for the record immediately following the decision of the special inquiry officer (a) whether or not he takes an appeal from the decision and, (b) whether or not he desires to file a brief in support of his appeal. If the alien desires to appeal, he shall thereupon be required to submit a completed Form I–290A. If the alien desires to file a brief, he shall be allowed 5 days from the date of the decision within which to submit his brief to the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which the proceeding was conducted. Upon good cause shown, such district director or officer in charge, or the special inquiry officer who presided at the hearing, or the Board, in their discretion, may extend the time within which the brief may be submitted. In any case in which the alien stated that he desires to submit a brief, he may, within the period allowed for the submission of such brief, file with the district director or officer in charge a written waiver thereof.

§ 236.16 Appeal by district director or officer in charge. The district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which the hearing was conducted may require any case or classes of cases to be referred to him for review if the decision of the special inquiry officer is to admit the alien. Within 5 days after the transcript of the record in any such case has been made available to the district director or officer in charge, he shall determine whether or not he desires to appeal to the Board. If an appeal is taken, written notice thereof shall be delivered to the alien and the alien shall be advised that he may make such representations to the Board as he may desire, including the filing of a brief. If the alien desires to file a brief, he shall be allowed 5 days from receipt of notification of appeal within which to file a brief with the district director or officer in charge for transmittal to the Board with the record in the case. The filing of such brief may be waived by the alien. Upon good cause shown, such district director, officer in charge, or the special inquiry officer who presided at the hearing, or the Board, in their discretion, may extend the time within which the brief may be submitted.

§ 236.17 Fingerprinting of excluded aliens; photographs. Every alien 14 years of age or older who is excluded from admission to the United States by a special inquiry officer shall be fingerprinted, unless during the preceding year he has been fingerprinted at an American consular office. Any alien so excluded, regardless of his age, shall be photographed if a photograph is required by the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which the proceeding was conducted.

237.14 Aliens rejected at ports outside the United States.
237.15 Excluded aliens requiring special care and attention.

SUBPART A—SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 237.1 Stay of deportation of excluded alien. The immediate deportation of an excluded alien as provided in section 237 (a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act may be stayed in the discretion of district directors, upon a determination that immediate deportation is not practicable or proper, or if the district director believes that the alien's testimony is necessary in behalf of the United States as provided in section 237 (d) of that Act.

§ 237.2 Cost of maintenance not assessed. Whenever the owner or owners of a vessel or aircraft, in order to exempt the transportation line from liability for the cost of the alien's maintenance, seek to establish that the ground of exclusion could not have been ascertained by the exercise of due diligence prior to the alien's embarkation as provided in section 237 (a) (2) (B) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, such claim shall be established to the satisfaction of the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the port of arrival. SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 237.11 Request for stay of deportation; detention expenses. A stay of deportation may be authorized by the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the place where the alien is located on his own instance, or upon a written request of the alien filed with the district director setting forth under oath the reasons for the request for the stay. The district director in his discretion may grant or deny the alien's request. No appeal shall lie from a denial of a request for a stay. In case the alien is detained, whether at the expense of the Government or the transportation line, the request of the alien for a stay shall not be granted unless the alien or someone in his behalf deposits sufficient cash to defray the cost of his continued detention and expenses incident thereto for the period of time deportation is requested to be stayed, or, in lieu of cash, a bond acceptable to the district director guaranteeing the payment of all such expenses. In any case in which the stay is granted under section 237 (d) of the Immigration and Nationality Act and the alien is detained by the Service, the district director, in his discretion, may authorize the alien's release under bond on Form I–324 as provided in section 237 (d) of that Act and under such terms and conditions as the district director may, in his discretion, prescribe.

§ 237.12 Notice to transportation line of alien's exclusion. Whenever it is determined that an alien shall be excluded and deported the alien shall be offered for deportation to the master, commanding officer, purser, person in charge, agent, owner or consignee of the vessel or aircraft by which the alien is to be deported, immediately or as promptly as the circumstances permit as determined by the district director, with a notice specifying the cause of exclusion and the class of travel in which such alien arrived and in which the alien is to be deported.

§ 237.13 Notice to district director of proposed departure. At least 24 hours' notice of the time of sailing of every vessel which has brought aliens to the United States shall be given the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the port at which such vessel arrived: Provided, That such district director or officer in charge may, in his discretion, accept advance notice that is given less than 24 hours in advance of sailing whenever it appears to such officer that it was impossible or impracticable for the transportation line to furnish such information earlier.

§ 237.14 Aliens rejected at ports outside the United States. Any alien destined to the United States, arriving at a port in foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands, having been brought there by a transportation line signatory to a contract made pursuant to section 238 (a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, who is there excluded from admission to the United States, shall be returned to the country whence he came by the transportation line bringing him unless, upon examination by officials of such territory or island, such alien is admitted to such territory or island.

§ 237.15 Excluded aliens requiring special care and attention. The provisions of § 243.11 of this chapter shall apply to the deportation of aliens under this part.

§ 237.21 Submission of proof by transportation line. A transportation line claiming exemption from liability for the cost of the alien's maintenance in accordance with the provisions of § 237.2 shall be afforded a reasonable period of time, as determined by the district director, within which to submit to the district director affidavits and briefs in support of a claim to exemption.

SUBPART A—SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 238.1 Inspection outside the United States. All inspections and medical examinations which may be conducted in foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands under the provisions of section 238 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, shall be in all respects similar to those conducted at ports of entry in the United States, and all necessary facilities shall be provided the proper officials of the United States to enable them to make the inspections and examinations required under the immigration laws of the United States.

§ 238.2 Contracts with transportation lines. The contracts with transportation lines including bonding agreements, referred to in section 238 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, shall be made by the Commissioner in behalf of the government, and shall be in such form as the Commissioner shall prescribe.

§ 238.3 Contracts and bonding agreement for certain transit aliens. Transportation lines desiring to bring to the United States aliens in direct and continuous transit through the United States en route to foreign destinations in accordance with the provisions of section 238 (d) of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall apply to the Commissioner for the privilege of entering into a contract, including a bonding agreement. Such contract, if agreed to by the Commissioner shall be on Form I–426 or I–426A in duplicate, whichever the Commissioner deems appropriate, and shall require the transportation line to furnish a bond on Form I–318 or I–318A, as designated by the Commissioner, containing such terms and conditions as the Commissioner shall require and guaranteeing that any aliens permitted to pass through the United States pursuant to the agreement will proceed and depart in accordance with the terms and conditions of the agreement.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 238.11 Preexamination outside the United States—(a) Who may apply. Subject to the limitations hereinafter provided, whenever officers of the Service are stationed in foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands, persons (whether citizens or nationals of the United States or aliens) who intend to apply for admission to the United States may appear before such officer to be preexamined as to admissibility to the United States. Persons required by the Immigration and Nationality Act and this chapter to be in possession of a permit to enter or a passport shall not be preexamined unless such permit to enter or passport is presented.

(b) Preparation of Form I–94. A full set of Forms I–94 shall be prepared by an immigration officer for an alien presenting himself for preexamination if such set of forms would be required to be prepared under the provisions of § 221.3 of this chapter were the alien applying at a port of entry for admission to the United States. If a full set of Forms I–94 would not be so required and if the applicant is an alien not in possession of a permit to enter, or if the applicant is a citizen or a national of the United States, the immigration officer shall prepare a Form I–94F for the applicant. The names and ages of children under 14 years of age may be included in the Form I–94 prepared for an accompanying parent or guardian.

(c) Procedure when applicant found admissible. If the examining officer determines that the applicant being preexamined is admissible to the United States he shall note the I–94E, I–94F, I–132, 256a or 257d prepared for or presented by the applicant to show that determination, and return the form so noted (attached to any other pertinent immigration documents) to the applicant for presentation and surrender at the actual port of entry in the United States. If the applicant applies for admission to the United States at a port of entry in the United States within 30 days of the notation of the preexamining officer and there has been no change in immigration status since such notation, the applicant may be admitted upon identification, provided however that he presents valid, unexpired documents required by the Immigration and Nationality Act and this chapter to the same extent as in the case of a person applying for admission without having been preexamined. The port of entry into the United States shall be the "record" port of entry for all purposes. If the examining immigration officer at the port of entry is not satisfied of the applicant's admissibility notwithstanding the determination on preexamination, further action in the case shall be taken as provided in sections 235, 236, and 237 of the Immigration and Nationality Act and Parts 235, 236, and 237 of this chapter to the same extent as though the alien had not been preexamined.

(d) Procedure when applicant not found admissible. If the examining immigration officer is not satisfied that the applicant being preexamined is admissible to the United States, further action in the case shall be taken as provided in sections 235, 236, and 237 of the Immigration and Nationality Act and Parts 235, 236, and 237 of this chapter to the same extent as though the applicant were applying for admission at a port of entry, except that if the applicant is found admissible by the special inquiry officer or on appeal, the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section shall govern the further disposition of the case.

239.2 Landing requirements.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS [RESERVED]

SUBPART A—SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 239.1 Definitions. As used in this part, the term "scheduled airline" means any individual, partnership, corporation, or association engaged in air transportation upon regular schedules to, over, or away from the United States, or from one place to another in the United States, and holding a Foreign Air Carrier Permit or a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity issued pursuant to the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938.

§ 239.2 Landing requirements—(a) Place of landing. Aircraft carrying passengers or crew required to be inspected under the Immigration and Nationality Act shall land at international airports of entry enumerated in § 231.7 of this chapter unless permission to land elsewhere shall first be obtained from the Commissioner of Customs in the case of aircraft operated by scheduled airlines, and in all other cases from the Collector or other Customs officer having jurisdiction over the airport of entry nearest the intended place of landing. Whenever such permission is granted, the owner, operator, or person in charge of the aircraft shall pay any additional expenses incurred in inspecting passengers or crew on board such aircraft, except that when permission is granted to a scheduled airline to land an aircraft operating on a schedule no inspection charge shall be made for overtime service performed by immigration officers if the aircraft arrives substantially in accordance with the schedules on file with the Service.

(b) Advance notice of arrival. Aircraft carrying passengers or crew required to be inspected under the Immigration and Nationality Act, except aircraft of a scheduled airline arriving in accordance with the regular schedule filed with the Service at the place of landing, shall not land unless notice of the intended flight has been furnished to the immigration officers at or nearest the intended place of landing. Such notice shall specify the type of aircraft, the registration marks thereon, the name of the aircraft commander, the place of last departure, the airport of entry, or other place at which landing has been authorized, number of alien passengers, number of citizen passengers, and the estimated time of arrival. The notice shall be sent in sufficient time to enable the officers designated to inspect the aircraft to reach the airport of entry or such other place of landing prior to the arrival of the aircraft.

(c) Permission to discharge or depart. Aircraft carrying passengers or crew required to be inspected under the Immigration and Nationality Act shall not discharge or permit to depart any passenger or crewman without permission from an immigration officer.

(d) Emergency or forced landing. Should any aircraft carrying passengers or crew required to be inspected under the Immigration and Nationality Act make a forced landing in the United States, the commanding officer or person in command shall not allow any passenger or crewman thereon to depart from the landing place without permission of an immigration officer, unless such departure is necessary for purposes of safety or the preservation of life or property. As soon as practicable, the commanding officer or person in command, or the owner of the aircraft, shall communicate with the nearest immigration officer and make a full report of the circumstances of the flight and of the emergency or forced landing.

§ 239.3 Aircraft; how considered. Except as otherwise specifically provided in the Immigration and Nationality Act and this chapter, aircraft arriving in or departing from the continental United States or Alaska directly from or to foreign contiguous territory or the French islands of St. Pierre or Miquelon shall be regarded for the purposes of the Immigration and Nationality Act and this chapter as other transportation lines or companies arriving or departing over the land borders of the United States.

§ 239.4 International airports for entry of aliens. International airports for the entry of aliens shall be those airports designated as such by the Commissioner. Application for designation of an airport as an international airport for the entry of aliens shall be made to the Commissioner and shall state whether the airport (a) has been approved by the Secretary of Commerce as a properly equipped airport, (b) has been designated by the Secretary of the Treasury as a port of entry for aircraft arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof and for the merchandise carried thereon, and (c) has been designated by the Federal Security Administrator as a place for quarantine inspection. An airport shall not be designated by the Commissioner without such prior approval and designation, and unless it appears to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that conditions render such designation necessary or advisable, and unless adequate facilities have been or will be provided at such airport without cost to the Federal Government for the proper inspection and disposition of aliens, including office space and temporary detention quarters found necessary. The designation of an airport as an international airport for the entry of aliens may be withdrawn whenever, in the judgment of the Commissioner, there appears just cause for such action.

SUBPART A—SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 242.1 Warrant of arrest—(a) Issuance. Subject to the limitations provided in this part, district directors, district enforcement officers, district officers and the assistant district officers who are in charge of investigations, and officers in charge of suboffices may issue warrants of arrest.

(b) Cancellation; termination of proceedings. In any case in which a warrant of arrest has been issued by any of the officers described in paragraph (a) of this section, the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the case may (1) cancel the warrant of arrest if it has not been served, or (2) prior to the actual commencement of the hearing under a served warrant of arrest, terminate proceedings thereunder, if in either case, he is satisfied clearly and beyond a doubt on the evidence then before him that the alleged alien is actually a national of the United States, or is not deportable under the immigration laws, or is deceased, or has departed from the United States subsequent to the issuance of the warrant of arrest.

§ 242.2 Detention or release of aliens from custody. District directors, district enforcement officers, or officers in charge may exercise the authority contained in section 242 of the Immigration and Nationality Act to continue in, detain in, or release aliens from, custody.

§ 242.3 Release—(a) Prior to final order. Except as provided in § 242.72 of this part, pending final determination of deportability, an alien taken into or continued in custody under a warrant of arrest in a deportation proceeding may be detained, released under bond on Form I–353, or released on conditional parole, in the discretion of the district director, the district enforcement officer, or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the place where the alien is detained. Such bond or parole may be revoked at any time in the discretion of any such officers.

(b) After final order of deportation; within six months' period—(1) Alien detained. Except as provided in § 242.72, at any time during the period of six months immediately following the date of the making of the final order of deportation as determined under section 242 (c) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the alien, if then in custody of the Service, may be released under bond on Form I–353, or on conditional parole, in the discretion of the district director, district enforcement officer, or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the place where the alien is detained. Such bond or parole may be revoked at any time in the discretion of any of such officers.

(2) Alien previously released under bond. During the period of 6 months following the date of the making of a final order of deportation as determined under section 242 (c) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, in the discretion of the district director, district enforcement officer, or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office which authorized the alien's release, an alien previously released under bond pending final determination of deportability pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section may be (i) continued at liberty under such bond, (ii) continued at liberty under such bond but with such other or additional conditions as then are deemed appropriate, (iii) continued at liberty under conditional parole in lieu of bond, in which event the outstanding bond shall be revoked and canceled, or (iv) taken into physical custody and detained, in which event, unless a breach has occurred, the outstanding bond shall be revoked and canceled.

(3) Alien previously released on conditional parole. During the period of six months following the date of the making of a final order of deportation as determined under section 242 (c) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, in the discretion of the district director, district enforcement officer, or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office which authorized the alien's release, an alien previously released on conditional parole pending final determination of deportability pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section may be (i) continued at liberty under such parole, (ii) continued at liberty under such parole but with such other or additional terms as then are deemed appropriate, (iii) continued at liberty under bond in lieu of conditional parole, in which event the outstanding conditional parole order shall be revoked and canceled, or (iv) taken into physical custody and detained, in which event the outstanding conditional parole order shall be revoked and canceled.

(c) Release; supervision after six month's period has expired; warning of penal provisions. An alien against whom an order of deportation has been outstanding for more than six months shall, pending deportation, be placed under supervision by the district director, district enforcement officer, or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which the detention or release of such alien was authorized. An alien placed under supervision pursuant to this paragraph shall be advised of the penal provisions of section 242 (d) of the Immigration and Nationality Act. Aliens placed under such supervision shall, among other things, be required to:

(1) Appear from time to time at specified times or intervals before an officer of the Service for identification;

(2) Submit, if necessary, to medical and psychiatric examination at government expense;

(3) Give information under oath as to his nationality, circumstances, habits, associations and activities, and other information whether or not related to the foregoing as may be deemed fit and proper; and

§ 242.5 Hearing. The person against whom a warrant of arrest has been issued and upon whom it has been served shall be referred to as the respondent. The proceedings before a special inquiry officer under section 242 (b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall be termed a hearing.

§ 242.6 Authority of special inquiry officers. In determining cases submitted for hearing, special inquiry officers shall exercise the authority contained in section 242 (b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act to order deportation, and the authority contained in section 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act to suspend deportation and to authorize voluntary departure, subject to the limitations contained in this part and in Parts 6 and 7 of this chapter.

§ 242.7 Reinstatement of prior order of deportation; authority. Subject to the limitations hereinafter provided, the authority contained in section 242 (f) of the Immigration and Nationality Act to find that an alien has unlawfully reentered the United States after having previously departed or been deported pursuant to an order of deportation shall be exercised by special inquiry officers.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 242.11 Investigations—(a) Persons believed to be subject to deportation. The case of every person believed to be subject to arrest and deportation shall be investigated by such officer as may be designated for that purpose.

(b) Purpose of investigation. The purpose of the investigation shall be to discover whether or not a prima facie case for deportation exists; that is, whether there is credible evidence reasonably establishing that the person investigated is an alien and that he is subject to deportation.

(c) Recorded statements. Whenever, in the course of an investigation, information is obtained which indicates that the person investigated is subject to arrest and deportation, and it is desired to use such information as evidence in support of an application for a warrant of arrest, such information shall be reduced to writing either in narrative or question-and-answer form and signed by the person furnishing the information. Whenever such recorded statement is to be obtained from any person, the investigating officer shall (1) identify himself to such person, (2) warn the person that any statement made by him may be used as evidence against him in any subsequent proceeding, and (3) place the person under oath or affirmation.

(d) Refusal to make, or refusal or inability to sign a statement. Whenever, in the course of an investigation, admissions or statements are obtained from the person under investigation or statements are made by any other person which indicate that the person investigated may be subject to arrest and deportation, but there is a refusal to make a statement under oath or affirmation, or a refusal or inability to sign the statement by name or by mark, the investigating officer shall make a report setting forth the facts admitted or stated. Such report, with any unsigned or unsworn statement which has been reduced to writing, may be used in support of an application for a warrant of arrest if the investigating officer certifies that no other evidence to establish the facts stated in the report can readily be obtained.

§ 242.12 Applications for warrants of arrest. If, after preliminary investigation, the investigating officer determines that a prima facie case for deportation of an alien exists, he shall apply for a warrant of arrest to an officer having authority to issue warrants of arrest.

§ 242.13 Issuance of warrants of arrest. Any officer mentioned in § 242.1 (a) who receives an application for a warrant of arrest may issue such warrant in any case in which he determines that a prima facie case for deportation has been established.

§ 242.14 Execution of warrants of arrest—(a) Service. Except as provided in § 242.34, an alien against whom a warrant of arrest has been issued shall be taken into custody under the authority of the warrant of arrest, or if previously taken into custody without a warrant of arrest under the authority contained in section 287 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, shall be continued in custody under the warrant of arrest subsequently issued unless his release is authorized. In either case a copy of the warrant of arrest shall be served upon the alien, and he shall then be fully advised of the cause of his arrest. If the alien is confined in a penal or mental institution but is competent to understand the nature of the proceedings, a copy of the warrant of arrest shall be served upon him and upon the person in charge of the institution. The alien shall then be fully advised of the charges against him but he shall not be taken into physical custody of the Service until released from confinement. If such alien is not competent to understand the nature of the proceedings, a copy of the warrant of arrest shall be served only upon the person in charge of the institution in which the alien is confined, and such service shall be deemed service upon the alien. In cases of mental incompetency, whether or not confined in an institution, and in cases of children under 16 years of age, an additional copy of the warrant of arrest shall be served upon such alien's guardian, near relative, or friend, whenever possible.

(b) Notice of right to counsel and release from custody. Upon service of the warrant of arrest, the alien shall be advised of his right to representation by counsel, at no expense to the Government, at the hearing to be held under the warrant of arrest. When taken into physical custody of the Service he shall be informed whether he is to be continued in custody or, if release from custody has been authorized, of the amount and conditions of bond or terms of conditional parole under which he may be released. Similar advice shall be given to the guardian, near relative, or friend in cases involving mentally incompetent aliens, whether or not confined in institutions, and in cases of aliens under 16 years of age.

(c) Fingerprints; photographs. Every alien 14 years of age or older who is arrested under a warrant of arrest in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, or without a warrant of arrest under the authority of section 287 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, shall be fingerprinted. Any alien so arrested, regardless of his age, shall be photographed if a photograph is required by the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the case.

§ 242.21 Report to district director of continued detention. In any case in which a district enforcement officer or officer in charge has exercised the authority to continue or detain an alien in custody, the facts and a report of the action taken shall be promptly transmitted to the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which the proceedings were instituted. Further action shall be taken in the case, with respect to the alien's detention or release, as the district director shall direct.

§ 242.31 Release prior to entry of order of deportation; conditions. The conditions of any bond or terms of parole authorized by § 242.3 (a) shall include but shall not be limited to:

(a) A condition that the alien be produced, or will produce himself

(1) When required to do so for the purpose of defending himself against the charge or charges under which he was taken into custody and any other charges which subsequently may be lodged against him,

(2) For deportation, if an order of deportation is made,

(3) When the alien's detention is ordered as provided in § 242.3,

(4) For the purpose of furnishing additional information necessary to the final disposition of the case; and

(b) Such other conditions or terms as are otherwise directed, or which the officer granting the release deems appropriate in the case. If a bond is required and accepted, it shall be executed on Form I–353 and shall be in an amount not less than $500.

§ 242.32 Release after order of deportation; conditions. The conditions of any bond or terms of parole authorized by § 242.3 (b) shall include but shall not be limited to:

(a) A condition that the alien be produced, or will produce himself

(1) When required to do so for deportation,

(2) For the purpose of furnishing additional information necessary to the final disposition of his case,

(3) When the alien's detention is ordered as provided in § 242.3; and

(b) Such other conditions or terms as are otherwise directed, or which the officer granting the release deems appropriate in the case. If a bond is required and accepted, it shall be executed on Form I–353 and shall be in an amount not less than $500.

§ 242.33 Warning of penal provision. An alien against whom a final order of deportation is outstanding by reason of his being a member of any of the classes described in paragraph (4), (5), (6), (7), (11), (12), (14), (15), (16), (17), or (18) of section 241 (a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall be advised of the penal provisions of section 242 (e) of the said Act.

§ 242.34 Institution cases. In the absence of special instructions, an alien confined in an institution shall not be accepted into physical custody by the Service until an order of deportation has been made and the Service is ready to deport the alien.

§ 242.35 Cost of maintenance pending deportation. The cost of maintaining aliens in custody after arrest and pending deportation may be borne by the Government, except that when an alien is an inmate of a public or private institution at the time of the commencement of deportation proceedings, no expense shall be incurred by the Government until he is taken into physical custody by the Service.

§ 242.41 Voluntary departure prior to commencement of hearing; procedure. Any alien, other than an alien prima facie deportable under section 242 (f) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, who believes himself to be eligible for voluntary departure under section 242 (b) of the said act may apply therefor at an office of the Service at any time prior to the commencement of the hearing under a warrant of arrest in his case. The district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office receiving an application for voluntary departure may cause such investigation to be conducted as he deems necessary to determine whether the relief requested should be granted. If such officer is satisfied that:

(a) The alien is subject to deportation upon any ground other than those set forth in paragraph (4), (5), (6), (7), (11), (12), (14), (15), (16), (17), or (18) of section 241 (a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act,

(b) The alien is willing and able to depart promptly from the United States,

(c) The alien apparently will be admitted to the country of his destination, and

(d) The application should be granted, he shall grant the application and shall inform the alien of the time within which and under what conditions the departure shall be effected. If such officer is not so satisfied that the application should be granted, he shall deny the application and shall take further action as is provided by the Immigration and Nationality Act and this chapter for the ultimate disposition of the case. No appeal shall lie from such denial, but the denial shall be without prejudice to the alien's right to apply for relief from deportation under any provision of the said act.

§ 242.42 Revocation of grant of voluntary departure. If, subsequent to the granting of an application for voluntary departure under § 242.41 it is ascertained prior to the alien's actual departure from the United States that the alien should not be permitted to depart voluntarily under that section, the grant of voluntary departure may be revoked by any district director or officer in charge without notice. Thereupon, further proceedings shall be taken under this chapter and the Immigration and Nationality Act as are warranted by the facts in the case.

§ 242.51 Hearing; time for. The respondent shall have a reasonable period of time after the service of the warrant of arrest within which to arrange for the presentation of his case, including, if desired, representation by counsel. The district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which the proceedings are pending shall assign the case to a special inquiry officer for hearing.

§ 242.52 Notice of hearing. The respondent shall be given notice, reasonable under all the circumstances, of the nature of the charges against him and of the time and place at which the proceedings will be held. Notice of hearings shall be prepared on Form I–226. A copy of such notice shall be served upon the respondent, and, in any case in which the respondent has been released on bond, upon the surety on the bond. The notice of hearing shall inform the respondent of the nature of the charges, the time and place at which the hearing will be held, and the respondent's privilege of being represented, at no expense to the Government by such counsel, authorized to practice in such proceedings, as he shall choose. Notice of hearing may be waived by the respondent and such waiver shall be made a part of the record of the case.

(1) Administer oaths and affirmations;

(2) Issue, during the course of a hearing, any subpenas authorized by law;

(3) Conduct the hearing, present and receive evidence, and rule upon all objections to the introduction of evidence or motions made during the course of the hearing;

(4) Take or cause depositions to be taken;

(5) Make decisions in accordance with § 242.61 or § 242.76; and

(6) Take any further action consistent with applicable provisions of law and regulation.

(b) Special inquiry officers; general duties. The special inquiry officer shall conduct a fair and impartial hearing. No decision of deportability shall be valid unless based upon reasonable, substantial and probative evidence. He shall exclude from the record any evidence that is irrelevant, immaterial, or unduly repetitious. In his discretion, he may exclude from the record any argument in support of objections, but in such event, the respondent may submit a brief in support of such objections. If the testimony is transcribed, the special inquiry officer shall certify that to the best of his knowledge and belief the transcript is a true and correct report of everything that was stated during the course of the hearing, including oaths administered and rulings on objections, but excluding statements made off the record.

(c) Special inquiry officers; specific duties. At the commencement of the hearing under this part, the special inquiry officer shall (1) place the respondent under oath or affirmation, (2) advise the respondent of his right to representation, at no expense to the Government, by counsel authorized to practice in such proceedings, as he shall choose, and require him to state then and there for the record whether he desires such representation, (3) enter of record a copy of the warrant of arrest and explain to the respondent in simple, understandable language the nature of the charges contained therein, (4) advise the respondent that he will have a reasonable opportunity to examine the evidence against him, to present evidence in his own behalf, and to cross-examine witnesses presented by the Government, and (5) present the evidence, including the interrogation, examination, and cross-examination of the respondent and witnesses to the extent necessary, as to (i) alienage, (ii) date, place and manner of entry of the respondent into the United States, (iii) grounds for deportation, (iv) factors bearing upon the respondent's eligibility for discretionary relief if application therefor has been made, and (v) such other matter as may be pertinent to the issues in the case. Except in the case of an alien prima facie deportable under section 242 (f) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the special inquiry officer, in such cases and at such time during the hearing as he deems appropriate, may advise the respondent concerning application for the privilege of suspension of deportation or voluntary departure under the provisions of section 244 of the said Act, and shall further advise the respondent of his right to specify the country to which his deportation is to be directed in the event such deportation is required by law and request the respondent to specify such country for the record.

(d) Special inquiry officers; additional charges. If it appears during the hearing that the respondent may be deportable on grounds other than or in addition to those stated in the warrant of arrest, the special inquiry officer, except as provided in § 242.75, may lodge additional charges against the respondent and shall develop evidence upon such charges in like manner as on the charges specified in the warrant of arrest. When additional charges are lodged, the special inquiry officer shall explain these charges to the respondent in simple, understandable language and shall advise him, if he is not represented by an attorney or other qualified representative, that he may be so represented if he desires, and require him to state then and there for the record whether he desires such representation. The special inquiry officer shall also inform the respondent that he may have a reasonable period of time within which to meet the additional charges, if he desires, and require him to state then and there whether he desires such additional time.

(e) Withdrawal and substitution of special inquiry officer. The special inquiry officer assigned to conduct the hearing may at any time withdraw if he deems himself disqualified. If a special inquiry officer becomes unavailable to complete his duties within a reasonable time, another special inquiry officer shall be assigned to complete the case. In such event, the new special inquiry officer shall familiarize himself with the record in the case and shall state for the record that he has done so.

(f) Assignment of examining officer in addition to special inquiry officer; duties of examining officer. Prior to the commencement of a hearing, or during the course of a hearing upon the request of the special inquiry officer presiding at such hearing, the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the place where the proceedings are pending, in his discretion, may assign an immigration officer to act at the hearing as the examining officer. The examining officer shall in such case conduct any required interrogation of the respondent and of the witnesses in behalf of the Government, examine or cross-examine the respondent's witnesses and present evidence bearing upon the question whether the respondent is subject to deportation. Except as provided in §§ 242.74 and 242.75, he shall lodge such additional charges as he may find to be applicable and, if the respondent has applied for relief from deportation, inquire thoroughly into the respondent's eligibility for the relief requested, and develop such other information as may be pertinent to the proper disposition of the case. The assignment of an examining officer shall not impair the authority conferred by the Immigration and Nationality Act or this chapter upon the special inquiry officer presiding at such hearing.

(g) Representation by counsel. If the respondent is represented at the hearing by an attorney or other qualified representative, the attorney or representative shall be permitted to be present during the entire hearing, to introduce evidence in behalf of the respondent and to cross-examine witnesses. The attorney or representative shall be permitted to state his objections succinctly, and they shall be entered on the record. If representation is waived, the respondent shall be permitted to introduce evidence in his own behalf, to cross-examine witnesses, and to make objections which shall be entered on the record.

(h) Interpreters. If the services of an interpreter are found necessary in the conduct of a hearing, the special inquiry officer, if qualified, may act as interpreter with the consent of the respondent, or he may request the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction of the office in which the proceedings are pending to furnish an interpreter, who shall be sworn to interpret and translate accurately, unless the interpreter is an employee of the Service, in which event, no such oath shall be required.

(i) Postponement and adjournment of hearings. Prior to the commencement of a hearing, the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction of the office wherein the case is pending, may grant a reasonable postponement for good cause shown, at his own instance upon notice to the respondent, or upon request of the respondent. After the commencement of the hearing, the special inquiry officer presiding at the hearing may grant a reasonable adjournment for good cause shown, at his own instance upon notice to the respondent or upon request of the respondent. A continuance of the hearing for the purpose of allowing the alien to obtain representation, shall not be granted more than once, unless sufficient cause for the granting of more time is shown. The file or the record of hearing shall reflect the action taken with respect to any postponement or adjournment of hearing. Exceptions to a ruling on a request for a postponement or an adjournment of hearing may be taken by the respondent and, if taken, shall be noted on the record.

(j) Consolidation. Whenever two or more cases pending in the same district involve common questions of law or fact, the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction of the office wherein the cases are pending, may order a joint hearing of any or all matters and issues common to the cases, he may order all such hearings consolidated, and may make such further orders as may tend to avoid unnecessary cost and delay.

§ 242.54 Contents of record; evidence—(a) Record. The testimony, the exhibits, the decision of the special inquiry officer, and all written motions and other papers and requests filed in the proceeding, shall constitute the record in the case.

(b) Use of prior statements. The special inquiry officer may enter of record any statement, oral or written, which is material and relevant to any issue in the case, previously made by the respondent or any other person during any investigation, examination, or hearing. If objection thereto is made by the alien or his counsel or representative, the reasons for the objection, as well as the ruling thereon by the special inquiry officer, shall be made a part of the record.

(c) Stipulation. Whenever any facts or other matters at issue in the case have been stipulated in writing prior to the hearing, upon agreement between an officer of the Service and the respondent and his attorney or representative, and the stipulation has been signed by such persons, the special inquiry officer may enter the stipulation as an exhibit of record. Nothing in this paragraph shall preclude an oral or written confession or admission of any fact during a hearing under this part.

(d) Application for discretionary relief. Except in the case of an alien who is prima facie deportable under section 242 (f) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, at any time during the hearing the respondent may apply on Form I–256A for suspension of deportation or for voluntary departure, under section 244 of the said Act. The burden of establishing that he meets the statutory requirements for discretionary relief shall be upon the respondent. He may submit any evidence in support of his application which he believes should be considered by the special inquiry officer.

§ 242.61 Decision of special inquiry officer—(a) Preparation of written decision. Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section and § 242.76, the special inquiry officer shall, as soon as practicable after the conclusion of the hearing, prepare a written decision signed by him which shall set forth a summary of the evidence adduced and his findings of fact and conclusions of law as to deportability, unless such findings and conclusions are waived by the respondent orally during the hearing or by written waiver filed with the special inquiry officer after the conclusion of the hearing. If the respondent has applied for discretionary relief in accordance with the provisions of § 242.54 (d), the decision shall also contain a discussion of the evidence relating to the alien's eligibility for such relief and the reasons for granting or denying such application. The decision shall be concluded with the order of the special inquiry officer as provided in paragraph (c) of this section.

(b) Oral decision. In any case in which he deems such action appropriate, the special inquiry officer may, after conclusion of the hearing, state for the record in the presence of the respondent or his counsel or representative his decision, which shall include the summary, findings, conclusions, discussion, and order referred to in paragraph (a) of this section. The respondent shall thereupon state for the record whether he desires to be served with a written decision as provided in paragraph (d) of this section. If he then and there waives service of a written decision, the respondent shall thereupon state for the record and submit on Form I–290A any exception enumerated in paragraph (e) (2) of this section taken by him. If such exception is taken, the respondent shall be required to state whether he desires to submit to the district director or officer in charge, having administrative jurisdiction of the office in which the hearing was held, a brief in support of such exception for consideration by the Board. If he desires to submit a brief, the respondent shall be allowed ten days from the date of the oral decision within which to submit his brief to such district director or officer in charge. For good cause shown, such district director or officer in charge or the special inquiry officer presiding at the hearing, or the Board, in their discretion, may extend the time within which the brief may be submitted. In any case in which the respondent states for the record that he desires to submit a brief, he may, within the period allowed for the submission of such brief, file with the district director or the officer in charge a written waiver thereof.

(c) Order of special inquiry officer. The order of the special inquiry officer shall be (1) that the alien be deported, or (2) that the proceedings be terminated, or (3) that the alien's deportation be suspended, or (4) that the alien be granted voluntary departure at his own expense in lieu of deportation within such period of time or authorized extension thereof and under such conditions as the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction of the office in which the case is pending shall direct, with the further order that, if he fails to depart, he be deported, or (5) that such other action be taken in the proceedings as may be required for the appropriate disposition of the case. The special inquiry officer shall not have authority to designate at whose expense or to which country the alien shall be deported.

(d) Notice of decision. In any case in which the respondent has not waived service of a written decision, the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction of the office in which the proceeding is pending shall cause a signed copy of the decision of the special inquiry officer to be served on the respondent, with the notice referred to in § 6.11 of this chapter.

(e) Finality of order. The order of the special inquiry officer shall be final except when:

(1) The case has been certified to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, as provided in § 7.1 (b) of this chapter, or certified to the Board as provided in § 6.1 (c) of this chapter;

(2) The respondent takes specific exception to:

(i) Any finding of fact or conclusion of law as to deportability; or

(ii) A denial of an application for suspension of deportation; or

(iii) A finding that the alien has failed to establish statutory eligibility for voluntary departure; or

(iv) A denial of an application for voluntary departure in a case in which the respondent has been in the United States for a period of 5 years or more at the time the warrant of arrest in deportation proceedings is served upon him.

(f) Appeal. The taking of exceptions and the submission of Form I–290A in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section shall constitute the taking of an appeal referred to in Part 6 of this chapter and this part. In any other case, a respondent may appeal from a decision of a special inquiry officer by taking exceptions to any of the actions enumerated in paragraph (e) (2) of this section on Form I–290A within ten days of the receipt of the written decision in the case.

§ 242.71 Apprehension of alien. An alien within the purview of section 242 (f) of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall be taken into custody in accordance with §§ 242.1, and 242.11 to 242.14, inclusive. The warrant of arrest shall charge the alien with deportability only under section 242 (f) of the said Act. The prior order of deportation, properly identified, shall constitute prima facie cause for deportation under section 242 (f) of the said Act.

§ 242.72 Release from custody. The provisions of § 242.3 (a) and (b) shall not be applicable to the case of any alien apprehended under § 242.71 unless specific authority to release thereunder has been granted by the Commissioner or the Assistant Commissioner, Detention, Deportation, and Border Patrol Division. The provisions of § 242.3 (c) shall apply to such case.

§ 242.73 Conduct of hearing; decision; finality of order. Except as hereafter provided in §§ 242.74 to 242.76 inclusive, all of the provisions of §§ 242.5, 242.51 to 242.54, 242.6 and 242.61 shall apply to the case of an alien apprehended in accordance with § 242.71.

§ 242.74 Relief from deportation. An alien who is prima facie deportable under the provisions of section 242 (f) of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall not be permitted to apply for voluntary departure in lieu of deportation or for suspension of deportation and shall not be granted such relief.

§ 242.75 Scope of hearing. The hearing referred to in § 242.73 shall be limited solely to a consideration and determination of the following issues:

(a) Identity of respondent, i. e., whether respondent is in fact a person who was previously deported or departed pursuant to an order of deportation.

(b) Whether the respondent was previously deported as a member of any of the classes described in paragraph (4), (5), (6), (7), (11), (12), (14), (15), (16), (17), or (18) of section 241 (a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

(c) Whether the respondent unlawfully reentered the United States. If during the course of such hearing it is ascertained that the respondent is not deportable under section 242 (f) of the said Act, the special inquiry officer shall if appropriate, lodge additional charges against the respondent, and further proceedings shall continue as provided in this part.

§ 242.76 Scope of decision. If, on the basis of the evidence presented, the special inquiry officer has determined that the respondent is deportable under section 242 (f) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, he shall state for the record at the conclusion of the hearing and in the presence of the respondent his decision in the case, which shall consist of (a) a summary of the evidence adduced; (b), unless waived by the respondent, his findings of fact and conclusions of law as to the issues described in § 242.75; and (c) an order that the respondent be deported under the previous order of deportation in accordance with section 242 (f) of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

§ 242.77 Appeal. The order of the special inquiry officer that the respondent be deported under the previous order of deportation in accordance with section 242 (f) of the Immigration and Nationality Act may be appealed by the respondent to the Board in accordance with the provisions of § 242.61 (f).

AUTHORITY: §§ 243.1 to 243.15 issued under sec. 103, 66 Stat. 173. Interpret or apply secs. 242, 243, 66 Stat. 208, 212.

SUBPART A—SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 243.1 Issuance of warrants of deportation; country to which alien shall be deported; cost of detention; care and attention of alien—(a) Issuance. In any case in which an order of deportation becomes final a warrant of deportation shall be issued. District directors shall issue warrants of deportation.

(b) Determination of place and cost of deportation, and necessity for attendants. District directors shall exercise the authority contained in section 243 of the Immigration and Nationality Act to designate the country to which, and at whose expense an alien in the United States shall be deported, and to determine when an alien's mental or physical condition requires the employment of a person to accompany the alien.

§ 243.2 Finality of decision. No appeal shall lie from the decision of the district director in the exercise of the authority described in § 243.1.

§ 243.3 Execution of warrants of deportation—(a) Taking alien into custody. Upon the issuance of a warrant of deportation or as soon thereafter as the circumstances of the case require, the alien, if not in the physical custody of the Service, shall be taken into such custody under the authority of such warrant of deportation and deported.

(b) Stay of deportation. Except as otherwise provided herein, the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the place where the alien is located, in the exercise of his discretion, may stay the execution of a warrant and order of deportation for such time and under such conditions as he may deem appropriate, upon a showing of good and substantial cause. He may grant such stay upon his own instance or upon request of the alien. A request for a stay by the alien shall be in writing, shall be filed with such district director, and shall be supported by an affidavit setting forth the reasons for the request with such other evidentiary matter as may support the request. In any case in which the request for a stay of deportation is predicated upon a claim by the alien that he would be subject to physical persecution if deported to the country designated by the district director, the office receiving the request shall transmit it to the Commissioner for decision. Notice of disposition of the alien's request shall be served upon him but neither the making of the request nor the failure to receive notice of decision thereon shall relieve or excuse the alien from presenting himself for deportation at the time and place designated for his deportation. No appeal shall lie from a denial of a request for a stay of deportation, but such denial shall not preclude the Board from granting a stay in connection with a motion to reopen or a motion to reconsider as provided in § 6.21 (a) of this chapter.

(c) Voluntary departure under order of deportation. Subject to the limitations and provisions of sections 242 (g) and 243 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the place where the alien is located, in his discretion, may permit an alien who has been ordered deported to depart voluntarily from the United States under the order of deportation.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 243.11 Special care and attention for aliens—(a) Duty of transportation line. When it is determined by the district director that an alien about to be deported requires special care and attention, the transportation line responsible for the expense of the alien's deportation shall provide for such care and attention as may be required by the alien's condition not only during the voyage from the United States to the foreign country to which deported but also during the foreign inland journey as hereinafter provided. Such alien shall be delivered to the master, commanding officer, or the officer in charge of the vessel or aircraft on which the alien is to be deported, who shall be given Form I–287 and duplicate carbon sheets A, B, and C thereof. The receipt and sheet A shall be filled out except as to signature by an immigration officer. The receipt attached to sheet A shall be signed by the officer of the vessel or aircraft to whom the alien has been delivered and returned forthwith to the immigration officer making delivery. Sheets B and C shall be retained by the receiving officer and in due course filled out by the agents or persons therein designated and by them returned by mail as herein provided.

(b) Procedure at foreign port of disembarkation. From the foreign port of disembarkation the transportation line shall at its own expense forward the alien to his destination in charge of a proper attendant except only in cases where the foreign public officials decline to allow such attendant to proceed and themselves take charge of the alien, which fact must be shown by signing the form provided in the lower half of sheet C of Form I–287. If the foreign public officials do not take charge of the alien at the port of disembarkation, but at an interior frontier, both forms on sheet C must be filled out, the former in relation to the inland journey as far as such frontier.

(c) Failure of transportation line to provide special care. Whenever a transportation line responsible for the expenses of the alien's deportation fails, refuses, or neglects to provide personal care and attention for such alien requiring such care and attention, or when such line fails, refuses, neglects to return sheets B and C of Form I–287 properly executed within 90 days after the departure of such alien, or otherwise fails, refuses, or neglects to comply with the provisions of this section, the district director shall thereafter and without notice employ suitable persons, at the expense of the transportation line, to accompany aliens requiring personal care and attention when deported on any vessel or aircraft of such line.

§ 243.12 Deportation of lepers. Cases of aliens afflicted with leprosy shall be handled in accordance with the governing regulations and instructions issued by the Surgeon General, United States Public Health Service, Federal Security Agency.

§ 243.13 Aliens discharged from United States Narcotic Farm. Any alien who has been sentenced to imprisonment and has been ordered deported and who has been transferred as an alien addict to a United States Narcotic Farm provided for in the act of January 19, 1929, shall be taken into custody upon his discharge from such narcotic farm and deported without requiring his return to the penal institution from which he came to such narcotic farm.

§ 243.14 Notice to transportation line. If an alien's deportation is to be effected by vessel or aircraft, notice of the proposed deportation shall be given to the transportation line concerned, together with a brief description of the alien and any other appropriate data, including the cause of deportation, the alien's physical and mental condition, and the place to which the alien is to be taken by such line. Any request from such line to defer the delivery of the alien for deportation shall be accompanied by a written agreement from the line that it will be responsible for all detention expenses resulting from such deferment.

§ 243.15 Deportation to foreign contiguous territory. Aliens ordered deported to foreign contiguous territory shall be returned across the border at the nearest port unless humanitarian or other reasons make it advisable to effect deportation through some other port. Deportation to a seaport in such foreign territory shall be authorized when that appears advisable or more economical than deportation across the land boundary.

PART 244—SUSPENSION OF DEPORTATION AND VOLUNTARY DEPARTURE

Sec.
244.1 Voluntary departure after issuance of warrant of arrest.
244.2 Suspension of deportation.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

244.14 Verification of departure; cancellation of delivery bond.

SUBPART A—SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 244.1 Voluntary departure after issuance of warrant of arrest prior to commencement of hearing. Prior to the commencement of the hearing provided for in Part 242 of this chapter and subject to the provisions of this part, district directors and officers in charge may authorize voluntary departure in lieu of deportation in the case of an alien under deportation proceedings.

(b) Subsequent to commencement of hearing. Subject to the provisions of Part 242 of this chapter, subsequent to the commencement of the hearing provided for in that part a special inquiry officer may grant voluntary departure in lieu of deportation in the case of any alien who is the subject of deportation proceedings before that officer.

§ 244.2 Suspension of deportation. An application for suspension of deportation shall be submitted in accordance with, and subject to, the provisions of § 242.54 (d) of this chapter and shall be determined and disposed of in accordance with the provisions of this part and § 242.61 of this chapter.

§ 244.3 Use of confidential information. In the case of an alien qualified for voluntary departure or suspension of deportation under section 242 or 244 of the Immigration and Nationality Act the determination as to whether the application for voluntary departure or suspension of deportation shall be granted or denied (whether such determination is made initially or on appeal) may be predicated upon confidential information without the disclosure thereof to the applicant, if in the opinion of the officer or the Board making the determination the disclosure of such information would be prejudicial to the public interest, safety, or security.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 244.11 Voluntary departure after issuance of warrant of arrest and prior to commencement of hearing—(a) Application. At any time subsequent to the issuance of a warrant of arrest and prior to the commencement of the hearing the alien, if he believes that he is eligible for voluntary departure under section 244 (e) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, may apply therefor by filing an application with the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which the deportation proceedings against such alien are pending.

(b) Disposition of application. The district director or officer in charge may cause such investigation to be conducted as he deems necessary to determine whether the relief requested should be granted. If such officer is satisfied that:

(1) The alien is subject to deportation upon any ground other than those set forth in paragraph (4), (5), (6), (7), (11), (12), (14), (15), (16), (17), or (18) of section 241 (a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act,

(2) The alien is willing and able to depart promptly from the United States,

(3) The alien apparently will be admitted to the country of his destination,

(4) The alien is and has been a person of good moral character for at least 5 years immediately preceding his application for voluntary departure, and he shall grant the application and shall inform the alien of the time within which and under what conditions the departure shall be effected. If such officer is not so satisfied, or if it appears that applicant is or may be subject to deportation upon any ground set forth in paragraph (4), (5), (6), (7), (11), (12), (14), (15), (16), (17), or (18) of section 241 (a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the district director or officer in charge shall refer the application for voluntary departure with the case of the alien to a special inquiry officer for hearing and determination in accordance with § 242.61 of this chapter and § 244.12.

§ 244.12 Application for voluntary departure subsequent to commencement of hearing; disposition. If the special inquiry officer is satisfied that:

(a) The alien is willing and able to depart promptly from the United States,

(b) The alien apparently will be admitted to the country of his destination,

(c) The alien, if deportable upon any ground set forth in paragraph (4), (5), (6), (7), (11), (12), (14), (15), (16), (17) or (18) of section 241 (a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, is within the classes of persons who are eligible for suspension of deportation under paragraphs (4) or (5) of section 244 (a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act,

(d) The alien is and has been a person of good moral character for at least 5 years immediately preceding his application for voluntary departure, and he shall enter an order as provided in § 242.61 (c).

(e) That the relief requested should be granted,

§ 244.13 Revocation of grant of voluntary departure. If, subsequent to the granting of voluntary departure under this part by a district director or officer in charge, it is ascertained prior to the alien's actual departure from the United States that the alien should not be permitted to depart voluntarily, the grant of voluntary departure may be revoked by any district director or officer in charge without notice. Thereupon further proceedings shall be taken in the case under this chapter and the Immigration and Nationality Act as are warranted by the facts.

§ 244.14 Verification of departure; cancellation of delivery bond. An alien's voluntary departure from the United States authorized in accordance with the provisions of this part, verified to the satisfaction of the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which the application for voluntary departure was made, shall serve to terminate further proceedings in the case and to cancel any outstanding delivery bond.

§ 245.12 Application. Application for adjustment of status under this part shall be made on Form I–507, in duplicate. The application shall be completed in accordance with the instructions appearing thereon and shall be accompanied by (a) two photographs as described in part 10 of this chapter, (b) the Form I–257a, I–94 (c) or other document issued to the applicant at the time of his entry as, or adjustment of status to, a nonimmigrant or as a student under section 4 (e) of the Immigration Act of 1924, and (c) documentary evidence establishing that the applicant meets the eligibility requirements set forth in section 245 of the Immigration and Nationality Act and § 245.11. Such documents shall include but shall not be limited to (1) any available official document showing the alien's police record, (2) any available official document showing the alien's prison record and military record in the United States or abroad, (3) record of the alien's birth, (4) a statement from the United States Department of State showing that a visa would be available to the alien on the date of his application for adjustment under this part, (5) if claiming nonquota status or preference quota status by reason of relationship to a United States citizen or alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence, official certifications establishing such relationship, including records of marriage, birth, and citizenship of the person with whom such relationship is claimed, (6) a financial statement of the alien's net worth including employment records, bank records, copies of income tax returns or other evidence satisfactorily establishing that the alien is not likely to become a public charge, (7) statements from any institutions in which the alien may have been treated for a mental disease or disorder at any time, showing the nature and duration of such disorder and the result of the treatment, (8) documentary evidence, such as school records, employment records, business records, and the like, showing that the alien has continued to maintain his nonimmigrant status. If desired by the applicant, he may submit photographic or typewritten copies of such documents, if such copies are by law permitted to be made, but in such case the original documents must be presented at the examination provided for in § 245.16.

§ 245.13 Attorneys. Attorneys or other persons authorized to practice before the Service who represent applicants shall be permitted to be present during the examination of the alien and the witnesses, to submit briefs and to review the record, either before it is forwarded to the district director, or thereafter, and prior to final decision.

§ 245.14 Procedure upon acceptance of application. Upon acceptance of an application, the applicant shall be notified to submit to an examination by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, whose report setting forth the findings of the mental and physical condition of the applicant shall be incorporated into the record. If an examination before such officer is impracticable and compliance therewith would cause the applicant undue hardship, a certificate from a civil surgeon of not less than four years professional experience, preferably one designated by the United States Public Health Service or Veterans' Administration, may, in the discretion of the district director, be accepted. Any applicant certified for insanity or mental defect may appeal to the Board of Medical Officers of the United States Public Health Service as provided in section 234 of the Immigration and Nationality Act. The applicant shall also be given timely notice of the date and place of the examination provided for in § 245.16, and the case shall be assigned to an immigration officer for the purpose of conducting such examination.

§ 245.15 Evidence; burden of proof. All evidence adduced during an examination under this part may be used at any other proceeding, and the alien shall be duly informed of this fact. The burden of proof shall be upon the applicant. In presenting his proof he shall be entitled to the benefit of any disclosable records concerning him which are in the custody of the Service.

§ 245.16 Examination and investigation—(a) Examination of applicant and witnesses. The immigration officer shall orally review the application with the applicant, or, in the case of a child under 14 years of age, with his parent or guardian. Any necessary changes shall be consecutively numbered by such officer and acknowledged in writing by the applicant, or, in the case of a child, by the parent or guardian, on the application form. The applicant shall at that time produce the original documents, copies of which were submitted, or which he desires to be considered, in support of his application. Such copies or excerpts therefrom as are found to be pertinent shall be verified by the immigration officer from the originals, shall be appropriately marked and numbered for identification and made a part of the application. When no longer required the original documents shall be returned to the applicant. The immigration officer shall then administer the oath or affirmation contained in Form I–507 and obtain the applicant's signature in the appropriate place on that Form. In cases in which the examining officer deems it necessary he shall conduct a further examination of the applicant, or the parent or guardian by interrogation, under oath or affirmation. If the application, supporting documentary evidence, records of the Service, and the testimony adduced, established the applicant's eligibility for adjustment of status, no other witnesses shall be required. Otherwise, such number of credible witnesses preferably citizens of the United States, as may be deemed necessary, shall be questioned under oath or affirmation by the officer concerning the facts of the applicant's eligibility for adjustment. If such witnesses cannot appear because of remoteness, physical disability, or any other cause which the officer deems satisfactory, their affidavits may be accepted in lieu of their personal appearance. The oral testimony given by the applicant, the parent or guardian, or the witnesses, shall not be reduced to writing in verbatim form or stenographically or mechanically recorded, but a résumé thereof shall be prepared and certified as true and correct by the immigration officer and made a part of the record. A verbatim record may be made of such testimony in any case in which the examining officer deems it advisable. If such verbatim record is made stenographically or mechanically recorded, it shall not be transcribed unless the district director denies the application.

(b) Investigations. Necessary investigations in other districts may, when feasible, be conducted by correspondence. If deemed necessary by the immigration officer, further investigations may be conducted by interview or by correspondence. The replies to such correspondence, and the reports of the investigation may be made a part of the record by the immigration officer.

§ 245.17 Disposition of case—(a) Record, recommendation, and review. Upon completion of the examination the immigration officer shall prepare a report of his findings as to each of the essential facts prescribed by section 245 of the Immigration and Nationality Act and § 245.11 together with his recommendation. If the officer is satisfied that the application should be granted, he shall so recommend. If the immigration officer is not satisfied that the application should be granted he shall recommend denial of the application. In any case he shall make a brief summary of the evidence and shall include a statement as to the grounds and reasons for the recommendation. The application, record, supporting documents, photographs, and the report of the immigration officer shall then be transmitted to the district director having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which the examination was conducted. The district director shall approve or disapprove the recommendation of the immigration officer. If he disapproves the recommendation, the district director shall state his reasons in writing.

(b) Application denied. If the district director denies the application, the applicant shall be notified in writing of such decision and of the reasons therefor and, at the same time, shall be advised of his right to appeal to the Assistant Commisisoner, Inspections and Examinations Division, by filing a notice of appeal Form I–290B. The notice of appeal shall be filed at the office of such district director within 10 days from the receipt of notification of such decision as provided in Part 7 of this chapter. The applicant may waive his right to appeal within the 10-day period. If an appeal is taken, the record shall be forwarded to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division for review and decision in accordance with Part 7 of this chapter. If appeal is waived or no appeal is taken within the time permitted, the decision of the district director shall thereupon become final.

(c) Decision by Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division. On appeal, the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division may grant or deny the application for adjustment. The case shall then be returned to the office of origin. If the application has been denied, the district director shall so inform the applicant in writing. No appeal shall lie from the decision of the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division.

(d) Application granted; delivery of alien registration receipt card. In any case in which the application for adjustment of status is granted, an alien registration receipt card, Form I–151, showing that the applicant has acquired the status of an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence, shall be issued to the applicant. If the alien is in possession of any other documents evidencing compliance with the Alien Registration Act, 1940, or Chapter 7 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, he shall be required to surrender it.

(e) Application denied; further action. If no appeal is taken from the decision of the district director denying the application, or if the Assistant Commissioner on appeal denies the application, the district director shall take such action as is necessary under existing law and regulations to effect the alien's departure from the United States.

§ 246.12 Notice. If on the basis of the evidence presented the district director receiving the report is satisfied that a prima facie showing has been made that the person was not in fact eligible for the adjustment of status made in his case, he shall cause notice to be served on such person informing him that it is intended to rescind the adjustment of status, and of the grounds upon which it is intended to base such rescission. The notice shall also inform the person to whom it is addressed that he may submit, within 30 days from the date of service of the notice, an answer in writing under oath, setting forth reasons why such rescission should not be made. The notice shall also advise the person to whom it is addressed that he may, within such period and upon his request have an opportunity to appear in person, in support or in lieu of his written answer, before such immigration officer as may be designated for that purpose. From the decision of the district director an appeal may be taken to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, within 10 days from the receipt of notification of the decision, as provided in Part 7 of this chapter. The party affected may waive an appeal. If no appeal is taken, or if the appeal is waived, the decision of the district director shall be final.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

247.11 Investigation and report.
247.12 Notice.
247.13 Disposition of case.
247.14 Decision by Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division.

SUBPART A—SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 247.1 Adjustment of status of resident aliens to nonimmigrant status; authority. Subject to the limitations provided in this part, the authority contained in section 247 of the Immigration and Nationality Act to adjust the status of certain resident aliens to nonimmigrant status may be exercised by district directors.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 247.11 Investigation and report. If at any time evidence becomes available that an alien who was lawfully admitted for permanent residence has an occupational status which, if he were seeking admission to the United States, would entitle him to a nonimmigrant status under paragraph 15 (A), 15 (E), or 15 (G), of section 101 (a) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, a complete report shall be submitted to the district director having administrative jurisdiction over such alien's place of residence.

§ 247.12 Notice. If on the basis of the evidence presented, the district director receiving the report is satisfied that a prima-facie showing has been made that the alien has an occupational status described in § 247.11 he shall cause notice to be served on such alien that it is proposed to adjust his status, unless (a) the alien requests that he be permitted to retain his status as a resident alien and executes and files with such district director a Form I–508 in duplicate (Waiver of all Rights, Privileges, Exemptions and Immunities) within 10 days from receipt of the notice; or (b) the alien, within such 10 day period, files with the district director a written answer under oath setting forth reasons why his status should not be adjusted. The notice shall also advise the person to whom it is addressed that he may, within such period and upon his request have an opportunity to appear in person, in support or in lieu of his written answer, before such immigration officer as may be designated for that purpose. The person to whom the notice is addressed shall further be advised therein that he may have the assistance of counsel, without expense to the government of the United States, in the preparation of his answer or in connection with such personal appearance, and shall have opportunity to examine, at the appropriate office of the Service, the evidence upon which it is proposed to base such adjustment.

§ 247.13 Disposition of case—(a) Allegations admitted or no answer filed. If Form I–508 is not filed by the alien within the time prescribed, and (1) the answer admits the allegations in the notice, or (2) no answer is filed, the district director shall place a notation on the notice showing the nonimmigrant status to which the alien has been adjusted and shall cause a set of Forms I–94 to be prepared evidencing the nonimmigrant classification to which the alien has been adjusted. The Form I–94C shall be delivered to the alien and shall constitute notice to him of such adjustment. The nonimmigrant status shall be for such time, under such conditions, and subject to such regulations as are applicable to the particular nonimmigrant status granted and shall be subject to such other terms and conditions, including the exaction of bond, which the district director deems appropriate to the case.

(b) Answer filed; personal appearance not requested. Upon receipt of an answer asserting a defense to the allegations in the notice, without request for a personal appearance, the matter shall be assigned to an immigration officer for consideration. The alien shall be informed of such decision, the reasons therefor, and that he has 10 days from the receipt of notification of such decision within which he may appeal to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, in accordance with Part 7 of this chapter. The party affected may waive an appeal. If the appeal is waived or if no appeal is taken within the time allowed, the decision of the district director shall be final. If the alien does not request that he be permitted to retain status and file the Form I–508 within the period provided therefor, the district director, without further notice to the alien, shall cause a set of Forms I–94 to be prepared evidencing the nonimmigrant classification to which the alien has been adjusted. The Form I–94C shall be delivered to the alien. The nonimmigrant status shall be for such time, under such conditions, and subject to such regulations as are applicable to the particular nonimmigrant status created and shall be subject to such other terms and conditions, including the exaction of bond, which the district director deems appropriate to the case.

(c) Answer filed; personal appearance requested or directed. If the party affected has filed an answer asserting a defense to the allegations in the notice and containing a request for a personal appearance, or if at any time the district director or the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, so directs, the party shall be given an opportunity to be interviewed by an immigration officer for the purpose of presenting evidence as to whether his status shall be adjusted to that of an immigrant. The report shall conclude with a recommendation which shall be either (1) that the status be adjusted, or (2) that the matter be terminated. The complete record, including the report and recommendation of the immigration officer, shall be forwarded to the district director. The district director shall note the report of the immigration officer indicating whether the recommendation is approved or disapproved. If the decision of the district director is that the matter be terminated, the party affected shall be informed of such decision. If the district director determines that the status of the alien should be adjusted to that of a nonimmigrant, his decision shall provide that unless the alien, within 10 days of receipt of notification of such decision, requests permission to retain his status as an immigrant and files with the district director Form I–508 in duplicate, the alien's immigrant status be adjusted to that of a nonimmigrant. The alien shall be informed of such decision, the reasons therefor, and that he has 10 days from the receipt of notification of such decision within which he may appeal to the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division, in accordance with Part 7 of this chapter. The party affected may waive an appeal. If the appeal is waived or if no appeal is taken within the time allowed, the decision of the district director shall be final. If the alien does not request that he be permitted to retain status and file the Form I–508 within the period provided therefor, the district director, without further notice to the alien, shall cause a set of Forms I–94 to be prepared evidencing the nonimmigrant classification to which the alien has been adjusted. The Form I–94C shall be delivered to the alien. The nonimmigrant status shall be for such time, under such conditions, and subject to such regulations as are applicable to the particular nonimmigrant status created and shall be subject to such other terms and conditions, including the exaction of bond, which the district director deems appropriate to the case.

§ 247.14 Decision by Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division. The Assistant Commissioner's decision shall be transmitted to the district director who shall advise the party affected of the decision. No appeal shall lie from the decision of the Assistant Commissioner, Inspections and Examinations Division. If the Assistant Commissioner determines that the status of the alien should be adjusted to that of a nonimmigrant, his decision shall provide that unless the alien, within 10 days of receipt of notification of such decision, requests permission to retain his status as an immigrant and files with the district director Form I–508 in duplicate, the alien's immigrant status be adjusted to that of a nonimmigrant, his decision shall provide that unless the alien, within 10 days of receipt of notification of such decision, requests permission to retain his status as an immigrant and files with the district director Form I–508 in duplicate, the alien's immigrant status be adjusted to that of a nonimmigrant. The party affected may waive an appeal. If the appeal is waived or if no appeal is taken within the time allowed, the decision of the district director shall be final. If the alien does not request that he be permitted to retain status and file the Form I–508 within the period provided therefor, the district director, without further notice to the alien, shall cause a set of Forms I–94 to be prepared evidencing the nonimmigrant classification to which the alien has been adjusted. The Form I–94C shall be delivered to the alien. The nonimmigrant status shall be for such time, under such conditions, including the exaction of bond, which the district director deems appropriate to the case.

SUBPART A—SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 248.1 Change of nonimmigrant classification—(a) Authority. Subject to the limitations provided in this part, the authority contained in section 248 of the Immigration and Nationality Act to authorize a change in nonimmigrant classification may be exercised by district directors.

(b) Eligibility for change of nonimmigrant classification. Except as otherwise provided in this section, any alien lawfully admitted to the United States as a nonimmigrant (including an alien who acquired such status pursuant to section 247 of the Immigration and Nationality Act) who is continuing to maintain his nonimmigrant status, may apply to have his nonimmigrant classification changed to any other nonimmigrant classification for which he may be qualified. This section shall not apply to an alien classified as a nonimmigrant under section 101 (a) (15) (D) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, or to an alien classified as a nonimmigrant under section 101 (a) (15) (C) who is within the purview of section 238 (d) of that act. SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 248.11 Application—(a) General requirements. Application for change of nonimmigrant classification shall be made on Form I–506 (Application for Change of Nonimmigrant Status). There shall be submitted with the application the Form 257, I–94 or other document issued to the applicant at the time of his admission as, or adjustment of status to, a nonimmigrant, and documentary evidence establishing that the applicant is maintaining his nonimmigrant classification and is eligible for the reclassification requested. If the applicant desires, he may submit photographic or typewritten copies of documents, if such copies are permitted to be made by law, but in such event the original documents must be presented at the examination provided for in § 248.15.

(b) Change of nonimmigrant classification to that under section 101 (a) (15) (H) of the Immigration and Nationality Act; additional requirements. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this part, an application for a change of an alien's nonimmigrant classification to that described in section 101 (a) (15) (H) of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall be accompanied by an application executed under oath in duplicate on Form I–129B made by the alien's prospective employer or trainer. There shall be attached thereto the supporting evidence required by the Form I–129B.

§ 248.12 Attorneys. Attorneys or other persons authorized to practice before the Service, who represent applicants, shall be permitted to be present during the examination of the alien and witnesses, to submit briefs and to review the record, either before it is forwarded to the district director, or thereafter, and prior to final decision.

§ 248.13 Procedure upon acceptance of application. Upon acceptance of an application, the applicant shall be given timely notice of the date and place of the examination provided for in § 248.15, and the case shall be assigned to an immigration officer for the purpose of conducting such examination.

§ 248.15 Examination and investigation—(a) Examination of applicant and witnesses. The immigration officer shall orally review the application with the applicant, or, in the case of a child under 14 years of age, with the parent or guardian. Any necessary changes shall be consecutively numbered by such officer and acknowledged in writing by the applicant, or, in the case of a child, by the parent or guardian, on the application form. The applicant shall at that time produce the original documents, copies of which were submitted, or which he desires to be considered, in support of his application. Such copies or excerpts therefrom as are found to be pertinent shall be verified by the immigration officer from the originals, shall be appropriately marked and numbered for identification, and made a part of the application. When no longer required, the original documents shall be returned to the applicant. The immigration officer shall then administer the oath or affirmation contained in Form I–506 and obtain the applicant's signature in the appropriate place on that form. In cases in which the examining officer deems it necessary he shall conduct a further examination of the applicant, or the parent or guardian, by interrogation under oath or affirmation. If the application, supporting documentary evidence, records of the Service, and the testimony adduced, establish the applicant's eligibility for a change of his nonimmigrant classification, no other witnesses shall be required. Otherwise, such number of credible witnesses preferably citizens of the United States, as may be deemed necessary, shall be questioned under oath or affirmation by the officer concerning the facts of the applicant's eligibility for reclassification. If such witnesses cannot appear because of remoteness, physical disability, or any other cause which the officer deems satisfactory, their affidavits may be accepted in lieu of their personal appearance. The oral testimony given by the applicant, the parent or guardian, or the witnesses, shall not be reduced to writing in verbatim form or stenographically or mechanically recorded, but a résumé thereof shall be prepared and certified as true and correct by the immigration officer and made a part of the record. A verbatim record may be made of such testimony in any case in which the examining officer deems it advisable. If such verbatim record is made stenographically or mechanically recorded, it shall not be transcribed unless the district director denies the application.

(2) The crewman agrees to leave the United States within the period for which he was permitted to land; and

(3) If admitted under section 252 (a) (1) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the crewman agrees to leave the United States and each port of the United States at which permitted to land on board the vessel or aircraft which brought him to the United States.

(b) Period of time allowed. The period of time for which an immigration officer may permit the temporary landing of a crewman who is qualified therefor under the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section is the applicable period provided in section 252 (a) (1) or in section 252 (a) (2) of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

(c) Landing under section 252 (a) (1) of the Immigration and Nationality Act. If landing is granted under section 252 (a) (1) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the immigration officer shall appropriately note the crewman's immigration Form I–95 to show the date and port of landing, and the name or identification marks of the vessel or aircraft on which the crewman arrived. Form I–95A shall be placed in the crewman's passport and shall constitute his conditional permit to land. Any Foreign Service Form 257a which bears a valid nonimmigrant visa issued to the alien as a crewman pursuant to section 101 (a) (15) (D) of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall be appropriately noted and returned to the crewman for presentation on subsequent arrivals.

(d) Landing under section 252 (a) (2). No alien crewman shall be permitted to land under section 252 (a) (2) of the Immigration and Nationality Act unless he presents a set of forms 257 or, whenever such forms are not required, a set of Forms I–95 prepared by the transportation line on whose vessel or aircraft the crewman came to the United States, as provided in §§ 251.31 and 251.33 of this chapter. If landing is granted under section 252 (a) (2) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the Form 257a or I–95A, when noted and placed in the crewman's passport, is his conditional permit to land.

§ 252.2 Arrest and deportation of certain crewmen landed under section 252 (a) (1) of the Immigration and Nationality Act—(a) Violation of landing privilege. An alien permitted to land conditionally as a crewman under section 252 (a) (1) of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall, within the period for which he was permitted to land, be taken into custody by an immigration officer without a warrant of arrest and made the subject of further proceedings under the provisions of section 252 (b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act and § 252.21 if:

(1) It is determined that such alien crewman is not a bona fide crewman; or

(2) Such alien crewman does not intend to depart on the vessel or aircraft which brought him to the United States.

(b) When not considered a bona fide crewman. For the purposes of this section, an alien crewman shall be considered not to be a bona fide crewman if:

(1) He violates or fails to fulfill any of the conditions of his admission imposed at the time of his landing; or

(2) He evidences in any way an intention to violate or fail to fulfill any of the conditions of his admission imposed at the time of his landing; or

(3) He engages in any activity inconsistent with the status of a crewman; or

(4) He was not entitled under the Immigration and Nationality Act to land as a crewman at the time of such landing.

(c) When deemed not to intend to depart. For the purposes of this section an alien crewman shall be deemed not to intend to depart on the vessel or aircraft which brought him to the United States if:

(1) He evidences orally, by writing, or by conduct an intention not to depart on the vessel or aircraft on which he arrived; or

(2) He is found at such a distance from the port of landing that it is not possible for him to return to the vessel or aircraft prior to its departure from such port; or

(3) By reason of his own conduct it is or will be impossible for him to depart on the vessel or aircraft on which he arrived.

(d) Other grounds for deportation. Nothing in this section shall be construed as setting forth the sole grounds on which it may be determined that an alien crewman is not a bona fide alien crewman or that an alien crewman does not intend to depart on the vessel or aircraft which brought him to the United States or to depart on a vessel or aircraft within the period for which he was permitted to land temporarily, or as setting forth the sole grounds of deportation.

§ 252.3 Arrest and deportation of crewmen not within the purview of § 252.2—(a) Violation of status; determination of deportability. The question of the deportability of an alien crewman not within the purview of § 252.2 who is believed to be subject to deportation shall be determined in accordance with the procedure set forth in section 242 of the Immigration and Nationality Act and Part 242 of this chapter. Such an alien crewman shall, within the meaning of section 241 (a) (9) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, be deemed to have failed to maintain his nonimmigrant status under sections 101 (a) (15) (D) and 252 of the Immigration and Nationality Act and under this part if:

(1) It is determined that he is not a bona fide crewman; or

(2) He does not intend to depart on a vessel or aircraft within the period for which he was permitted to land.

(b) When not considered bona fide. For the purposes of this section, an alien crewman shall be considered not to be a bona fide crewman under any of the circumstances listed and described in § 252.2 (b).

(c) When deemed not to intend to depart. For the purposes of this section, an alien crewman shall be deemed not to intend to depart on a vessel or aircraft within the period for which he was permitted to land temporarily if:

(1) He evidences orally, by writing, or by conduct an intention not to depart on a vessel or aircraft within the period of time for which he was permitted to land temporarily; or

(2) By reason of his own conduct it is or will be impossible for him to depart on a vessel or aircraft within the period for which he was permitted to land; or

(3) He remains in the United States after the expiration of the time for which he was permitted to land.

(d) Other grounds for deportation. Nothing in this section shall be construed as setting forth the sole grounds on which it may be determined that an alien crewman is not a bona fide alien crewman, or that an alien crewman does not intend to depart on the vessel or aircraft which brought him to the United States or to depart on a vessel or aircraft within the period for which he was permitted to land temporarily, or as setting forth the sole grounds of deportation.

§ 252.4 Request for change of period of landing. An alien crewman permitted to land for the period set forth in section 252 (a) (1) of the Immigration and Nationality Act who is maintaining his status but who desires to depart as a member of the crew of a vessel or aircraft other than the one on which he arrived, may, within the period for which permitted to land, apply in person to an immigration officer to have his landing changed to that authorized under section 252 (a) (2) of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

§ 252.5 Crewmen seeking admission other than in pursuit of calling. An alien crewman applying for admission to the United States in a status other than that described in section 101 (a) (15) (D) of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall be required to comply with all of the provisions of the immigration laws to the same extent as though he were a passenger. Nothing in this section shall be deemed to exempt the transportation line on whose vessel or aircraft such alien crewman arrived in the United States from any of the responsibilities or liabilities imposed upon it by the immigration laws with respect to alien crewmen.

§ 252.6 Special provisions applicable to Great Lakes crewmen—(a) Definitions. The definitions of the terms contained in § 251.1 of this chapter shall apply to this section.

(b) Applicability of this part. The provisions of § § 252.1 (c), (d), 252.2, 252.4, 252.11, 252.21 and 252.41 shall not be applicable to a Great Lakes crewman who applies for admission or has been admitted to the United States as such under section 252 of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

(c) Crew inspections; first trip of vessel of year or season—(1) By whom conducted. A full time immigration officer shall conduct the immigration examination of the crew of every Great Lakes vessel on the occasion of its first arrival each year or season in the United States. Such immigration officer shall undertake insofar as time permits to issue an immigration Form I–186 to each Great Lakes crewman whom he finds eligible to land in the United States under the provisions of section 252 of the Immigration and Nationality Act and who does not already hold such form. The Form I–186 shall be issued in accordance with the provisions of § 212.11 of this chapter and may be used for the ordinary border crossing purposes described in that section. If a Great Lakes crewman is found eligible to land as such on the first arrival of his vessel after the opening of the year or season and if he does not have or has not been issued a Form I–186 but is in possession of a valid unexpired British or Canadian passport, the following notation shall be placed in his passport by the examining immigration officer:

Found eligible to land as a Great Lakes crewman.

To this notation the immigration officer shall add his signature and title and the date and place where the notation was made. Immigration officers (excepted) shall not place such notations in passports or issue Forms I–186.

(2) Extent of immigration examination. Great Lakes crewmen shall be examined in accordance with the provisions of the immigration laws applicable to crewmen generally upon their vessels' first arrival of the year or season.

(3) Medical examination. At the time of the immigration examination of the crew of a Great Lakes vessel arriving for the first time during a year or season, the medical examination required by the Immigration and Nationality Act shall be given every Great Lakes crewman in the crew. The immigration officer shall not issue a Form I–186, make any notation on the crewman's passport, or permit the crewman to land until and unless he has been medically examined and passed. The medical officer shall place on the Form I–186 or the passport, if no Form I–186 has been issued, an appropriate dated notation stating that the alien has been medically examined and passed, if that is the case.

(d) Crew inspection; subsequent arrival of vessel during year or season—(1) By whom conducted. Whenever an international ferry operating year-round makes its second or later arrival after January 1 each year, or whenever any other Great Lakes vessel operating seasonally makes its second or later arrival after the season's opening, the examination of the crew shall be conducted by a full-time immigration officer if one can conveniently be assigned; otherwise the examination of the crew shall be conducted by an immigration officer (excepted). An immigration officer (excepted) shall have authority only to permit a Great Lakes crewman to land for the period set forth in section 252 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, if the crewman presents a valid Form I–186 or a valid passport bearing the notation prescribed in paragraph (c) of this section dated within the current year or season and then only if he has no reason to believe that such crewman is inadmissible to the United States. A Great Lakes crewman making his first arrival of the year or season in the United States aboard a Great Lakes vessel which is making its second or later arrival shall not be permitted to land until he is examined by a full-time immigration officer. The provisions of paragraph (c) shall be applicable to such a crewman.

(2) Extent of subsequent immigration examination. A Great Lakes crewman shall be examined as provided in the Immigration and Nationality Act and paragraph (c) of this section each time he arrives from Canada, except that in the case of international ferries the crew examination after the initial trip of the year or season shall consist only of whatever inquiry is necessary to determine that there has been no unreported change in crew and that all members of the crew have been properly documented for landing. A Great Lakes crewman shall meet whatever documentary requirements apply to his case each time he applies for permission to land in the United States.

(3) Medical examination. A Great Lakes crewman who has been given a medical examination during the navigation season, or during the calendar year if employed on an international ferry operating year-round, and whose documents bear the medical notation, shall not be subject to medical reexamination during the same year or season unless the examining immigration officer believes that such reexamination might disclose grounds for exclusion. Whenever an arriving Great Lakes crewman presents a Form I–186 lacking the medical notation, or a passport bearing an immigration but not a medical notation, the crewman shall be examined by a medical officer in accordance with paragraph (c) (3) of this section. If any medical examination or reexamination results in certification which renders the alien inadmissible, the medical officer shall invalidate any favorable medical endorsement recorded on the Form I–186 or the passport. If such medical examination or reexamination fails to disclose a ground of inadmissibility, the medical officer shall place on Form I–186 or passport the notation prescribed by paragraph (c) (3) of this section.

(4) Revocation of Form I–186 or passport endorsement. If a Great Lakes crewman holding a Form I–186 or a passport bearing a current notation made in accordance with paragraph (c) (1) of this section is found to be inadmissible to the United States, an immigration officer shall take up the Form I–186 or invalidate the passport notation.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 252.11 Forms 257a and I–95A; action upon departure. (a) An alien crewman who has been issued a conditional permit to land in the United States under the provisions of section 252 (a) (1) of the Immigration and Nationality Act on Form I–95A and who departs in accordance with the terms of his admission shall not be required to surrender such form to the master or commanding officer of the vessel or aircraft on which he departs and such forms shall, provided the crewman is found otherwise admissible under the immigration laws, constitute his conditional permit to land upon subsequent arrivals at the same port and upon the same vessel or, in the case of an aircraft upon the same or another aircraft of the same line, during the period of the validity of his conditional permit to land, not to exceed the period of validity of his visa. If such a crewman for any reason fails to depart in accordance with the terms of his admission he shall surrender the Form I–95A to the master or commanding officer of the vessel or aircraft upon which he departs who shall cause such form to be attached to Form I–489, if the alien departs as a crewman, or to Form I–434 or I–466, if the alien departs as a passenger.

(b) An alien crewman issued a permit to land under section 252 (a) (2) of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall surrender such document to the master or commanding officer of the vessel or aircraft on which he departs, who shall cause it to be attached to Form I–489, if the alien departs as a crewman, or to Form I–434 or I–466, if the alien departs as a passenger. Such alien shall not be required to surrender any Foreign Service Form 257a in his possession which bears a valid nonimmigrant visa issued to him as a crewman pursuant to section 101 (a) (15) (D) of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

§ 252.21 Procedure for arrest and deportation of certain crewmen landed under section 252 (a) (1) of the Immigration and Nationality Act. If, after investigation, an immigration officer determines that under § 252.2 (a) an alien crewman should be arrested and deported, he shall, if the alien is not confined in a penal or mental institution, and without obtaining a warrant of arrest, take such alien into custody and shall then and there fully advise him of the cause of his apprehension. If the alien is confined in a penal or mental institution he shall not be taken into physical custody until released from confinement, whether on parole or otherwise, but in such case the institution shall be advised of the interest of the Service in the case so that the Service may be informed prior to any release of the alien. Immediately upon taking the alien into custody the immigration officer shall satisfy himself as to (a) the identity, (b) alienage, and (c) deportability of the alien as a member of any of the classes enumerated in § 252.2 (a). If the immigration officer determines that the person apprehended is an alien crewman within one of the classes enumerated in § 252.2 (a), he shall revoke the crewman's conditional permit to land by writing thereon the word "Revoked" and the date of revocation, and, if the conditional permit to land is a Form 257a or Form I–95A, such form shall be taken up by such officer. If prosecution under section 252 (c) of the Immigration and Nationality Act is not contemplated, the alien crewman shall be returned immediately to the vessel or aircraft on which he came to the United States and deported thereon. If prosecution is contemplated, or, if the crewman is confined in a penal or mental institution, the crewman shall not be so returned for deportation until after trial, imprisonment (if sentenced thereto), or until release from the penal or mental institution, respectively. If it is not practicable to deport a crewman on the vessel or aircraft on which he came to the United States, he shall be deported on another vessel or aircraft of the same transportation line. If that is not practicable, the crewman shall be deported in any other manner at the expense of the transportation line which brought him to the United States. A notice to detain and deport on Form I–259 shall be served on the master or commanding officer of the vessel or aircraft on which the alien crewman is to be deported. The procedure prescribed by section 242 of the Immigration and Nationality Act and Part 242 of this chapter shall not apply to an alien crewman who is within the purview of § 252.2. No appeal by an alien crewman shall lie from the revocation of his conditional permit to land and his deportation under this part.

§ 252.41 Change in period of landing; procedure by immigration officer. If the immigration officer to whom an alien crewman applies for change of his landing is satisfied that the alien will depart as a member of the crew of a vessel or aircraft other than the one on which he arrived, he may, in his discretion, grant him to remain in the United States for such period as the immigration officer shall determine, not to exceed twenty-nine days from the date of the crewman's arrival in the United States. The immigration officer shall endorse the Form I–95A issued to the crewman as his conditional permit to land at the time of arrival to show the date to which the crewman has been granted permission to land, sign his name thereto, and return the form to the crewman as his conditional permit to land.

§ 252a.4 Disabled crewmen; condition for passing in transit. A disabled alien crewman, who does not intend to relinquish his calling, but whom the master or commanding officer of the vessel or aircraft is obliged, under the laws of the country under which the vessel or aircraft is registered, licensed, documented, or enrolled, to return to the country where he embarked, may, under such terms and conditions as the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the port of arrival deems necessary (including the depositing by the master or commanding officer of a satisfactory bond or other undertaking guaranteeing the departure of such crewman, if deemed appropriate by such district director or officer in charge) be paroled into the United States solely to pass through the United States in transit to the country where such alien crewman embarked by the most expeditious and direct route. Whenever such an alien is afflicted with any of the disabilities or diseases specified in section 255 of the Immigration and Nationality Act or in such physical or mental condition as to make him a person likely to become a public charge, such alien may not be paroled into the United States until the master or commanding officer has made arrangements for the alien's proper care while in transit and has furnished a sum of money sufficient to defray the expenses of such care.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 252a.11 Seamen or airmen returned by American consuls—(a) Admission. The case of an alien returned to the United States by a United States consular official who arrives as a member of a crew, shall be disposed of in the same manner as that of any other arriving alien crewman, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section. An alien so returned whose occupational status as a seaman or airman is found by the examining immigration officer to be bona fide, and who seeks to enter the United States solely in pursuit of his calling as a seaman or airman but who arrives other than a member of a crew, may be admitted, if found to be otherwise admissible, as a nonimmigrant visitor for business for a period not to exceed 29 days and under the conditions enumerated in § 252.1 (a) (2) and (3) of this chapter. An alien so returned who applies for admission other than in pursuit of his calling as a seaman or airman shall comply with all of the provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act applicable to passengers generally.

(b) Procedure when seaman or airman is afflicted. Whenever any such returned alien, regardless of the manner of his arrival, is found to be afflicted with any of the disabilities or diseases specified in section 255 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the master, commanding officer, or other responsible officer, shall deliver the alien to authorities of the United States Public Health Service for medical treatment in a Marine hospital at the expense of the appropriation for the maintenance of such hospitals. The immigration examination of any such hospitalized alien shall be deferred until his discharge from the hospital at which time his admissibility to the United States shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Carriers' exemption from liability; immigration appropriation not available for hospital treatment. Vessels and aircraft transporting an alien returned to the United States by a United States consular official shall be exempt from the payment of hospital and maintenance expenses and liability for the penalties prescribed by the immigration laws with respect to such returned alien, if the transportation line furnishes satisfactory proof that the alien was accepted on board and transported at the request of a United States consular official. Under no circumstances shall hospital bills incurred on account of such a returned alien be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Maintenance expenses incurred pending final determination of the status of such alien may be paid from said appropriation.

§ 252a.21 Shipwrecked or castaway seamen or airmen—(a) Admission. An alien whose occupational status as a seaman or airman is found by the examining immigration officer to be bona fide, who is brought to the United States under the circumstances described in § 252a.2, and who arrives as a member of the crew, shall be examined in the same manner as any other arriving crewman. An alien so brought to the United States whose occupational status as a seaman or airman is found by the examining immigration officer to be bona fide, who seeks to enter the United States solely in pursuit of his calling as a seaman or airman, but who arrives other than as a member of the crew, may be admitted, if found to be otherwise admissible, as a nonimmigrant visitor for business for a period not to exceed 29 days and under the conditions enumerated in § 252.1 (a) (2) and (3) of this chapter. An alien so brought who applies for admission other than in pursuit of his calling as a seaman or airman, shall be required to comply with all of the provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act applicable to passengers generally.

(b) Payment of expenses. If expenses are incurred in connection with the detention and deportation of a seaman or airman described in § 252a.2, such expenses shall be collected from the appropriate foreign consul or from the owners, agents, or consignees, of the wrecked vessel or aircraft, if practicable, otherwise such expenses shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

(c) Procedure when seaman or airman is afflicted. Whenever an alien seaman or airman brought to the United States under the circumstances described in § 252a.2, regardless of the manner of his arrival, is found to be afflicted with any of the disabilities or diseases specified in section 255 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, and is found to be entitled to treatment in a Marine hospital at the expense of the appropriation for the maintenance of such hospitals, the master, commanding officer, or other responsible officer shall deliver the alien to authorities of the United States Public Health Service for medical treatment in a Marine hospital at the expense of the appropriation for the maintenance of such hospitals. Any such afflicted alien who is found not to be entitled to treatment at such expense may be given treatment at the expense of the wrecked vessel or aircraft if the appropriate foreign consul or other responsible person satisfactorily guarantees payment of the expense thereof to the satisfaction of the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the port of arrival, otherwise, the alien may be hospitalized at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws only if his condition is such as to require emergency treatment. The immigration examination of any such hospitalized alien shall be deferred until his discharge from the hospital at which time his admissibility to the United States shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 252a.31 Aliens returned pursuant to terms of contract of voyage—(a) Admission. An alien seaman or airman, who returns to the United States as a member of the crew of a vessel or aircraft under the circumstances described in § 252a.3, shall be treated in the same manner as any other arriving alien crewman. Such an alien seaman or airman who returns other than as a member of the crew of a vessel or aircraft whose occupational status as a seaman or airman is found to be bona fide by the examining immigration officer, and who seeks to enter the United States solely in pursuit of his calling as a seaman or airman, may be admitted, if found to be otherwise admissible, as a nonimmigrant visitor for business for a period not to exceed 29 days and under the conditions enumerated in § 252.1 (a) (2) and (3) of this chapter. Any such alien who applies for admission other than in pursuit of his calling as a seaman or airman shall comply with all of the provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act applicable to passengers generally.

(b) Procedure when seaman or airman is afflicted. Whenever an alien seaman or airman returns to the United States under the circumstances described in § 252a.3, regardless of the manner of his arrival, and is found to be afflicted with any of the disabilities or diseases specified in section 255 of the Immigration and Nationality Act and such alien seaman or airman is found to be entitled to treatment in a Marine hospital at the expense of the appropriation for the maintenance of such hospitals, the master, commanding officer, or other responsible officer shall deliver such alien to authorities of the United States Public Health Service for medical treatment in a Marine hospital at the expense of the appropriation for the maintenance of such hospitals. Any such afflicted alien who is found not to be entitled to treatment at such expense may be given hospital treatment if the payment of the expenses thereof are guaranteed to the satisfaction of the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the port of arrival. The immigration examination of any such hospitalized alien shall be deferred until his discharge from the hospital at which time his admissibility to the United States shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 253.1 Afflicted crewmen. An alien crewman afflicted with any of the disabilities or diseases enumerated in section 255 of the Immigration and Nationality Act and in whose case a cure reasonably can be expected within 30 days, shall be ordered by the examining immigration officer immediately removed for hospital treatment to a designated hospital at the expense of the persons enumerated in section 253 of the Immigration and Nationality Act: Provided, That in the event appropriate facilities for treatment are not available, removal from the vessel or, in the case of an aircraft, from the specified place of detention, shall not be ordered (except in emergent cases so certified by a Public Health Surgeon) and the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction of the port of arrival shall notify the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction of first port of call possessing such facilities (if the vessel or aircraft is proceeding to other ports of call in the United States) of the presence of said alien on such vessel or aircraft. The latter officer shall proceed in the manner hereinbefore provided upon the arrival of the vessel or aircraft at such port of call to have the alien removed for hospital treatment. If the vessel or aircraft having such afflicted alien on board arrives at a port at which there are no proper facilities for hospitalization, if no arrangements elsewhere therefor are practicable and the vessel or aircraft is not proceeding to another port of call in the United States possessing such facilities or is proceeding directly to a foreign port, or if the disability or disease is one in which a cure cannot reasonably be expected within 30 days, an order to deport shall be served as provided in Part 254 of this chapter.

The latter officer shall proceed in the manner hereinbefore provided upon the arrival of the vessel or aircraft at such port of call to have the alien removed for observation. If the vessel or aircraft having such alien suspected of being afflicted on board arrives at a port at which there are no proper facilities for observation, if no arrangements elsewhere therefor are practicable and the vessel or aircraft is not proceeding to another port in the United States possessing such facilities or is proceeding directly to a foreign port, an order to deport shall be served as provided in Part 254 of this chapter.

(c) Persons who believe themselves not subject to registration. If any person indicates to the registration officer that he does not believe himself subject to registration under the Immigration and Nationality Act but is registering for his own protection, the registration officer shall make the following notation on the margin of the registration form at the conclusion of the registration: "Applicant doubts need for registration."

(d) Registration in behalf of insane or incompetent aliens. Any alien who is insane or otherwise incompetent or of unsound mind may be registered by his legal guardian, trustee, or committee or by such other person as may be charged by law with his care and custody. If the applicant is in possession of an immigration identification card, a mutilated receipt card, a form AR-3 or AR-103 receipt card, or any other alien registration receipt card, such card must be surrendered before a new receipt card may be issued to him. The officer in charge receiving an application shall cause such investigation and inquiry to be conducted as he deems necessary to determine whether the application should be granted. Such officer in charge shall submit the application and the accompanying documents to the district director together with a report in writing and his recommendation as to whether the application should be granted or denied. SUBPART A—SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 280.1 Notice of intention to fine; administrative proceedings not exclusive. Whenever a district director or officer has reason to believe that any person has violated any of the provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act and has thereby become liable to the imposition of an administrative fine under the Immigration and Nationality Act, he shall cause a Notice of Intention to Fine, Form I–79, to be served as provided in this part. Nothing in this subchapter shall affect, restrict, or prevent the institution of a civil suit, in the discretion of the Attorney General, under the authority contained in section 280 of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

§ 280.2 Special provisions relating to aircraft. In any case in which the imposition of a fine is predicated upon an alleged violation of a regulation promulgated under authority of section 239 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, the procedure prescribed in this part shall be followed, and the aircraft involved shall not be granted clearance pending determination of the question of liability to the payment of any fine, or while the fine remains unpaid; but clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. If the alleged violation was by the owner or person in command of the aircraft, the penalty provided for shall be a lien against the aircraft, which, except as provided in § 280.21, shall be seized by the district director or officer in charge, or by an immigration officer designated by the district director or officer in charge, and placed in the custody of the customs officer who is in charge of the port of entry or customs station nearest the place of seizure. If the owner or owners of the airport at which such aircraft is located are the owners of the seized aircraft, the aircraft shall be removed to another suitable place for storage if practicable. Bonds deposited to obtain the release of seized aircraft, as provided in section 239 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, shall be filed on Form I–315 and shall be subject to the approval of and acceptance by the collector of customs.

§ 280.3 Departure of vessel or aircraft prior to denial of clearance. If any vessel or aircraft which is subject to the imposition of a fine shall have departed from the United States prior to the denial of clearance by the collector of customs and such vessel or aircraft is subsequently found in the United States, a Notice of Intention to Fine, Form I–79, shall be served as provided in this part, if such form has not been previously served for the same violation. Clearance of such vessel or aircraft shall be withheld by the collector of customs, and the procedure prescribed in this part shall be followed to the same extent and in the same manner as though the vessel or aircraft had not departed from the United States. Aircraft subject to the provisions of § 280.2, which shall have departed from the United States prior to the time seizure could be effected, shall be subject to all of the provisions of this part, if susequently found in the United States, to the same extent as though it had not departed from the United States.

§ 280.4 Data concerning cost of transportation. Within 5 days after request therefor, transportation companies shall furnish to the district director or officer in charge the original transportation contract of all rejected aliens whose cases are within the purview of any of the provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act relating to refund of passage monies, and shall indicate the exact amounts paid for transportation from the initial point of departure (which point shall be stated) to the foreign port of embarkation, fro. the latter to the port of arrival in the United States and from the port of arrival to the inland point of destination, respectively, and also the amount paid for headtax, if any.

§ 280.5 Mitigation or remission of fines. In any case in which mitigation or remission of a fine is authorized by the Immigration and Nationality Act, the party served with Notice of Intention to Fine may apply in writing to the district director for such mitigation or remission.

§ 280.6 Bond to obtain clearance; form. A bond to obtain clearance of a vessel or aircraft under sections 231, 233, 237, 243, 251, 253, 254, 255, 256, 272 or 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall be filed on Form I–310.

§ 280.7 Approval of bonds or acceptance of cash deposit to obtain clearance. The collector of customs is authorized to approve the bond, or accept the sum of money which is being offered for deposit under any provision of the Immigration and Nationality Act or by this chapter for the purpose of obtaining clearance of a vessel or aircraft.

SUBPART B—PROCEDURAL AND OTHER NONSUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 280.11 Notice of intention to fine; procedure.—Notice of Intention to Fine, Form I–79, shall be prepared in triplicate, with one additional copy for each additional person on whom the service of such Notice is contemplated. The Notice shall be addressed to any or all of the available persons subject to fine. A copy of the Notice shall be served on each such person by (a) delivering it to him in person, or (b) leaving it at his office, or (c) mailing it to him at his office whenever the district director or officer in charge ascertains that the other two methods of service are inconvenient or impossible. If the Notice is served personally, the person upon whom it is served shall be requested to acknowledge such service by signing his name to the duplicate and triplicate copies. The officer effecting such service shall attest to the service by signing his name thereon and shall indicate thereon the date and place of service. If the person so served refuses to acknowledge service, or if service is made by leaving it at an office or mailing it, the person making such service shall indicate the method and date on the duplicate and triplicate copies of Form I–79, and shall sign his name upon such copies. The duplicate copy shall be retained by the district director or officer in charge and the triplicate copy shall be delivered directly to the collector of customs for the district in which the vessel or aircraft is located, and the collector shall withhold clearance until deposit is made or bond furnished as provided in the Immigration and Nationality Act. If the vessel or aircraft is located in a customs district which is outside the jurisdiction of the office of the Service having jurisdiction over the matter, the triplicate copy shall be forwarded to the office of the Service nearest such customs district for delivery to the collector of customs.

§ 280.12 Answer and request or order for interview. Within 30 days following the service of the Notice of Intention to Fine (which period the district director or officer in charge may extend for an additional period of 30 days upon good cause being shown), any person upon whom a notice under this part has been served may file with the district director or officer in charge a written defense, in duplicate, under oath setting forth the reasons why a fine should not be imposed, or if imposed, why it should be mitigated or remitted if permitted by the Immigration and Nationality Act, and stating whether a personal appearance is desired. Documentary evidence shall be submitted in support of such defense and a brief may be submitted in support of any argument made. If a personal interview is requested, the evidence in opposition to the imposition of the fine and in support of the request for mitigation or remission may be presented at such interview. An interview shall be conducted if requested by the party as provided hereinabove or, if directed at any time by the Board, the Commissioner, or the district director.

§ 280.13 Disposition of case—(a) Allegations admitted or no answer filed. If a request for personal appearance is not filed and (a) the answer admits the allegations in the Notice, or (b) no answer is filed, the district director shall enter such order in the case as he deems appropriate and no appeal from his decision may be taken.

(b) Answer filed; personal appearance not requested. Upon receipt of an answer asserting a defense to the allegations in the Notice without request for a personal appearance, the case shall be assigned to an immigration officer for consideration. The immigration officer shall prepare a report of his findings and make a recommendation as to whether a fine has been incurred and if so, what mitigation or remission, if any, should be granted if an application therefor has been made. The record in the case and the report and recommendation of the immigration officer shall be forwarded to the district director. The district director shall endorse the report indicating whether he approves or disapproves the recommendation of the immigration officer. The party affected shall be informed in writing of the decision of the district director and, if his decision is that a fine shall be imposed or that the requested mitigation or remission shall not be granted, of the reasons for such decision. From the decision of the district director an appeal may be taken to the Board within 10 days of the receipt of notification of the decision, as provided in Part 6 of this chapter. If no appeal is taken the decision shall be final and the fine imposed shall be collected.

(c) Interview requested or directed. If the party affected requests a personal appearance, or if at any time the district director, the Commissioner, or the Board so directs, the party shall be given an opportunity to be interviewed by an immigration officer for the purpose of presenting evidence concerning the alleged violation and, where the particular section of law provides for mitigation or remission of the penalty, evidence of any mitigating circumstances. The party may be represented by counsel at the interview. All evidence pertinent to the case, including the testimony of any witnesses, shall be incorporated into the record. At the conclusion of the interview the immigration officer shall prepare a report setting forth a summary of the evidence adduced as to imposition of fine, mitigation or remission, and findings of fact and conclusions of law based on such evidence. The decision shall conclude with a recommendation which shall be either (1) that a fine has been incurred, or (2) that the matter be terminated. If a fine has been incurred, there shall be a further recommendation with respect to any application for remission or mitigation which shall be either (i) that the application be denied, or (ii) that it be granted, the amount of the fine which is to be remitted or mitigated, and the amount of the remaining fine which is to be collected. The complete record, including the recommendation of the immigration officer shall be forwarded to the district director. The district director shall endorse the report of the immigration officer indicating whether his recommendations are approved or disapproved. The party affected shall be informed in writing of the decision of the district director and, if his decision is that a fine shall be imposed or that the requested mitigation or remission shall not be granted, of the reasons for such decision. From the decision of the district director an appeal may be taken to the Board within 10 days of receipt of notification of the decision as provided in Part 6 of this chapter. If an appeal is not taken, the decision shall be final and the fine imposed shall be collected.

§ 280.14 Record. The record made under § 280.13 shall include the request for the interview or a reference to the order directing the interview; the medical certificate, if any; a copy of any record of hearing before a Board of Special Inquiry, Hearing Examiner, Hearing Officer, or Special Inquiry Officer which is relevant to the fine proceedings; the duplicate copy of the Notice of Intention to Fine; the evidence upon which such Notice was based; the duplicate of any notices to detain, deport, deliver, or remove aliens; notice to pay expenses; evidence as to whether any deposit was made or bond furnished in accordance with the Immigration and Nationality Act; reports of investigations conducted; documentary evidence and testimony adduced at the interview; the original of any affidavit or brief filed in opposition to the imposition of fine; the application for mitigation or remission; and any other relevant matter.

§ 280.15 Notice of final decision to collector of customs. At such time as the decision under this part is final, the collector of customs who was furnished with a copy of the Notice of Intention to Fine shall be informed by the district director of the final decision made in the case. Such information need not be furnished in any case in which the district director has been previously furnished with a notice of collection of the amount of the penalty by the collector of customs.

§ 280.21 Seizure of aircraft. Seizure of an aircraft under the authority of section 239 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, and § 280.2 will not be made if such aircraft is damaged to an extent that its value is less than the amount of the fine which may be imposed. Immediately upon the seizure of an aircraft, or prior thereto, if circumstances permit, a full report of the facts in the case shall be submitted by the district director to the United States Attorney for the district in which the seizure was made. The report shall include the cost incurred in seizing and guarding the aircraft and an estimate of the further additional cost likely to be incurred.

§ 280.51 Application for mitigation or remission—(a) When application may be made. An application for mitigation or remission shall be filed (a) within 30 days after the service of the Notice of Intention to Fine and, if an answer is filed as provided in § 280.12, with such answer, for consideration in the event a fine is found to have been incurred, or (b) within 30 days after receipt of the final decision with respect to the fine.

(b) Form and contents of application. An application for mitigation or remission shall be filed in duplicate under oath and shall include information, supported by documentary evidence, as to the basis of the claim to mitigation or remission, and as to the action, if any, which may have been taken by the applicant, or as to the circumstances present in the case which, in the opinion of the applicant, justified the granting of his application.

(c) Disposition of application. The application, if filed with the answer, shall be disposed of as provided in § 280.13. In any other case, the application shall be considered and decided by the district director from whose decision an appeal may be taken to the Board within 10 days from receipt of notification of such decision, as provided in Part 6 of this chapter.

SUBPART A—SUBSTANTIVE PROVISIONS

§ 287.1 Definitions—(a) Reasonable distance from the United States. The phrase "within a reasonable distance from any external boundary of the United States" as used in section 287 of the Immigration and Nationality Act means within a distance of not exceeding 100 air miles from any external boundary of the United States or any shorter distance which may be fixed by the district director, or, so far as the power to board and search aircraft is concerned, any distance fixed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Reasonable distance; fixing by district directors. In fixing reasonable distances of less than 100 air miles pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, district directors shall take into consideration topography, confluence of arteries of transportation leading from external boundaries, density of population, possible inconvenience to the traveling public, types of conveyances used, and reliable information as to movements of persons effecting illegal entry into the United States: Provided, That whenever in the opinion of a district director a distance in his district of more than 100 air miles from any external boundary of the United States would because of unusual circumstances be reasonable, such district director shall forward a complete report with respect to the matter to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, who may, if he determines that such action is justified, declare such distance to be reasonable.

(c) Powers of immigration officers. The term "officer or employee of the Service" as used in section 287 of the Immigration and Nationality Act means an immigration officer.

(d) Patrolling the border. The phrase "patrolling the border to prevent the illegal entry of aliens into the United States" as used in section 287 of the Immigration and Nationality Act means conducting the customary activities reasonable and necessary to prevent the illegal entry of aliens into the United States.

§ 287.2 Criminal violations; investigation and action. Whenever a district director or an officer in charge has reason to believe that there has been a violation punishable under any criminal provision of the laws administered or enforced by the Service, he shall cause an investigation to be made immediately of all the pertinent facts and circumstances and shall take or cause to be taken such further action as the results of such investigation warrant.

§ 287.3 Disposition of cases of aliens arrested without warrant. An alien arrested without a warrant of arrest under the authority contained in section 287 (a) (2) of the Immigration and Nationality Act shall be examined as therein provided by an officer other than the arresting officer, unless no other qualified officer is readily available and the taking of the alien before another officer would entail unnecessary delay, in which event the arresting officer, if the conduct of such examination is a part of the duties assigned to him, may examine the alien. If such examining officer is satisfied that there is prima facie evidence establishing that the arrested alien was entering or attempting to enter the United States in violation of the immigration laws, he shall refer the case to a special inquiry officer for further inquiry in accordance with Parts 235 and 236 of this chapter or take whatever other action may be appropriate or required under the laws or other regulations applicable to the particular case. If the examining officer is satisfied that there is prima facie evidence establishing that the arrested alien is in the United States in violation of the immigration laws, further action in the case shall be taken as provided in Part 242 of this chapter.

§ 287.4 Subpena—(a) Who may issue. Except as provided in § 335.11 of this chapter, subpenas requiring the attendance of witnesses or the production of documentary evidence, or both, may be issued upon his own volition by a district director, officer in charge, or special inquiry officer in any proceeding pending before him, or upon application of an officer of the Service, or upon written application of the alien or other party affected. If an alien or other party affected by a proceeding before the Service requests that a witness be subpenaed to testify or to produce books, papers or documents in such proceeding before the Service, he shall be required as a condition precedent to the issuance of the subpena to state in writing what he expects to prove by such witness or the books, papers, or documents and to show affirmatively that the proposed evidence is relevant and material and that he has made diligent efforts without success to produce the same. Upon determining that a witness whose evidence is desired either by the Service officer or the alien or other party affected will not appear and testify or produce documentary evidence unless commanded to do so and that the testimony and evidence of such witness is essential, the district director, officer in charge, or a special inquiry officer in any proceeding pending before him, shall issue a subpena. If the witness is at a distance of more than 100 miles from the place of hearing, the subpena shall provide for the witness' appearance at the field office nearest to him to respond to oral or written interrogatories, unless the Service indicates that there is no objection to bringing the witness the distance required to enable him to testify in person at the hearing.

(b) Form. Every subpena issued under the provisions of this section shall state the title of the proceeding and shall command the person to whom it is directed to attend and give testimony at a time and place therein specified. A subpena may also command the person to whom it is directed to produce the books, papers or documents designated therein. A subpena may also direct the making of a deposition before an officer of the Service. Subpenas shall be issued on Form I–138.

(c) Service. A subpena issued under this section may be served by any person over 18 years of age not a party to the case designated to make such service by the district director or officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which the subpena is issued. Service of the subpena shall be made by delivering a copy thereof to the person named therein and by tendering to him the fee for one day's attendance and the mileage allowed by law by the United States District Court for the district in which the testimony is to be taken. When the subpena is issued on behalf of the Service, fee and mileage need not be tendered at the time of service. A record of such service shall be made and attached to the original copy of the subpena.

(d) Invoking aid of court. If a witness neglects or refuses to appear and testify as directed by the subpena served upon him in accordance with the provisions of this section, the district director issuing the subpena shall request the United States Attorney for the proper district to report such neglect or refusal to the appropriate United States District Court and to request such court to issue an order requiring the witness to appear and testify and to produce the books, papers or documents designated in the subpena. If the subpena was issued by an officer in charge or a special inquiry officer, the officer issuing the subpena shall request the district director having administrative jurisdiction over such officer to take the action referred to in the previous sentence in the event the witness neglects or refuses to appear and testify as directed by the subpena served upon him.

§ 292.1 Admission to practice required. (a) No person shall be permitted to practice before the Service or the Board until he has been admitted to practice by the Board in accordance with § 292.3.

(b) Notwithstanding paragraph (a) of this section:

(1) A district director, an officer in charge, the Commissioner, any other officer of the Central Office authorized by the Commissioner to do so, or the Board may permit an attorney or representative to file an appearance in behalf of a party in any case prior to the approval of his application for admission if such attorney or representative files the application concurrently with filing his appearance in the case. If the application is subsequently denied, such attorney or representative shall not thereafter be permitted to practice, in that or any other case, unless and until his admission to practice has been authorized by the Board and subject to such conditions as the Board shall direct.

(2) In any case in which, under the Immigration and Nationality Act, a party is entitled to be represented by counsel, he may be represented by any reputable individual of good moral character, whether or not admitted to practice in accordance with § 292.3, if such individual is appearing without monetary or other material remuneration and files a written declaration to that effect, and if such representation is permitted by the Special Inquiry Officer having the case under consideration, the district director or the officer in charge having administrative jurisdiction over the office in which the case is pending, the Commissioner, or the Board.

(3) Any alien may be represented by an accredited official, in the United States, of the government to which the alien owes allegiance, if such official appears solely in his official capacity, and with the consent of the alien.

(4) An attorney, other than one described in § 1.1 (a) (3) of this chapter, residing outside the United States and licensed to practice law and in good standing in a court or courts of the country in which he resides and who is engaged in such practice may be permitted by any district director or officer in charge, the Commissioner, or any officer of the Central Office designated by him, or the Board, to file his appearance and be heard in any individual case. The district director shall have authority to withhold granting permission to such attorney to appear before an officer under his jurisdiction, and may refer the application for permission to appear to the Board for its decision.

(5) No person who is a party to a case shall be denied the privilege of presenting oral argument in his own behalf before the Board if it has his case under consideration.

(6) Any person desiring to be heard as amicus curiae shall apply therefor to the Board; and the Board may grant such application if it deems it to be in the public interest.

(c) No person previously in the employ of the Department of Justice may be permitted to practice in a case in which he participated during the period of such employment.

§ 292.2 Qualifications for admission to practice. (a) Admission to practice shall be limited to persons who are citizens of the United States, who are of good moral character, and who are attorneys in good standing in the court or courts in which they are licensed to practice, or who are representatives of organizations of the character described in § 1.1 (a) (12) of this chapter.

An application by the representative of an organization shall be supported by a statement of the appropriate officer or officers thereof, certifying that the applicant is its accredited representative and authorized to appear in its behalf in any case.

(b) The original application shall be transmitted to the Board by the district director or the Commissioner, if filed with them, and shall be permanently retained in the files of the Board. The duplicate shall be retained in the files of the Commissioner, and the triplicate in the files of the district director having jurisdiction over the applicant's place of residence.

(c) As soon as practicable after receipt of the application the Board shall give consideration thereto. If the application is approved, written notation to that effect shall be made on the application and a certificate of admission to practice shall be issued to the licensee. If the conclusion is that the application shall be denied, the Board shall prepare a proposed order of denial, in which shall be stated the reasons for denying the application. The Board shall serve the proposed order on the applicant, either personally or by registered mail and obtain a return receipt therefor. The applicant shall be allowed a reasonable time, not less than ten days, in which to file exceptions to the proposed order and to submit a brief if desired. After receipt of the exceptions, or if none are received within three days after expiration of the period specified for filing of exceptions, the Board shall make such order as it may then determine appropriate. If no exceptions are filed, the order of the Board shall be final, subject to review by the Attorney General under any of the circumstances described in § 6.1 (h) of this chapter. If exceptions have been filed and the order of the Board is that the application shall be denied, the Board shall refer the record to the Attorney General for review of its order. § 292.5 Appearances; availability of records. (a) An appearance shall be filed in writing on Form G–28 by attorneys or representatives appearing in each individual case. When an appropriate appearance has been filed in a case, substitution of attorneys or representatives may be permitted upon the written withdrawal of the attorneys or representatives of record or upon notice by the party to the case of his designation of new attorneys or representatives. If any attorney or representative of record authorizes another attorney or representative to act for him as an associate in a case, the latter will be heard if satisfactory evidence of his authorization is presented and if he has been admitted to practice under this part.

(b) During the time a case is pending, the attorney or representative of record, or his associate, shall be permitted to review the record and, upon request, be lent a copy of the testimony adduced. The attorney or representative shall give his receipt for such copy and pledge that no copy thereof will be made, that he will retain it in his possession and under his control, and that it will be surrendered upon final disposition of the case, or upon demand by the Service or the Board.

§ 292.6 Suspension and disbarment. With the approval of the Attorney General, the Board may suspend or bar from further practice an attorney or representative, if it shall find that suspension or disbarment is in the public interest. The suspension or disbarment of an attorney or representative who is within one or more of the following categories shall be deemed to be in the public interest, for the purpose of this part, but the enumeration of such categories herein shall not be construed as establishing the exclusive grounds for suspension or disbarment in the public interest:

(a) Who charges or receives, either directly or indirectly, any fee or compensation for services which may be deemed to be grossly excessive in relation to the services performed by him in the case;

(b) Who, with intent to defraud or deceive, bribes, attempts to bribe, coerces, or attempts to coerce, by any means whatsoever, any person, including a party to a case, or an officer or employee of the Service or Board, to commit an act or to refrain from performing an act in connection with any case;

(j) Who wilfully made false and material statements in his application for admission to practice, or in his appearance in any case;

(k) Who engages in contumelious or otherwise unprofessional conduct with respect to a case in which such attorney acts in a representative capacity, which in the opinion of the Board, would constitute cause for suspension or disbarment were the case pending before a court, or which, in such a judicial proceeding, would constitute a contempt of court;

§ 292.61 Procedure for suspension or disbarment; effect. (a) The Commissioner may cause to be investigated any complaint or circumstance which establishes a prima facie case for the suspension or disbarment of any enrolled attorney or representative. If such investigation establishes to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that suspension or disbarment proceedings should be instituted, he shall cause written charges to be preferred. A copy of such charges shall be served upon the respondent, either personally or by registered mail, with notice to show cause within a specified time, not less than 30 days, why he should not be suspended or disbarred from further practice. Such notice shall also advise the respondent that after answer has been made and the matter is at issue, if he so requests he will be given opportunity for a hearing before a representative of the Commissioner. If hearing is requested, the Commissioner will specify the time and place therefor and specially designate the officer who shall preside and the officer who shall present the evidence in support of the charges. The nonreceipt of answer within three days after expiration of the period prescribed to show cause shall be held a waiver of defense to the charges. If no hearing is requested in the answer, the Commissioner may conduct any further required investigation to complete the record, and without the necessity of any additional notice to the respondent, forward the completed record to the Board with his recommendation.

(d) In case the final order against the respondent is for suspension or disbarment, the attorney or representative shall not thereafter be permitted to practice unless and until authorized so to do by the Board; and if disbarred, he shall surrender the certificate of his admission to the Board for cancellation.

Subchapter C—Nationality Regulations

NOTE: Explanation of numbering system utilized in this subchapter. Each part of this subchapter has been given the same number as the section of the Immigration and Nationality Act to which it relates. For example, Part 330 concerns only section 330 of the Immigration and Nationality Act. Each part of this subchapter is divided into two subparts: Subpart A—Substantive Provisions, and Subpart B—Procedural and Other Nonsubstantive Provisions. Each section of Subpart A bears a number consisting of the part number followed by a decimal point and by a single digit beginning with "1" and continuing to "9", using as many as required. For example, § 330.1 is the first substantive section of Part 330 and § 330.9 is the ninth substantive section of Part 330, assuming there existed nine substantive sections in Part 330. When a substantive section is required to be implemented by one or more procedural sections, the relating procedural section or sections bear the same number as the substantive section to which it relates plus one additional digit to the right of the decimal point beginning with "1" for the first procedural section and continuing to "9", if that many are required. For example, § 330.11 is the first procedural section implementing the first substantive section of Part 330 and § 330.87 is the seventh procedural section implementing the eighth substantive section of Part 330. If a substantive section does not require procedural sections, no procedural section numbers will appear for that particular substantive section.
